33 Years With Dairy; Won't Retire Yet

"I'm going to keep working as long as the Lord will let me," Jimmy McBain said Thursday as he tossed another milk can into the sterilizing machine.

With this remark, Jimmy made it quite clear he has no thought of retiring, although he has been washing milk cans at Silverwood Dairies on Aylmer St., for 33 years.

Since he started the job in April, 1919. Jimmy has worn out two can washing machines and the third one now being used will be replaced by a new one this fall. However, Jimmy is still going strong, eight hours a day six days a week, washing about 2,000 milk cans a day.

At this rate, Jimmy sterilizes about 600,000 milk cans a year, and has probably washed about 20,000,000 since he started.

Jimmy, who will be 75 on October 16, says he hasn't seen a doctor in so many years he can't remember the last time he saw one. A member of the brand of hard-working old-timers who believe you are only as old as you feel, Jimmy believes that having a job to work at every day is one reason why his health is so good.

He came to Peterborough from his home town of Madoc where he worked in a cheese factory for a while as a young man. His first job in the city was with the J. J. Turner Co., but after six months with the awning firm, he joined Peterborough Milk Products Ltd., under the management of G. A. Gillespie, and has "never done anything else" but wash milk cans.

"I started looking after cans when I first came on," he said as he reached for an iron bar, gave a tight milk can top an expert clip to loosen it and flipped both can and lid into the machine which washes and sterilizes a can in four minutes.

He handled all the company's cans for a number of years, but there is another man working with him now to give him a hand with the work.

Jimmy is proud of the fact that in all the years he has been with the company he has only missed a few days' work, and he says he's thankful for two things:

Firstly, that he is still able to work although he is "almost at the three-quarter century mark," and secondly, he is "glad I had a job I could stay with when I got old. At most jobs I would have had to retire by now."

His home at 217 Rubidge Street is right handy to his work, and on Sudays Jimmy attends the Church of the Open Bible regularly.

Introduces Plan For Holiday If Flat Broke

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A young Vancouver businessman is making it possible for British Columbians to go on a holiday flat broke.

They have to pay for it eventually, of course, but thanks to Frank Proby, Jr., they can have their fun first.

Proby is introducing to B. C. what Americans call "national credit." The Americans invented this tourist technique of travelling on the cuff.

Proby says that national credit works exactly like gas station credit but it extends delayed payment to everything you need when travelling — transportation, hotels, meals and so on.

150 FIRMS ENROLLED

So far, Proby has enrolled 150 B. C. and Alberta firms. "It won't be long," he says, "before we'll be operating in Australia and England."

A typical on-the-cuff trip might run like this: on credit you could dine in Victoria, Parksville, Vancouver, Kelowna, Nelson, Cranbrook, Banff, Calgary or Edmonton; sleep in Vancouver, Hope, Creston, Banff or Calgary; buy your wife a holiday wardrobe in Chemainus or Rossland or a hairdo in West Vancouver; charge up drug sundries in New Westminster, Kelowna or Calgary; dance at Victoria, swim at Qualicum or sightsee at Lake Louise.

If you want, you can set up a holiday schedule, pay Proby a down payment and finance the balance over the rest of the year. If your bill at any one of the 27 participating hotels or motels is, say, $100, the hotel sends it to Proby, who remits $94, keeping his six per cent "service fee."

"Firms go for it," says Proby, "because we send them business."

Tax Concessions Given New Zealanders

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters) —New Zealanders will get tax concessions, more food subsidies and increased social services under the 1952-53 budget presented to Parliament today by Prime Minister Sidney Holland.

Social service benefits at £97,500,000 now amount to 38.3 per cent of total budget, the biggest item and nearly four times the amount to be spent on defence.

Holland had bad news for those getting social service pensions. Their Christmas bonus was cut by half to £5 for a single person and £10 for a married person

£25,000,000 FOR DEFENCE

Total expenditure estimated for 1952-53 is £210,600,000, which includes £25,000,000 for defence, £13,000,000 for the development of industry, and £15,900,000 for food subsidies.

A capital works program to continue hydro-electric development and land-settlement schemes envisages £56,594,000 expenditure.

Tax concessions, notably abolition of the two-penny stamp duty on receipts and reduction of the 10-per cent surcharge on income tax to five per cent, will save the public £8,000,000.

Holland said the government is the first to recognize "the harmful effect of a too-heavy burden of taxation, but its capacity to reduce it is dictated by the services people expect to receive from the state. People must realize that the welfare state is a costly business."

Pours 150 Bottles Down Drain With Tears

BAYONNE, N.J. (AP) — Willie McGraw, a barkeep, wiped a tear from his eyes Thursday and poured 150 bottles of whisky down the drain.

Willie stood at the bar of Neil O'Donnell's tavern as he did the tilting. It took two hours. Every bottle in the place was drained.

Behind the bartender was a part-time employee with a gun, making sure Willie followed his instructions to pour all the liquor down the drain.

Then he tied up Willie and fled. As dawn broke, Willie was rescued. He called the cops and told them the story. They started a hunt for the employee.

Willie said he couldn't figure out why the worker took such a sudden aversion to liquor.

P.C. Re-elected Recount Void

VANCOUVER (CP)—A. R. MacDougall, Progressive Conservative, was "re-elected" in Vancouver-Point Grey yesterday when the British Columbia appeal court tossed out a recount of votes in the riding.

Mr. MacDougall won the seat on the first count of ballots in the June 12 provincial general election.

Liberal T. R. Burnett was declared elected in a recount. Mr. MacDougall then took the case to the appeal court and won his seat back.

The appeal court ruled that some ballots had not been properly packaged and sealed and that the recount judge erred in counting them

March Appointed Deputy Commissioner

OTTAWA (CP)—Ralph E. March, 47, a former New Brunswick school principal and now deputy warden of the Maritime Penitentiary at Dorchester, N.B., has been named a deputy commissioner of penitentiaries, it was announced yesterday by Justice Minister Garson.

He succeeds Joseph McCulley who has been named warden of Hart House, University of Toronto, and he is expected to carry on the work Mr. McCulley did to make his life within Canadian prisons more humane and liberal.

Mr. March, a native of Hampton, N.B., was a school teacher for some years.

Montreal Friend Pays For Funeral Of 2 DP's

MONTREAL (CP)—Funds for the funeral of two Lithuanian displaced persons buried today at Simcoe were supplied by a former Montreal acquaintance.

The two, identified as Edmundus Burdys and Victor Babbalas, were killed in an automobile accident at Delhi. They had been working in tobacco fields.

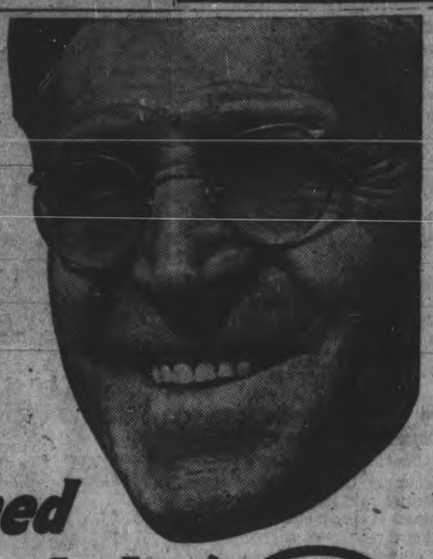
Detective Leo Murray of the Montreal police said the two men stayed for several weeks in Montreal with R. Trottier and repaid him by doing chores about his house before they left for Delhi.

Trottier heard no more of them until he was told by police they had been killed. On learning they had no known relatives in Canada he offered to pay burial expenses. A few Montreal Lithuanians also helped with the cost.

Newspaperman Dies

MONTREAL (CP)—Frederick N. Backhouse, 37, British-born newspaper man who worked for a number of news agencies abroad and recently was with the Montreal Herald, died Wednesday night. A native of London, he had been a reporter with the Canadian Press in London and New York.

Charge Mail Theft



DETROIT (AP)—Tons of stolen and undelivered letters and parcel post packages, accumulated postal inspectors said over a four-year period, were found yesterday in the basement of the home of a veteran mail carrier. The carrier, Roman J. Kortes, 50, said he took the loot "because I just couldn't help it."

Asks Postponement

WASHINGTON (AP)—The national mediation board last night asked the chiefs of three rail unions to postpone a threatened strike against the New York Central lines east of Buffalo pending the outcome of federal mediation efforts. County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Progress Reported In Forming Hog Marketing Agency . . . Holstein Club Dance Aug. 20 . . . Interest in Irrigation Increasing in Prince Edward County . . . Hog Producers Apprehensive of Canned Pork Sales.

Ontario Hog Producers, in their bulletin at the first of the month, raise the question: Why not give the government's canned pork to Great Britain "who needs it badly?"

"This could be charged to the Rearmament Program of Canada of which agriculture is receiving a very small share."

Referring to the recent announcement that forty million pounds of canned pork would be released to the domestic trade, the producer organization predicts "that this will have an adverse effect on the market from a producer's view as, no doubt, it will cut into the fresh pork trade."

"Apparently, no export market could be obtained by which the government could realize their cost, and they are now returning the surplus, which was purchased to relieve the market, back to the same market, which will overload it again."

MARKETING AGENCY

The bulletin reviews the prospects and plans for setting up a Central Marketing Agency for Ontario's pigs as authorized at the Ontario Hog Producers' annual meeting in March.

"We are now in a position to advise producers that the commission firms (who have been operating in the Ontario stockyards) have formed a company to be known as the United Livestock Sales Limited for the marketing of hogs under the appointment of the Ontario Hog Producers' Marketing Board."

AGREEMENT DETAILS

The agreement will be signed as soon as the principals return from holidays.

Some of the clauses in the agreement are: All hogs to be sold at the best possible price the law of supply and demand will allow.

The producer to receive "full statement of settlement" including all deductions and price received.

Direction of hogs to processor.

Policy to be formed by a Co-Ordinating Board (three representatives from the producers and three representatives from the company).

The commissions charged by the said company will be slightly lower than that reported at county meetings last fall. A further saving to the producer is being expected relative to "exchange" charged by the banks on cheques.

It may be necessary to charge a small fee on all hogs marketed, to cover "stockyard charges" as "price" will be determined and established for all hogs marketed in Ontario at these yards.

"Our information regarding the Central Marketing Agency in the Maritimes is to the effect that it has netted the producer the full 26c floor price. This means considerable to the producers, and we will be pleased to have our Ontario producers receive the same benefit."

94,000 HOGS A WEEK

Canadian hog producers are still marketing over 94,000 hogs per week. Ontario marketed 38,374 the wek of July 26, 1952, in comparison with 29,411 for the same week in 1951, and to date 272,558 hogs more have been marketed than in 1951. If Dr. Lattimer was right in his 1949 report to the hog producers wherein he pointed out that producers received more money for a small crop of hogs than a large one (with no export market available) why are producers over-producing?

The old adage of "when producers are reducing production is the time to get into production" no longer holds true. What we really need is constant producers who will produce the requirements of the market and not the "in and out type" who are of little use to stabilize any market.

The Canadian increase for October, November and December, 1952, is estimated at 10.9 per cent over the same period for 1951. The increase for Ontario is estimated at 7.2 per cent, or 43,500 hogs for the aforementioned periods.

The packing house worker is seeking another increase in pay and negotiations are in progress at the present time for this request. If same is granted, who will have to absorb the increase, consumer or labor? This gives a fair picture of what producers face for the next three months.

USING IRRIGATION

"Quite a number of farmers are becoming interested in irirgation equipment in Prince Edward County," as reported in the weekly review of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. "A considerable acreage is being irrigated. . . Cows have been getting little more than exercise due to the burnt up nature of the pastures."

Waterloo: "One of the earliest harvests in history is nearing completion."

Distribution of moisture across the province has again been spotty. Huron says recent rains have helped fall pastures although some farmers are contemplating sowing rye, rape and kale for some additional pasturage. "Second cut clover and alfalfa looking promising and in most cases is ready to be cut."

In Wellington recent rains have ensured better yields of later-sown crops. There were scattered showers in Middlesex recently; but "weather conditions continue dry" in Welland, and have freshened Victoria pastures. Moisture "would be welcomed" in Lennox-Addington and Leeds.

Corn is making phenomenal growth in Eastern Ontario. Some Grenville farmers are thinking of selling fall freshening cows and heifers. In Russell County some hay is being ployed under "as barns are filled to capacity."

In Dufferin there is a big increase in swathing this season, and in Perth "a few farmers are trying the forage harvester to pick up grain from the swath."

TALL CORN — Seven-year-old Bill Jim Marshall has to stand on the shoulder of his uncle, Joe Marshall, to look out over the Marshall brothers' 300 acres of corn near Koping, Mo. In 1949 they averaged 114.4 bushels per acre; in 1950, 123 bushels; and in 1951, 126.6 bushels.

Prizes For Floats

Prizes will be given for the best floats and decorated cars in the parade at Bridgenorth Monday evening, August 18, Ernie A. Scott announces in a reminder to county friends that the C.O.F. members are getting ready to welcome them.

The parade is at 7.30 p.m. from the highway entrance to the park, down into the lakeside hamlet that is the nearest approach to a village in Smith township. Havelock Pipe Band will head the parade. Drawing for prizes topped by a radio, electric clock and coffee-maker follows on the green opposite Sam Bell's garage.

Canadian Order of Foresters No. 315 has planned this affair to raise funds for the renovation of their hall. It has been so often used through the years for community affairs that a crowd is expected to make the party a financial success.

Cornhuskers Aug. 20

A minor but harmonious effect of the U.S. embargo against Canadian livestock, temporary as it is, will be the Holstein Club's square dance Wednesday, August 20, at the Civic Arena.

George Wade and his Cornhuskers of Brampton have been engaged for the evening.

The Holstein Club customarily pooled its commissions on sales of cattle, as fund for such activities as field days, annual dinner, and general social work. These sales have been substantially reduced by the export ban, and to make up the deficiency in fund receipts, the club is holding this dance. Date and place again: Wednesday, August 20, at Civic Arena, Park Street.

Builds Dairy Farm On $35 When Failing Health Forced Him From Office

His experience in parleying $35 into a flock of chickens that once totalled 16,000 birds, and finally a 200-acre farm in Asphodel, was briefly and diffidently outlined to the Examiner this week by William C. Whitred.

"If it will help to stimulate confidence in farming....." was Mr. Whitred's preface to his story. Apparently he would rather talk about rural life and agriculture, and its prospects for the young farmers facing their future, than about the Whitred farm, except perhaps his herd of purebred Holstein cattle.

Mr. Whitred had directed his education toward commercial studies. A special course had prepared him for the office work that eventually failed him by its adverse effect on his health. He was employed with a big plate-glass company in Cleveland, O., and felt that he was set in the path he had chosen. But sedentary, indoor occupation was for him a debilitating atmosphere. He lost appetite and weight. Illness set him back, and at length he was advised to get out into the open.

That was the end of his business ambitions in Cleveland. Mr. Whitred readily recalls that he had only $35 left when he arrived back at his home in Hastings.

TURNED TO POULTRY

Casting about for something to do that offered a chance to make a living, Mr. Whitred ventured into poultry, gradually specializing in Barred Rocks and White Leghorns. He developed a big flock, built a capacious hennery on the west side of Hastings, and hung out an attractive business shingle.

The Leghorns finally diverted Mr. Whitred into dairy farming. With 10,000 birds to feed, he bought the Boland farm as a poultry range five years ago. It is on the west side of the road running south from Westwood. Bruce Graham is a neighbor on the opposite side.

Originally the property was known as the Job Humphries farm. Mr. Humphries obtained the deed of the 200 acres from the Crown.

Mr. Whitred is not ungrateful to his defunct flock. His chickens became a factor in changing the direction of his interest. Today, they are no longer a problem or a care. He has only fourteen hens about the place.

When the continuing occupants of the farm decided to move to Hastings three years ago, Mr. Whitred quit the poultry business altogether and moved on to his land.

BELIEVES IN BREEDING

"One thing I learned from the chickens is that breeding pays," he remarked. "One time I paid $600 for 100 White Leghorn eggs that I bought from J. A. Hanson in the State of Oregon."

"Out of that purchase I got 60 hens, but I think I got the best return from the cockerels by selected breeding back in the flock. Anyway, that investment boosted our egg production 25 per cent."

Mr. Whitred realizes that his poultry were the middle investment in his parley. With the flocks dissolved he switched to Yorkshire pigs and Holstein cattle. He also has a few Jerseys.

HAS RE-ECHO HEIFER

His Black and White herd includes a heifer that was the last daughter of N. W. McConkey's Lifloc Macabar Re-Echo, world champion for milk and butterfat production on 305 days' milking in the four-year-old class.

He has two granddaughters of Mata Hari and some heifers of the Montvic Monogram line. As a member of the Maple Cattle Breeders' Association, he has been partial to the young Clyde Hill bull that Mr. McConkey sold as a yearling to the Maple stud.

Mr. Whitred has spacious quarters for his herd, has kept 75 to 80 head, and at present has around 50. He has no grades. His experience with chickens convinced him of the value of good breeding.

ADOPTS GRASS PROGRAM

The grassland plan of farming has been liberally adopted by Mr. Whitred. He hasn't a stalk of corn on the 200 acres. However, two big silos are packed with grass ensilage, and he has a lot of hay in the barn.

"I am trying to work out a rotation that will put most of the farm in pasture," Mr. Whitred said. 'I have used an O.A.C. mixture including alfalfa, red clover, ladino, timothy, some brome and orchard grass. The best grass silage we had last year was green oats. I noticed that milk production dropped very little on that feed when the cows came off the grass. I fancy that it might be worth while to sow oats for ensilage."

"Anyway, I think the grass is cheaper in the long run than corn, particularly in its vitamin content and nutrients generally. Experience will prove it one way or the other. . . . If we could only pass on the lessons of experience to others! From what I have learned about farming so far, I'd have been into it long before I made the change, that is, if I had known then what I know now."

Mr. Whitred was about one-third of the way through a field of oats with the binder when the Examiner called. Growing up through the stubble was last spring's pasture seeding that looked like a rewarding catch.

FERTILIZER INVESTMENT

Ample use of fertilizer is one of the details of the Whitred practice, and altogether when an nonymous remark was relayed to him: "Have you seen the experimental farm yet?", it bothered him not at all. Life is too short, farming is too fine an occupation to listen to anything that may sound disparaging, and there is too much worth while to be done, in this young country.

That is part of the Whitred philosophy. He has a great respect for the recommendations that come from Ontario Agricultural College, and he reads publications from Cornell, Washington and so on.

"If I could only have got into farming 20 or 25 years ago . . . I know I have a lot to learn, and I have no time to waste. This life has paid off in good health. I feel just about as well as ever."

Mr. Whitred acknowledges that he owes a great deal to his wife and his father for their help and their encouragement. His father is now 84. He is a retired marine engineer.

"My father recalls the time when as a boy of 12 he hoed turnips on this farm. He was an engineer on the steamer Rainbow and others in the days when there used to be a lot of boat traffic on Rice Lake and the Otonabee River."

Mr. and Mrs. Whitred have one daughter married and three at home, going to school, and one son who is eight years old. Mrs. Whitred was formerly Jennie Gordon, of Norwood and Holloway.

TEENAGERS' LACROSSE

In his teens, Bill Whitred used to play lacrosse with the Hastings juniors, and should be remembered by his Peterborough contemporaries, probably including Lionel Brown who used to be one of the fastest of a junior team Johnny Sutherland had under his wing.

Mr. Brown is now manager of Canada Packers and indirectly has been buyer of Whitred Yorkshire hogs. Not so long ago, Bill had about 20 brood sows, now reduced to five or six.

He was clever with a lacrosse stick in those last days of the field game, and didn't back up from bigger opponents.

One of his domestic policies is to pay the girls for their help, particularly around the dairy, "so that they know they have an interest in the farm and also that they will learn the use of money. It isn't so much, but they save enough to buy things for themselves."

Mr. Whitred likes his neighborhood, is wrapped up in his farm and problems of fertility and use, good farm practice, and his dairy herd.

"I firmly believe there is a future in farming and in the prospects for this country," he said. "I think our young farmers should keep that in mind as their guide, because I suppose there are bound to be ups and downs, but if agriculture anywhere can feel confident it should surely be right here in Ontario."

Durham O.A.C. Trip

Sixty-five Durham County farmers visited the 300-acre potato farm of Ed Snyder, Hespeler, July 29, a feature of their tour to O.A.C.

Mr. Snyder specializes in spuds for his potato chips business. Practice includes irrigation, spraying and digging after the tops are beaten to the ground by a "rotar beater."

Nineteen of the 20 members of the Durham Junior Potato Club were included in the party. They are using the "Canso" variety this year.

Chemical Fertilizers Approved By Committee

The necessity for the use of chemical fertilizers on most soils to ensure an adequate and sustained supply of food crops was emphasized by every witness who appeared before the Select Committee of Congress to investigate the use of chemicals in food and cosmetics in the United States.

The committee (better known as the Delaney Committee) issued a report recently which made direct reference to the claims of organic gardeners and organic farmers that "food produced on soil treated with chemicals is inferior and that such food leads directly to illness."

The report recognized that organic matter is important for conserving and building up the fertility of the soil. "However," it continued, "the claims that only organic fertilizers improve the nutritional value of food crops and that the use of chemical fertilizers produces harmful effects are not supported by numerous controlled experiments.

"As a matter of fact, there is evidence that judicious supplementation with chemical fertilizers may result in crops whose yield and nutritional quality are equal to or better than crops grown in any other manner."

County Offers Student Aid To Farm School

Kemptville Agricultural School year begins October 14 and ends April 17. The term of six months costs the student about $250, and certain scholarships are available.

Peterborough county council has an unrescinded offer of two two grants, each of $100, for prospective students. This aid is for the first year of the two-year course. No application was forthcoming from county young people in 1951, and the offer lapsed without a recipient last year.

The Atkinson Foundation provides ten bursaries of $100 each, five for the two year diploma course in agriculture, and the other five for the girls' courses in home economics.

A three - storey agricultural building is being constructed at the school. It is 150 ft. by 100 ft., steel, concrete and brick, "and will soon offer Eastern Ontario the most modern means of practical instruction in all types of farm engineering problems, including machinery, drainage, land development, plumbing, farm water, electrical wiring, forge work, carpentry."

A recent Kemptville announcement says:

"One feature of the new building will be a stage for machinery demonstration in a room seating 250 persons. The school can now put a sharp accent on vital teaching in the care and operation of farm equipment. If scarcity of labor forces the farmer to invest in expensive and intricate machines, he must have instruction in their use. Future farmers graduating from the Kemptville Agricultural School will receive this instruction and will profit from it. The new building for housing these farm engineering laboratories will equal any of its kind in Canada.

"The school year begins October 14 and finishes April 17. But already applications are coming in from new students for courses in Agriculture and Home Economics.

"Incoming students will find a renovated residence and a complete new set of lights on the eight acre campus as well as the improvements to barns and equipment in the 300 acre school mixed dairy farm. At the moment a visitor to the school may see demonstrations in mow curing of hay, fertilizer tests and proving plots for seed varieties. This is all a part of the school program to practice and teach paying methods in agriculture.

"Applications from girls for Home Economics Courses are ahead of last year at this date. This may be because previous graduates have readily filled responsible positions in tourist business, sewing centres, and as assistants to dieticians in hospitals or other institutions. Of course, many girls today are still interested in becoming good homemakers."

Any young farm people of this district interested in the Kemptville School may obtain information from the office of Frank C. Paterson or may write directly to the principal, A. M. Barr.

The approximate cost of $250 covers room, board and tuition.

CORNY MYSTERY — This young lady with the tape measure seems a bit mystified at the plant beside her. And no wonder. It's a corn stalk growing very lustily out of a crack in the pavement on the corner of Washington and Jefferson Street near Chicago's busy Loop section.

Quarantine Ending

The U.S. embargo on Canadian cattle will likely be lifted around the end of the year, Robert McCubbin, parliamentary aide to the Federal Minister of Agriculture, "guessed" this week in an interview at Ottawa. He said the quarantine imposed on the infected Regina area would be lifted August 19.

The U.S. required a lapse of 60 days after an area was declared free of foot-and-mouth disease, before it would consider terminating the embargo. That placed the American "all-clear" acknowledgment at October 19.

'Swan Outline' Makes Debut London Designers Agreed

ALLISON SETTLE.

LONDON — The new London clothes line which emerges as the English couture dress collections draw to an end is what John Cavanagh, newest and one of the most talented members of the Incorporated Society of London Fashion Designers calls "the swan outline."

This is one of proudly curving busts, of heads held high and of the backwards sweep of seams in day clothes, or of skirt draperies at night.

On this the designers are at one. Hardy Amies speaks of "building the bodyline upwards" with an undefined middle and just a suggestion of the raised waist. His day clothes are covered to the neck where a collar, if it appears at all, must be flat. Fur trimmings are confined to cuffs and pocket edgings, and these pockets no longer jut. The smooth throat line and the down-curving smoothness of shoulders continues also at night, but now uncovered; and also in Hardy Amies' "twilight clothes," where the bust is revealed as it has not been for the last 60 years of fashion history—but so quietly is this line built that it can only be accepted as in the best of taste.

Victor Stiebel echoes the same feeling. The accentuated bust, the smoothly collarless, close neckline, and the curve-shouldered sleeve play the most important part in outlining his New Woman of 1953-to-come. From this moulded bust and calm, uprising throat, the lines of his clothes flow downwards and backwards, an echo of the Cavanagh "swan line." Stiebel's skirts, other than for travel and country wear, seem forced backwards by the wind.

PRINCESS LOVES

For practical hours this designer, whose clothes Princess Margaret loves, allows befurred boxy jackets (which he calls, American style, "blazers"), teamed with slim, straight skirts and straight tweed coats. But afternoon suits have jackets close-curving to the figure, while town-wear coats are also figure-moulding, made in street velvets and in soap-soft lambswool, the skirts stiffened with canvas.

Not everything in the Stiebel collection is calm: for girls he makes for evening richly-full whirl-skirts in the nubbiest of woollens, to be worn with off-shoulder figure-moulding jersey tops; the tweeds often have an almost ruglike appearance, as for instance one with nubbles of black standing out on a red background which only shows in movement as a fire-bright base.

Michael of Lachasse, possibly the most original of all London designers, shows very short but broad coats (or are they jackets?) cut wider than they are long, with shoulder seams low, dropped almost to the point of greatest sleeve width. These sleeves, wide at elbow depth, narrow down to a cuffless wrist. With collarless, exquisitely tailored suits he puts wide fabric stoles to match (often velvet-lined), worn flung back, and knotted at waist level behind.

His beltless dresses show a princess line, but a tuck, or other indication, marks hiptop level. Like a true Irishman he uses many Donegal tweeds, fine or rough, with peaked, slouching Paddy hats. But Donegal tweeds may not necessarily now have their origin in Ireland; they are made in Yorkshire and also in France, for the Donegal tweed-makers omitted, unlike the Harris authorities, to protect their name of origin.

FUR LININGS

Peter Russell, using flecked and other tweeds or smooth, deep velours-type woollens, cuts coats with the deeply dropped shoulder line, and at times outlines the oval, wide armhole with an emphasized keyhole of padded seaming. Like the others, he uses plenty of fur linings, but makes moleskin his chief love where other houses prefer beaver.... and Hardy Amies substitutes fur fabric simulating beaver for lightness' sake (maybe of purse as well as weight), in one of his grandest coats.

Russell retains circle skirts in the main; though his prettiest cocktail suit in emerald peau-de-soie, has the bustlelike fullness of the skirt tied back with ribbons. He substitutes Elizabethan farthingale skirts for his grand ground-length evening dresses, in place of circular crinolines, the "farthingale line" being flattened back and front and widened at the sides.

Digby Morton suggests Elizabethan influences from the past with his Tudor-inspired loose and full shortcoat, also with a velvet suit which shows a jewelled belt above a full-flouted basque.

GINGERBREAD TONES

In coloring the London designers are at one: The best-loved combination is one of copper and black. Gingerbread tones are chosen by both Digby Morton and Hardy Amies, being on ochre and black blend. Morton fancies "cherrybrandy" rose - browns, Amies "brandysnap" sombre browns. There is also snuff, cinnamon, a fireglow red, and Hardy's much-loved "blood-orange," a flame coloring. Norman Hartnell's beautifully cut suits are in mustard, rust, cherry-leaf, blackberry red, and in the shades of green which all designers include for day wear.

Charles Creed, showing an all-tailored collection, uses chin-hugger collars in cloth and fur, and gives his braided suits supple broadtail jackets or (equally braided) cloth ones. His suits are very slim and his coats have vast shawl collors, batswing sleeves rising from hipbone level; he uses tab closings.

His leather-patched shooting suit leads the sports suits, mainly in flecked tweeds. Town suits and dresses use plenty of crystal pleating sections.

THE SMALL FUR, bigger than ever this fall, has become a year-round success. Here, it's shown in several versions. White mink clutch cape (left) is worn over slim silver gown, is accented by diamond jewelry. An Eton jacket in Royal pastel mink (left centre) with a mink basket, fully fitted with coin purse and mirror. A diamond-and-sapphire clip is fastened to the bag. A short, flared coat of white nutria (right centre) that's lined in green satin, has huge, adjustable cuffs. Sapphire mink stole (right) has scalloped fringe of matching mink tails. It can be worn knotted or wrapped.

Small Furs Are Popular Fashion Trend For Fall

The little fur, unlimited by season or the time of day, looms large in fashion. The initial investment is far less than that for a coat, and the potential wearability is, naturally, far greater.

The lines of this year's small furs are, generally, rounded and thus easily wrapped. This is true of capes, jackets, scarves and stoles. Stoles often are fitted to the shoulders in a manner that prevents their slipping off.

There are many circular sleeves in tiny jackets. And these waist-length wraps are often fitted in at the waist and rounded at the back.

A spiral treatment of sleeves looks new for this fall and creates a continuous line from the shoulder to the cuff. These sleeves can be worn pushed up or down, to the wearer's taste.

The collared stole is another version of the fur that wraps more readily, clinging to the contours of the body. This, like the stole with fitted shoulders, is designed to stay in place without constant clutching.

While there are many rounded, waist-length jackets for fall, there are also many that are hip-length. These are intended for wear over the longer suit-jackets and longer hiplines of some fall dresses.

Couple Mark Anniversary Of Wedding

MR. AND MRS. JAMES DIAPER

HAVELOCK (ENS)—St. Mary's Church at Sholing, county of Southampton, England, was the setting for a double wedding on August 8, 1903, the ceremony being performed by the vicar the Rev. Francis Davidson. The brides were sisters and today in Havelock one of the couples, Mr. and Mrs. James N. Diaper celebrated the 49th anniversary of that happy event. Mrs. Diaper was formerly Ethel Mabel Williams. Her sister Sarah Louise and Arthur Charles Sansome were the other couple who took their marriage vows of that day who still live in Sholing.

Mr. Diaper came to Canada in 1912 and in August of that year entered the employ of the C.P.R. in their shops here as a wiper. Mrs. Diaper joined her husband in August 1914. Mr. Diaper enlisted in January 1916 with the 93rd Peterborough Battalion, transferring to the 21st Battalion overseas. He was on active service to the end of the war and is at present in poor health, the result of being gassed. After returning to Canada he re-entered the employ of the C.P.R. as a locomotive fireman, being superannuated in February 1943.

Two of Mrs. Diaper's brothers, Bert and Edward Williams who came to this country settling in Havelock prior to her arrival here were killed in the First World War.

PLAYED FOR SOUTHAMPTON

Mr. Diaper's hobby is sports. He played cricket and football in England and in the latter game played as an amateur on a professional team in Southampton. Since coming to Canada he has been particularly interested in hockey and managed a local hockey team for five years in the 20s. He has been a member of Royal Lodge I.O.O.F. No. 286 for 28 years and has seryed for six years as school attendance officer. He and Mrs. Diaper have been active workers in Dorcas Rebekah Lodge No. 98 for 28 years. Mrs. Diaper is also an active member of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Havelock-Belmont Branch No. 389 of the Canadian Legion and The Lady McGill L.O.B.A. No. 471. She is particularly fond of gardening.

Mr. and Mrs. Diaper quietly celebrated their anniversary owing to the ill health of the former, by receiving congratulations from their neighbors and friends. They were the tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Shotton.

Play Soft Music To Help Weary Civil Service Folk

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA (CP)—The big exodus is on—a trek from dingy offices to the federal government's newest and most gleaming edifice, an $8,000,000 structure boasting piped-in music, air-raid shelters, shower-bathing and the country's biggest cafeteria.

For years the 1,350 men and women who run Canada's facts-and figures factory, the Bureau of Statistics, have been dreaming of the shift. Now it is a reality.

From a temporary wartime building and a converted saw mill on the east side of town, they're pouring into a four-wing, brick-concrete-and-steel structure on the west side in the biggest government shift in recent years

MOVING COST $70,000

Day after day, a fleet of commercial vans, hired at a cost of about $70,000, have been transferring the implements of economic research. By the time they get through, they'll have moved some 2,000 filing cabinets, 800 typewriters and other business machines, 1,000 tables and desks and about 800 tons of paper.

The army of statisticians started moving at the end of June. The move probably will be complete by September. By then they'll be settled in a functional structure located on one of Ottawa's landmarks, Tunney's Pasture, where some 70 acres of land have been taken over by the government for eventual construction of other new buildings.

18 MONTHS IN MAKING

Eighteen months in the making, the new offices have just about everything a worker could want. A color dynamics expert has been employed to make rooms look warm and comfortable, to paint walls with colors which will help ease tension and monotony, to make the employee's outlook bright and happy.

The great honeycomb of rooms and corridors is completely air-conditioned, and connected up with a public address system for calling an employee anywhere in the structure's 300,000 square feet of floor space.

Civil servants will be able to get medical care at the government's biggest health unit located right in the building.

SEATS 1,400 DINERS

Down on the first floor, or semi-basement, there is what is claimed to be Canada's biggest and most up-to-date cafeteria. It can seat 1,400 diners at on sitting.

The building also has a printing press, steel lockers for all employees, a battery of showers, reinforced sections for air-raid shelters, a two-storey auditorium, a conference room trimmed in mahogany and a centrally-located, well-equipped office which can pipe out soft music to weary employees.

But officials emphasize that the latter will be used with discretion. It will go only to men and women who work the mechanical tabulation machines. This is a weary and sometimes monotonous job. The music is expected to make work more cheerful.

Braund-Gonder

A quiet wedding took place at St. Mark's Anglican Church, Hamilton, when Dorothy Elizabeth Gonder became the bride of Donald Lorne Braund. The Rev. Keith S. Viddell officiated.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gonder, Preston, and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Braund, of London.

The bride wore a ballerina-length dress of white nylon lace over taffeta. Her only attendant, Mrs. Norman Gonder, wore a ballerina-length dress of Madonna blue taffeta with white accessories.

Norman Gonder was groomsman.

Following a wedding trip to Northern Ontario, the couple will reside in London.

Olga Metcalfe, Thomas Gall United In Keene Ceremony

The Keene United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding Thursday afternoon at two o'clock when, against a background of gladioli and ferns, Hattie Olga Metcalfe, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Metcalfe, of Norwood, became the bride of Thomas James Gall, son of Mrs. T. Gall, of Keene, and the late Mr. Gall. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. B. Herrington, minister of the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Clifford Irwin. She wore a gown of blush satin with a slight train. Her jewellery was the groom's gift of a rhinestone necklace and earrings. Attending her as matron of honor was her cousin, Mrs. Charles Stephenson, of Omemee, who wore a gown of mauve nylon, and as bridesmaid the groom's niece, Miss Beverley Gall, Keene, who wore a peach colored frock. Flower girls were the bride's two small nieces, Estella and Isabel Irwin, dressed in green nylon. All carried bouquets of gladioli in appropriate shades.

The groom was atteended by his brother, Mr. Jack Gall, of Keene. Ushers were Harold Dawson, of Montreal, Howard Adams, of Cobourg, Bryce Steele, of Peterborough, and Fred Gall, of Keene.

Wedding music was played by Mr. Walter Morrow, organist. Before the ceremony, the soloist, Miss Lyla Kirk, of Norwood, sang "Love Divine All Loves Excelling" and during the signing of the register she sang "Breathe On Me."

A reception and wedding supper were held at the Empress Hotel, Peterborough. The guests were received by Mrs. Clifford Irwin, sister of the bride, and by Mrs. Gall, mother of the groom.

For travelling, the bride chose a light blue suit with navy accessories. After a honeymoon trip to Quebec, Mr. and Mrs. Gall will live in Keene.

Local Women Contributing To CFUW Exhibit

Delegates from Peterborough to the triennial conference of the Canadian Federation of University Women at Ottawa this August 19 to 21 will be Miss K. Macdougall, Mrs. J. E. Watters, Mrs. R. G. Corneil and Mrs. A. H. Heideman. However, other Peterborough Club members are planning to attend the conference and to contribute to the art and book exhibits.

This is the first time in the 33 years of its existence that the program has included an exhibit of the artistic talents of members or a display of books they have written. More than 200 pictures are being entered by 93 members representing 29 of the 70 clubs from Halifax to Vancouver.

Theme of this conference is "Woman and the State" and it will be developed and discussed by outstanding women from Pakistan, United States and Canada. With growth in membership to over 6,000 the work and influence of the Federation has grown from "education in all its phases" to encompass the whole field of women's activity.

Hastings Couple 50 Years Married

HASTINGS (ENS) — Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Draper celebrated their golden wedding anniversary recently, the commemoration taking the form of an afternoon tea for friends and relatives at their summer home on Homewood Drive, Hastings. After the presentation of gifts and toasts, Mr. Draper responded in a reminiscent manner.

Married in Manchester, England, on July 30, 1902, the happy couple came to Canada in 1907 and settled in Toronto. They have two children, Allison (Mrs. Norman Ellis) and one son, Wesley. Both are married, Allison with a daughter (Starr) and Wesley a son (Reesor) and daughter.

TO REMOVE SCORCH

If you scorch a white cotton or linen dress while you are ironing, launder it at once in plenty of rich soapsuds, then hang in the sun to bleach. A light bleach solution can also be added, if necessary, and then rinsed out thoroughly.

DOROTHY DIX

Owners Of Noisy Radios Don't Realize True Volume

DEAR MISS DIX : Is there a remedy for people who play their radios so loud and so long at a time? Are they just trying to let everyone else know that they own a radio?

FRANCES

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Most people who play their radios too loud simply don't realize the volume of noise they are creating. A radio that seems reasonably quiet to the listener can be absolutely blasting to an outsider. Perhaps if you brought the matter to the attention of the offenders, they would co-operate by tuning down.

GIVE HIM A CHANCE

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very much in love with Keith. The other night he told me he wasn't sure if he wanted to go with me or not. He's sure he likes me, but he doesn't know how much. Should I continue going with him?—A. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If Keith wants to go with you simply on a friendship basis, why not go along with him? Perhaps something more serious will develop; if it doesn't, you'll have to bury your affections and begin all over later with another boy. However, since you care so much for Keith, it's worth a chance.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Two weeks ago I met a boy who says he really loves me. I cannot truthfully say I love him but I do like him a lot. He's 17, I'm 15. My parents seem to approve of him, too. Last night he came over and gave me a wrist watch. I know my mother wouldn't let me keep it. Should I keep it secretly or return it to him?—B. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Neither you nor the boy can be the least bit sure of your feelings for each other; first, because of the extremely short period of acquaintance, second, because of your youth. Most emphatically you should return the watch. It is too valuable a gift to be accepted under the circumstances and, furthermore, don't ever keep a present that your mother doesn't know about.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: In March I became engaged to a boy I had only known eight months. We were to be married in April, but his father died and the wedding was delayed until August. Now the boy thinks we should wait until November; when he will be out of the army. My friends say he is trying to back out of the wedding. Do you think so?—M. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You cannot reasonably expect a boy who has lost his parent to continue with all his plans just as if nothing had happened. The emotional upset alone would be enough to make him want a postponement of the wedding, and there are probably practical complications as well. Don't add to his troubles by being unsympathetic and ornery. Try to see his position too. Waiting until November won't entail too great a hardship.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Two months ago I met a boy whom I liked very much. He comes to see me two or three times a week. Now he tells me he has a girl friend in another town and expects to marry her some day. Since I love him very much, do you think there is a chance of my getting him away fro mher?—PATSY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are foolish to care for a boy who shows such deceitful character and, if you could get him, you'd be more foolish to take him! He has proven himself fickle to the girl he intends to marry—what do you expect him to do to you? He is incapable of true affection or loyalty to anyone; don't waste your love or time on him!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Although I am only 14 I have been going out with girls and boys who are older than I. I am never deprived of the privilege of going out and doing the things they do. Occasionally they take a cigarette and offer me one. I usually accept. Do you think I am doing right?—GRACIE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Nothing looks sillier than an adolescent waving a cigarette around. Aping the privileges of one's elders is not the best way to enjoy one's youth. Aren't you taking advantage of mom and pop's good nature by doing things you know they would not approve? They extend liberal privileges to you; why not be satisfied with them and behave like a sensible -4-year-old?

Readers' Friday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: Here's another Mad Hatter in your fan mail, and was I ever tickled to read that you had visited here. It made you seem so much more like a real person than just a picture in a news column.

I wonder if you have a recipe for marshmallow sauce as an ice cream varnish. I had one years ago—a sugar and water syrup with diced marshmallows cut into it, that formed a thick sauce—but lost it, and have never been able to dream it up properly since.

Also a good relish for meat sandwiches (peppers, onions, etc.). My Pete is working in a brick yard this summer hoping to earn enough to go to university this fall. He only gets half an hour for lunch and can't come home, so you should see the lunches I pack! He says he'll be in prime shape to play rugby — but I'll swear he gets his greatest amount of exercise lugging that lunch pail forth and back . . . I have quite a scrapbook of your recipes . . . I can distinguish between what would be a suitable dish for my gang and what wouldn't. ("What the heck is this guck?") . . . A hearty pat on the back for a splendid job.—Eloise S. N.

P.S.—Do you have this recipe in your "young bride" file? I started making it for my man 15 years ago and it's still his favorite:

CHOCOLATE SQUARES
(Contributed by Eloise)

One and one-half cups brown sugar, ¼ lb. butter or less, 2 eggs, 1 full cup flour, 2 heaping tablespoons cocoa, salt, vanilla, ½ cup walnuts. Cream sugar, butter—add eggs, beating in one at a time. Add cocoa, salt, vanilla, then flour and walnuts. Pat into cake pan. Put icing on when cake is hot out of oven. Icing: 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons cocoa, 2 tablespoons cream, icing sugar (to make of spreading consistency), vanilla.—E. S, N.

ANSWER: Thanks for the chocolate squares. My! We are kindred spirits, aren't we? Both with a Pete starting at university this fall. Both boys working at back-breaking he-man's jobs. My Pete is working in the open hearth department of the steel company. He eats twice as much as anyone I know. I had a grand welcome in your city.

MARSHMALLOW SAUCE

Put in saucepan ½ cup sugar, ½ cup water and ¼ teaspoon cream; stir until sugar is dissolved and then add 12 cut up marshmallows, let stand until marshmallows are melted, then pour slowly over 1 egg white stiffly beaten, beating all of the time. As soon as syrup is added pour into jar, cool at room temperature, cover and keep at room temperature.

GREEN RELISH (Uncooked)

To ½ medium-sized cabbage, chopped fine (or ground), add 1 quart ripe peeled tomatoes cut in eighths, 2 green peppers chopped fine after seeding, 10 small onions sliced or chopped, 1 cup chopped parsley, 1 cup chopped celery, 2 oz. mustard seed, 1-3 cup salt, 2 cups sugar, 1 cup water, 2 cups vinegar. Mix all together, and stir until sugar is dissolved. This may be kept cold in crock in a good cellar, covered or canned cold in jars and sealed. If desired, the sugar and vinegar may be heated together and poured over boiling hot, just before sealing the relish in jars.

QUESTION: Would you be kind enough to give me a good mustard pickle—sweet. I have never been able to find one similar to that pickle which one buys in the stores and that's the one I particularly like.—Marjorie R.

ANSWER: I can't quite guess which commercially packed mustard pickle you mean, but here is a recipe like my mother used and is a prize.

SWEET MUSTARD PICKLES

I would be grateful if other readers would clip this now as it will be much in demand in another month.

Three quarts small cucumbers, 2 large cauliflowers, 3 quarts pickling onions, 3 red peppers, 3 quarts vinegar, 4 or 6 cups brown sugar, ½ tablespoon salt, ½ cup flour, 2 tablespoons pepper, ½ teaspoon cayenne, 2 tablespoons mustard seed, 1½ tablespoons turmeric, 1 cup dry mustard. Wash cucumbers; cut if necessary. Wash cauliflower and break into small flowerettes. Wash and peel onions; cut peppers in strips. Put in separate bowls, cover with hot brine (½ cup salt to 1 quart boiling water) and let stand overnight. Drain. Heat vinegar to boiling. Mix sugar, flour and seasonings. Stir vinegar slowly into them and cook until thick. Add drained vegetables and cook 5 minutes. Bottle and seal. If you have a cold cellar, this may be kept in covered crock.

What's Right?

When you ask your hostess to give you the recipe for a dish for which she is famous in her circle, she seems reluctant to do so and puts you off until "later."

WRONG: Keep after her to give you the recipe.

RIGHT: Realize that some cooks, when they find they have won a local reputation for a particular dish, have no intention of telling anyone else exactly how to prepare it.

REMOVE MILDEW

Remove mildew spots as soon as they are discovered — before they have a chance to weaken or rot material. Take off surface growth by vacuuming thoroughly or brushing the affected article out of doors. Dry-clean fabrics that cannot then be washed or sponged with water.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Picnics Easy Way To Entertain Family

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Picnics are the easiest way to entertain the youngsters on a summer Sunday.

If close enough to one of Canada's many parks, there is no need for a discussion over a picnic ground—it's there, frequently in pine woods, complete with outdoor grill, running hot water, perhaps table and benches, too.

And where is there a better appetizer than the smell of wood smoke, sizzling bacon and hot coffee?

Regular park-goers always remember to take along a coffee-pot and frying-pan. Their picnic menu generally runs along these lines: Bacon, fried tomatoes, potato or bean salad, bananas or other fruit, cake and coffee.

BEAN SALAD

The bean salad might be the "baked bean" variety suggested by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Ingredients: Two cups baked beans, one cup diced celery, two tablespoons finely diced onion, one tablespoon finely chopped diced red pepper, two tablespoons finely diced green pepper, french dressing, salt.

To make french dressing: One-half teaspoon mustard, one teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon pepper, one-half teaspoon paprika, one-half cup vinegar, one-half cup oil, one-third cup tomato soup.

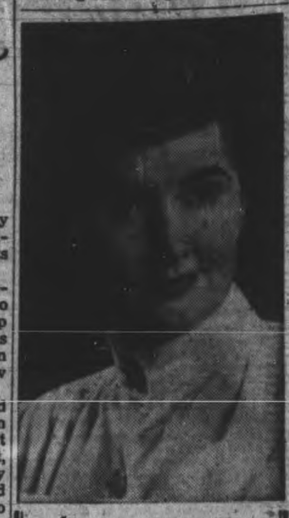
Blend dry ingredients in saucepan. Add vinegar and oil. Boil one minute. Beat with an egg-beater. Add tomato soup and beat some more. After chilling, store in covered bottle in cold place. Shake well before using.

As blueberries are in season the picnic cake might be "blueberry cake" suggested by Newfoundland's Jubilee Guild in one of its cookbooks.

Ingredients: One cup sugar, one-third cup butter or margarine, two teaspoons baking-powder, one cup blueberries, two eggs, 1½ cups flour, one-half teaspoon lemon flavoring, one-half cup milk, few grains salt.

Cream butter thoroughly and add the sugar gradually. Cream well. Add well beaten eggs. Sift flour, baking-powder and salt, three times. Add flour alternately with milk. Add flavoring. Add berries and mix lightly. Pour into a greased loaf-pan and bake in a moderate oven 45 minutes.

Canada's national parks include scenic and recreational parks from the Atlantic Coast to the Rocky and Selkirk Mountains.



All wild life is protected in these parks and as far as possible primal natural conditions are maintained. Equipped camp grounds and bowling greens. More than 700 miles of park highways and 2,300 miles of trails have been built to provide access to outstanding scenic regions.

Remove Old Paint

If furniture has been painted so often that the old coating is thick and lumpy, it's wise to remove the old paint before applying the new. This treatment calls for paint and varnish remover, steel wool and a scraping tool of some sort.

The remover is applied to a section of the piece, allowed to soak in and soften the old coating, then scraped off and cleaned with steel wool or fine sandpaper. When the remnants of the remover have been finally cleaned off—usually with a solvent—a priming coat of enamel undercoater can be aplied and the final coats brushed onto this receptive base.

Model Plane

"It's certainly nerve wracking" said Mrs. Vern Morphet who lives at the corner of Armour Rd. and Park Hill Rd. Living near a public park you can expect some inconvenience, Mrs. Morphet continued but the "continual drone is not like the fun shouts of children."

MAIN COMPLAINT

The main beef centres around the fact that those who are flying the planes are young men and not children, and worse still, some of the gas model fans are from Lakefield.

There are about a dozen "flyers" in the Plymouth Aero League which has a membership of about 50 and six or eight members are from Lakefield one of the club's officials said today.

As one woman put it, "We don't mind putting up with the noise of our own youngsters but let the Lakefield boys fly their planes in Lakefield and annoy their own people."

The club has been in operation about a year now and according to George Hutchison, one of the clubs flying members Nicholls Oval is an "exceptionally good place" to fly power models. "There are no obstructions and the models can take-off and land on the low cut grass," he explained.

Several of those interviewed suggested that Armour Hill would be a good place for flying the models, because up there, they would be less likely to annoy people than in Nicholls Oval.

The city's anti-noise bylaw only prohibits the repeated honking of auto horns and the continual barking of dogs, so the long suffering residents can look for no relief there.

The consensus among those who are most annoyed by the "nuisance" is that flying model airplanes is a good clean sport, and keeps young men out of mischief, providing they don't fly them in the centre of a built-up residential area every evening and all day Sunday.

Kesselring Breezes To Quarter-Finals

KINGSTON (CP)—Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener was the lone championship golfer to start today's quarter-final round in the 30th annual Ontario amateur golf championship at the Cataraqui Golf Club.

Kesselring, defending amateur champion and Ontario Open titleholder, breezed through yesterday's two rounds in easy style.

In the morning he vanquished Fred Bentley of Napanee 6 and 5 and topped Nick Panasuik of Windsor 3 and 4 in the afternoon. In each of the matches Kesselring made the turn three up.

MAJOR UPSET

Biggest upset of Thursday's play was provided by little-known Herb Reinholdt of Toronto who eliminated Nick Weslock of Windsor, two-time winner of the tournament.

Reinholdt and Weslock staged a tight battle all through their fourth-round match which was decided on the extra 19th hole with a spectacular putt by the winner.

On the 15th, Reinholdt dropped a 40-foot putt for a birdie and took the lead, but Weslock came through on the 16th. Another long Reinholdt putt on the 17th squared things and the home hole was halved.

On the extra hole Reinholdt flubbed his tee shot and rolled to the back apron, about 25 feet away from the pin, on his second. Weslock was about 14 feet away from the hole after an over-the-hill approach.

SINKS 25-FOOTER

Reinholdt sank his 25-foot putt for a birdie three, while Weslock blew and missed.

In the other two extra hole rounds, Doug McKellar of Toronto eliminated Bruce Bradley of Oshawa and Herb Epstein of Toronto knocked off ex-champion Sonny Adams of Toronto.

Others advancing to today's quarter-final round were George Eluck of Windsor, Louis Georgas of Owen Sound, Ralph Waechter of Kitchener and Jim Neale of Hamilton.

Yesterday's results included:

Third round:

G. Kesselring, Kitchener, defeated F. Bentley, Napanee, 6 and 5.

H. Epstein, Toronto, defeated T. Holmes, Brantford, 1 up.

J. G. Adams, Toronto, defeated J. Watson, Chatham, 5 and 4.

B. Bradley, Oshawa, defeated W. Tredway, Toronto, 3 and 1.

L. Georgas, Owen Sound, defeated G. Magee, Toronto, 1 up.

Grant Shirk, Kitchener, defeated C. Pasternak, Toronto, 3 and 1.

R. Waechter, Kitchener defeated B. Castator, Toronto, 4 and 3.

N. Weslock, Windsor, defeated G. Ball, Kitchener, one up.

Fourth Round:

Kesselring defeated Nick Panasuik, Toronto, 5 and 4.

D. McKellar, Toronto, defeated Bradley on the 19th.

Georgas defeated Shirk, 4 and 3.

Waechter defeated G. Brown, London, 3 and 2.

Three invaders, one from West Germany and two from Canada, will be among 153 competitors at Akron, O., Sunday in the 15th all-American soap box derby.

CHICAGO RINK CHANGE

Sports Promoter Arthur M. Wirtz announced yesterday a realignment in the organization which owns and operates the Chicago Stadium and the Olympic Stadium in Detroit.

Wirtz said that James Norris will become president of the Olympia Stadium Corp., James D. Norris will be chairman of the board of the Chicago Stadium and Wirtz will assume the presidency of the Chicago Arena.

James Norris is the father of James D. Norris, who also is president of the International Boxing Club.

The elder Norris resigned as president of the Chicago Arena to assume his new position, and the other two men have severed their official connections with the Detroit Stadium. They were on the board of directors.

A.H.L. MEETING

American Hockey League club owners met for nine hours at New York yesterday but failed to name anyone to succeed Maurice Podoloff who resigned as league president. The owners will meet again today.

A spokesman said that the owners also discussed the increasing cost of operation, but declined to comment on reports that some of the teams would drop out of the circuit. Cleveland has been making an effort to get into the National League.

The league is composed of Buffalo, N.Y., Cincinnati, Cleveland, Hershey, Pa., Indianapolis, Pittsburgh, Providence, R.I., St. Louis and Syracuse, N.Y.

UMPIRE SUSPENDED

Umpire Bill McGowan yesterday was suspended indefinitely by American League President William Harridge for an incident involving sports writers in the Detroit-Browns game at St. Louis last night.

Harridge notified Robert L. Burnes, sports editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, of his action in a telegram. Burnes had wired Harridge after the game protesting that McGowan refused to give the press box the name of a player he had ejected from the game and had also made offensive gestures.

TWO YACHTS TIED

Two rivals in the six-metre division, the Circe of Toronto's Royal Canadian Yacht Club and the Stork of the Rochester Yacht Club, yesterday moved into a tie for first place after two days of racing in the three-day lake Yacht Racing Association regatta at Toronto.

Circe and the Stork placed second and third on alternate days to collect 25 points, two better than either the Star Wagon of Rochester, yesterday's winner, or the Buzzy of Toronto, Wednesday's winner.

Windsor Cadet, 17 Shares Match Honors

LONG BRANCH (CP)—A 17-year old Windsor cadet yesterday share highest match honors of the Ontario Rifle Association's annual shoot with a 65-year-old Briton.

Cadet G. R. J. Ouellette tied with Armourer Sgt. F. S. French of Enfield for first place in the Lieutenant-Governor's match.

Because the medal can only be awarded to an Ontario man, Ouellett took the award and French the $50 prize money.

The South Porcupine shot, CQMS. J. A. Draper, won the Mercer challenge cup for the highest aggregate in six matches with a total of 509.

Still Going Strong

Marlene Stewart Sets Blistering Pace

By JIM PEACOCK

EDMONTON (CP)—Twenty-year-old Mary Gay of Kitchener, Ont., was the only one in a field of 83 with much hope of overtaking champion Marlene Stewart today in the Canadian Women's close golf tournament.

The 18-year-old sensation from Fonthill, Ont., who won the crown last year in her first attempt, blistered the Edmonton Mayfair's ladies par 79 with a seven-under 72 in the opening round yesterday. She had a five-stroke lead over Ontario champion Miss Gay and was 10 strokes ahead of the third best.

6 STROKES OFF RECORD

Miss Stewart's amazing pace chopped six strokes off the former course record and led the Ontario team to a 16-stroke lead in the inter-provincial team competition being staged simultaneously with the close.

Miss Gay coupled a two-under-par 77 with Miss Stewart's 72 and Ontario posted an aggregate four-player team score of 327.

No outstanding scores were turned in by the Alberta team, but their consistent pace brought them into second place with an aggregate of 343. Defending team champion Quebec had a 357 for fourth, four strokes behind British Columbia.

SIX BIRDIES, AND EAGLE

The likeable little champion could do no wrong. Her long drives, accurate seconds and sure putts gave her six birdies plus an eagle three on the 405-yard third. She went out in four-under par 35 and came in with a three-under 37.

Miss Gay was two strokes off Miss Stewart's pace after nine holes and parred the second half. She birdied five.

Babs Davies of Vancouver led the B.C. team players with an 82 for third place in the close. B.C. was strongly rated until Marjorie Todd of Victoria failed to show and was replaced by junior Shirley Fry of Esquimalt. Miss Fry had a 96.

Dorothy Herbertson of Esquimalt became B.C. junior member and shot an 85 to tie for fourth with Daintry Chisholm of Montreal and Mrs. A. K. Snell and Mrs. Hazel Jamieson of Edmonton.

YOUNGEST HAS AN 87

Bracketed at 86 were Rae Milligan of Jasper, Alta., Mrs. W. S. Edey of Winnipeg and Mrs. N. J. Carlson of Toronto. The youngest player in the competition—14-year-old Betty Stanhope of Edmonton—was alone at 87.

Ann Sharpe, Marlene's club mate from Fonthill, shot an 88. So did Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Montreal, 1950 close champion, had an 88 and Veteran Ada Mackenzie of Toronto carded 94. Saskatchewan champion Joanne Goulet of Regina had an 88.

The 36-hole team play ends today and the 54-hole medal close winds up tomorrow.

35% Of Field Sha tters Par Worsham, Coop er Leading Team

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Tam O'Shanter Country Club was ready to post this notice today: "Wanted—the murderers of par."

Seldom has a golf course been so thoroughly sandbagged by a bunch of money hounds. Promoter George S. May, acting like the goose that laid the golden egg, turned it into a race track by offering a $90,000 purse distribution for a "world championship" tournament.

The winner will collect $25,000, second place is worth $12,500, third $5,000 and so on down the list to $200 for 41st position.

Wild-eyed pros, some of whom have grown lean eating hamburgers on the gruelling tourney grind, set out for the bonanza in yesterday's first round.

28 SHATTER PAR

As expected, par 36-36—72 wasn't worth a plugged nickel. Twenty-eight, or 35 per cent of the field of 80, shattered it.

Breaking into the lead were two club pros, Lew Worsham and Pete Cooper, each with 65. They were followed by Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., and Roberto de Vicenzo of South America, each with 67.

These four front-runners—Cooper the former truck driver from Florida; Worsham, the 1947 national open champion from Oakmont, Pa.; Todd and De Vicenzo—have earned a total of only $10,817 in tournament golf this season.

"They'll choke up in the stretch drive," said veteran Dutch Harrison, "and some of us old-timers will pass them."

Dutch was satisfied with a starting 72 and was grouped with such "old-timers" as Chandler Harper, Cary Middlecoff, Skee Riegel and Jim Turnesa.

Bunched at 68, only three strokes off the pace, were Dave Douglas, Earl Stewart, Jim Ferrier, Julius Boros, 1952 open champion, and Mario Gonzales, the Rio de Janeiro pro.

LEONARD AT 69

At 69 came Ed Oliver, Stan Leonard of Vancouver, John Barnum, Doug Ford, Ed Furgol, Jack Burke and Johnny Bulla. Big names in the 70 bracket were Fred Haas, Jr., Norman von Nida of Australia, and Johnny Palmer.

Then at 71 were such guys as Sam Snead, winner of Tam's all-American division Sunday, and Paul Runyon, the former "little poison" of the links.

Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon had a 37-38—75, three over par.

Hastings Legion Edge Flyers 9-8

HASTINGS (ENS) — Legion were forced to play 10 innings with the Flyers to the town league before squeezing out a 9-8 victory. The win gave the Legionnaires the series and enabled them to move into the finals tonight in a best-of-three series for the Stevens Trophy. Legion hold the trophy from last year.

Flyers opened the scoring in the first, but the Legion came back in the third with four. Flyers added singles in the third and fourth, only to have Legion cross four times in the fifth.

Flyers rallied in the eighth for three runs, sending Crowley to the showers in favor of West. But Flyers kept pressing and in the ninth loade dthe bases. West walked the tying run across before the third out.

Legion's Woodcock scored the winning run in the 10th while West sent down the Flyers three straight.

Blackbourn pitched the full 10 innings for the Flyers and with better support would have won. Lineups:

Legion — Philips, c; Woodcock, cf; Elmhirst, 3b; West, p, lf; Crowley, p; Radford, 1b; Stevenson, ss; Richardson, rf; Scriver, 2b; Jones, 3b.

Flyers — Leslie, ss; Bonds, c; Stevens, cf; A. Beavis, 3b; Richardson, 2b; Scriver, 1b; Montgomery, lf; McMillans, sc; Blackburn, p; Beavis, rf; Thomson, 2b.

Joan O'Brien Wins 2 Ont. Tennis Titles

TORONTO (CP)—Joan O'Brien of Toronto won two Ontario tennis titles yesterday in the third round of the junior provincial championships. She won the girls' singles and partnered with clubmate Carol Barton to capture the doubles.

Harry Freedhoff and Jack Weir of Toronto gained the junior boys' finals.

Weir defeated Dan Belisle of South Porcupine, 6-1, 6-0 in his march to the final.

In the quarter finals of the junior men's singles Norm Reynolds of Kingston went down 6-1, 6-2 to Jean Valiquet of Ottawa.

The O'Brien-Barton team defeated Norma Jennings and Georgette Delecrete of Cornwall 6-2, 7-5 to take the girls doubles. The Cornwall pair won their semi-final match from Della Freedhoff and Judy Travers of Toronto 6-0, 6-2.

Belisle teamed with Carlo Catterelo, also of South Porcupine, for a 6-1, 6-1 victory over H. Black and B. Armstrong of Toronto in the junior boys doubles quarter-final.

REMEMBER WHEN—

Jack Kid Berg of England gave the sensational Cuban boxer Kid Chocolate his first defeat in 169 fights when Berg won a hotly-contested 10-round decision over Chocolate at New York 22 years ago today. Later Kid Chocolate held a share of the disputed world featherweight title.

Cobourg Team Set For PWSU

COBOURG—Cobourg Vics, last year's P.W.S.U. chapmions, looked forward to the provincial playoffs Thursday as they said goodbye to the Peterborough City loop after last night's game which Peterborough Outboard Marines won, 9-4. This put the Cobourg girls out of the semi-final round for the city title. The teams had been tied at one game each in the second round of the playoffs prior to the win for the Marine crew.

Shirley Slater worked the losing mound shift but failed to get help from her teammates at the plate, right-fielder Maybee's home run, with one on, being the only hit of any account.

E. Whittaker, the Marine ace, went the distance and fanned Beth McGuire with the bases loaded in the fourth frame to break the Vics' hearts.

Miss Pepsi Shatters Qualifying Record

SEATTLE (AP)—Miss Pepsi, the twin-engined giantess from Detroit, yesterday shattered the qualifying record as all six entrants got safely under the wire for Saturday's 45th running of the Gold Cup speedboat race.

Chuck Thompson jammed the 10,500-pound monster around three laps of the three-mile Lake Washington course at an average speed of 103.448 miles per hour, shattering the mark of 102.564 set only Monday by the Gold Cup champion, Slo-Mo-Shun V.

"COOL CONTROL" THE FOREHAND DRIVE

1 The Backswing: Keep your eye on the approaching ball; before ball bounces, step out and to the side with right foot pointing at the sideline and draw racket back. This motion should approximately line up arm, shoulders and racket; wrist, elbow and knees slightly and comfortably bent. Body pivots on hips.

2 The Forward Swing: Eyes must be on ball. Body pivots on ball of right foot as racket moves forward, transferring body weight to left foot. Stroke is continuous, with wrist straightening firmly when ball is hit. Racket swings forward at height on which ball is taken from bounce. Experience and judgment give perfect control.

3 The Follow-Through: This motion of racket and body gives your drive control and your game quality. As racket hits ball, body continues its pivot to the left and racket begins slightly upward line. Arm and racket follow direction of ball and then continue on to cross body till racket head is above and to left of left shoulder.

Yes, it's control that counts, in tennis as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

U.S. Cracks Down On 100 Canadians With False Visas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States justice department is cracking down on about 100 Canadians it says obtained immigration visas through fraud. Attorney-general James P. McGranery announced yesterday that a deportation hearing will be held next Wednesday at Detroit in one case and "appropriate action" will follow in others. He did not identify the persons involved. McGranery said an investigation showed the Canadians entered the U.S. and settled in the Detroit area. He said most of their visas were obtained through misrepresentations made to the American consulate at Windsor.

Visa applications must show proof that prospective immigrants will not become public charges. McGranery said the Canadians apparently falsified information about bank deposits and bank statements.

FALSE INFORMATION

"It appears," the department announcement said, "that these visas were obtained by presenting to the consular officials false information concerning bank deposits and supporting documents. . . the applicants know that the information contained therein was false.

"The investigation has established that known persons in Canada aided and abetted these aliens in obtaining their immigration visas."

McGranery said the U. S. consulate at Windsor and the state department co-operated with immigration officials in the inquiry.

Down 18 Jets, U.N. Lose 0 In Air Combat

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The air force today triumphantly announced that it didn't lose a single plane in aerial combat this week while Allied jets blasted 18 Communist MIG-15s out of the skies and damaged 19 others.

Four United States air force planes were lost to Red ground fire and four to unknown causes in action over North Korea this week, the air force said.

The announcement made the last five days perhaps the most victorious of the war—considering that the win-lose ratio of Sabre jets has usually been eight to one over the streaking MIGs.

The air force also announced it had been determined that "one F-86 Sabre jet was lost in air-to-air encounter during the previous weekly period." This was a delayed report.

FRESH STRIKE TODAY

Unrelenting Allied fighter-bombers swept up to the Haeju peninsula near the 38th Parallel today to deliver a sudden, stunning blow against a big concentration of enemy troops. Sixteen buildings were knocked out by the fighters, which hurled rockets and bombs and doused the area with flaming napalm. They left four roaring fires behind them.

On the ground, the army today disclosed a bold foray which a U. S. eighth army tank and infantry team made into enemy territory on the central front—an invasion which was met by a remarkable 3,000 rounds of Communist mortar and artillery fire.

The eighth army armored raiders struck a Red position southeast of Pyonggan early yesterday and a bloody battle raged for 4½ killed or wounded, 11 bunkers were hours. Seventy-nine enemy were blown up; six communication trenches were knocked out.

There was no report of Allied casualties or tank losses.

Nerve Gases Made For War

LONDON (AP)—Britain's supply ministry yesterday described new "nerve gases" which can strike without warning and kill within seconds.

Its article, published in two principal medical publications—Lancet and the British Medical Journal—did not say who has the new gases. Neither did it say whether they are practical for modern warfare.

"These gases are rapidly absorbed by inhalation of the vapor, absorption of the liquid through the skin and mucous membrane, or by ingestion (consumption) of contaminated food and water," the article said.

"A drop of the liquid in the eye or the inhalation of a high concentration of the vapor for a few seconds may cause incapacity or death within a few seconds."

Report 9 UK Soldiers Killed In Manoeuvres

BAD OEYNHAUSEN, Germany (Reuters) — Six British soldiers were killed and three more were feared drowned during the British Army of the Rhine's "Spearhead One" manoeuvres which ended last night, army headquarters announced today.

Three soldiers were killed when a Second World War shell, found on a farm, exploded last night. Three others were killed in a jeep accident.

An officer and two men were listed as missing and presumed drowned during the crossing of the Rhine River, the feature of the exercise.

The Rhine was crossed twice in strength during the last 10 days by troops of the 2nd Infantry Division, commanded by Maj.-Gen. Basil Coad, former commander of the British 27th Brigade in Korea.

Britain Consults U.S. On Note

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain is consulting the United States on the terms of the Iranian note proposing renewed negotiations on the oil dispute, usually-reliable source said today.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden studied the note this morning with his experts at the Foreign Office.

The general position in London is to regard Iran's proposal as no advance over earlier offers to negotiate compensation for nationalized properties of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company on the basis of Iran's nine-point nationalization law. But the British government is believed to be casting round for at least some constructive counter-proposals.

A U.S. suggestion for a fresh joint approach to Iran by the British and U.S. governments is believed here to have been already under study when the Iranian note arrived.

Britain's present attitude to the Iranian crisis is dominated by the possibility that national bankruptcy in Iran might pave the way for assumption of power by the Communist Tudeh party.

Conscription Strike Failure In Belgium

BRUSSELS (AP)—A general 24-hour strike called by Socialist and Communist union leaders as a protest against two-year conscription for Belgian Army recruits took hold today only in spots.

The two-year term is an issue in Belgium because most of her fellow members in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization release conscripts after shorter periods of military service.

Semi-official estimates put the number of striking workers at 200,000.

The Communist-influenced Belgian General Federation of Labor had ordered its 500,000 members to quit work for the day. The rival Christian Union Federation told its members to stay on the job.

Report 2 U.S. Officers Stole Millions In Jap Diamonds

TOKYO (Reuters)—Japanese prefecture officials reported today that two United States officers stole more than £2,800,000 worth of diamonds, platinum and other valuables during the occupation.

They were taken from the prefectural office at Sendai, northern Japan, according to a report made to an investigating committee from the House of Representatives.

The report said an American captain, a member of the military police, took away a large amount of plat[illegible] leaving only a scribbled signature on a piece of paper. It also accused an American major. Names were not released.

Occupation authorities recently turned back to the Japanese government tons of gold and silver and diamonds "frozen" when U.S. troops landed in Japan in 1945.

American guards with fixed bayonets watched the vault for more than 6½ years. But early in the occupation a U.S. colonel sneaked through them with pockets full of diamonds and gold. He was later discovered and faced a court martial.

With the end of the occupation's censorship on anti-foreign newspaper reports, Japanese papers are printing many "now-it-can-be-told" stories of alleged soldier crimes. One report that U.S. military guards had stolen tons of Japanese gold and jewels was later found to be without foundation.

BURNED OUT REMAINS of a car in which a man, believed to be Albert Woodcox, formerly of Bobcaygeon and Bancroft, met his death Friday afternoon, are shown (top). It was dragged along the C.N.R. line north of Trenton for 300 feet after being hit by a fast diesel freight locomotive. Then it tumbled down an embankment in flames. Even the ties began to burn, at one time threatening the freight cars of the train (middle photo). Helpless eyewitnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Girdwood Gregory (shown right) who were behind the Woodcox car.—(W. W. Reid Photos)

Pakistan Asking Canada For Wheat In Food Crisis

OTTAWA (CP)—Pakistan, facing prospects of a crop failure, has appealed to the Canadian government for wheat to avert a food crisis, it was learned yesterday. The fear in Pakistan and Canadian circles is that the crisis, affecting some 80,000,000 people, could conceivably be exploited by Communist propagandists to the detriment of the democracies.

This is the first time that Pakistan has come to Canada for food aid. Primarily an agricultural domain, Pakistan has in the past grown enough food not only to feed her own people but also for export.

SUGGEST LOAN

In initial talks with Canadian officials, Pakistan diplomats suggested that Canada might consider a loan of $25,000,000 which Pakistan could repay in five or 10 years and which she could use to buy Canadian wheat.

However, Canadian officials say there is no legislative machinery available for making any new loans. The suggestion would have to be submitted to parliament for approval and it doesn't meet again until Nov. 20.

Officials also explored the possibility of making a grant or loan available to Pakistan under the Colombo Plan under which Pakistan is expected to get about $10,000,000 worth of Canadian economic-expansion aid this year. But Pakistani officials stated they would prefer to leave the Colombo funds intact for use in development of hydro and other projects.

Japanese Navy Officers Support UK Demand

TOKYO (AP)—The British demand for surrender of two British sailors convicted by a Japanese court today drew strong support from unexpected quarters—former Japanese imperial navy officers.

Dr. Juji Enomoto, former top naval lawyer, told a press conference Friday it was against "international custom" for a Japanese civil court to try British sailors. Other former high naval officers agreed.

Peter T. Stinner and Derek Smith, both 21-year-old crew members of the cruiser Belfast, were convicted Aug. 5 by the Kobe district court of stealing a Japanese taxicab and 1,700-yen and sentences to 2½ years in prison.

Dr. Enomoto, 62-year-old international law expert, declared that Britain was right.

"Foreign governments during the 30 pre-war years always handed over misbehaving Japanese sailors to Japanese court martial," Dr. Enomoto said.

Climbing Mt. Ararat In Search Of Ark

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—A French expedition headed by Polar explorer Jean de Riquer today began an ascent of Mt. Ararat in search of possible remains of Noah's ark.

Tradition names Ararat, in northwest Turkey near the Soviet frontier, as the spot where the ark grounded after the flood subsided. The chance that remnants of the vessel were preserved atop the mountain has long intrigued theologians and archeologists.

2 British Trawlers Collide Off Scotland

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (Reuters)—Two British trawlers collided today off the northeast coast of Scotland, according to an S O S received here.

Both ships were taking water, said the message from the 447-ton Vascama. She said she had collided with the trawler Recepto.

Dictatorship Hinted In Egypt

CAIRO — (Reuters) — Gen. Mohamed Naguib, who led the army coup which ousted King Farouk last month, hinted last night that it might become necessary to proclaim a dictatorship unless Egypt's political parties clean up the country's political life.

He told Reuters he sees no reason to proclaim a dictatorship "at present," implying that at some future time it might become necessary. Naguib said he is not satisfied with the way the parties have responded so far to the government demand that they purge themselves of graft and corrupt elements.

"It may be necessary for us to issue a stern warning," he said, adding that such a warning would be issued through the civilian government.

"Fortunately the best relations exist between the armed forces and Premier Aly Maher's government."

Commenting on recent manifestos and policy statements by Egyptian political parties and the announcements of "clean-up" campaigns made by some of them, Naguib indicated he was not in the least impressed.

Duke Of Windsor Said Recovered From Illness

MONTECATINI, Italy (AP) — The Duke of Windsor had a big, juicy steak for lunch today.

The appetite with which the Duke ate the steak indicated he has recovered from a minor stomach disorder he suffered several days ago aboard his yacht Amazon.

Dr. Dante Pisani, who is in attendance, said he had talked with the Duke's 85-year-old Mother, Queen Mary, and assured her he believed the Duke had recovered.

"She is very worried about her son," Dr. Pisani said. "She said she would send her personal physician to attend him".

Sir Daniel Davies, one of the Royal household's doctors, was due to arrive by plane at Rome tonight and proceed to Montecatini to examine the Duke, who is holidaying here with the Duchess.

Abbott Has 100 Million Over Budget

Government Income Said Lower Than Anticipated

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott overestimated his 1951-52 budgetary surplus by more than $100,000,000, a final treasury report disclosed yesterday.

The report showed that government income was lower and spending higher than anticipated, producing a government surplus of $248,000,000 for the fiscal year which ended March 31 last.

The surplus was $108,000,000 lower than the $356,000,000 estimated by Mr. Abbott in his April 8 budget speech, but it was more than eight times greater than the $30,000,000 forecast at the beginning of the fiscal year April 1, 1951.

Mr. Abbott has forecast the surplus for the current fiscal year at $9,000,000.

Mr. Abbott, in a statement yesterday, said that final government revenues actually totalled $3,981,000,000, down $22,000,00 from the April 8 estimate of $4,003,000,000.

Government spending climbed to $3,733,00,000, up from the previous estimate of $3,647,000,000.

The entire 1951-52 surplus was applied to reduce the national debt. The net debt at the end of the last fiscal year was placed at $11,185,000,000, down from $11,433,000,000 in the previous year.

Bandits Killed By Treachery

TRAPANI, Sicily (Reuters)—An era of banditry unmatched for violence, bloodshed and terror in the history of Sicily ended yesterday—finally closed by the treachery and jealousies of the bandits themselves.

The bodies of two bandits who alone survived the disintegration two years ago of the notorious Giuliano gang, which terrorized Sicily for five years, were found near this east Sicilian town. Both were bullet-riddled.

Police said the two men, Salvatore Passatempo and Emmanuele de Maria, were probably killed by friends or relatives of Salvatore Giuliano, late "king" of Sicilian bandits, on suspicion of having betrayed Giuliano.

The whole Giuliano gang was gradually destroyed by the betrayals of its own members.

34 Firefighters Sent To Hospital

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Thirty-four firefighters were sent to hospital today and 100 others were overcome as a result of a stubborn fire in a chemical factory that makes weather balloons.

Approximately 50 employees of the Dewey and Almy Chemical Co. escaped. Tank cars loaded with inflammable liquid were pulled out of the flames.

The loss was placed unofficially at between $250,000 and $400,000.

Victim Believed From Bobcaygeon, Not Yet Identified

By BILL REID, Examiner Staff Correspondent

TRENTON.—A man, believed to be Albert Woodcox, 36, formerly of Bobcaygeon, was instantly killed Friday afternoon when his car was hit by a 90-car freight train at a level crossing just north of here. The body was so badly burned that positive identification is impossible until relatives arrive later today. The auto burst into flames shortly after it was struck, and it was carried 300 feet east of the crossing. Then it rolled down an embankment and blazed furiously for half an hour. Wreckage was strewn along the railway tracks.

Woodcox, alone in his 1935 car, was driving north from Trenton when the accident happened, and apparently did not hear the train whistle.

There is a slight grade leading up to the tracks from the south, and he drove up this and onto the tracks just as the train, hauled by a diesel locomotive, flashed across the road and smashed into his car.

Eyewitnesses to the tragedy were Mr. and Mrs. Girdwood Gregory, who live within a few hundred yards of the crossing.

GOT IN LINE

Gregory, 25, told how he had driven his car onto the highway and fell into line behind the Woodcox car. The road runs between Trenton and Frankford.

Gregory followed the Woodcox auto slowly up the gentle hill, travelling about 20 to 25 miles an hour.

"I heard the train whistle and I slowed down and then stopped," he said. "The car ahead continued to drive slowly onto the track. The driver couldn't have heard the train coming."

Then the train hit the car. There was a loud explosion and flames licked along the front of the diesel locomotive as it pushed the car along the tracks.

Bits of the auto hurtled through the air and landed as far as 150 feet away from the scene.

TWO SMALLER EXPLOSIONS

Two smaller explosion followed the first. Then the car came loose from the locomotive and rolled down an embankment, where it continued to burn.

Several hundred feet further along the line, the train stopped. While the brakes had still been squealing, Gregory leaped from his car and ran along the tracks to the car.

Other motorists who had arrived at the crossing rushed to

Bulgaria Lays Charges In UN Against Greece

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Communist Bulgaria charged Greece last night with "provocative" and "aggressive" action in shelling the disputed island of Gamma on the Greek-Bulgarian border. The accusation was made in a formal protest to the United Nations.

Foreign Minister Mintcho Heytchev cabled the U.N. that shells and mines fell on Bulgarian territory during the Greek Army's attack Thursday on the tiny spot of land in the Evros River.

It was not clear whether he was charging that shells overshot their target and landed on the Bulgarian side of the river or whether he was referring to the island as Bulgarian territory. Both countries have claimed it.

U.K. Paper Scolds Canadians For Dollar Crisis Attitude

MANCHESTER (CP)—The Manchester Guardian today reiterates that Canadians are so preoccupied with their own affairs they have little thought for Britain's financial problems.

The independent Liberal newspaper, which recently chided Canada for maintaining an "Olympian detachment" toward Britain, notes today in a gentle, reproving editorial that not all Canadians appreciate such criticism.

Nevertheless, says the Guardian, the phrase "Olympian detachment" expressed the mood exactly.

DAZZLING FUTURE

"It is easy to understand why many Canadians are merely impatient with the old world for being so persistently in trouble," says the Guardian. "A dazzling future of expanding population and wealth lies clearly before them.

"Oil and minerals have been discovered in vast quantities. . .new capital is pouring in, new industries are springing up. Montreal and Toronto, where the boom is being financed, are making money fast."

The editorial adds that it is not particularly seasible for Canadians to take the attitude that nothing can be done about Britain until that country has "reformed."

NEEDS MARKETS

"Canada still needs the markets of the old world. . .is it really believed in Ottawa or Montreal that world trade would flow freely again and currencies would become easily convertible if only Britain earned her keep?"

The Guardian editorials reflect a difference of approach to Anglo-Canadian financial problems that has become apparent from time to time in the post-war years.

As seen here, the general Canadian view is that Britain is using the sterling area, and other devices as an artificial shelter from the competitive realities of world trade and that the shortest solution lies in deflationary measures. Britain's reply is that the situation is a good deal more complicated than such an analysis would suggest.

In Right City But Wrong Land, Two Hamiltons

HAMILTON (CP)—Curtis Broom, his wife and three children, arrived here this week from Lucedale, Miss., to visit a brother, Roger Broom. But hard as they looked, they couldn't find out where Roger lived.

Mr. Broom couldn't understand talk about this city being in a "province."

"Boy, where do you think you are anyway?" said Dean N. H. Parker of McMaster University, who befriended the family because his brother lives at Lucedale.

"I suppose I'm right here in Hamilton, Mich., where you are," was the reply.

Curtis was told the Hamilton he was seeking is at least 400 miles away and in another country.

"No wonder those fellows were so cranky about me passing through that tunnel at Detroit," said Curtis. "And now I understand why that woman in the restaurant charged me 50 cents for making change for a $10 bill.

Curtis and his family set off cheerfully for Hamilton, Michigan via Port Huron. Before leaving he opened the trunk of his car, lifted out two immense watermelons, and laid them on the lawn.

"Professor, my sister-in-law is crazy about these things; so I brought them to her. But there are two of them she isn't going to see."

The professor was so glad to see someone from home that he could scarcely be sorry for the lost travellers. As they departed he said: "Curtis, I shall come home at Christmas; and my first concern when I get there will be to make sure that you have found your way back."

1,100 On Strike At Heinz Plant

LEAMINGTON (CP) — Eleven hundred employees of the H. J. Heinz Company of Canada, Limited went on strike here yesterday and similar action was taken by about 60 permanent employees in the Wallaceburg plant to enforce union demands for a 21-cent an hour wage increase and other benefits.

Picket lines formed at the plant entrance here at five p.m. yesterday. The original schedule called for picketing to start today at six a.m. but the deadline was advanced, according to union officials, because it was discovered that the company was trucking out abnormal quantities of canned goods.

The Wallaceburg plant was struck at midnight. There, only an estimated 60 employees are on the permanent payroll but the labor force had recently been expanded to take care of the 1952 tomato run which was expected to start in a few days.

Canada Keen To See Liaison In Pacific

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is keen to see a close liaison between military alliances committed to defence of the Atlantic and Pacific areas respectively, possibly to the extent of occasional meetings between them.

But, authoritative quarters said yesterday, this country is not among those reported piqued and disappointed at exclusion from the new Pacific alliance—the so-called Anzus organization embracing Australia, New Zealand and the United States.

The Canadian government has been urging that close contacts be established between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and Anzus. There is support here, too, for the idea that the top bodies of the two organizations should meet occasionally to discuss problems of common concern although Canada has not proposed this formally.

Canada's policy towards formal military alliances in the Pacific has for some time been that the time is not ripe for a broad Pacific pact of the type which now embraces 14 powers in the Atlantic and Mediterranean areas.

C.C.F. Requests Increased Housing Aid

TORONTO (CP)—Low-rental housing projects are the main solution to Canada's housing problem, the national convention of the C.C.F. said last night at the closing session of its three-day biennial meeting.

A resolution on the subject originally requested a series of steps by the federal government. But the convention decided that, instead, it would outline what a C. C. F. government would carry out.

A C.C.F. federal government, it said, would provide at least 90 per cent of the total capital required for completed housing projects. It would provide funds at "a very low interest rate, since the government can obtain money at a lower rate than a municipality."

ANNUAL SUBSIDY

To permit low-rental of units built, it would favor an annual subsidy, the major portion paid by the federal government and the remainder by provincial and municipal authorities. "The subsidy should be related to the difference between the economic rent for the project and the proper proportion of the tenants' income to be paid for rent."

Among a series of resolutions, the convention favored raising the present veterans' allowance of $50 a month to $60 for single veterans and $120 for those who are married

"Planned development" of Canada and a public works program were suggested to provide employment for all Canadians. The ceiling on unemployment insurance payments would be increased and the waiting-period provision reduce and ultimately eliminated. Agricultural employees, and other employees not now covered, would come under unemployment insurance.

RECOGNIZE RED CHINA

On the international front, the convention urged that Canada recognize the "peoples' government of China" and that, after peace in Korea is concluded, she urged that that government be seated at the United Nations.

Some delegates said the resolution should call for the "peoples government" to be seated at U. N. immediately. Majority opinion ruled that this was not "practicable" while Chinese troops were fighting the U. N.

It was urged that every effort be made to achieve German unity before the present plan was carried through for re-armament of Western Germany, and that the people of Western Germany be given an opportunity to express their views before the treaty embodying re-armament was proceeded with.

M. J. Coldwell was re-elected president and national leader, a position he has held since 1942. He urged that the C.C.F. should aim "within measurable time," at forming the government of Canada.

Cavan Rd. Work Expected To Cost $7,700

MILLBROOK (ENS). — Construction work on Cavan boundary roads is expected to cost about $7,700, Cavan Council were informed at their last meeting.

On the boundary road between Cavan township and Hope township a jog is being eliminated and the road is being cut through a hill. It is south of Bailieboro and runs into Highway 28. Cost of the work is estimated at $3,000.

Ewart Marston, divisional engineer of the department of highways, also reported progress on two other projects.

LEVEL TWO HILLS

Two hills on the Cavan-Manvers boundary road are to be levelled and graded, according to present plans. The road is two miles north of highway 7A. Work on one hill will cost about $2,700, Mr. Marston estimates; on the second hill, which includes the installation of a culvert, $2,000.

Details of the Cavan-Manvers road construction have still to be worked out.

Cavan council are trying to arrange a meeting with the Hon. George Doucette, minister of highways, to persuade him to take over the "sunken road" on the 19th concession.

The road sank after fill was put on it in the spring. At the last meeting a deputation consisting of Messrs. Agnew, Meyers, and Turner and Mrs. Johnston addressed council and asked for action.

After discussion deputy reeve Hooton and Councillor Bradburn moved that the clerk try and arrange a meeting with Mr. Doucette. Mr. Marston offered to accompany them.

W. L. Elson, Cavan assessor, said he had completed 95 per cent of the roll and he hoped to have the rest of it finished this week.

Deputy Reeve Hooton and Councillor Bradburn moved that holiday pay for six statutory holidays each year be allowed the road superintendent and operator, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1952. The motion carried.

Clerk P. I. Bentley was instructed to write the insurance company about the damage claim of H. Gardiner which had not been allowed by the company.

Councillor McKnight and Deputy Reeve Hooton introduced a motion that the clerk write the Hydro Power Commission asking that the brush left on the power line right-of-way be disposed of.

Reeve Delbert Olan signed cheques for accounts totalling $2,603.59.

A pumper from the Trenton fire department arrived at this time and with the aid of several hundred feet of hose and the booster pump were able to quench the flames. Then Gregory, with several others, removed the charred body from the blackened ruin of the car.

IDENTIFICATION IMPOSSIBLE

Dr. E. A. McQuade, Trenton coroner, arrived and pronounced the man dead. So badly burned was the body that identification was impossible. In fact, Dr. McQuade thought at first the body was that of a woman.

Police placed a long distance call to Toronto to check the ownership by the license plate number. Highways department officials told them the auto was listed as being owned by Woodcox.

Sanford Bowers, who lives nearby, was working in his garden at the time of the crash. He heard the brakes of the train screech and "I looked around the side of my house just after the train hit the car.

"Then I saw the train pushing the car along the track, with flame and smoke shooting out of it."

Dr. McQuade said he believed Woodcox was killed by the impact and said as well that an inquest would be held today.

Until a month ago Woodcox worked as a laborer in a Bobcaygeon lumber yard.

Outside his wife and two children, Woodcox's only close relative is his father, Albert Woodcox, Sr., who lives on the town line road in Faraday township.

Test Bagasse As Newsprint

WASHINGTON (AP)—American newspaper executives yesterday felt their way at the government's request through a test of a proposed substitute material for newsprint.

They pinched, felt, tore, and rubbed leaflets made of bagasse—sugar cane waste—as well as leaflets made of the ordinary woodpulp newsprint on which their news papers are printed.

Bagasse has been proposed as a paper which might be acceptable in cost and quality as the basis for developing U.S. newsprint production.

The quest for a substitute has been stimulated by rising newsprint costs in Canada, source of 75 per cent of U.S. supply.

The 11 newspapermen don't know how the test came out because the national bureau of standards of the commerce department, which ma the bagasse paper, didn't tell them which leaflet was which.

The group rated the papers on pliability, opacity, printability, and "overall acceptability."

The leaflets were coded, the results will be known when the bureau analyzes the ratings and sends them to the monopoly subcommittee of the House of Representatives judiciary committee. Rep. Emanuel Celler (Dem.-N.Y.) is chairman of the sub-committee which has been investigating the newsprint supply and price problem.

British Officials Refuse Jap Invitation

TOKYO (AP)—Miffed over the jailing of two English sailors by a Japanese court, British officials Friday declined to attend officially the ceremonies Aug. 10 honoring Will Adams, the first Briton to become a Japanese citizen.

The sailors from the cruiser Belfast, Derek Smith and Peter Stinner, recently were convicted in a Japanese court of stealing a Japanese taxicab at Kobe June 29 and forcing the driver to hand over 1,700 yen (about $5).

They were sentenced to 30 month in jail. British authorities contend the men should have been tried in a British military court.

Until Japan regained sovereignty April 28, each occupying power handled its own court cases. No agreement between Japan and Britain has been reached in the matter of jurisdiction over arrested Britons.

The British Embassy today confirmed it had notified the mayor of Ito, a hot springs resort town about 90 miles southwest of Tokyo, that it would not be represented at the Miura Anshin festival Sunday. Miura Anshin was the Japanese name adopted by Will Adams a British sailor shipwrecked off Japan 200 years ago. He stayed on to become a citizen and a trusted adviser to the rulers of Japan.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in London recently demanded that the Japanese turn over Smith and Stinner for a British military trial.

Muskie Fishing Fabulous In Rice L., Trent

Fishing luck in the Kawarthas has been fabulous, in some parts, for the past few days. Best of the stories come from the Rice Lake-Trent River section where it is more the exception than the rule that fishermen talk about the ones-that-got-away because they are boating the big fellows regularly.

A record of some sort was set up at Rice Lake off Bewdley when 'lunge from nine to 30 pounds—15 of them—were taken in three days. It has been the best period, by far, since the season opened, according to residents of that community.

Here is part of the record:

Ted Dawson of Peterborough landed his first, a 30-pounder, and is having it mounted for mantel display in his home. The Ken Lewis party of Bronte were guided to the right spots by Pete Sidey of Bewdley and three 'lunge were taken weighing 19¾, 15½ and 12 pounds. Trolling with a pikie minnow rewarded Fred Duncan of Toronto with a 25-pounder that measured exactly four feet long; his friend Bill Crockett helped with the heavy work. A Pennsylvanian visitor caught a 12 pound muskie while Dr. Arthur Turner and friend of East Liverpool, O., were delighted with a 20-pounder. Another 20 pound fish went to Bruce Sidey of Hamilton.

That gives you a rough idea why Bewdleyites can truthfully brag about excellent fishing these days.

It has been equally as good down the Trent River from Campbellford where Elmer Good of Johnstown, Pa., was reported to have broken all records by taking a 'lunge that scaled about 40 pounds. However, he didn't have it officially weighed though it was indeed a monster and bystanders said and he landed it with spinning tackle on an eight-pound test line; that certainly was a record as a 25-pound fish is the largest believed to have been taken on this type of equipment.

The Otonabee River is yielding up some nice ones, too. Weatherman Jim Harrison and his brother, after 20 years of dogged trying, took a 15 and 14¾-pound 'lunge between them and at Wallace's Point Charles Logue of Toronto brought in an 18 pound fish while Charles Russell of the Point came nearly as close with a 16½ pounder, both from the immediate river waters.

Though fishing in the upper Kawartha lakes chain has fallen off badly there were one or two standouts; Walter Hamilton of Gilchrist Bay with a 20 pounder and Harvey Brewin of Hamilton, a 23¾ pound fish from Deer Bay.

Pigeon Lake has reported two nice ones lately, a 15½ pounder to Archie Connaty of Toronto and an 18 to Gerald Lohr of Cuyahoga Falls, O.

Swimmers Warned

HAMILTON (CP)—Dr. L. A. Clarke, medical officer of health, warned yesterday that swimmers using Hamilton Bay face the danger of contracting typhoid fever and other infections. He said industrial wastes and sewage are dumped into the bay and it has been prohibited as a swimming place for years.

Driver Bailed In Motor Death

COBOURG (ENS) — Herbert Johnston of Toronto was yesterday committed for trial on a charge of motor manslaughter involving the death of William Howard, 72, of Toronto. Howard was a passenger in a car driven by his son, George Howard of Toronto, which was in collision with one driven by Johnston in the town of Port Hope, July 20. Bail was renewed in the amount of $5,000.

Dr. W. Tupper of Port Hope, who attended the deceased, said that Mr. Howard had several broken ribs and various cuts but that death had been due to delayed shock.

The accident occurred almost in front of a garage near the eastern limits of the town. Working in the garage, Maurice Simpson, 18, heard the squealing of tires and looked up and saw the two cars collide.

Ian Halford, who was washing a car in the same garage, heard the squeal of skidding tires and looked out to see a car swing out from behind one that appeared to have slowed up and crash head-on into an eastbound car. The eastbound automobile was a little English model.

The driver of the English car, had to give his evidence from a seated position with one leg resting on a camp stool. He said that he and his father and an aunt started out from Toronto on July 20 on their annual vacation with Gaspe as their destination. He said he was proceeding through Port Hope at about 25 to 30 miles an hour and that there was a stream of westbound traffic. The first car in line was about three or four car lengths ahead of him and then an automobile suddenly pulled out when it was about a car length from him and collided with him. Witness said he had no time to apply his brakes or do anything except take his foot off the accelerator.

Chief Constable Graham said that Johnston smelled strongly of liquor, his speech was thick and he staggered.

"Of course he had been in a serious accident," commented defence counsel, A. H. Richardson.

Money Raising Big Problem For Swim Club

Number one problem for the girls in the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club, at the moment, is how to raise enough money to pay their way to the international competition in synchronized swimming. This year the championship meet is being held at Daytona Beach, Florida, August 29-31.

Internationally recognized in synchronized swimming circles, the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club is the only Canadian club to enter a team. In fact, they hope to raise enough money to enter two senior teams.

In all probability they will be the only Canadians present;; though there may be a solo entry or two from other clubs in this country.

Last year the Peterborough club was unable to scrape together enough money to make the trip to the United States where they had already shown they could compete with the best.

At previous competitions organized by the Amateur Athletic Union of the U.S.A. the Peterborough club has won a junior duet championship, placed second in the senior duet, and third as a team. At Chicago, the last championship meet they attended, the girls of the B team came seventh. Competition was from swimming clubs from all over the United States.

In 1948 they won the U.S.A. Sportsmanship Trophy for their efficiency, competitive spirit, and general deportment.

If all goes well the 15 girls and their coach, Mrs. Pansy Forbes, will leave by bus on August 24. They will be in active competition August 29, 30, 31, and will arrive back in Peterborough on September 2 after a nine-day trip.

Cost of the round trip is estimated at $1,000. The girls haven't just been sitting on their hands waiting for the money to fall from heaven; already, by their own efforts, they have raised about $500. And they're still working like beavers.

By putting on swimimng exhibitions at various regattas throughout the district (including one today at Trent River and another Sunday at Chemong Park) they have been raising money. Rummage sales and other money-making capers have helped swell the travelling fund.

Thursday night the advisory council of the swimming club met to organize a drive to raise the balance of the cost of the trip. It will probably be a canvass of Peterborough business men plus donations from interested citizens.

Alex Sinclair, director of the Peterborough Recreation Commission, is looking after the fund. He will accept donations presented personally to him in his office at the city hall, or by mail.

"We'd like to see both the A and the B teams able to go to Florida," said Coach Pansy Forbes "but if we can't raise enough money it will be the A team alone.

Beside the team events, the Peterborough club will pit their skill against the best synchronized swimmers in the United States in two other competitive classes: Solos and duets. Beverley Rummary and Isobel Crary will be the two solos; the two of them will then team up for one of the duet entries, and June Storey and Betty Welch will be the other duet entry from Peterborough.

Long-Established Fuel Firm Founded In 1910, Sold

The fuel business of McCarthy & Johnston at 111 Hunter Street East, which has been acquired by Joseph A. Boland, as announced in the Examiner this week, was founded in 1910 by Malcolm McIntyre, 604 Gilmour Street, and the late Archibald Weir.

Leased from the Canadian National Railways, the premises of McCarthy & Johnston, on the south side of Hunter Street, were once part of the yards of the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway.

The charter for that railway, a section of which was built across Rice Lake between Harwood and Hiawatha, was granted by the Parliament of Canada in the sessions of 1852-1853.

That fact of local history and progress is mentioned as a detail of background which invites elaboration as the site of the first railway station in this community, a century ago, when Ashburnham was a separate municipality, and for a long time popularly referred to as the Scotch village.

Weir and McIntyre made their first bid for business on the vacant lot at the north-west corner of Hunter and Mark Streets, now the site of Mark Street United Church. They built a frame office building adjacent to the street, and piled on the land around it the hardwood and slabs they hoped to sell.

The partners went to Buffalo in quest of a coal retailing franchise, a necessary connection with some producing company especially of anthracite, for the domestic trade. At the first office of their round of calls, they were asked about the location of their place in relation to the Scott fuel yards. Their reply "across the street" abruptly ended that interview.

Mr. McIntyre and Mr. Weir were friends who had separately moved into the city from Otonabee Township. Both of them served terms on the city council. Mr. Weir was at one time chairman of the board of works, and Mr. McIntyre headed several committees.

Coal sheds were erected by the partners adjoining the railway which was then a siding in Ashburnham approached from the west side of the river across the Quaker Oats dam. Apparently their arrangement left the active management of the fuel buesiness to Mr. Weir, while Mr. McIntyre pursued his own work as contractor and builder.

Eventually, Mr. McIntyre sold his original share in the partnership to the late James O'Brien, who was for years a C.P.R. section foreman easterly from George St. He was the father of the late Archbishop M. J. O'Brien, D.D., of Kingston, and previously Bishop of Peterborough and rector of the Church of the Sacred Heart.

Weir and O'Brien transferred their office building and their weigh scales from the Mark St. corner to the south side of Hunter St. That original office is in use today.

After the death of Mr. O'Brien, Mr. Weir was joined in partnership by the late John F. McCarthy who finally became associated with the late Robert Johnston after the death of Mr. Weir.

Mr. Boland has been engaged with Mr. Johnston for the last fourteen years, and now takes over the business himself.

Not the least of his acquisition is the reputation of the principals who have preceded him. They were all men of integrity, highly regarded in Peterborough, Archie Weir, James O'Brien, J. F. McCarthy, Robert Johnston, and the survivor of that business chain, Mr. Malcolm McIntyre.

The McCarthy and Johnston property, under lease from C.N.R., extends on the east side of the railway siding from Hunter to Robinson St., and on the west side from Hunter to the buildings of Montgomery Brothers on Robinson St. Fuel oil and its storage facilities were added to the business in the later years of Mr. Johnston's life. Presumably he delegated increasing responsibility to Mr. Boland, who is now taking full charge after fourteen years under the direction of the man who was respected by his customers for his interest in them and for his fair dealing.

Still in the background of that busy central section of Ashburnham, of which the town hall corner was probably the hub, is the vague outline, to be fashioned only in imagination, of that first station on either side of the river. It vanished in a fire on January 3, 1888, sixty-four years ago.

Some of the elders of the city remember it then, shorn of its railway communication with the busy port of Cobourg on Lake Ontario. By that time the promises of its conception were only a memory, and its few years of traffic, especially in lumber trains to the lake front for export, had become a lingering illusion.

Charters were granted in 1852-3 to two railways with Peterborough as terminus, the one from Cobourg across Rice Lake, and the other from Port Hope. Peterborough had its ambitions of trade and expansions, but not to the extent of subscribing capital in either line.

Promoters of the railway from Port Hope turned their attention toward Lindsay. The Cobourg line was financed largely from England. Energy was put into its building, and rail connection with Ashburnham was completed in the autumn of 1854.

By 1858, the export of lumber from the station yard south of Hunter St. had increased to twenty-seven million feet, from three or four million feet annually before the railway was laid.

Built across Rice Lake on piers and piles, the bridge from Harwood to Hiawatha was buffeted and strained by frost and the movement of ice down the lake in spring during the years 1855-6-7, and as related by Poole in his history, traffic between Peterborough and Cobourg was suspended for weeks at a time.

In the summer of 1857, the Rice Lake bridge was inspected by Walter Stanley, civil engineer, who reported that if it was strengthened by a permanent embankment it could be restored to durable condition. He regarded as feasible the proposed fill of stones and estimated the cost at £50,000.

This improvement was begun from the Harwood shore, but was never completed. Financial straits and excessive cost of the work compelled abandonment of the project. Operation of the railway had continued at intervals for six years.

In 1860, Ashburnham faced the facts in bitter disappointment. Construction of the lake link ended in 1860, and the workmen were dispersed.

Hopes were revived from time to time by agitation for renewed plans of proceeding with the lake span. They are mentioned in old newspaper reports in 1867, the year of Confederation. In 1872 the ratepayers of Peterborough carried a bylaw by a majority of 95 for the granting of financial assistance to reopen the railway to Cobourg.

Meanwhile, the Port Hope to Lindsay railway laid a connection from Millbrook to Peterborough, and public interest switched to the problem of the "Missing Link," the building of a line to Lindsay.

It is too long and involved a story to continue. All that remains of that first chapter of Peterborough's connection with the outer world is the roadbed that crosses No. 7 Highway east of Downer's Corners and the C.N.R., continuing northerly around the end of Little Lake, crossing Maria and Sophia Streets, and finally emerging from Robinson St. into the yards of the old station.

Prairie Crops Receive Sufficient Rainfall

The prairie crops have had enough rain to carry them to maturity, according to this week's C.N.R. report.

"Growth conditions continue good to excellent in central Saskatchewan.....Crops are practically free of disease and only isolated areas have had hail damage to date. Good yields of all crops are expected....Wheat cutting in Manitoba should be general in another 10 days."

Estimates for the district south of Brandon are: Wheat 17 to 20 bushels, barley 25 to 40 bushels, oats 20 to 50 bushels.

Alberta reports some hail damage, but the acreage affected is slight.

"Warm, sunny weather in the Peace River district in the past week was ideal for growth and maturity. All crops are well headed out and in good condition. Wheat and oats are starting to turn, and harvesting will commence at some points in about two weeks. Forage crops and rye are now being cut, also some early barley."

Industrial Group Steals Show On Stock Market

By HARRY KINGDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The centre of attention on the Toronto stock market this week was the industrial group which has risen steadily for the last three weeks.

A final jump yesterday pushed the price of industrials more than four per cent above the price of three weeks ago. They advanced 14 points on the exchange index.

Western oils, which have also been moving erratically upward, advanced five index points in the last three weeks.

Industrials include such a wide variety of stocks that no one factor may be said to have caused the rise in prices. It appears to indicate a general confidence among traders.

BASE METALS FALL

A decline in the base metal stocks had a more obvious cause.

On Tuesday, the base metals index stood at 200.10. In mid-week, it was announced that the price of United States zinc had been cut. Yesterday, the base metals index stood at 198.05.

One standout from the general downward trend was Silver Miller, which announced this week that it has a contract to sell 5,000,000 pounds of cobalt to the United States government. Its price rose from $1.88 last Friday to $2.13 yesterday.

Golds ambled upward with increasing interest in speculative issues.

The Montreal exchange started Monday with a general small advance. Tuesday, industrials weakened but papers were firm.

Base metals started to slip in Toronto Wednesday. In Montreal, industrials and papers also slipped.

Thursday, golds and western oils showed strength in Toronto and papers pushed ahead in Montreal. Yesterday, industrials and papers continued to rise in Montreal and western oils moved upward in Toronto.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE

On the New York exchange, the week opened with a general decline in prices. By Wednesday, selected stocks began to improve and on Thursday railroads led a general rise. Friday saw prices firm with rails and motors in demand.

From Friday to Friday, the Toronto stock exchange indices showed industrials up 3.92 at 333.04; golds up .62 at 93.80, base metals down .98 at 198.05 and western oils up 1.56 at 142.12.

In the Montreal averages, banks were up .25 at 30.56, utilities down .1 at 88.2, industrials up 3.5 at 223.7, combined up 2.3 at 178.5, papers up 3.55 at 730.95 and golds up 1.28 at 67.29.

In New York The Associated Press average of 60 stocks climbed 50 cents to $109.70.

ROBERT W. KING, 26, of Edmonton, whose 22-year-old bride Benita disappeared from the Ascania, arrived at Montreal Airport Thursday. He and his bride were on their way to Britain for a six-week honeymoon trip when his wife mysteriously disappeared. King, who is a teacher at the University of Alberta, returned with six pieces of special flight luggage which he had bought for his wife's birthday. He left Montreal for Edmonton by car.

Charge Father Killed Daughter

KAMOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Kosaburo Masuda, 56-year-old handyman, yesterday was charged with murder in shotgun slaying of his 17-year-old daughter, Mrs. Lily Bing, in her bedroom.

Mrs. Bing was fatally wounded in her bed yesterday by a killer who smashed out her bedroom window with an ax and blasted three times with a shotgun.

John Bing, the girl's husband, escaped injury. Their three-week-old son was staying overnight with relatives.

No motive for the slaying has been advanced by police.

Henry B. Allen Observes 91st Birthday

MILLBROOK (ENS) — Henry Burke Allen celebrated his 91st birthday on Friday. He was born in Millbrook in the house on Allen's hill where he now lives, on August 8, 1861. Mr. Allen was the sixth son in a family of eight boys born to the Venerable Archdeacon T. W. Allen and Mrs. Allen, and is the last surviving member of the family. He has taken an active interest all his life in St. Thomas' Anglican Church where his father served as rector of the parish of Cavan for 54 years.

In 1908 he was married to Ida M. Fair daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Fair also of Millbrook. At the time of his marriage he moved with his bride to the house on King St. between Dr. J. W. Wright's and Tom Campbell's, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. MacKay. When his wife died in 1915 he went back to the house where he had been born and where the rest of his life has been spent.

Mr. Allen is of Irish-Scotch descent. His father was Irish, his mother Scotch. In politics he is a Conservative.

Among his many interests, as well as the farm on which he lives, were lawn bowling and curling. He was an active curler until the time of the closing of the Millbrook arena.

Mr. Allen is in excellent health. He frequently walks the half mile from his home to the shopping district. He takes pride in the way he can climb the hill to the house where he lives with his nephew, Jack Allen, which would wind many a younger person. He cuts the grass on the terraced lawns around the house.

When asked his recipe for longevity, he replied "contented living and moderation in all things."

Anti-Americanism

Living next door to the Americans we can claim to know them better than most. We often grumble about them, but we are compelled to admit that we could scarcely have better neighbours. We have come a long way in our relations with our neighbours from the early days.

* * *

We are less surprised, though, to read of increasing anti-American feeling in various parts of the world. No successful country is liked. The British in their hey-day were disliked every bit as much as the Americans and by the Americans too, but they appeared indifferent to it. Americans are new to the position of a great world power. They resent the fact that there is feeling against them. That there should be influential anti-American groups in the countries which they have aided most lavishly out of the pocket of the hard-working American taxpayer strikes them as the blackest ingratitude, which it is in a certain sense; though the American government could not have stood idly by watching these countries drift into the arms of Moscow.

* * *

The Americans are quick learners; they will soon learn to accept the gibes and calumnies of the rest of the world without being deflected from their purpose. We hope that they will never become indifferent to the conscience of humanity.

Sarnia Booms And Smokes

Sarnia in Lambton County on the St. Clair River has doubled its population since 1941. The river, on which Sarnia has 6,700 feet of berthing, handles more shipping in six months than the Suez, Kiel and Panama Canals combined in a year. Until last September an oil refinery at Sarnia was the largest in the British Commonwealth. Between the years 1939 and 1949 the gross value of Sarnia's manufactured products multiplied five and a half times. What accounts for Sarnia, one of the fastest-growing cities in Canada?

A chief reason for the Sarnia of today is Lambton county a hundred years ago. Then, of course, agriculture and lumbering in the rich loam of the county were the chief economic factors; but two other matters accounted for the population of Lambton doubling in the decade 1851 to 1861, by which year Sarnia had about 800 people and the county 24,916. Railways were built and oil was tapped.

Between 1858 and 1860 the Great Western Railroad completed its line from London to Sarnia and the Grand Trunk Railroad reached the Sarnia end of the St. Clair river. These with the St. Clair water route rapidly and profitably made possible the exploitation of the vast stands of hardwood timber and the opening of thousands of acres of farmland for cultivation. Lumbering was a flash in Lambton county's pan; agriculture has remained important. Even by 1871, 131,514 acres were under crop and 6,030 devoted to gardens and Lambton county were worth $14,524,000.

The railways gave Sarnia a permanent advantage and established a trend towards industry and commerce, particularly lively because of Sarnia's waterside position and proximity to a very great American industrial area of millions of people. A tunnel was built under the river in 1891, making Sarnia the centre for two great railroads—Canadian National and the Pere Marquette which connects with the C.P.R. at Chatham. Thus sixty years ago Sarnia became a leading port of entry from the U.S.A.

The second historic element making for Sarnia's recent development was the presence of oil in the county. Its existence was noted as early as 1830, but the boom did not start until 1862 when the Shaw well came in at Petrolia. Oil had been drilled at Oil Springs in 1851—the first oil well drilled on this continent. Lambton's first refinery began to operate there in 1858, but by 1865 Petrolia had replaced Oil Springs as the centre of oil development. At first petroleum was in demand almost solely for coal oil. But this demand increased and diversified. Lambton county's production declined as the demand grew. This meant that oil had to be imported into Canada in increasing quantities. The logical centre for this importation was Sarnia. It was a border place, well served by water and rail, refineries and equipment were already in the area, and men who knew something about the work. In 1897 Imperial Oil transferred its activities from Petrolia to Sarnia, there to refine crude petroleum. This was at the beginning of the gasoline and automobile era; Sarnia was ready for it.

Petroleum mining is of minor significance now in the area compared with the refining of oil. The capacity of the Imperial refinery at Sarnia is 55,500 barrels a day, with plans being effected to increase this to 71,000. Two other refineries being built by other companies will raise the total refining capacity of the Sarnia area to more than 100,000 barrels of oil a day. The reason for this new expansion is the completion of the Interprovincial pipe line from Alberta, with outlet at Sarnia.

The refining industry has by-products, one of them being the prime reason for oil's importance in Sarnia's earlier days: coal oil or kerosene. Today this raw material is used in the manufacture of more than six hundred different products. A vast petrochemical industry has grown up in and around Sarnia because of the by-products of the refineries. There is the publicly-owned Polymer Corporation, set up during the war when natural rubber was scarce; Polymer uses in its manufacture of artificial rubber hydrocarbons produced by Imperial Oil. Dow Chemical set up business in Sarnia during the war, too, operating a styrene manomer plant in conjunction with Polymer. These three companies, employing half Sarnia's workers, provide the nucleus of the city's post-war development, and they are there because nearly a hundred years ago rail and oil came to Sarnia.

Industry breeds industry, business business. So Sarnia booms and smokes, and uses nearly 400 per cent. more electrical power than it did in 1939. Incidentally, this causes smoke, too, for a sizable proportion of the electrical power is generated by coal, not water. Nor does Sarnia exist by its own steam (or smoke) alone. Within a radius of a hundred miles (in Ontario) live 750,000 persons. Other centres in the St. Clair region have manufacturing industries of importance: automotive equipment, glass, oil well supplies, lumber processing. The county has an annual mineral production worth nearly five million dollars—more than half being natural gas, a quarter being salt. And the land and climate still make agriculture and assorted rural occupations profitable. Last year, for instance, Lambton's honey production was worth eight million dollars.

Sarnia and honey form an unexpected contrast; a city oozing smoke, oil and chemicals does not seem to belong to a county flowing with milk and honey. But in Sarnia and Lambton the improbable happens; and that is why Sarnia's growth has been so improbable, yet is a fact.

Brazilian Trade

We sometimes look East to Europe, sometimes West to the troubled Far East, and we frequently gaze South to observe the many-coloured American scene. A little dazzled, possibly, by activities of our friends across the border we seldom look further beyond to the great lands of the South American continent. Sometimes they have an earthquake, sometimes they have a revolution, though less often than twice monthly, as is supposed.

Brazil, the largest in area of the South American countries, is a little larger than the United States, and has a population of 53,000,000. It has the distinction of being the only Portuguese-speaking country in South America, a fact that places it somewhat apart from the rest, which are Spanish-speaking. During 1951 she was Canada's leading Latin-American customer, importing 25 per cent. of the grand total bought by all the Latin-American countries. Her main export to Canada is, of course, coffee. It is interesting to note that the recent reduction in the price of roasted coffee in many Canadian stores is due to the increased value of the Canadian dollar in the international markets. Retail prices are still higher in Canada than in the United States owing to the 10 per cent sales tax and import duties of 2 cents per pound on green coffee. The latter impost is not levied on coffee from Commonwealth countries such as Kenya, which supply 12½ per cent. of our requirements. Cotton, corn, rice, sugar cane, manioc (tapioca) and other agricultural products are amongst the chief imports from Brazil.

Curiously enough the list of nineteen commodities imported does not include Brazil nuts!

Saturday Sermon

The text for our little sermon today is Four Men In A Boat. Its illumination was provided by a constant reader whose quiet sense of humour has not been dulled by his years. He got the story from an Australian paper. Here it is: Four men were on a sinking boat—a Capitalist, a Fascist, a Communist, and a stalwart Trade Unionist. The Capitalist grabbed everything of value in sight, leaped overboard and with the weight of his booty, sank and drowned. The Fascist went over, his hand up in a salute—naturally he sank too and was drowned. The Communist jumped in and as he couldn't keep his mouth shut, the sea rolled in and he was drowned. Finally the Trade Unionist, last to desert the sinking ship, jumped in and with strong strokes, set out to swim to the barely visible land. Then a whistle blew and he was drowned.

Five-Year Plan Disappears

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

THE SOVIET UNION is now exactly half way through the period that should have been its second post-war five year plan. The Central Statistical Bureau have just issued its routine quarterly statement of Plan Fulfilment, which for two and a half years has told the world nothing at all. This statement is expressed in a bare list of percentages—e.g. coal 100.8 per cent of planned production; motor cars and tractors 102 per cent, meat and dairy industry ninety four per cent—which mean nothing to anybody because nobody knows the target figures. For two and a half years, that is to say ever since the completion of the first post-war plan at the end of 1950, the Kremlin has denied the world (including the Russian people) all information about the progress of industrial and agricultural development in the Soviet Union.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN, eighteen months ago, I first commented on the apparent abandonment of the traditional planning system many angry people wrote in to say that I ought to know better; wasn't I aware of the fact that there had always been a longish gap between the completion of one Five Year Plan and the publication of objectives for the next? Of course I was aware of this. It was not, however, a delay of a few months in publishing the particulars of a new plan which made me believe that we had seen the end of the public planning system—at any rate for some years to come. There were plenty of real indications; first, for example, the new tightening up of security regulations which makes it a treasonable act even for a collective farmer to comment to a stranger on the weight of his harvest; second, the evident fact that the central planners have for some time been shifting from the principle of a balanced and cut-and-dried plan to cover all industry and agriculture over a five year period, and relying increasingly on a network of ad hoc plans covering separate sections of industry and agriculture according to the needs and opportunities of the moment—a system of shifting priorities, in a word, which makes nonsense of any balanced long-term planning.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS NOW OBVIOUS that this deduction was correct. Nobody knows what goes on in the planning committees which have replaced the old State Plan Commissions; but as far as the public is concerned the Soviet Union has been without a published plan for two and a half years, and seems likely to continue so. It is a curious state of affairs; and for a people whose lives and beings have been harnessed from 1928 to 1950 to the tremendous drive for the Five Year Plan (a long series of plans interrupted only by the wars) it must produce an effect of anti-climax.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR US OUTSIDE the Soviet Union it means that we have no notion at all of what is being produced by the Russians. Even with the elaborate concealments and distortions practised by the Kremlin since the beginning of the planning era, it had been possible for a determined analyst to discover more or less the quantity (though not the quality and the wastage) of everything produced year by year in the Soviet Union, apart from weapons of war. It was possible thus, to estimate in some detail the fearful destruction of the last war, and to watch, quarter by quarter, Russia's remarkable recovery.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS WENT ON until December 1950. We had the planned figures for 1950, and we were able to compare these figures with the proclaimed achievement, even though it meant sorting out a mass of bewildering percentages. Then, suddenly, the curtain descended and we have heard no more, or very little more.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS WAS ALL the more striking because Stalin himself, in 1946, spoke openly and confidently of the tasks of the next three Five Year Plans, which would have taken us up to 1960. By that time the Soviet Union was to produce, for instance, sixty million tons of oil; sixty million tons of steel; five hundred million tons of coal. And this great achievement was, according to Stalin, going to be enough to make her safe for all time. He was thinking in terms of American production. And in setting the goal for the fifteen year pull he seems to have assumed that American production would stand more or less still. It is the tremendous expansion of American production in the last two years which has made nonsense of Stalin's 1960 targets; and there is little doubt that one of the reasons for the abandonment of the published plans was to prevent public appreciation of the overwhelming superiority of American production. Another was to conceal from the world the proportion of the Soviet effort diverted from peaceful to military expansion.

✧ ✧ ✧

INDEED, the only flicker of news about Soviet production that has come through since the end of the last Plan was contained in a speech made by Beria on the anniversary of the Revolution in November of last year. He spoke only in very general terms; but he did announce certain increases for 1951. Steel, he said, was up by about four million tons; coal by about twenty four million tons; oil by about four and a half million tons—figures based on the average annual increases of "the past few years." But these figures were offered only as approximations; they were offered, moreover, before the annual returns had come in; and they could not serve as a base for exact calculations. They told us no more, in fact, than we might have estimated for ourselves by working back from 1950 to 1945, measuring the annual increase in the various categories, averaging it out, and assuming that the same rate of increase would persist. Nobody has any right to make assumptions of that kind, and this sort of process has little to do with the science of exact statistics. The fact that we are reduced to this kind of progress, is a clear indication of the totality of the statistical black-out which now blankets the whole productive effort of the Soviet Union.

An American Opinion: "Fantastic The Way We Always Win, Pal"

Radar and The Saucers

(WASHINGTON POST)

WELL, just when we believed that our astrophysical friend at Harvard, Dr. Menzel, had disposed of the problem of the flying saucers by proving to his own satisfaction and ours that they are the collaborative products of atmospheric phenomena and the ever-industrious human imagination, a disconcerting story comes out of the National Airport right here in Washington. The story is that in the early hours of Sunday morning nearly a dozen of these mysterious and troublesome pieces of celestial crockery were detected by the radar screens in the traffic control centre. Now radar is, beyond doubt, a most ingenious piece of mechanism, but hardly clever enough to imagine and report what isn't there. To have made the outlines of the flying saucers appear on a screen, the waves sent out by radar transmission must have been bounced back into the receiving apparatus by something more substantial than pure mirage, or illusion. Obviously then, Dr. Menzel's theory of atmospherics and imagination is no longer applicable to all cases.

THE ELECTRONIC evidence of the radar screens has been supported by the visual evidence of at least two commercial pilots. One of them told of observing a bright moving light in the sky near Herndon, Va., which followed his plane almost into Washington. Another reported that he saw seven of the luminous, saucer-like things moving at tremendous speed early Sunday morning soon after he took off from the airport on a flight to Detroit. They looked to him "like comets or shooting stars without their tails"; and near Martinsburg, W. Va., they shot down toward earth in tremendous dives and he lost sight of them. This suggests a possibility that they may have been meteors and this possibility would, of course, be much strengthened if meteorites were to be found in the vicinity.

It is now just a half a dozen years since the flying saucer legend began to spread over a world sick with atomic jitters. In this country saucers were first reported in the Northwest, but by the summer of 1947 they were being observed in almost all parts of the world. Many of the reports were of course pure hoaxes; in other instances the fearsome apparitions could be easily identified as weather balloons or other such commonplace objects; but a large proportion of the reports came from experienced airplane pilots whose testimony could not always be laughed or explained away. Psychiatrists discoursed learnedly on the nature of mass hysteria, astronomers on the nature of astral phenomena, meteorologists on the existence of ice crystals at high altitudes. On the whole, credulity proved much stronger than skepticism, and gradually the legend of interplanetary spaceships began to take hold of the popular imagination.

✧ ✧ ✧

UNTIL NOW, the strongest argument against the objective reality of the flying saucers has been absence of any support by radar observation. At last, however, that argument has been removed, and we are accordingly confronted by the possibility that the mystery of the flying saucers may include many highly dissimilar and perhaps altogether unrelated phenomena, objective and subjective. In other words the difference between one saucer and another may be even greater than the difference between the persons who report having seen them. So the best advice at this point would be to keep your mind open—and your fingers crossed.

Old-fashioned Orators

(Lethbridge Herald)

Old-fashioned oratory was made a thing of the past when radio came into existence. After all, why bother waving your arms, or shouting, or allowing your emotions to get the better of you when people can't see you? Television, however, has put an end to all that, so that the wonderful oratorical performances we used to see in the times of Laurier, Bryan, Lloyd George and Clemenceau are apparently on the way back. And a good thing, too.

This year's American political conventions have been featured by much of the old-fashioned oratory. The speech by Vice-President Albert Barkley to the Democratic convention is a case in point. Without benefit of notes, the fiery Kentuckian held the thousands of delegates spellbound as he gave a call to battle against the enemy Republicans. When he was finished, the huge crowd gave him an ovation which lasted more than half an hour. Commentators claim his speech was one of the finest pieces of oratory they have heard in years. It sounded like it.

We haven't much use for television. However, if it can bring back the days of fiery oratory, we'll probably buy a set when we get a chance. We despise the dull, statistics-packed political speeches of today more than we do television.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

This only would I learn of you, Received ye the Spirit by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith? . . . Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. He saith not, And to seeds, as of many; but as of one, And to thy seed, which is Christ. . . . For if the inheritance be of the law, it is no more of promise: but God gave it to Abraham by promise. Letters To The Editor

BUCKHORN ROAD

Sir: How bad may roads become before the road authority may be prosecuted for a dangerous highway?

The stretch of highway between Lakefield and Buckhorn is appalling to say the least. Last winter it was sheet ice for days together and to the best of my recollection was only sanded some four or five times.

In the early summer there were mounds of loose gravel, with wheel tracks between, and now is such a mess of potholes that it is a wonder there are any parts left on the car after two or three trips along it. If the road authority is too poor to maintain it, is it not possible to have it turned over to the Province, so as to be able to keep it in proper repair?

Yours truly,
G. GRAY.

Bailieboro.

IN ANSWER TO "TENANT"

Sir: Although I agree on rent control, I do not believe in property control. There are lots of tenants who take advantage of kind understanding landlords, and let the property run down through neglect.

If the property is not looked after in the proper manner the landlord should have the right to tell the tenant to get out and put someone in who will really look after his property, but at the same time not be allowed to raise his rent without the consent from Toronto. I believe in this way there would be a better understanding between both parties.

As it stands now a tenant has the idea he can do just whatever he wants to. It wouldn't profit a landlord much by changing his tenant often, but he would be able to get a tenant who really appreciates a home and will take good care of it.

And speaking for myself, I think a man with a large family would take far better care of a home than a person with no family, because he would have to. This would cure a lot of people, believe me.

My tenant has one child. You'd think a cyclone had hit it in as short a time as a year.

Yours sincerely,
"LANDLORD."

"As yours seems to be the only halfpenny nap team entered I would say you stand a very good chance of winning."

RED CROSS HAS GROWN UP WITH CANADA

IN 1863 THE SWISS JEAN HENRY DUNANT began to organize the Red Cross Society according to a "sacred international principle which would be guaranteed and consecrated by a kind of Concordat passed between governments." Dunant, a successful young banker, inspired by Florence Nightingale's merciful work and his witness of the carnage and suffering at the battle of Solferino in 1859, was so effective in promoting his great humanitarian idea to be "adopted and guaranteed by the civilized powers" that before his death in 1910 at the age of 82, the Red Cross had spread across the world.

The first Red Cross Society was organized in Geneva in 1863. The inspiration and influence of Henry Dunant, and the recognition of governments of its humane necessity, soon spread the organization to the four corners of the world. The Red Cross has become the largest and greatest humanitarian organization in the world. During the last fortnight the 18th International Red Cross conference was held in Toronto—a recognition of the importance and work of the Canadian Red Cross Society and Canada's efforts in international affairs for the betterment of mankind.

FIRST RED CROSS EMBLEM raised in Canada, was a crudely-fashioned flag sewn together by an army surgeon on the north-west battlefield of 1885 during the Riel Rebellion.

Canadians Gave Red Cross $125 Millions During War

By MARY BRAITHWAITE

Canada and the Canadian Red Cross Society have grown up together. Ours is a young country. The British North America Act that joined the scattered portions of our country under one federal government was passed in 1867, just four years after the first Geneva Conference. The first Red Cross flag flew in 1885, the same year that the first transcontinental railway, the Canadian Pacific, joined the far western province of British Columbia to the more settled East.

At that time, the great central plains, now part of the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, were largely wild tractless wastes settled by Indians and half-caste farmers. In 1885 these settlers, fearing the loss of their lands and led by that misguided visionary, Louis Riel, were in rebellion against the Crown and a militia force had to be sent out from eastern Canada to put down the uprising. Accompanying the troops was a volunteer ambulance brigade, organized by Surgeon-Major G. S. Ryerson, later Major General, Canadian Army Medical Service.

birth, the emblem of mercy was used on the wild and strife-ridden plains of our country. As dreamed by Henri Dunant, it served for the protection and care of the wounded during battle.

Fifteen days later at the Battle of Batoche the same flag was used to protect the wounded. Now officially recognized as the first Red Cross emblem ever used in Canada, it is part of the John Ross Robertson collection at the Toronto Public Library.

ORGANIZED, TORONTO 1896

General Ryerson's interest in Red Cross work and principles had been stirred by a visit to Europe as a young medical student. He realized the important role Red Cross could play in Canada and constantly urged organization in this country.

In the autumn of 1896, when the population of Canada was less than 5,000,000, and this conference city of Toronto was a little town, a group of representative Canadians, including many prominent statesmen and public men, held the organization meeting in Toronto. The new society, with General Ryerson as chairman, was known as the Canadian Branch of the British National Society for Aid to the Sick and Wounded in War. It held the subtitle of the British Red Cross. This was the first overseas branch of the British Red Cross.

Its earliest active work was during the Spanish-American war in 1898, when subscriptions were invited. Although only a small amount of money was raised for the sick and wounded soldiers, Canada was at least taking some responsibility in the international obligations of Red Cross.

BOER WAR

In 1899, with the outbreak of war in South Africa, to which Canada sent troops, the infant Society showed signs of active growth. Branches were formed in Montreal, Quebec, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Fredericton and more than fifty smaller centers. Supplies of clothing, invalid food, and blankets were collected, as well as approximately $50,000 for forwarding to South Africa.

General Ryerson was appointed Red Cross Overseas Commissioner for Canada and in January, 1900, sailed to South Africa with the second Canadian contingent. At Orange River Crossing he distributed comforts to the Canadians he found in hospital there. At Kimberley, he bought certain necessities, including basic hospital equipment and supplies for the sick and wounded, who daily arrived in ox-wagons. At Bloemfontain, he provided such varied articles as mattress ticks, bath sponges, mosquito netting, towels, fans, feeding cups and even fresh eggs.

Around the turn of the last century, Canada, after a disappointing period of stagnation, began the growth that is still going on. Settlers from the United States and Europe began pouring into the rich wheat lands west of the Great Lakes. Towns sprang up along the long railway lines almost overnight. In 1905, Saskatchewan and Alberta joined Confederation as provinces.

ACT PASSED

In 1909, the Canadian Red Cross Society Act was passed by the Canadian Parliament establishing the Canadian Red Cross Society as a corporate body to provide volunteer aid according to the Geneva Convention. However, the new society was still only a part of the British Red Cross Society.

The first president of the Canadian Red Cross was General Ryerson, who held the position from 1914 until 1916 and he probably did more than any other one man to establish the society in Canada.

1914 and the beginnig of World War I are important dates for Canada and the Canadian Red Cross Society. As a people, we gained stature and an increased awareness of national importance. The Society sprang from its rather somnolent state into a vigorous activity that has characterized it ever since.

GREAT WAR

Throughout the four years of the war, the young society never slackened the pace set at the beginning. Through it, the people of Canada contributed more than $35,000,000 for the relief of suffering. It shipped 341,325 cases of supplies overseas. It established and maintained five hospitals in England and one in France, provided dozens of recreation huts, homes and other facilities, and maintained two Red Cross ambulance convoys as well as trucks used for transporting Red Cross goods in Europe. An information bureau was established in London and numerous other facilities provided for the comfort and convenience of Canadian service men. It might rightly be said that the Canadian Red Cross came of age during World War I.

In February, 1918, the Society passed a resolution pledging itself to continue the work of mercy. So, when the war ended, it was prepared to use the vast organization set up during the conflict for peace-time work according to the principles of the League of Red Cross Societies, established in 1919. More and more branches were established across the country as more and more Canadians became concerned over the plight of less fortunate people elsewhere in the world.

NURSES MAY USE DOG TEAMS.

Here in Canada, too, the work of the Society increased. Nursing stations and outpost hospitals were established in out of the way regions. The Junior Red Cross was organized so that children all over Canada might come to know and appreciate the problems of children in other parts of the world. Disaster services were set up through which Red Cross could speedily and efficiently come to the assistance of persons afflicted by fire, flood and other calamities. But we were still officially part of the British Red Cross.

Then, in November, 1927, the International Committee recognized the Canadian Red Cross as an independent national society making it a full partner with other national societies.

By 1939, the Society had grown to 374 branches in nine provincial divisions with a total membership of 60,000 workers. Early that year, a separate national headquarters was established to coordinate the work of the provincial divisions. From the time the National Society cabled $25,000 for the relief of survivors of the Athenia until the end of World War II the Canadian Society—as did all other national societies on both sides of the conflict—worked unceasingly to relieve the suffering of service men and civilians. The women of Canada, particularly, worked hard and long, making and shipping overseas more than 52,000,000 articles. Altogether the Canadian people through their Red Cross Society contributed goods and money amounting to $125,000,000 as well as volunteer services of inestimable value.

After the war, the Canadian society made the welfare of returning veterans one of its major concerns and greatly expanded the veterans' services program. In 1947, the national blood transfusion service, which aims to provide free blood to anyone in Canada who needs it, as well as supplying the needs of our armed forces, was organized by the present national commissioner, Dr. Stuart Stanbury. The overseas services, particularly to orphaned children and refugees, were greatly increased.

1,300 BRANCHES

Today, the Canadian Red Cross Society is made up of ten divisions, one for each province, and over 1,300 branches. Although each division enjoys a measure of autonomy within the policies established by Central Council, the national headquarters in Toronto co-ordinates the work of all and at the same time offers advice and assistance.

"The work in Canada is involved and greatly varied since ours is a country of tremendous area (3,621,616 square miles) and scattered population (about 14,000,000). Many of our people live in large cities such as Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver, but many others live in remote areas where wheat farming, lumbering, mining, fishing and trapping are the principal industries. Teaching first aid to Eskimos at Akiavic, well within the Arctic Circle; the conditions of the teeth of Newfoundland children; assistance to flood victims in Winnipeg, Manitoba; the plight of a blue baby in Fredericton, New Brunswick; a better system of training for Canadian nurses; crippled children in Calgary, Alberta . . . all these and many more are the concern of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

The citizens of Canada are Red Cross minded. Almost every city, town, village, hamlet and rural community has a Red Cross organization and often it is the most active and best suported service in the community. Canadians recognize that now, more than ever, there is a great need for the services of men and women of good will in all countries. They are anxious to work with the nations of the world, promoting and supporting the greatest humanitarian movement of all times—the Red Cross.

THIS SHY YOUNG ESKIMO GIRL was a patient at Yellowknife, one of the Red Cross outpost hospitals serving northern Canada.

STAFFING AND MAINTAINING outpost hospitals such as the Apsley one, photographed above, is an important service of the Canadian Red Cross. Outpost nursing stations are also provided, many in the north.

Your Garden:

Taking Care Of Unhappy Lawns

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

Experience, plus years of observation, have taught the old gardener that important mowing practices are common causes for unhappy lawns. Many summer lawn troubles may be avoided by not cutting close and by watering well during dry weather.

Despite our yearly advice that grass be allowed to grow during hot weather, most folks keep the cutting bar on the mower set so low that it cuts only about a half inch above the ground. Grass at this season should be at least an inch-and-a-half tall. Two inches is better. Creeping bent should be cut an inch—no less.

Early summer feeding should be practiced, for strong, properly fed grass can withstand drought. Grass is not self-supporting. If it is really to amount to something, it must be fed, like you and me.

"The Science of Mowing," by O. M. Scott, tells us that, like other living plants, grass is a factory that takes up food and transforms it into energy. The green blades play a vital part in this transformation. How can grass thrive if its normal functioning is crippled by close cropping?

Continued removal of its foliage will eventually starve any plant. Close mowing has the same strangling effect on grass. Yet if mowing is neglected the grass become tall and spindly in an effort to reach the light. It forms a thin, weak covering instead of a thick sod.

Lawns maintained at the longer length provide a uniform color. Contrast this with the closely clipped lawn where most of the green blades have been removed. The yellowish stems are then exposed and the lawn takes on a parched and hungry appearance. Taller grass also improves a lawn by minimizing the presence of weeds. It also prevents weeds from overgrowing the desirable grass and smothering everything beneath them.

There is a definite relationship between the grass growth above ground and that below ground. A longer topgrowth results in a more extensive root system. Such a root system is much to be desired because it is capable of reaching more moisture and absorbing more food.

Cutting grass every few days does no harm providing the height of cut is correct. Nevertheless, it is better to adopt a mowing schedule regulated by the amount of growth made, rather than by the calendar.

Instead of mowing each Saturday, mow whenever the growth is one inch taller than last cut. This will be more often during the moist growing season and less often during hot, dry weather.

Gardening Questions

Q—Please give cultural directions for Oriental poppies. Our neighbor has offered us some of their many varieties.

A—Oriental poppies are easy to grow from roots set out from Aug. 1 to Oct. 1. Good drainage is necessary. Set the plants two feet apart to allow for spreading. Dig each hole deep, enrich the soil with pulverized manure and cover the crown with three inches of soil. Water thoroughly. Leaves will appear in a few weeks and will remain all winter. Mulch with straw, removing in late March.

Q—Tell me about the culture and raising of Gloxinias. How often should the old bulbs be transplanted and when?

A—Keep old plants watered in summer until leaves begin to turn yellow; then gradually reduce water supply until soil is completely dry. Keep dry all winter in temperature of 60 deg. In March take tubers out of storage and repot in new soil — equal parts loam, sand, leafmold (or peatmoss), and thoroughly rotted manure. Keep soil barely moist until growth begins, then water normally. Give plenty of light but shade from bright sunshine.

Q—Now that our Asparagus bed is through producing what should be done to improve the plants?

A—The best procedure is to sidedress with a heavy application of a 10-6-4 or 6-10-4 fertilizer, raking it into the surface, watering and mulch with straw or old manure if you can get it.

DURING THE HOT WEATHER SET THE CUTTING BAR HIGH

Closely cropped grass starves because it is unable to take up food and transform it to energy.

Celebrity Quintet

A unique program called "Celebrity Quintet" was heard recently in the BBC's Overseas Service, when Eugene Goossens, former conductor of the Carl Rosa Opera Company who is now eighty-five, was heard in a broadcast in which the four celebrated musicians who are his children all took part.

They were his elder son Eugene, a well-known composer who is now conductor of the Sydney Symphony Orchestra in Australia and also director of the Sydney Conservatorium of Music, his younger son Leon, the world's most famous oboeist, and his two daughters, Marie and Sidonie, both harpists. Sidonie having played the harp for many years in the BBC Symphony Orchestra.

In introducing the program Eugene Goossens Senior said he looked back on a very happy career as a conductor of opera but some of the very happiest moments of his life were passed in hearing his sons and daughters make music together and in marking their progress from talented beginners into the fully-fledged artists that they all became.

It was seldom that all the Goossens could be together, for famous musicians are at the service of an international public and are constantly travelling about the world.

A-F-I-E-L-D with NICK NICKELS

While on my vacation I witnessed the raping of my favourite lake by fishermen. It was a sickening sight.

Happened one evening I was talking to an Old Timer acquaintance and two comparatively New Timers from Philadelphia. We were loafing at the Government wharf as dusk settled across the water.

"Why, there was a time," mused Old Timer, "and not too long ago, at that, when I used to troll around Aich's Island three times and land a 'lunge with each pass."

He shook his head sadly and added:

"And if the fish weren't biting there I could drop over to Snaggy Channel and catch any number of bass."

The New Timers from Philly, who had been coming to the lake for 14 years, said that in their opinion the lake was fished out. It had been getting worse each season. They were disgusted because they hadn't taken their limit each of walleyes that day and they thought they might pull up stakes and go elsewhere.

Half way across the lake—there was still enough light to see a good ways—16 boatloads of fishermen were anchored over Half-Mile Ledge working for all they were worth to take as many walleyes as the law allows. Many of those fishing parties were out on their second fishing shift of the day.

I slipped away from the three sad fishermen to answer an urgent call from a waterfront snack bar to shell out some cash for ice cream cones for the small fry. After paying the shot I stumbled down on to the dock and nearly tangled with the hotel handyman cleaning a large mess of fish and throwing the trimmings into the lake.

The owner of the string—many of the fish were only six inches—said he had had enough fishing and wouldn't go out again. The large ones, he said, he would save until he was able to match up half a dozen uniform sized walleyes to take back with him to the States. The little ones? Oh, put 'em in the ice house; I'll get rid of them before I leave.

So the lake is fished out. Little wonder.

Fishermen fishing in double shifts.

Fishermen boating everything that bites.

Fishermen choosing the largest of each day's catch and letting the rest rot in resort ice houses.

Are resort owners so keen on the almighty dollar that, in fear of offence, they allow guests to do just what they like? They would bring court action to guests who set fire to their beds and broke their furniture and yet when their guests rob them right and left of their only attraction—fish—they never say "boo."

It looks as though the Department of Lands and Forests had better close up ranks with the Travel and Publicity boys before any more STAR ratings are issued and put a clamp on these pirates of our paradise heritage. Perhaps another 50 fish hatcheries should be put into operation or all tourist export of game fish stopped.

As a Canadian citizen this sort of thing burns me up.

Drat That Cat

Camper friend of mine who owns a black pet pussy is watching where he puts his foot at the cottage these days. After cleaning some fish while the cat twined about his legs and licked its chops the refuse was put in a garbage can at the back door with a brick on the lid. Came a clatter in the night that awoke camper friend who cussed, got up with a flashlight and kicked open the screen door to put the boots to pussy. He drew back his foot and held it in mid air and was sufficiently wide awake enough to see his cat had eaten so much fish that it had sprouted white stripes down its back and tail. . . . .

What Shall We Do With a Brand New Trailer?

Judge C. F. Claxton of Toronto drove into Lakefield on Wednesday night and stopped to have his boat trailer checked at a garage. While waiting for repairs he was attracted to the Lions Club street carnival and bought a ticket on—something. Before he left the village he was pronounced winner of a new boat, trailer and kicker. How he got the double tow up the highway, if he did, has not been revealed but he was so tickled he kicked in $25 to the Lions Club just to hear them roar.

Landed at a LHK cabin resort from the lakeside one hot afternoon to buy some pop. A pimply youth reading comics while sprawled on the kitchen floor "served" me.

"Could I buy some pop?"

"Guess so . . . ."

"Where is it?"

"In the cooler and don't ask me what we've got. Cancha help yourself?" He bawled aside, "Ma, a guy here wants tu pay yu."

I was charmed by his public relations and whatever the resort is called I shall henceforth name it "Tobacco Road."

I Recommend . . . .

That contemporary Richard Choate of Toronto who revealed the mighty past of his native Indian River he himself to Kosk Lake and unravel the mystery of the immense submerged granite pothole at the mouth of the North River. . . . That if your cottage is surrounded by poplars you should survey them for porcupines. They will sleep all day outside your bedroom window and drop trash all night on the roof and give your family gooch the pincushion treatment if you let it roam unguarded. . . . That you should keep your eye on nature while fishing. With banker Ted Highstead of Toronto and our lads we watched a beaver drop a sizeable poplar fifty feet from our anchored boat. . . . That it's useless to get near loon chicks in a canoe. You can paddle yourself to a frazzle and the old birds will end up in bursts of wild laughter over there, and there. . . . .

Fishing is not as grim in other parts of the Kawarthas as reported above. In the Rice Lake-Trent River area 13 'lunge were boated within three days, some of them in the 25 pound class. The same luck is running up into the Otonabee River from its mouth; four nice ones, but smaller, were taken in the vicinity of Wallace's Point. Pigeon and Deer Bay are doing fairly well, too, and even Scugog Lake is giving out with some nice ones.

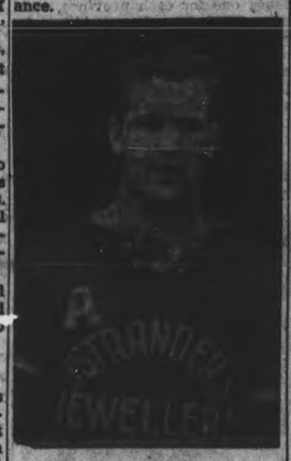
Timbermen Trip Toronto 8-5 With Last Quarter Drive To Move Into Second Place

Undisputed second place in the senior O.L.A. standing went to the Peterborough Timbermen Friday night at Millar Bowl when the woodsmen took advantage of a last-quarter slump in Toronto Yorks' defence to score four goals and win 8-5. The Timbermen can pull closer to league-leading Mimico Mountaineers tonight with another win over Toronto in Brampton. The season's largest crowd, more than 2,300 saw the season's best lacrosse game. It featured standout goal-tending by Toronto's George Johnston and Timbermen's Moon Wootton, stiff checking and one good fight.

THE MOON SHINES

Toronto pounced early in the first two minutes for a 2-0 lead in the first quarter and settled for a 3-2 score at the half. But the Petes outshone the Yorks in the third to go ahead 5-4. In the fourth Yorks tied the score, went one up and then allowed the Timbermen to tie the score. Their defence weakened and the Timbermen scored three to win in the last three minutes.



The stiff checking plus the stellar goal-tending kept the crowd on the seat edges throughout. Toronto threw up a horeshoe curtain around their goal after every charge up the field. When the Timbermen broke through, Johnston usually came through with a brilliant save.

The Timbermen, although they didn't seem to have the same effective defensive system, backchecked well individually. But this meant that Wootton was called upon more than Johnston. The Moon shone brilliantly.

The close-checking resulted in tension, causing trips, elbows, high-sticking and roughing. The tension broke momentarily in the third when Tom Banks and Dootch Vitarelli were gated for roughing. Just as they entered the penalty box, fists began to fly. Dootch connected with several hard blows to Banks' face before the bigger man grabbed him with a headlock.

A second fight threatened minutes later when Nip O'Hearn and Frank Facto tangled in the corner. Both dropped their gloves, but were separated before any blows fell.

Nip O'Hearn was the Timbermen's standout. Playing most of the game O'Hearn went well both ways. The importance of the game made the Timbermen turn in their season's best all-round performance.

Kotowski May Coach Orfuns Masters Also Considered Al Dekdebrun Fades Out

A coach for the Peterborough Orfuns will probably be selected this weekend or at the latest early this week. Interested in an experienced American player or top Canadian coach as 1952 mentor, the Orfuns have cut their list of candidates further. Orfuns' president, Dr. Donald Aitken, said today that a likely prospect is former Mississippi college player, Tony Kotowski. He will be interviewed in the city this weekend.

Kotowski was recommended to the Orfuns by Coach Carl Voyles of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Voyles cut U.S. imports Bill Pyron, Bill Gosney, Norm Restaine and Kotowski after a Wednesday intra-squad contest.

Kotowski was about to head towards Frank Gnup's Brantford Redskins camp, but will come to Peterborough first.

DEKDEBRUN OUT

Apparently Al Dekdebrun has dropped out of the Canadian football picture. Dr. Aitken said that the Orfuns are still interested in the former Toronto Argo but that the quarterback has not replied to last week's interview.

Also considered for coach was Hamilton's Tom Worthington. But as in the case of other players Worthington has a permanent position which he didn't want to give up. He was recommended by Voyles.

Kotowski's rival for coach could be former Ottawa Roughrider coach, Wally Masters.

The eastern section of the O.R.F.U. changed again this week. Canadian champions, the Hamilton Panthers decided to stay with the western section, to play with Ryerson, East York, Kitchener and Sarnia.

Only a week ago the Panthers were admitted into the eastern section after a poll of clubs in both sections sanctioned the move.

THREE-TEAM LOOP

Dr. Aitken said that a three-team league schedule for Cobourg Galloping Ghosts, Oshawa Red Raiders and the Orfuns was drawn up this week.

Since then however the Canadian Army at Kingston has signified that they will enter the league as a fourth entry. Permission from army station officers was received for a team.

The soldiers will play a half-schedule totalling six games, double points, for each.

But Dr. Aitken pointed out that the O.R.F.U. intermediate division will decide whether the team will be allowed to enter at such a late date.

Meanwhile team practices are scheduled to begin Monday night at the exhibition park under temporary coach Bill Huntley. He will be in charge of practices until a permanent coach is hired.

A number of St. Peter's and P.C.V.S. senior football graduates plan to turn out as well as members of last season's Orfuns. A few Orillia players, probably including quarterback Milligan, plan to try out.

2 Easterners Dominate Field

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two easterners dominate the field today as the three-day Canadian track cycling championships wheel into the final day.

Pat Murphy of Delhi, Ont., has pumped his six-foot frame and featherweight cycle into a two-point lead for all-round champion honors.

Runner-up—with a good chance of edging out Murphy—is Toronto's Art Johnston, with 20 points. Winnipeg's Bill Bullman trails in the champion race with seven points.

JOHNSTON GAINS

Johnston gained five points on Murphy yesterday after Murphy led opening-day events with 17 points.

Yesterday, Ted Kennington of Winnipeg won the Canadian junior track championship with a three-point edge over an all-Winnipeg field.

Seixas And Flam Take Singles In Davis Cup

By MAX McMAHON

MONTREAL (CP)—The United States Davis Cup tennis team today is shooting for its third straight victory against Canada in the final round of the North American zone tie.

If the team of Vic Seixas and Herb Flam play as they did yesterday in singles, then the Americans can be expected to win the best-of-five series and possibly send second stringers Bob Perry and Jack Frost, newly-crowned U.S. junior champ, into the final singles Sunday.

Flam and Seixas are scheduled to meet Brendan Macken and Lorne Main in the doubles. Macken and Main last week took the Mexican team in straight sets.

Yesterday, Flam defeated Henri Rochon 6-2, 8-6, 6-2 and Seixas downed Main 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

LITTLE EXPERIENCE

Seixas and Flam have little experience as a doubles team, but they should work out well because of their respective games.

Seixas has a tremendous serve, good approach shots, is one of the most natural volleyers in the game, has a lot of topspin on his forehand and a slice backhand.

He showed his authority on the backcourt in his match with Main. While Main had more placements than Seixas, mostly taken near the net, Seixas stood on the baseline and slammed back everything Main could retrieve and kept the ball going until Main erred, either by going beyond the baseline, or putting the ball in the net.

While Flam perhaps lacks Seixas' power, he has a masterful control and touch. He knows where his ball is going to land on most occasions, and also seems to know where it's going to be when, and if, it comes back.

SHOWS MASTERY

He showed his mastery of tennis when he humbled little Rochon yesterday, playing exactly the unorthodox game that was supposed to fool him, drop-shots, angling shots to the corners, lobs and fast change of pace.

Rochon said after the game that while he didn't dispute Flam was a masterful player, he was nervous and tense before the crowd. He said he usually plays a better game away from home when not under that kind of pressure.

Main used his two-handed return of service effectively against Seixas yesterday.

He also came up with an effective service of his own. He aced the more powerful Seixas twice; only one serve got by him.

Macken plays a game similar to that of the Americans. His service, with his entire body behind it, is terrific; he is noted for his touch and control, particularly when volleying and his ground strokes have depth and authority. He and Main have played together as a winning team.

Worrall Praises Canadian Team

MONTREAL (CP)—James Worrall of Toronto, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, in a statement yesterday said the performance of Canada's team at the Olympic Games in Helsinki "on the whole was very good."

In an accompanying statement, President A. Sidney Dawes of the Canadian Olympic Association urged a training centre be set up, through federal government action, where Canadian coaches could undergo intensive courses.

Worrall said that while 1952 results were not quite as good as in 1948, as far as Canada finishing within the first six places in events was concerned, "nevertheless our athletes individually excelled the performance of the 1948 team in the same events."

Team morale was "excellent and Canada has every reason to be proud of the type of young athlete sent to these games."

Foreign Tennis Stars Enter Toronto Tourney

TORONTO (CP)—Tennis stars from seven foreign countries and Canada, including four national champions and six ranking United States players, have registered for the Canadian Lawn tennis championship at Toronto Aug. 16 to Aug. 23.

Dick Savitt of Orange, N.J., winner of the singles at Wimbledon last year, heads the list of United States competitors. Other outstanding players include Art Larson of San Leandro, Cal., last year's clay court champion in the U.S., and Tony Vincent who won the Canadian open singles in 1951.

Many of Canada's top players will also be on hand including Davis Cup players Brendan Macken, Lorne Main and Henri Rochon.

AHL MEETS AUG. 19

The American Hockey League's board of governors, scheduled to resume a two-day meeting last night, called it off and will resume the discussions at New York, Tuesday, Aug. 19.

There was no explanation. It was reported, however, that some of the league's problems were such that the delegates here had to consult with other club officials in their hometowns.

Among the problems is the election of a president to succeed Maurice Podoloff of New Haven, Conn., and the formation of a schedule for the nine-club league.

Ladies—Mrs. P. Bartley, Miss L. Allen, and Mrs. C. Renaud.

Gents—T. Ryan and J. Adams.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By DON GRANT

How would you like to skim across a lake in a 16-foot boat at speeds of 70 and 75 miles an hour? That's what a Bridgenorth couple have been doing for the past several years to become recognized as among the best in international racing competitions for Class E racing runabouts.

Practically unknown in Peterborough and district for their racing ability, Charlie and Ruth Abbott of Bridgenorth, are considered "big names" in motor and power boat races in the United States.

Last year Charlie placed second and sometimes third in international races, mostly in the United States. He was rated as second only to the best, Al Endres of Buffalo.

Endres recently set the world's record for Class E racing runabouts at Cambridge, Maryland. There the Buffalo racer was clocked at 83 miles an hour in his new craft, the Silver.

Abbott Only Class E Racer In Canada

The only Class E racer in Canada, Abbott has to compete in international races. His boats, the Meteor I and Meteor II, easily outclass any boats in this district.

Hydroplanes from Bowmanville and Oshawa, which race at Bewdley, Caesarea and Orillia recently generally travelled at speeds from 40 to 50 miles an hour. They couldn't come near Abbott's craft.

"It just wouldn't be fair to compete with those boats," said Charlie.

Why aren't there more Class E racers in Canada? Well, it's quite possibly the cost prevents others owning boats.

Charlie spent about $4,000 on his first racer, Meteor I. So far with his second Meteor, "using ideas learned in building the first craft," Charlie has kept the cost down to $3,500.

Expensive To Operate Racing Boats

"The upkeep is quite expensive. If we didn't do our own work, and had to hire others to do it, we just couldn't race."

Mrs. Abbott helped build Meteor II during the past winter at their Bridgenorth home.

"She built the boat; I only helped," said Charlie, adding "I helped her with the hard stuff, the manual labor, but she laid out the plans and did the fitting."

Mrs. Abbott is also a driver. She rode with Charlie when they raced in the Class D races, using two in a boat.

"When the racing became faster, we had to cut the weight, and only one could take the ride. But she took her turns in some events."

Mrs. Abbott will likely be driving the Meteor II in some of the races when the Abbotts cross the border for international races later this month. They'll race in Buffalo next weekend and stay in New York State for other meets, the next largest is at Syracuse on August 30-31.

The competition in Buffalo will be stiff for there they will find "the cream of the crop" in Class E racing.

Describing the new boat as "far better than the other," Abbott said he placed first recently at Cornwall, only to be disqualified for missing a buoy.

At the Picton boat races, Charlie ran into trouble on the mile trials when valves broke. He hopes to have the boat ready for an exhibition this weekend at the Chemong power boat regatta.

Abbott estimated his speed in the trials at close to 75 miles an hour. His best in Meteor I was at St. John's, Que., when he travelled at 72 miles an hour.

"Well, thanks for the info, Charlie. If you don't mind, I'll ROW back to shore."

Layne Gets 10-Round Win Bulls Way Over Charles

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—Husky young Rex Layne bulled his way over former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles last night in a 10-round decision which threw the Charles camp into an uproar.

Jack Dempsey, the former world heavyweight champ who was the referee and sole judge, held Layne's hand up in the victory sign as thundershowers deluged Ogden stadium.

Immediately afterward, Charles' co-manager, Jake Mintz, rushed into the ring, berated Dempsey with: "This is the lousiest decision I've ever seen."

Later, Dempsey told a reporter that "I called them just like I saw them. I'm sorry that Mintz or anyone else didn't like the decision. I'm sorry."

23,000 FANS

Layne weighed 195 and Charles 190 for the outdoor fight which promoter Ken Mayne said drew more than 23,000 fans. Mayne estimated the gate would top $150,000. Each fighter will receive 35 per cent.

The fight hit its hottest pace in the eighth round when both fighters landed telling blows. The 31-year-old Cincinnati negro flicked a left which cut Layne's lip in the ninth. Charles kept boring in at a fast pace, behind his sizzling left, and the battle ended in a last-round flurry.

But the oral fight had just begun.

Some ringsiders disagreed with Dempsey's card of seven even rounds, two for Layne, and one for Charles.

Layne, who lost by a technical knockout in his first fight with Charles, said the former champ "hurt me several times." But Layne thought he scored a solid victory. His manager, Marv Jenson, said, "we consider Rex the uncrowned heavyweight champion of the world. He has licked both Charles and the present champ, Jersey Joe Walcott."

Jenson said he now will try to line up a Layne-Walcott go in September.

After the fight, Charles declared, "Layne didn't even know the fight was over." Then he added, "There will be another time."

Ray Arcel, Charles' trainer, also joined the fight post mortem. "Instead of adding dignity to the fight game, Dempsey has added disgrace," he said.

Mintz rushed to the ringside press row after Dempsey had turned his back and left the stadium.

"It's the worst decision I ever saw," he shouted. "Charles was ahead by at least three rounds. It was a political steal. Layne was holding on and grabbing for dear life. Dempsey is a shifet. Charles is still the greatest fighter in the world."

Kesselring Edges Eluck, Makes Final

KINGSTON (CP)—Gerry Kesselring, 23-year-old shotmaker from Kitchener, set out on the 36-hole final match today in a bid for his third Ontario amateur golf championship in four years.

A victory over Jim Neale of Hamilton Glendale would make the Kitchener star the unquestioned ruler of Ontario golf. Defending amateur champion, he also holds the provincial open title which he won a month ago in a 54-hole medal play test against pros and amateurs.

Kesselring, who plays out of both the Westmount and Rockway clubs at Kitchener, had a tight battle with George Eluck of Windsor Lakewood to get into the final. He downed the Windsor player one up in a tight semi-final battle that recalled their gripping final match in the 1949 amateur when Kesselring won on the Westmount course on the 38th hole.

NEAL'S SECOND TRY

Neale, playing in his second Ontario amateur, downed Ralph Waechter of Kitchener Rockway one up. Last year he went out in the first round.

Kesselring, who captured the Ontario amateur in 1949 and 1951, picked up a three-hole lead in the first four holes of yesterday's semi-final but Eluck trimmed him down till the Kitchener youth was only one up on the 18th tee. Kesselring was short about a foot on his approach putt, when Eluck on his last chance missed the cup by four inches and the match closed.

Neale and Waechter reached the 18th tee on even terms. Neale landed on the green on his third shot Waechter on his fourth. Neale putted out on his fifth to win.

MATCH GOES ROUTE

Officials announced that in today's final round Kesselring and Neale will play a full 36 holes, no matter where the match ends.

If Kesselring takes today's round he will become the fourth golfer to win the Ontario amateur title three times. Jack Nash of London won it three times, Sandy Somerville of London four times and Phil Farley of Toronto six times.

In quarter-finals, Kesselring defeated Herb Epstein of Toronto, 5 and 4, Neale eliminated Herb Reinholdt of Toronto, 6 and 5.

Eluck knocked out Doug McKellar of Toronto, 2 and 1, and Waechter put out Louis Georgas of Owen Sound, 3 and 2.

Emerson Creed of London won the consolation sweepstakes yesterday with a 74, one better than George Button of Toronto. Jerry Knechtel of Kitchener and George Hevenor of Toronto tied for third with 77s.

Pafko Drives In 5 Runs To Give Brooks 6-3 Win

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Handy Andy Pafko finally is paying Brooklyn some juicy dividends on the big deal of last season. Hitting an even .300 with 15 home runs and 55 runs batted in, the 31-year-old outfielder is refuting those who said he was "all washed up" when Chicago put him on the block.

Pafko seems to be overcoming a habit that disturbed Manager Chuck Dressen. His first 10 homers came with nobody on base. Then came last night's three-run blast off Curt Simmons in the 10th inning for a 6-3 victory over Phillies.

It was an important blow for Dodgers, enabling them to stretch their lead to 6½ games. New York was shut out by Boston's Max Surkont, 2-0, and St. Louis lost to Cincinnati, 8-5.

DRIVES IN 5 RUNS

Pafko drove home five runs with his homer, a double and a long fly ball. Preacher Roe, who took over in the eighth after Ray Moore turned in 6 1-3 innings of brilliant relief work for Chris Van Cuyk, was the winner.

Surkont, veteran righthander, held the second-place Giants to four hits, stopping Al Dark's 22-game hitting streak. Ben Thorpe and Jack Dittmer drove in the two runs off Max Lanier.

Ewell Blackwell needed relief help to save his third win of the season after Cincinnati chased Cliff Chambers in a five-run fourth inning. Roy McMillan's double with the bases loaded was the important hit. Andy Seminick hit his 13th homer and Enos Slaughter his ninth for St. Louis in the free-hitting game.

DICKSON STARS

Murray Dickson took matters in his own hands for downtrodden Pittsburgh Pirates. He shut out the Chicago Cubs for 10 innings with six hits and then broke up the game with a 10th inning single for a 1-0 verdict.

Rookie Bill Glynn's homer in the 12th enabled Cleveland to tighten up the American League race with a 10-9 win over St. Louis Browns. Indians now trail the idle New York Yankees by only 2½ games.

Rain washed out the Boston-New York and the Philadelphia-Washington night games in the American.

Chicago came from behind twice to sweep a doubleheader from Detroit, 4-3 and 2-1, behind Billy Pierce and Joe Dobson.

Ferrier Takes 2-Stroke Lead In Tam

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Midway leader Jim Ferrier's gifted putter today was a magic wand that beckoned golf's richest prize, the $25,000 top money in the whirling "world championship" fairways carnival.

Ferrier, massive former Australian who became a U. S. citizen in 1944, took a 2-stroke lead over the 1947 national open champion, Lew Worsham, into the third round of Tam O'Shanter's $90,000 four-ringed circus.

A former Canadian open champion, Ferrier has added scorching rounds of 68-66 for a 36-hole total of 134, 10 under par. Big Jim's metronome putter tapped only 27 times in yesterday's 31-35 effort.

DISCOURAGING NEWS

This was discouraging news to most of the 80-player field, of which about 10 still remained within striking distance of the 37-year-old Ferrier.

Worsham, who yesterday wobbled to 71 from an opening 65, was a stroke ahead of Argentine star Roberto de Vicenzo of Buenos Aires and Pete Cooper, White Plains, N. Y., knotted at 137.

Vancouver's Stan Leonard added a 76, to his 69 for 145. Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon was far back with 75-81—156.

TWO AT 138

Earl Stewart, Jr., of Dallas, Tex., who spent three eagles for yesterday's 70, and slim Dave Douglas, Newark, Del., were notched at 138.

Five strokes behind Ferrier at 139 were the current United States open champion, Julius Boros of Mid-Pines, N. C.; Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif., and plump Ed Oliver, registered from Chicago.

In the $12,000 "world" women's pro event, Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., still had a bead on the $5,000 first prize with a 36-hole total of 145, four strokes ahead of Patty Berg of Mineapolis.

The "world" amateur was resolved into a hot scrap between Bill Campbell of Huntington, W.Va. and defending champion Frank Stranahan of Toledo. Campbell's 136 gave him a two-stroke lead.

Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis., held a five-stroke lead over Betty Rowland of Lexington, Ky., 159 to 164, in the world's fourth phase, the women's amateur.

Montreal Clips Syracuse 9-7 In 12 Innings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With Montreal virtually assured of winning the pennant, interest in the International League has shifted to the scrap for the three remaining playoff positions.

Only six games separated fourth-place Toronto from second-place Syracuse today and the Leafs in turn are only 3½ games in front of Baltimore and Buffalo, who are tied for fifth place.

Royals increased their advantage to nine games over Syracuse last night by beating the Chiefs 9-7 in 12 innings.

Montreal scored six runs in the fifth to take a 6-2 lead, but the chiefs tied it up with a homer in the sixth by Johnny Welaj and a three-run homer in the seventh by rookie Carl Bell. Both teams scored in the 10th but Royals finally pulled it out in the 12th when Carm Mauro doubled, Jim Gilliam tripled and Joe Lutz singled.

BISONS NIP ROCHESTER

Buffalo Bisons nipped third-place Rochester 5-4 in 10 innings. Frank Carswell drove home Ed Kazak with the winning run. Paul Foytack blanked the Red Wings on five singles after taking over in the second from Al Yaylian to gain credit for the victory.

Dick Starr pitched Baltimore Orioles to an 11-1 victory over Toronto. The Orioles supported Dick Starr's six hit pitching with an 18-hit barrage that included Roy Weatherly's 22nd homer of the season.

A crowd of 5,425 fans turned out to boost Toronto's home attendance to a record 356,419. The former high was 353,247 in 1949. The Leafs have 20 home games left.

Tail-end Ottawa Athletics turned back Springfield Cubs, 7-4. Johnny Metkovich broke up the game with a three-run double in the eighth.

Little In Bible To Justify Divine Right Of Kings

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Actually the two Old Testament Books of Kings begin with the death of King David, and the ascendancy of King Solomon; but the beginning of kings in Israel was with the choice of King Saul, when the people demanded of Samuel to give them a king.

The solemn warning by Samuel of what their choice meant, and of what kings would do to them (I Samuel 8:10-18) was amply justified in the history of the kings that followed. That passage is one to read and ponder, for it was a prophecy of what has happened in the history of kings, and not only the kings of Israel.

In that long history there have been kings and emperors who served their people well—good kings, in personal character and actions, who ruled with justice.

I do not know whether such good sovereigns have been the exception, but certainly history reveals how many, and how disastrous for their people, have been the kings who have exploited, rather than ruled.

But it did not take long for Samuel's prophecy to come true. There were noble aspects of King David's reign, blackened with the virtual murder of Uriah.

Even the glory of Solomon was tarnished with the oppressions apparently countered by the glory and glamor, but which led quickly to rebellion, and the division of the Kingdom immediately following Solomon's death.

Upon Israel, thus rent asunder in two kingdoms, tragedy soon fell. Within a period less than that of the history of America since its discovery by Columbus, the Northern Kingdom, of the Ten Tribes, has gone down in ruinous conquest. The Southern Kingdom of Judah has been conquered by the armies of Babylon, and the people carried to that far country into exile.

When the Jews in Babylon returned from the exile, as the story is told in the Books of Ezra and Nehemia, it was under religious leaders. They were inspired by all that was best in the religious history and heritage of the Jewish people.

It was, of course, a great sovereign, King Artaxerxes, who had made possible that return of the Jews, and their restoration in their homeland and that is among the gracious acts that here and there stand out with brightness in the dark pages of much misuse of power and misrule by kings.

There is at least little in Scripture or in history to justify the doctrine of the divine right of kings, that once brought about revolution in England, and the death of one king, who sought to enforce his professed divine right.

PICTURESQUE MONTE CASSINO CHAPEL, called the world's tiniest church, may soon be torn down to make way for a housing project. Located on the ground of the former Benedictine vineyards, the beautiful shrine is surrounded by a modern housing project of nearby Covington. Nearly 50 years ago, two Benedictine monks quarried stone from the hillsides and built the shrine. Photo at LEFT, ABOVE, shows the interior, decorated with traditional religious symbols and a small altar. It can only hold three worshippers. Other photo shows the exterior, with a belfry so small the Benedictines have never been able to find a bell for it.

True Religion, True Science On Same Side—Dr. Owen

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

True religion and true science have always fought on the same side, writes Doctor R. G. Owen in "Scientism, Man and Religion." The controversies which have been waged in the name of both are between scientism or pseudo-science and true religion, or between pseudo-religion and genuine science.

Dr. Owen is associated professor of ethics and philosophy at Trinity College and lecturer in philosophy of religion at Wycliffe College, Toronto.

By pseudo-science or scientism he means the attitude which disregards the limitations which true science has always recognized in its method, the limitations implied by the empirical, quantitative mechanical and progressive principles; principles which can be applied to measurable things only, but which do not—except in the eyes of pseudo-scientists or scientolators—presume to suggest that matter is the whole of reality.

By pseudo-religion or religiosity he means the diefication of natural forces, social structures and psychological projections.

In 200 pages (the book is published by the Westminster Press, in Canada by Ryerson) he traces the role of scientism—or the climate it has produced in the modern world—in the development of communism, nazism, and capitalism. His finding is this:

"Materialistic scientism produced the communist society, which is a type of economic collectivism. Naturalistic scientism produced the nazi society, which is a kind of instinctual barbarism. Empirical scientism has given rise to a bourgeois society, which worships science, the machine, and the dollar. And just as empirical scientism must either deteriorate into complete scepticism or else harden into a dogmatic mould that resembles the other two versions, so also the culture that it nurtures is faced with only two alternatives: Either it will disintegrate in aimlessness and confusion or else it will petrify into some kind of 'scientific' mass society."

40 School Boys Visit Canada

QUEBEC (CP)—Forty boys from English grammar schools arrived here yesterday aboard the liner Samaria for a two-week educational tour of eastern Canada.

Ranging in age from 17 to 19, the boys will make brief stops in Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, visit Quebec and Niagara Falls, Ont., and make a three-day stop at Camp Wanapitei on Lake Temagami in northern Ontario.

They form the second post-war party to visit Canada under a $75,000 educational trust founded in 1938 by Walter H. Rhodes, Bradford textile manufacturer.

Glut Of Beaver Brings End To Old Practice

When beaver become so numerous and destructive in their zeal for dam building, and consequent flooding of private lands, they are called "nuisance beaver." It used to be a simple problem for Fish and Game officers to get rid of the nuisance animals in any one area by live trapping and shipping the beaver to underpopulated areas elsewhere.

According to a story from Tweed Forestry headquarters even this practice is no longer the solution. A request for live beaver from Meaford was complied with when a Renfrew officer sent him nine this week. A terse telegram saying that the beaver had arrived at Meaford also requested, "No more beaver, please."

What to do with and where to ship them is now the problem confronting the department.

Provide Safe Recreation With 8 City Playgrounds

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

Right now, 1,696 children are playing in city playgrounds. Right now is 3 p.m. What's so different about a child playing in a playground to one playing on the streets or in his backyard? All that's needed to point out a difference is a daytime tour of the eight city playgrounds operated in Peterborough by the Recreation Commission.

Supervised playgrounds are nothing new in Peterborough. Several years ago they were begun as a project by the Local Council of Women. Since, they have developed as new techniques, new methods and new equipment have been developed in all phases of children's work.

The number 1,696 was not just a shot in the dark. It is the daily average attendance at city playgrounds this year since they started July 2.

That's a lot of children to keep playing safely at one time. Their interests change from one minute to the next and a program must be set up that will give them numerous changes of activity during a day.

A bird's-eye view of city playgrounds right now might reveal something like this: A baseball game in Riverside Park; swimming instruction being given to a group in Hamilton Park; a game of paddle tennis in Braidwood playground; story hour time in All Saints' Tot Lot; craft work at King Edward Park; a basketball game at Fleming Place; painting at Turner Park; track and field practice at Inverlea Park.

A closer look and the playground supervisors in their grey and wine T-shirts could be seen, either directing a game from the sidelines or right in the middle of a group working at crafts.

The success of the playgrounds depends very much on these supervisors. Consequently they are picked with care and extra consideration is given applicants with special qualifications for working with children.

This year the city is fortunate in having 10 teachers in its playground staff of 20. The remainder are university and high school students, all over 18 years of age. There are 15 supervisors, two swimming instructors, two lifeguards, and one craft supervisor.

A day in the life of a Peterborough playground supervisor goes something like this: equipment checkup for safety as soon as the supervisor arrives on the playground at 9.30 a.m.; organization of group games; a period for

Motorize Delivery Wagons Era of Horses Nearing End

An end of an era is approaching. Hayburners are definitely on their way out. Bakeries and dairies are gradually replacing horse-drawn delivery wagons with motor driven vehicles.

There are fewer delivery horses being used in the city this summer than ever before and the day is not far off when the Examiner will be telling its readers about the retirement of the last delivery horse in Peterborough.

Horse Lovers, and sentimentalists to whom the sight of a plodding horse pulling a milk or bread wagon is a reminder of the days when life moved at a more leisurely pace, will express their regret at the disappearance of one of the last remaining links with the pre-motor car days.

However, the majority of residents will no doubt take the philosophical view that it's a sign of progress. Late morning risers who have always had their slumbers disturbed by the echoing clop of steel shod nags, plodding down a quiet street can hardly be expected to shed a tear because they are being replaced by relatively quiet motor-driven trucks.

Expect 'Dollar Day' Sales Biggest In History Of City

More than 50 Peterborough merchants are busy planning for the biggest three-day sales event in the city's history.

Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be "Dollar Days" in all stores taking part in the city-wide sale.

Sales staffs are loading counters and shelves and preparing for an onslaught of thrifty shoppers from the city and district, eager to take advantage of the year's biggest dollar values.

Aside from the exceptional bargain values that will be offered on selected articles in each of the stores taking part, a sale that takes in many of the downtown stores offers busy shoppers another unusual opportunity, of particular interest to out-of-town residents.

Not one, but several stores will be offering a variety of selected articles at specially reduced prices during "Dollar Days." One trip into town or downtown will enable everyone who takes advantage of "Dollar Days" to make dollar-saving purchases in several stores instead of having to make individual trips as they usually have to when individual stores hold their annual clearance sales.

Getting the best possible value for every dolar is a must these days for most families who have to budget carefully to cope with the high cost of living.

With the approach of autumn practically every member of the family will be needing several articles of clothing and "Dollar Days" are the days to hustle downtown and visit the many stores that will be offering top quality values at bargain basement prices.

A joint sales event like Dollar Days sponsored by a group of merchants has not been tried in Peterborough in a number of years.

The idea has the approval of the retail section of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce and it is hoped that success of the mammoth three-day sale this year will make it an annual event.

Trans-Canada Highway Still To Be Mapped In Peterborough District

Highways Department May Re-Route Road To Skirt City, Omemee; Lindsay Approves of Principle of By-Pass

The route of the Trans-Canada Highway in this district has still to be mapped by the Ontario Department of Highways and federal officials. East of the city it will pretty well follow Highway 7, John D. Millar, deputy minister of highways, said today. But whether or not it will pass through the city itself, and the exact route west of here on the road to Lindsay, are matters that have yet to be decided on. The only approved section west of here is the 10-mile stretch from Manilla on Highway 7 west to Sunderland Corners where Highways 7 and 12 meet. Manilla is about 15 miles west of Lindsay.

Lindsay officials have already said they would prefer the Trans-Canada to skirt the town and Mr. Millar said that was the present plan. Peterborough, however, is a bigger city and finding a suitable route around it poses "problems", Mr. Millar said. He did not elaborate.

East of Peterborough the Trans-Canada will run through Norwood, Havelock, and Marmora (where there must be extensive blasting to make a rock cut). If the highway by-passes Peterborough there must be a cutoff somewhere east of the city. Extensive surveying of possible routes around the city has already been undertaken, but no final decision has yet been made.

Recently residents of the Omemee district have observed surveyors sighting their instruments on land three miles south of the village. However, Deputy Minister Millar said this was no sure tip-off on government intentions.

The established method now of surveying for highways is to take extensive aerial photographs of possible routes; then surveying crews are sent out to check the feasibility of routes at ground level.

Aero Club Vows 'Do Something' About Complaint

"We didn't realize that there were complaints. And we will certainly try to do something about it," George Hutchison, one of the members of the Plymouth Aero Club said today.

Mr. Hutchison was speaking on behalf of the officials of the club in answer to a story in Friday's Examiner about complaints about the noise made by model airplanes flying in Nicholls Oval

Mr. Hutchison explained that the club met officially only on Thursday nights and Sunday afternoons to fly planes in the Oval.

"I am sure that there isn't flying every night, but there may be enthusiasts going up to the Oval other than official flying periods," he said.

SOME NOT MEMBERS

Mr. Hutchison also pointed out that there are quite a few enthusiasts in the city who are not members of the club, who might be responsible for some of the extra time.

There are about 12 active flying members in the club which has a total membership of 50. About six or eight members are from Lakefield, but there are never more than two of them attending at one time.

"Our club has only been organized for a year and we are anxious that it will be able to continue," he said. "We didn't know we were causing such a disturbance and we will make efforts to move activities out of the Oval entirely. If this isn't possible we will try and curtail our members to one flying period a week."

Mr. Hutchison explained that many of the members were young boys and they only had bicycles. As a result the club have to use a site that isn't too far away.

"Our first year has been a very successful one with increasing interest being shown in the club," he said. "We have, on request, put on four major displays at picnics to a total audience of at least 10,000 this summer. Today we are giving a show in Orillia."

Masonic Temple Be Completed By September 5

Work is rapidly nearing completion on Peterborough's new Masonic Temple. Contractor Walter Mortlock has completed the new addition to the old Hamilton home on Rubidge Street and the renovations and change-over required in the house are just about finished. New lights have been installed throughout the building and Smith Brothers are busy redecorating the rooms.

Plans are under way by J. D. Fanning, D. Duder, and Gordon Maniece, Masters of Corinthian, Peterborough, and Royal Arthur Lodges for a joint meeting of the three lodges on Friday, September 5, in the new lodge room. The lodges will meet under special dispensation from Grand Lodge until the building is officially dedicated. It is hoped that the dedication ceremony can be performed late in October, possibly the fifth Friday. But the actual date depends on when Grand Master Nelson Hart of London can be present.

ONCE HOUSED LODGE

The house which housed Corinthian Lodge 100 years ago when it was operating under a charter received from the Grand Lodge of England has been greatly changed. In the basement there has been installed a large kitchen, lavatories, cloak rooms and storage rooms. An additional oil-burning heating plant has been put in to heat the new part of the building while the other heating plant has been converted to oil to heat the older part of the building. On the ground floor there are two large lounge rooms, two regalia rooms, cloak room, lavatory, preparation room, and two small waiting rooms.

Rooms on the second floor have been changed to make a small lodge room and a general office.

REFINISH FURNITURE

Much of the furniture in the old lodge room at the corner of Water and Hunter Streets has been removed and is being refinished and reupholstered and additional benches are being constructed. Seven new chairs for the officers have been donated by friends and members of families in memory of men who have been leaders in Free Masonry in the days gone by.

Plans are also under way for the formation of a new craft lodge which will be composed of many Masons in Peterborough who have come to the city but have not affiliated with any one of the three local lodges.

The work of construction and remodelling had been under the direction of James Craig of the firm of Blackwell & Craig, architects.

Local Regattas Feature Weekend

Three regattas will be held in Peterborough County this weekend.

Today there will be regattas at Belmont Lake and at Trent River; Sunday afternoon there will be the outboard motor regatta at Chemong Lake.

At Trent River the Peterborough Ornamental Swimmers will be featured. Speed boat races with cash prizes for the winners have been arranged, and there will be swimming and boating events.

Bad weather last Monday caused the 10th annual Belmont Lake regatta to be postponed until today. Events will start at 1 p.m. near Jim Rogers' resort.

The Chemong Lake outboard motor regatta will begin at 1 p.m. Sunday by the boat livery. It too was postponed from last Monday.

Main events at Chemong will be an exhibition by the Peterborough Ornamental Swimmers, water skiing by the Chemong Lake Water Ski Club, and outboard racing—eight classes ranging from boats with five horsepower motors to those with 25 horse-power. Out-of-town entries will be in the races.

Prizes will be awarded the winners.

The Meteor, a swift powerboat, will give a speed exhibition for the spectators, and regatta officials are hoping that next year they will be able to include a powerboat meet on the program.

Hastings Woman Addresses W.M.S.

WESTWOOD (ENS). — Members and guests of St. Andrew's United Women's Missionary Society met on Wednesday evening in the church.

Mrs. Halbus of Hastings was the special speaker and delighted her hearers with her message of Christian love. Quoting Marion Johnstone's pamphlet on "Ci-Hu —Can I Help You," the speaker enlarged on the subject, which really means "Love thy neighbor as thyself." Mrs. Halbus said Ci-Hu can make the world a Garden of Eden, change the spirit of all nations, a paradise which can make war a memory and bring in a world of peace.

The president, Mrs. C. Brackenridge, voiced the appreciation of the meeting to Mrs. Halbus for her beautiful message.

Proceeds of the recent tea and bazaar were $63.

Mrs. Eric Pulfer extended an invitation to hold the next meeting at her home on September 3 at 8 p.m.

Bowes-Bottum

Christ Church, Bobcaygeon, Ontario, was the quaint and beautiful setting for the marriage Wednesday of Wihla Lauramae, daughter of Mr. C. K. Bottum, Bobcaygeon, to Mr. John Merton Bowes, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bowes of Toronto. The Rev. George Ball officiated, and Mr. Charles Allen was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a Queen Anne period dress of white Chantilly lace over satin. Her headdress, a tiara of matching lace and seed pearls, held her shoulder-length veil of embroidered nylon net. She carried a horseshoe bouquet of white gardenias and mauve baby orchids. Miss Eloise McGee, Bobcaygeon, was maid of honor, and Miss Patricia Bowes, Toronto, was bridesmaid. They were gowned similarly in ballet-length dresses of coral and yellow lace over taffeta, and carried contrasting cascade bouquets of coral and yellow gladioli. Each wore a cluster of matching flowers in her hair.

Groomsman was Mr. David Bowes, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Gordon McIntyre and Wesley Jackson.

The bridal party left the church in a Leicester carriage drawn by a team of prancing hackney horses.

At the reception which followed at "Rolling Acres," Mrs. C. K. Bottom received wearing a gown of champagne lace with matching hat and accessories, and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses. Mrs. W. M. Bowes, mother of the groom, also received wearing a gown of grey silk crepe, with a hat of pink rose buds, and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Manitoulin Island. For travelling the bride wore a heaven blue silk linen suit with white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. On return they will live at Chemong Lake, Bridgenorth.

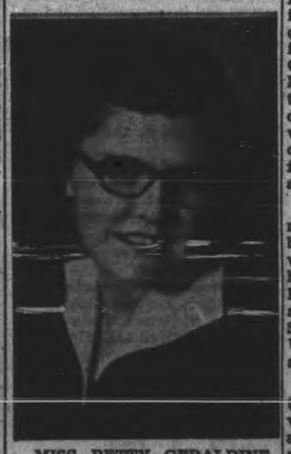
Walk In Comfort



It is important to give the feet proper care.

A daily bathing, especially alternate plunges from hot to cold water, will help to stimulate and strengthen these means of support and locomotion. Careful drying, a dusting with foot powder, and well-fitted shoes will make standing and walking much more comfortable.

LONG WASHING MAY RE-DIRTY CLOTHES

Never let anything become so soiled that it demands long washing. That sort of treatment actually redeposits the soil in the fabric, strange as it may seem.

If an article has been neglected however, give it a short washing in rich suds two or three inches high in your washer tub. Repeat the washing in a second rich suds, then proceed with enough rinses to flush out all soapy residue.

MISS BETTY GERALDINE SCHAEFER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schaefer, of Peterborough, whose engagement to Mr. Charles Henry Faber, of West Allis, Wisconsin, has been announced. The marriage will take place August 30 at the Pentecostal Church at three o'clock.

EVEN A DAY spent on a farm fascinates a child, young or older! There are chores to be done, such as picking up potatoes, and every youngster likes to do something useful.

For Parents Only

Few Days Spent On Farm Highlight Of Child's Life

By NANCY CLEAVER

Vacation time comes and parents plan holidays for their children to summer camps, to relatives, to cities and towns and far-away places. Often they forget that one of the most fascinating spots in the world for a child is a farm.

Even half a day on the farm is a highlight for a city child, especially if he can watch the men at work in the fields haying or harvesting. If parents make arrangements with a farm home ahead of time where they have friends, and pack up a picnic supper, this kind of an observation trip should not be any trouble to the busy farmer's wife. But an adult or teen-ager should stay on deck and keep an eye all the time on Junior! He can very quickly make himself a nuisance, and endanger not only equipment, but his own life and limbs, through his ignorance of farm ways and farm animals.

Life on a farm is so different from the ordinary events of the day of a town child. A boy who had the choice of going to a senior boys' camp or helping on a farm, said enthusiastically, "The farm's the place for me! There's so much to see — and real work to do every day!"

Now I know that farmers are busy folk, up early and to bed late, in the summer season when the days are long and there is so much to do. I also realize that city and town people sometimes have been both thoughtless and selfish in imposing on the hospitality of their country relatives, particularly on week-end visits. I certainly am not suggesting that plan, nor am I urging parents to look around and do their best to leave their child with some farmer for a visit!

"Quid pro quo," which might roughly be translated: "You get something out of this and so do I," should be applied to any scheme for a child visiting in the country. In many cases, a country cousin can pay a return visit to the town or city home. Then the country child has all the fun of a new adventure too.

In other situations a farmer's wife is willing to accept payment or a generous gift for the responsibility of looking after an active youngster, as well as his board. Certainly any self-respecting parents will want to express their appreciation in some tangible form to the farm folk who have been kind enough to open their doors to their boy or girl. The schedule of medium-priced camp rates are a sort of standard for parents to figure out what is a fair amount to give in return for their child's care.

Some city children have pets, but in a large city where many families live in apartments there is little or no room for a cat or dog, and the owner of the building may have a ban on all animals. Owning and caring for a pet of his own, or several pets, is one of the greatest advantages a country child has over a city youngster. A visit in the country opens the eyes of city children to all the fun farm children can have raising and caring for their own animals.

Such visits take place easily and naturally when relatives live in both city and the country. But what of the child with no cousins his age in other places? A plan like this might be sponsored by an urban and a rural Home and School organization, or by two Woman's Associations in a city and a country church.

To live away from home a short time in a distinctly different environment is a fine experience for any child. It forms an invaluable part in encouraging independence and initiative in the growing-up process from childhood to maturity. New comprehension of another person's way of life is fostered. The interesting thing is that such a visit also deepens a child's appreciation of his own surroundings. Both the city and the farm youngster enjoy the welcome back to their own folks and they both agree:

"There's no place like home!"

Guest Here Plans Speaking Tour Of Ontario

A guest in the city for several weeks is Mrs. E. A. Stanley, of Winnipeg, who is the Dominion president of the Mothers' Union, a devotional organization of the Anglican Church. She will leave August 16 on a tour of cities of this province in which branches of the Union exist and she will deliver addresses in Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, London and Bracebridge.

Mrs. Stanley is the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. G. Garland, 690 Ross St., and returned with them Monday after they spent holidays with her in Winnipeg.

Aim of the Mothers' Union is to uphold the permanence of the marriage tie and promote the Christian home and family life. Toronto has the largest membership in Ontario with 700 women, but Mrs. Stanley hopes for increases as the result of her tour. "I feel the personal contact is worth all the letters one can write," she says.

She is also a member and worker in the W.A. of her church.

Formal Tribute To First Flight

OTTAWA (CP)—With pomp and ceremony, Canada will pay formal tribute Tuesday to the man and the plan who combined to make Canada's first aircraft flight under military auspices 43 years ago—Aug. 2, 1909.

Defence Minister Claxton will unveil a cairn at Camp Petawawa to commemorate that flight. The man who made it—Lieutenant-Governor J. A. D. McCurdy of Nova Scotia—will take part in the ceremonies. The plane—the silver dart—was destroyed on its fifth flight.

Shakespeare Land Goes Modern, Motel Invasion

STRATFORD - ON - AVON, England (AP)—William Shakespeare might have been horrified by the word—but now there is a "motel" down the road a bit from Anne Hathaway's cottage.

Shakespearean scholars, devotees of the classic phrase, find it somewhat difficult to accept the name of this new enterprise, but they do approve heartily of the breakfasts served at the motel.

A motel, the British are being told, is an American version of the medieval road house, at which both a man and his horse were bedded down genially and comfortably, for the night.

At this motel in the Shakespeare country, the motorist's car is greased while he reposes in one of a hundred chalets spread out over a picturesque estate.

The Shakespeare-land motel, says its owner, millionaire-showman John Collins, is grander than any he has seen. The heart of it is Rouncil Towers, about eight miles from Stratford-on-Avon. In Rouncil Towers are restaurant and recreation rooms for travellers wanting a conventional hotel atmosphere. But Collins' special pride is the cluster of chalets, each costing about $1,000.

If the place isn't full, the visitor has his choice of chalets finished in light or dark oak, walnut or mahogany. There are two built-in beds, parquet flooring, step-down bath and shower, electric cooker, electrically heated towel rods and ice water on tap.

All are air-conditioned, and Collins expects that Canadian and U. S. visitors will find a perverse joy in heating their chalets to 80 degrees and cooling themselves with his ice water, or the iced highballs that come at the touch of a button.

There are tennis courts and many games, and laundry comes back in 90 minutes. One may do a bit of cooking in the chalets, but the real fun is to order food, at any hour, and have it delivered promptly by trolley by a staff which never sleeps.

Collins operates the pleasure gardens in London, which are left over from the Festival of Britain, and fun fairs in many parts of Britain. He doesn't mind going to the ends of the earth, and hauling back any novel paraphernalia for mass entertainment.

The motel, he thought, was a need for which Shakespearean pilgrims have been clamoring.

Keene Institute Holds First Picnic

The Keene Branch of the Women's Institute held their first annual picnic on Wednesday at the beach on the farm of John Loucks, Rice Lake. There were approximately 50 members and children present.

The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. G. Hawkes, Mrs. A. Eason and Mrs. R. Wood. They had arranged contests and races. The results were as follows:

Youngest person, Robert Adamson; oldest person, Mrs. Eason; one who came the farthest, Esther Acheson; bean guessing contest, Mrs. E. Adamson.

Races—Five and under, Marion Hawkes; boys, 6 and 7, David Hawkes; girls, 6 and 7, Maryam Wismer; boys, 8 and 9, Harry Wismer; girls, 8 and 9, Gayle Anderson; boys, 10 and 11, Michael Maloney; girls, 10 and 11, Maureen Maloney. Shoe-kick, Fern Doris.

The winners were all presented with suitable prizes.

After the sports, supper was prepared, and all sat down to a well laden table with plenty of ice cream. A very enjoyable time was had by both young and old.

High Cost Of Housing Bars Living Away From Parents

DEAR MISS DIX: While you bewail young married people living under parental roofs, there are many of us who have no choice in the matter. We live with our folks, hoping for the day when we can get our own home at a price at which we can reasonably expect to complete the financial responsibility assumed.

Most of us young people living at home are veterans who did not get established in the prewar era but who came out of service to find the real estate agents and builders in full charge, ready to sell a poorly constructed match box at a fantastic price, or to rent an apartment for $125 per month. I know for a fact that many of these real estate agents were almost paupers in 1935—but how different in 1952.

You may call us mama's boys for sticking at home, but most of us work hard every day and keep hoping for the time when good houses will be built for the working man. More power to those families who are making the best of things and resisting high prices while avoiding being victimized by high-priced but cheaply built housing.

DISGUSTED

ANSWER: Yours was another of the anonymous letters I so constantly deplore. I would have liked to send you a personal reply, with perhaps some concrete help.

The particular instance in this column to which you take exception was a clearly stated case of a man who wouldn't set up a home for his wife because he preferred living with his mother. There was no indication that the status was dictated by economic reasons. This is the condition I bewail—and will eternally continue to do so. If a wife wants her own home, and her husband is financially able to give it to her, he is falling down on his obligation as a husband in refusing to leave the parental hearth.

ANALYZE THE PROBLEM

Your problem is entirely different, but it will not be solved by the bitterness, which is so manifest in your letter. Instead of writing a blanket condemnation of the real estate industry, make an analysis of the field yourself. A little investigation will reveal that material and labor costs also have something to do with the situation—and these are as much a bane to real estate men as to you. Learn where to put the blame—then put it there.

Of course, you'll find close operators in any industry—but you'll also find plenty of honest builders and real estate men, as anxious to provide low-cost housing as you are to find it. Many communities are sponsoring projects to provide good housing at moderate cost—and I'm sure a progressive city like yours isn't lagging behind its larger sisters.

In your efforts to locate the housing you wan, two things must be borne in mind. The skyrocketing costs of the aforementioned labor and materials have made it unlikely that the day of cheap housing will ever return to us. However, since thousands and thousands of other young couples have had to adjust themselves to what is available, you may have to, also. If you have been used to a old-fashioned private dwelling built of fine brick, plaster and wood, that you cannot expect to find in modern, new housing. The old substantial dwellings are gone—probably forever—but the substitute is not nearly so inadequate as you seem to believe.

Don't give up trying, rearrange your mental attitude a little, rouse your optimism, equip yourself with the real estate section of this paper, and best of luck to you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am going with a boy who is very well mannered and behaves very well when he is with me. However, my girl friend says that when he is away from me he says mean things, and tells her he is going to stop seeing me.

DOLLY M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You so-called "girl friend" is a trouble-maker of the worst variety. Ignore her snide remarks, and wait until you have firsthand proof of the boy's duplicity.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Although I am only 15½ and my boy friend is 17, we plan to be married soon. I want to give him an identification bracelet for his birthday. Would it be proper?

ALMA B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The identification bracelet is too expensive a gift. I hope your folks prevail upon you to postpone your marriage for quite a while. At 15 you have no idea of the responsibilities involved and neither has the boy.

What's Right?

You are at a large banquet.

WRONG: Feel that you cannot be eating until everyone at the long table at which you are seated has been served.

RIGHT: Begin eating when those close to you have been served.

Readers' Friday Column

QUESTION: I am one of your faithful readers .....appreciate your valuable cooking hints and recipes. . .I would like some advice on preserving Dill Pickles. I have never attempted to do up dill pickles before, but since they are such a favorite at home I thought I would try. . .maybe you can advise me on the following recipe given by a friend: Select small-sized cucumbers, wash well, prick hit and miss. Pack cucumbers on top of dill in jars. (If cucumbers are big use stock of dill between.) Add a little piece of alum (size of pea) and more dill on top of jar. Make up solution of 1 quart water to 2 quarts vinegar, 1 cup coarse salt. Barely bring this solution to a boil and pour in sealers. . .perhaps you can give me a few wise pointers. —Rene De R.

DILL PICKLES

Dill-size cucumbers are 3 or 4 inches long. . .h well, prick about six t. . . with fork and soak overnig. . . in cold water. Drain and dry. Place a whole dill blossom in the bottoms of 5 quart jars that are perfectly clean. Pack cucumbers in the jars. Place another dill blossom on top. Boil together 2 cups vinegar, 1 cup of salt, 10 cups water, and pour over the cucumbers while hot. Seal. These are ready to use in 6 weeks.

This recipe is weaker with vinegar than yours and has no alum. But it is basically the same as the method used by commercial pickle packers.

Thank you for your letter. I have sent you the literature you requested.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I made your bread and butter pickle last year and it was the first time I had pickles the way I like them. They were lovely and crisp. This year I am not going to slice them so thin, as we have to eat a whole jar to get a taste. Your recipe calls for 2 quarts cooking onions sliced thinly. I would like to use the small white whole onions this year. Would I make them the same or would it take longer cooking? I clipped your recipe for Emem's Dark Fruit Cake, but didn't make it as I thought that there was a mistake in the amount of butter, but I find out it was right. I would like to make this this year but my family will not eat peel. What would I put in in place of it. One thing I never have the way I would like is cookie shells. The ones we buy are deep and have scalloped edges, but are 60c dozen....I made your cream puffs, the first ever, and they were good. I think you are wonderful and hope you will keep the column up for years to come. Thanks for the help I know you will give.—Mrs. T. McP.

CALBERRY—In loving memory of Ronald Calberry, who passed away August 9, 1950.

Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days,
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.
—Ever remembered by mother, father, brothers and sisters.

Government Grant Not Public Fund

WINDSOR (CP)—Once money leaves a government treasury it ceases to be public money, the chairman of the 350-bed East Windsor hospital for Incurables said yesterday.

John McKeon told a provincial government commission inquiring into the hospital's affairs that as soon as money is handed out by public officials it comes under the authority of those to whom it is handed.

However, he said, grants to a hospital should be carefully handled.

The inquiry adjourned until Monday.

Big Change Needed In Outlook For Future Olympics Britain Told

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON (CP)—Failure of British athletes to win a single gold medal in track and field events at the Helsinki Olympic Games, has sent the so-called experts into sessions of soul-searching and post-mortems.

The men who weighed up the evidence in an effort to find a cause, reached the simple conclusion that Britain's best just wasn't good enough and that a change in national outlook is necessary.

Based on lessons of the 1952 games, Britons have been told that if their country is to be promoted from the ranks of a second-class power in sport those responsible for selection and training must stop thinking in the past.

London sports columnists generally were agreed that the British approach to international competition was far too insular and that her leaders of athletics were inclined to underestimate world opposition.

Blind, complacent optimism, they chorused, just isn't good enough.

SMUGLY SATISFIED

Stan Tomlin, a leading track and field authority, summed it up this way: "We have been smugly satisfied with our apparent improvement and have completely misjudged the world rise in standards. There has been no fight at the finish. Lack of condition and lack of tough training has beaten us."

Another writer suggested that the British Olympic contingent had been "cluttered up with flash athletes," who never had a chance in a Roman holiday of new Olympic and world records.

Jack Crump, British Olympic team manager, was inclined to be testy about the criticism of the British showing.

"The whole team has done better than we had any right to expect," he said. "The fact remains they weren't just quite good enough, but the competition out there was fantastic."

Others, however, took a more serious view of what they contend is outright "shamateurism" under the protective cloak of simon-pure Olympic competition.

GOVERNMENT BACKING

William McGowran, veteran columnist for the London Evening News, charged that continental countries, particularly those behind the Iron Curtain, regard sport as their great "invisible export." Many foreign governments, he says, back their national teams as lavishly and patriotically as they would an army corps on the battlefield.

Under this regime, star athletes are provided with best training facilities, expert coaching, all the time they require—without any financial worries. To safeguard their technical amateur status no one presumes to offer them money, but they are adequately provided for with jobs as civil servants or as army officers.

The Americans, the writer maintains, play it slightly differently by subsidizing their Olympic or international prospects by sending them to college. There they are taken in charge by the most highly-paid coaches in the world and studies become a minor consideration.

"Our choice seems obvious," said McGowran. "Either we can put some elasticity into the interpretation of the rules to find some way of subsidizing our sportsmen and hope for a few victories, or we can continue to play the game for the game's sake and maintain our no longer enviable record of the world's best losers."

Motorize Delivery

Naturally, it is impossible to get a nose bag comment on what the horses think of being gradually put out of work because there are no delivery horses in Peterborough like Francis, the talking army mule.

However, Dobbin's doom is being sealed by a combination of factors. First, there is that all-important fact: "costs," which has prompted many firms to change to trucks.

The manager of one of the largest bread companies in the city which sold its horses and switched to trucks in April and May explains that "it is a little cheaper to use motor vehicles" and also a recent survey revealed that only 34 per cent of Peterborough housewives bought bread daily. As a result, the company converted its daily routes to three deliveries weekly and the horses had to go.

A horse had to be fed whether it works or not but a truck only uses gas and oil when it's running, so trucks are naturally more economical on every-other-day delivery routes.

Then, too, companies are finding it increasingly difficult to hire men who know anything about driving horses or who are willing to learn how to handle them.

On the other hand, some bread and dairy firms are still sticking to horses and find them more suitable for city routes. The manager of a dairy "which relies on horses for retail sales" points out that horses are cheaper to maintain than trucks and the employees of his firm prefer horses. The milkmen can hop out with a carrier full of milk and leave milk at several houses along the street while a well trained horse stops, starts and moves slowly along the street by itself, without having to be driven.

Another factor that is causing firms to switch from horses to trucks is distance. The manager of a dairy company which motorized its delivery service in 1946 and is well satisfied with the results put it this way:

"The limit a horse can go in a day is around 20 miles. Our routes are steadily expanding with the growth of the city," he continued, "and they are becoming so long that it is no longer good business to keep horses."

Two bread companies which are still using both, have about two trucks to every horse and find horse delivery best suited to city routes, with trucks being naturally more efficient in rural districts.

One obvious fact stands out, however, whether the firm has changed completely to trucks, is using both, or still sticking to horses. "Our salesmen are happier now that they have no horse to worry about," is the way one manager summed up the attitude of his delivery staff.

When Henry Ford rigged up a wheezing gas engine on a rubber tired buggy and threw away the shafts, he started the horse on its way to oblivion.

Tractors have all but driven horses out of the farming picture and the horse is being retired from city delivery duty.

One place where the horse is still a top attraction and as popular as ever is at the race track. Horse fanciers will still continue their interest in improving the breeds as a hobby, or to turn out better racing stock, but the long familiar sight of a plodding horse pulling a delivery wagon along a busy street will soon disappear from the urban scene.

Siamese Twins

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—Siamese twins—joined at the top of their heads—were born at the Greenwood hospital Thursday night. The twin negro boys are the sons of Maybell Flowers, 19, of Kilmichael, Miss. They were in good condition.

S.A. Team Trims Foresters, 7-2

Salvation Army turned the tables on the powerful Foresters Friday night in Civic league softball with a 7-2 in the Bowl. B'nai B'rith walloped the Police in the second game 19-1.

The Salvation Army nine romped through the Foresters in the second inning; other innings saw the teams going out, one two three. The Army team sent five runs across in their half of the second, after scoring a single in the first. They added the final run in the sixth.

Foresters two runs crossed in the third and fourth, the only times that they threatened to score.

The Police-B'nai B'rith game was fairly close until the seventh innings when the lodgers bats began to pound the ball for 11 runs. Up to then they had scored in every innings but were not that far ahead, if the Police had rallied at all.

Provide Safe

arts and crafts, and then a team game before lunch; after lunch, another check on equipment; story-telling hour; team games; a second period of arts and crafts; practice for inter-playground sports competitions.

The evenings are usually taken up by games and sports.

This routine is carried out five days a week—at Inverlea Park playground (the largest) for an average of 480 youngsters a day, and at All Saints Tot Lot (the smallest) 76. The children range in age from walking babies to 16 years.

Who would want to be a playground supervisor?

The stress in the playgrounds is placed equally on sports and arts and crafts. Softball, basketball, volley ball, paddle and tether tennis and horse-shoes are the games played.

However, one of the big events in all playground life is a track and field day when all playgrounds take part in the sports competitions. In addition, inter-playground games are played.

Swimming is also an important item at Inverlea and Hamilton playgrounds, with 406 children registered for instruction this summer.

The arts and crafts activities are as varied as the sports and special efforts are taken to make them just as interesting for kiddies.

Johnny, who is 10, may have a talent for soap carving whereas three-year-old Susan is much happier and safer making animals and people out of pipe cleaners.

Other youngsters may enjoy papier mache work, plaster casting, painting, clay modelling, making crepe paper novelties, paper sculptoring or weaving.

It's all there. All the youngsters have to do is to go to the playgrounds.

Peterborough's playground set-up is a co-operative project of the Recreation Commission and the Parks Department with the money provided by the city. With the exception of Braidwood playground, which was leased to the city by the Nashua Paper Co., and All Saints' Tot Lot, which is owned by All Saints' Anglican Church, the land is owned by the city. The Parks Department supplies the equipment and the Recreation Commission the program.

Since the Recreation Commission took over the playgrounds seven years ago, there have been quite a few changes. The main one has been the changes in location. The result is that now playgrounds are located to serve every part of the city.

This year the playgrounds are costing $6,825. Is it worth it? Just ask a Peterborough mother. Or better still, the youngsters who spend their summer days at them. They love it!

REFUGEE CHILDREN GET ORIENTATION—An estimated 1,000 persons daily are fleeing the Communist dominated sector of East Germany to avoid being conscripted into the Red "Peoples Army." Rough housing is being provided in a West Berlin camp which is still under construction and will cost close to $1,200,000 before it is completed. German Senator Otto Bach (seated centre), city refugee commissioner for West Berlin, talks to a group of children who fled with their families to the Mariendorf camp.

2 Ontario Golfers Lead Edmonton Finals

By JIM PEACOCK

EDMONTON (CP)—The Canadian women's close golf championship today rested on the performances of two young Ontario golfers in the final round of the 54-hole medal-play competition.

The diminutive, 18-year-old champion Marlene Stewart of Fonthill is favored to repeat after a two-round score of 150—eight under par. But Ontario champion Mary Gay, 20, of Kitchener pulled up on the leader yesterday for a 36-hole count of 153.

THREE UNDER PAR

Miss Gay led the field in the second round when she blasted Edmonton Mayfair's 6,655-yard layout with a three-under-par 76. Miss Stewart toured the second 18 in 78.

After the first round the champion was five strokes ahead when she burned up the course in a seven-under 72. Miss Gay had a 77 Thursday.

The two were alone in front. Rae Milligan, 18-year-old Alberta champion from Jasper, and Daintry Chisholm of Montreal tied for third with two-round 168s.

ONTARIO TEAM WINS

Ontario, resting on the scores of Misses Stewart and Gay, was an easy winner in the inter-provincial team play with a four-player aggregate of 648. Alberta was second with 696.

The host province had not placed better in team competition since an Alberta squad won the crown in 1935. Miss Milligan's second-round 82 that put her in third place had much to do with Alberta's showing and its winning of the team low-net title with 633. Ontario had a low net of 635.

British Columbia was third in team play with a gross of 698 and defending champion Quebec had 702 for fourth. Miss Stewart's 150 won her the O'Keefe trophy for individual low gross in the 36-hole team play.

YOUTH IN FRONT

Youth had a strangle-hold on top placings. Babs Davies of Vancouver, third after 18 holes, took an 87 yesterday for 169 and fifth place. Behind her was 17-year-old Saskatchewan champion Joanne Goulet of Regina with 88-82—170.

Alone at 172 was Mrs. J.C. Whitelaw of Laval-sur-le-Lac, Que., and bracketed at 173 were Mrs. J. Dagenais of Laval and Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Montreal. Mrs. D. MacDougal of Saskatoon and junior Dorothy Herbertson of Esquimalt, B.C., had 174s. So did Ann Sharpe, Miss Stewart's club mate from Fonthill.

Ada Mackenzie of Toronto settled down yesterday with an 81 for 175.

Miss Stewart's early record-shattering performance slowed when her drives shortened and her second shots lost their accuracy. She had four birdies and three bogies.

Miss Gay seldom varied, firing three birdies and parring the rest.

16 Teachers Study Conservation

A third summer course at the Department of Lands and Forests "Wilderness College" at Dorset, Lake of Bays, is presently being attended by 16 teachers from Southern Ontario. They are getting a lot from it and the small class—smaller than the department expected—have brought many small conservation problems to the outdoor classrooms for discussion and enlightenment.

One teacher who had noticed spring run-off erosion in her district wanted to know the cause and how to apply prevention measures. Another from Lake Huron area found out what could be grown on waste land to increase soil fertility. Yet a third teacher wanted to know how to interest her pupils in drawing maps and learn what the various markings meant. Those were just a portion of the many personal observation problems that came under discussion.

The small attendance at the school worked to advantage, staff members said, because more good is being done by answering individual questions than in lecturing to several hundred people.

The staff included J. L. Van Camp, general manager of the Canadian Forestry Association; Walter Creswick, of the provincial conservation branch; Dr. W. W. Gunn, secretary of the Conservation Council; N. R. Richards of the Ontario Agricultural College and C. D. Fowle, Lands and Forests biologist.

Cadets In Florida

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (CP)—A party of 26 Canadian air cadets arrived here yesterday on the last stop of a goodwill visit of Florida as guests of the United States civil air patrol. Since their arrival here last week, the party has visited summer resorts and private homes and a U.S. air base. The Canadians leave today for New York.

In Scotland

EDINBURGH, Scotland (CP)—A group of 25 Canadian air cadets wound up a five-day visit to Scotland yesterday and left for Wales to spend several days before ending their British tour in London. In Scotland they visited Balmoral Castle and nearby Crathie Church where the Royal family worships.

Arrest Pallbearers

CHICAGO (AP)—Police arrested five pallbearers yesterday after the burial of Theodore Roe, numbers racket king who was slain by shotgun blasts Monday night. Officers seeking to solve the gang-style assassination also sent out orders for arrest of 14 other men, most of them members of the old Al Capone gang. Another man was arrested for questioning.

Suggests Measures To Prevent Robbery

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Lamport said last night the first step in his plan to clean up crime in Toronto is to compile a pamphlet listing simple preventive measures which can be taken by those handling cash to reduce the opportunity for robbery.

The mayor said he believed one of the ways to stop the city's criminal element is to cut off the chief source of its finances—loose and improperly protected cash in payrolls and store tills.

The pamphlet, he said, will contain information on night bank deposits, payroll methods and security systems.

Strange Lights

NEW YORK (AP)—If you see strange lights in the sky during the next few nights, don't think they are flying saucers. More likely they will be meteor particles, also known as shooting stars. Robert R. Coles, chairman of the Hayden planetarium of the American Museum of Natural history, said last night. The display will be visible until Aug. 13.

Hospital Plan Premiums Cut

VICTORIA (CP)—British Columbia's new Social Credit government yesterday reduced premiums under the province's compulsory hospital insurance scheme by $3 a year.

Under the new rates, retroactive to July 1, families will pay $39 a year for hospital care and single persons $27.

The cabinet, however, ordered a $1-a-day charge against patients during their stay in hospital. This became effective at midnight, replacing the old "co-insurance" rates.

"Co-insurance" rates ranged up to $35 for the first 10 days in hospital. There was no extra charge after that.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett estimated the new plan will save British Columbians $2,000,000 a year.

EVA PERON, Argentina (AP)—The provincial legislature of Buenos Aires province voted today to change the name of its capital city to Eva Peron. It formerly was La Plata.

Ontario Beats B.C. Cricketers

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario batsmen flogged British Columbia bowlers yesterday in the final match of the interprovincial cricket tournament and declared their innings closed after scoring 282 runs for four wickets. At the close of play the westerners had compiled 83 runs for four wickets in reply.

The two-day match for Canadian cricket supremacy is being played at the Toronto Cricket Club.

R. Bruce-Lockhart, one of the opening batsmen, had a fine innings and at the declaration was still unbeaten with 132 runs to his credit. He scored all round the wicket, hitting 13 fours. Allan Gerard went in at the fall of the second wicket and had hit 11 boundaries in a total of 80 when he was caught by A. Stead off George Nugent's bowling.

Ken Trestrail hit up 33 before returning a ball to A. Stead and the innings was declared when Frank Harrison was bowled by P. Stead with his score at 31.

British Columbia started badly, four wickets falling for 39 runs. At this point T. L. Brierley and A. Martin came together to carry the score to 82. Brierley, one of the opening pair, scored 40 not out and Martin was unbeaten with 23 when stumps were drawn.

George Nugent gave the Ontario batsmen most trouble, taking two of the four wickets for 58 runs.

comment on was not enclosed. Will you send it along and let me take a look? I don't want you to change the Bread and Butter Pickle recipe. I worked on that for four different seasons to make it like I wanted it. If you want to use thicker slices of cucumber and whole small onions, make only a quarter of the batch to see if all the times and solutions are correct OR if they suit your taste. The whole very small onions will not require longer cooking. It must be Danish Pastry you are referring to.

DANISH PASTRY

Two and one-half cups flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¾ cup shortening, 1 beaten egg (2 tablespoons sugar are optional.) Mix and sift flour, salt and sugar (if used). Add egg and just enough ice water to bind the mixture. Chill. Roll out to ⅛ inch thickness, fit carefully into fluted small deep tart tins and bake at 425 degrees Fahr. after pricking the pastry with a fork.

Replace the peel in the Fruit Cake with additional cherries, nuts and raisins.

NOTE: Write to Mary Moore if you want help with your canning, preserving or pickling. Enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope if you want return mail. Allow at least three weeks before expecting her reply in this column if you do not enclose stamped envelope.

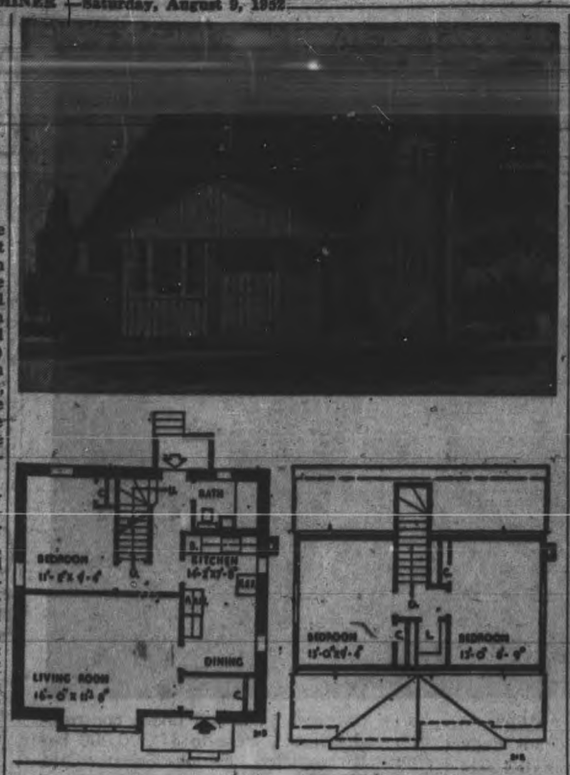
Carrot-Topped Clan On Stage At Queen Mary

The Summer Theatre at the Queen Mary auditorium next week brings to Peterborough audiences the stage version of the celebrated Clarence Day novel "Life With Father." This warm comedy of the lives, the tears and the laughter (especially laughter) of the Day family who lived on Madison Avenue, New York City, in the delightful days of the 1880's has deserved one of the longest runs in the history of the American theatre and has received interntaional acclaim.

Life with Fathers' "carrot-topped" clan are memorable. Clarence and Vinnie Day and their four sons—Clarence Jr., John, Harlan and Whitney. Amusing and memorable also are their amusing domestice problems, the wildly "practical" schemes of John and Clarence, the young businessmen, to raise the money for Clarence's much-needed suit; the entrance of romance into the household with the arival of Cousin Cora and her friend Miss Mary Cartright; Father's meeting over tea with the Rev. Dr. Lloyd.

The recent film starred Irene Dunne, William Powell, Jimmy Lydon and Elizabeth Taylor and was an extremely successful motion picture. Next week's production will star Gerry Sarracini as the often hot-tempered, sincere and devoted head of the family—husband of Vinnie, his charmingly warm, but sometimes not quite so "practical" wife. Kate Reid will be starred with Mr. Sarracini in this famous role of Vinnie.



FRANK PERRY BACK

Frank Perry has returned to the Summer Theatre to play the role of the eldest son Clarence Jr. Two local youngsters, Peter Dorrington and Rosalind Ross will be seen as the two youngest boys—Harlan and Whitney.

Patricia More will play the role of Cousin Cora, Beryl Braithwaite will be seen as young Miss Mary Cartright. The cast will also include Ron Bailey, Jerry Campbell, Barbara Hamilton, Betty Child and Peter and Peggy McCoombe. The production will be directed by Bill Needles.

A play of great detail and a large cast, Life With Father is a very ambitious production and should be one of the most outstanding successes of the Summer Theatre's past seasons.

DESIGN 315.—This five-room house was designed by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for economy without severity. The compact arrangement of the kitchen-dining-room permits a good-sized living room which is made more attractive by a bay window. The bay also adds to the exterior appearance of the house. Ample closet space is provided in the two upstairs bedrooms as well as the smaller one on the ground floor. The exterior dimensions of the house are 25' 8" by 25' 4" and the area is 1,034 square feet. The cubic measure is 14,950 cubic feet. Working drawings may be obtained from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at a minimum cost.

Research On Chimneys Shows Details To Watch

Extensive research has recently been conducted to obtain information on the effectiveness of small residential chimneys for hand-fired heating equipment. While the data obtained in these test programs still leaves many design questions unanswered, they do point the way to substantial improvements in chimney design, both in improving draft, with the resulting more efficient operation of heating appliances, and in reducing fire hazard.

CHIMNEY SUPPORT—Because of the greater mass and height of a chimney, the load on the foundation will often be much greater than on adjoining foundations. For this reason, it is important that footings be of ample size to prevent uneven settlement and the possibility of damage to the house.

CHIMNEY BASE—The base of a chimney containing only flues may be built with outside walls 4" thick. If a fireplace is included, the walls at the ends and under the back of the fireplace should be at least 8" thick.

The ash pit should have a tight fitting cast-iron clean-out door with frame of one or two courses above the finished grade, if accessible from the exterior of the house. Flue lining is not required below a point 8" under the lowest smoke pipe thimble or flue ring. At the bottom of each flue, other than fireplace flues, a soot pocket and a clean-out should be formed. The top of the clean-out door frame should not be more than one course below the bottom of the first section of flue lining. Soot pocket should extend to one course below the bottom of the door and should be plastered smooth on the inside.

FLUE WALLS AND LINING—The use of the flue lining provides a smooth interior surface, increases the efficiency of the flue and reduces fire hazards. Unlined flues quickly accumulate soot, thereby reducing the flue area. The small additional cost of the lining makes it a "must" in every home. In all cases, flue walls must be built with joints completely filled with mortar—leaky joints permit infiltration of air which can seriously hamper flue draft—and permit the passage of flame to adjacent combustible materials.

CONNECTIONS — The smoke pipe connection should enter the side of the flue through a thimble or flue ring. These rings should be built in as chimney construction progresses—and made air-tight at all points. The metal smoke pipe should not be permitted to extend past the inner face of the flue and the joint around the pipe should be not less than 18" below the ceiling and no wood or combustible materials should be placed within 6" of the thimble.

CHIMNEY TOPS AND FLASHING—Flue lining should project 4" above the chimney cup or top course of brick and be surrounded with a wash of rich portland cement mortar at least 2" thick, finish with a straight or concave slope to direct the air current upward at the top of the flue. The wash also serves to drain water from the top of the chimney. It is preferable to form the cap or top courses with sufficient projection to serve as a drip and keep the walls clean and dry. Fireclay chimney tops on pots are available for use on new or old chimneys. Care should be exercised in selecting these units, however, so that the effective area of the flue is not reduced.

ADJACENT WOODWORK — Good framing and furring members should be placed closer than 2" to the walls of a chimney, and this distance should be increased to 4" at the backs of fireplaces.

SMOKE TEST—After the chimney has been completed and the mortar thoroughly hardened, and before any appliances are connected, a smoke test should be made on each flue. This is done by building a smudge fire at the bottom of the flue and, while the smoke is flowing freely from the flue, cover the top tightly. The escape of smoke into the other flues, or through the chimney walls indicate openings that must be made tight before the chimney is accepted.

CLEANING FLUES—Chimney flues should be kept clean. An accumulation of soot may cause a chimney fire with consequent damage to the chimney itself which would permit passage of fire through the walls. The most efficient method of cleaning a chimney flue is by means of a weigh brush or bundle of rags lowered and raised from the top.

Heading In Error Not Related To News Article

Nothing in a news article relating to the winter wheat market in the Examiner on Thursday warranted a line in its heading in these words: "price too high."

Two short paragraphs in nearly half a column referred only factually to current prices as quoted here and in other local markets of Ontario.

The rest of the story referred to the incidence of ball smut in a considerable quantity of the grain recently coming to market. Something was also said about the moisture content of the wheat being relatively too high.

As this information was received from Mr. Stewart Lockington of Quaker Oats, the possibility of embarrassment to him from the virtual commentary in the heading elicits this voluntary explanation to the farmers of the district, principally to the customers of the company.

Quite obviously Mr. Lockington wished to be helpful to farmers in suggesting preventive measures against smut because its infestation can affect the farm income from an important cash crop of this winter wheat area.

There was reference to the desirability of marketing milling quality wheat. As farmers are now preparing to sow wheat for the 1953 harvest, it was suggested that the good practice of farmers provided for treatment of wheat against smut.

The advice was so well intentioned that its message of advice might have been overlooked by persons reading only the heading.

This is a matter that probably falls within the scope of public relations, and in that respect, too, the Examiner is concerned about its own relations with regular news sources that are authoritative and reliable.

The heading which might be objectionable was entirely inadvertent, and in that one line was unrelated to the news beneath it.

Fairy Tales By Telephone

VIENNA (AP)—The Austrian post office has come up with a fairy tales by telephone.

Vienna has the world's most remarkable telephone system. There's hardly anything you can't hear by dialing the right number.

Beginning Sept. 1, the post office announced, you can dial a-0-60 and hear a tape recording of a story from Hans Christian Andersen or the brothers Grimm. The stories will be changed daily.

Old standbys of the Vienna dialing system include a daily dinner recipe for perplexed housewives, bus and train information, skiing conditions, football results and a perfect a-tone for musicians.

Says Lamport Giving "False Impression"

TORONTO (CP)—Controller Louis Shannon said Friday Mayor Lamport's promise last night to "make the streets safe for innocent citizens" conjures up a startling situation which has no basis in reality."

"There is no need to unduly alarm the public," Controller Shannon said. "Actual crime figures show the police are doing an excellent job and have the situation well in hand. The streets are certainly not unsafe by any means."

Police officials declined comment on the mayor's announcement that he is opening a drive against criminals.

Steal Large Neon Sign As Employees Watch

MONTREAL (CP)—The fellow who stole the bass drum has nothing on the thieves who showed up with ladders and tools, calmly detached a large neon sign valued at $1,500 and drove away with it.

Jess Kushner complained to police that the sign had disappeared from outside his cafe. Police said the job, in broad daylight, must have taken two hours and that cafe employees and passers-by apparently thought the busy workmen were performing a legitimate task.

Truck Drops 60 Ft. Driver Only Scratched

BRANTFORD (CP)—Donald Fitzgerald, 26, of RR3, Kincardine, Friday escaped with only a scratch when the gravel truck he was driving crashed through the railing of the Cainsville Bridge on No. 2 highway plunged nearly 60 feet to the railway tracks below, flipped over and landed upright another 30 feet away.

Thrown clear when the truck struck the railway roadbed, the driver landed in a clump of trees.

Called Tightwad Billy Rose Stung To Quick

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Rose, stung to the quick at being called a tightwad, loosed a heavy barrage of sarcasm last night at his estranged wife, Eleanor Holm Rose.

He claimed that Eleanor never had it so good in her life as she did when he was picking up the tabs during their 13-year marriage.

He spoke of town houses, Chippendale furniture, antique silver, 30-room summer estates with swimming pools, coveys of servants, Cadillac cars, Hattie Carnegie gowns and round the world cruises.

And, said the wounded Billy, when she finally walked out on him, she was almost staggering beneath the weight of $163,000 in cash and government bonds.

Eleanor, former swimming star, has sued for a separation. Billy has countered with a divorce suit. Adultery is the only ground for divorce in New York.

Thursday Eleanor said the bantam Broadway producer could have settled the matter peacefully if he wasn't so close-fisted with his money.

Protest Water From Highway

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — A request from George Davey to be allowed to build a floating dock from his boat house to government dock was granted at a recent meeting of the Lakefield village council. Instructions re the building were that the present launching slip be left open and clear for the use of the public. Councillor Ken. G. Morris occupied the chair owing to the absence, through illness, of Reeve E. H. Northey. Present also were Councillors J. L. Fraser and J. R. Hull.

A letter will be sent to the Department of Highways and also to the Hon. Harold F. Scott regarding conditions existing at the summer residence of M. G. Griffith as to drainage from Highway 28 to his property. This decision was reached after a letter from Mr. Griffith had been received by the council.

Fire Chief Allen H. Clark will receive his annual grant of $75.00 for the year 1952 and former Police Chief Garnet Samis will be given vacation pay for the period from January 1, 1952, to April 30, 1952, which will amount to $16.32. A request from Mr. Samis to be allowed to sell flowers in front of Memorial Hall or at the village park was turned down by the council.

Gordon Hancock and Adam Sands of Peterborough will be engaged to evaluate the existing lots of Plan 30, Lakefield, plus the lots of Mrs. M. Wilford, B. F. Blake, and O. G. Pearson. An offer of $400 each for Lots 9 and 10 of Plan 30 was submitted in writing by Erskine Douglas, who addressed the council re their purchase.

ROSENEATH—(ENS)— "Making Rope Halters" was the topic of discussion and the highlight of the meeting of the Roseneath 4-H Calf Club held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Varcoe.

Owing to the absence of the president, Bruce Davidson, the meeting was conducted by the assistant agricultural representative Sidney McDonald.

The first part of the evening was spent in judging young milch cows.

Plans were made for the members of the club to take a part in the judging at Belleville fair. At the conclusion of the meeting the hostess served refreshments assisted by Misses Adele Varcoe and Yvonne Adams.

Hundreds Attend Funeral For George McCullagh

TORONTO (CP)—George McCullagh, who rose from newsboy to publisher of two Toronto daily newspapers and died Tuesday at 47, was buried yesterday.

His funeral at St. Paul's Anglican Church, attended by hundreds of persons from all walks of life, contrasted in its simplicity with the colorful career of the publisher of The Telegram and The Globe and Mail.

An old friend of Mr. McCullagh, Archbishop R. J. Renison, conducted the service. There was no eulogy or sermon. Mourners who found places in the crowded uptown church—hundreds were turned away—heard the formal service for the burial of the dead as contained in the Anglican book of common prayer.

The congregation sang one of Mr. McCullagh's favorite hymns, "Unto the Hills."

Active pallbearers were John Basset, Jr., Ralph Blackmore, Charles F. W. Burns, Hal J. Godber, Dr. James P. Grant, Harry G. Kimber, John C. Laidlaw, Donald A. Macintosh and J. Maitland Macintosh.

Shot Three Times In Three Years By Woman Atlanta Man's Luck Runs Out, Killed

ATLANTA (AP)—Three times in three years the same woman turned a pistol on Dan Webster Shattles. Yesterday she killed him.

The 33-year-old plant manager of an Atlanta coffee company was killed by a single pistol bullet fired into his temple as he slept on a couch at his home.

Police held his 35-year-old wife, Mrs. Mary Helen Shattles, on suspicion of murder.

The dark-haired woman calmly acknowledged the shooting to policemen who came in response to the phone call she made immediately after the killing.

Police records here and in Miami show:

In October, 1949, when she was Mrs. Helen Manus, the woman shot Shattles on a street corner here, inflicting a minor flesh wound in the side. For this, she was fined $27 on a disorderly conduct charge.

In October, 1951, Shattles reported to Miami police that the woman, by then his wife, fired two shots at him in their apartment, missing both times. He entered a charge of aggravated assault but withdrew it before trial.

Mrs. Shattles said the shooting today followed weeks of quarrelling.

Downs Starting Third Movie Career

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Johnny Downs, who was a has-been at the age of 13, is starting his third movie career at the age of 38.

Johnny is the fellow who bounced through many a musical back in the '30s. But his movie career started long before that.

"I got into pictures when I was nine," he recalled. "It was back in 1923 and I played a kid in a series of pictures Jack Dempsey was doing on the old Universal lot. I did some other films and then got into the Our Gang comedies. I was in them for a couple of years and then found myself washed up at the age of 13."

Johnny went into vaudeville with another Our Gang graduate, Mary Kornman. In the '30s he returned to pictures and was the enthusiastic sophomore in countless college pictures.

Eight years ago, the parts started getting scarce, so Downs pulled up his family and went east.

"I had one hit show on Broadway, 'Are You With It?'" he recalled, "I stayed in the east and did another show, this time a flop, and summer theatres and television."

Two years ago, he returned to Hollywood with his wife and four children. He did a daily TV show, performing new dance numbers every day.

His film career didn't ignite until a few weeks ago. He played a sailor in "Pleasure Island." Now he's playing a cavalry officer in "Column South." And many other film parts are looming.

CAPSULE REVIEW

"The World in His Arms" puts Gregory Peck at sea again, and he helms a frail script into port with his usual skill. Peck is the Boston man who has bedeviled the Russians in the Seal Islands of Alaska. Ann Blyth is the Russian countess whose fiance spirits her away from San Francisco. Peck chases her to the cold country, and an international alliance finally results. It all adds up to exciting and colorful stuff, with no strain on the thinking matter.

Ex-Queen Plans To Claim Guardianship

CAIRO, Egypt (Reuters)—Former Queen Farida, divorced wife of Farouk, plans to claim in the Islamic court the guardianship of her three daughters, now with the deposed king in exile on the Isle of Capri, it was learned here today.

She intends to plead that the young princesses will be "exposed to temptations if they continue to stay with the ex-king."

Farouk's three daughters by his first marriage are Ferial, 15, Fawzia, 13, and Fadia, 9. His second wife, Narriman, bore him a son, now seven months old, in whose favor Farouk abdicated.

FORBADE REMARRYING

Since her divorce in 1948 Farida has led a secluded life. Farouk forbade her remarrying or making any public appearances. Nonetheless she has always been greeted with cheers whenever seen at the theatre or driving through the capital.

Farouk referred to his three daughters when he gave a press conference at his home-in-exile July 31.

"My wife has chosen to be with me and so has each of my three daughters of their own free will," he said. "I want to make it clear that it is I alone who am in exile. My wife and children are free to return to Egypt."

Nancy Oakes Meets Fiancee

LOREDO, Tex. (AP)—Nancy Oakes crossed the Mexican border yesterday into the arms of the young baron she plans to marry.

Baron Ernst Lyssard Hoyningen Huene, 22, was waiting for her at the centre of the international bridge here.

The couple plan to be married around Christmas.

Miss Oakes' father, the late Sir Harry Oakes, Canadian mining millionaire, was bludgeoned to death and burned in his bedroom at his plush Bahaman estate. Her husband, Count Alfred de Marigny, was accused of slaying the wealty baronet.

Miss Oakes, then 19 testified in his defence. Her testimony helped acquit him. But their marriage was later annulled.

Plans To Stay

ISLE OF CAPRI, Italy (AP)—Former King Farouk of Egypt said yesterday he has no plans to leave this romantic isle where he honeymooned last year. The statement was in reply to reports that he planned to go somewhere else in Italy.

A CROWD of curious onlookers watch smoke pour from the third floor of a novelty store at Arnprior, following a sweeping blaze. The flames gained considerable headway before they were discovered in the upper floor of the store. At one time it was feared the fire would spread to adjacent buildings before the local volunteer firemen, under Chief William Beattie, could bring the blaze under control.

Suggest Canada Follow Independent Policy In U.N.

TORONTO (CP)—The national convention of the C.C.F. today urged that Canada "pursue an independent policy on all questions" in the United Nations.

Delegates, in prolonged debate, accused the Canadian government of following the lead of other countries, even against its own convictions.

The convention also declared that "the racist policies of the South African government negate the fundamental principles of democracy," and "condemned the Canadian government for its weak stand in the U.N. on the question of racial discrimination."

URGE INDEPENDENT POLICY

Advocacy of an "independent" Canadian policy in the U.N. was part of a resolution which reaffirmed C.C.F. support of the principles of U.N. It added:

"With all its shortcomings, U.N. remains an essential agency for building world peace. However, in recent years, its principles have too often been sacrificed to power politics."

David Lewis, of Toronto, former national secretary of the C.C.F., said he had noted 17 cases in which Canada voted in the U.N. against its "stated policy," or abstained from voting. He said the explanation always given was that "Canada is a small country."

NOT MENDICANTS

"This is utter and treacherous nonsense," said Mr. Lewis. "Of all the countries in U.N., Canada is in the best position to pursue an independent policy. We are not mendicants to Washington or satellites."

Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan said the "moral influence of Canada" is far greater, relatively, than its wealth or population.

The convention reaffirmed support of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization "as a collective security measure on regional basis within the framework of the U.N. charter, but opposes re-armament at the expense of economic and social security."

14 Plead Guilty To Various Charges

BANCROFT (ENS) — Pleas of guilty were the order of the day in Bancroft Magistrate's Court, held Wednesday. Magistrate R. C. Jackson heard fourteen persons, all of those arraigned, plead guilty.

As a result of demanding to be locked up at a recent dance, Laverne Doxsee, R.C.A.F. man, paid a fine of $10 and costs for creating a disturbance in a public place.

Phil Scott, Maynooth, paid $50 and costs on a conviction of being drunk in a public place. This was his second offence.

Two Whitney residents, Oscar Parks and Rachel Bowers, paid fines totalling $30 each plus costs, on charges of careless driving and driving without a licence, arising out of the same accident.

Wilfred Evans, Brantford, and Alec Carmichael were assessed $10 and costs each for failing to leave half of the road to an oncoming vehicle. Evans was also convicted on a charge of driving without a licence and was fined an additional $10 plus costs.

Thorold Sutherland, Carleton Place, paid fines amounting to $40 plus costs of $7 on a careless driving conviction and an infraction of the Liquor Control Act.

Fines and costs collected by the court totalled $259.00.

Called Season For Fair Right

G. A. Gillespie's experience has long ago taught him that prophets get mighty little recognition in their own neighborhoods. Realizing that slight, it may be recalled now with Belleville's fair opening next Monday, and the Peterborough Exhibition switched from August to September, that Mr. Gillespie's predictions last winter have been realized.

He was holding out rather persistently for retention of the August dates, partly on the basis of letting well enough alone, and for the rest of his argument that harvests of the last two years were a little on the late side.

This year, the secretary-manager contended, this district was likely to run into an earlier season when the crops would be off the fields by the middle of August or thereabouts, and farmers would be free to attend the Exhibition if they felt like it.

Well, it is August 8 and a great deal of the harvest work is just about completed. Wheat is cut; much of it has already been hauled to the mills and sold. True, there is a stooking job here and there on other farms. Many of the oat fields are only stubble, and the concession lines are proclaiming the clairvoyance and far-seeing of G. A. Gillespie.

No invidious note will be sounded in calling attention to the prognostication of "G. A." back when the snow was on the ground.

Possibly he might comment that some of the earnest junior directors of the Exhibition Board may some day alter their ideas of the probabilities of weather at the turn of the year when summer is dissolving into autumn. However, that is apart from the job in hand.

The facts simply are that this year's harvest is reported about ten days earlier than last year, but, otherwise, September (9th to 13th) may turn out highly favorable.

FIRST FAILURE—J. B. Kelley, 63-year-old Molena, Ga., farmer, stands with his mule in the middle of his drought-ruined cornfield and looks in vain for rain. "This is the first time in 50 years that I failed to raise corn," he lamented.

Just Mix-up Over Scrap Company Says

HAMILTON (CP)—An International Iron and Metal Company official said Friday a shipment of scrap bought in the United States and unloaded at Sorel, Que., is not bound for a United Kingdom destination.

A mix-up occurred, he said, because the company has a letter of credit from a U.K. government agency for shipping 7,000 tons of Canadian scrap to the United Kingdom, and because the U.S. scrap was unloaded at Sorel, Que., to take advantage of a cheaper shipping offer.

Government informants in Ottawa said today the government had blocked an attempt by a shipping concern to trans-ship United States cast iron scrap overseas through a Canadian port.

The International Iron and Metal official, who asked not to be named, said only Canadian scrap would be shipped to fill the 7,000-ton order in the United Kingdom.

The scrap bought in the United States, he added, was for Canadian consumption.

The company said it has a letter of credit from the British Iron and Steel Corporation for shipment of 7,000 tons of Canadian scrap.

It would be distributed to United Kingdom mills.

Bridge Breaks 2 Men Escape

BRACEBRIDGE (CP)—Two men escaped death near here last night when the truck in which they were riding fell through a narrow steel bridge into 20 feet of water.

Eldon MacDonald of Alexandria, near Ottawa, and Ken Thurston of Coboconk, were trapped under water for a full minute before they forced the truck doors open and swam to the surface of the Muskoka River.

Bracebridge is 100 miles northeast of Toronto.

Ottawa Blocks Attempt To Ship U.S. Iron Scrap

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government has blocked an attempt by a shipping concern to trans-ship United States cast iron scrap overseas through a Canadian port, government informants disclosed today.

The cargo, believed to have originated in Jersey City, N.J., now is tied up at Sorel, Que. Canadian authorities have given the shippers the choice of disposing of the cargo in Canada or returning it to the U.S.

Informants said it was an example of the close co-operation between Canada and the U.S. to prevent the use of Canada as a "back door" in the movement of American strategic goods without proper U.S. clearance.

U.K. Destination

Shippers had given the United Kingdom as destination of the scrap.

The U.S. allows scrap iron to move between the U.S. and Canada freely, but does not allow it to be shipped to other countries without an export permit.

The shippers had obtained a permit from the Canadian government to export Canadian scrap. However informants said that in this case, they apparently got an American cargo for shipment to Canada with the intentions of trans-shipping it to the U.K.

The Americans got wind of it first, informed the Canadian government which immediately acted to tie up the shipment at Sorel. Informants said the shippers declared they did not realize their planned trans-shipment was illegal.

Health Dept. Denies Grant Made To Windsor

TORONTO (CP)—Insinuation that entertainment of provincial government health officials resulted in a higher maintenance grant for the East Windsor hospital have "absolutely no foundation in fact," Health Minister Phillips of Ontario said Friday in a statement.

During my term of office, no hospital in Ontario received extra maintenance grants. All such grants are paid according to a formula backed by legislation. It is impossible for the minister or any of his officials to interfere in any way with these operating grants.

"I would like to emphasize also that even in unorganized territory where the provincial government acts in the capacities of a municipal government no extra maintenance grants were made.

Regarding capital grants for construction purposes, the health minister said the same principle was followed except in the case of those hospitals in territories which were not in organized municipalities.

"Several of these have received special capital grants but only for the reason that the provincial government was acting in two capacities—provincially and municipally," he said. "According to legislation the provincial government is legally the municipal government in unorganized territories."

Reds Requested To Explain Camp Markings

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—With United Nations planes pounding North Korean military targets in redoubled fury, the U.N. Command today asked the Communists for more information on how they mark their camps for U.N. prisoners of war.

The Reds have declared that all their prisoner camps are marked properly. But the senior U.N. truce delegate, Maj.-Gen. William K. Harrison, has told them that U.N. reconnaissance planes have been unable to find camps marked as described.

A note from Harrison asking more information was given the Communists at Panmunjom today at a 20-minute meeting of liaison officers.

In a second note Harrison rejected a Red charge that a U.N. plane flew over the Panmunjom neutral zone Aug. 4.

Armistice negotiations, in a second week-long recess, resume Monday.

Man Drowns Near Lakefield While Working In Motor Boat

Said Injured When Trying Start Motor

Friends Find Body In Weed Bed With 2 Feet of Water

Robert Barr, a 30-year-old Toronto salesman, drowned Saturday night in Katchewanooka Lake, 10 miles north of Peterborough. He is believed to have fallen and injured himself when trying to start an outboard motor as he went out alone on a fishing trip.

It is the fifth drowning this summer in Peterborough county and the 10th in the Kawartha-Haliburton district.

Coroner Dr. Herbert Young said today that the drowning was accidental and there will be no inquest.

Barr, a bachelor who lives at 65 Harshaw Ave., Toronto, was spending his holidays at the summer cottage of Jock Scott who lives at the same address in Toronto. About 8:15 p.m. Saturday he decided to go out fishing by himself.

NO SIGN OF FRIEND

Shortly after, Mr. Scott thought he heard a shout coming from the lake. He looked out the cottage window and noticed the outboard motor boat circling in a clear patch of water, 100 yards from shore, and there was no sign of Barr.

Mr. Scott and Jack Henthorne, 30-year-old Peterborough salesman, ran to Mr. Henthorne's cottage next door and went out to where the outboard motor was circling in a punt. They managed to shut the motor off and then they began probing in the water with oars in an attempt to find the missing man. Another man in a canoe joined them in the hunt.

A few minutes later they found him entangled in a weed patch, only two feet below the surface of the water. They reached down and pulled him into the punt and immediately started artificial respiration.

Dr. H. E. Gastle of Lakefield and a resuscitator crew from the Lakefield fire department were called

Mossadegh Given Unlimited Powers In An About-Face

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iran's Senate in a complete about-face today voted Premier Mohammed Mossadegh unlimited powers to govern the country for the next six months. The upper house gave final approval to the sweeping grant of power which on Saturday it had refused to adopt without further study. The Majlis (lower house) already had approved the measure, which now is law. It gives the Premier the right to govern by decree in nearly every phase of Iranian life.

The Senate, after refusing the final action on Saturday, had sent a delegation to the aged Nationalist leader asking for more information about his plans and asking also that he modify his demand for power.

REFUSED TO COMPROMISE

Mossadegh, however, refused to scale down his request for the sweeping authority, which he contended was necessary to save the near-bankrupt country from economic ruin.

The Premier got a setback yesterday, however, in the Majlis. The lower house refused his request for extension of the martial law he clamped on the country last March.

In Washington the United States is prepared to press for a radical change in Britain's policies toward Iran if it appears such a step would help avert the danger of Communist seizure of Iran from the inside. American officials, facing a new round of consultation with the British on the Iranian situation this week, appeared uncertain today whether political conditions in Iran would offer opportunity for effective action by the western powers. They were hopeful, however, that some steps could be taken fairly quickly.

Informants said that intensive talks to date have produced an understanding between Washington and London that the best bet for blocking the intrigues of the Communist Tudeh party and of others who might play into Communist hands is to strengthen, if possible, the position of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

RELAX BLOCKADE

American officials privately suggest that if Britain could find a way to relax its economic blockade of Iran and permit Iranian oil to be sold to the outside world Mossadegh's anti-communist influence in his badly split country would be reinforced.

Egypt Will Go To Polls In February

CAIRO (Reuters)—Egypt will go to the polls next February to choose a new government, Gen. Mohammed Naguib announced today.

The announcement that an election would be held early next year came from the commander-in-chief's headquarters soon after political groups had been warned to purge their ranks if they did not want the army to "deal with them in another way."

Naguib also authorized an announcement that censorship on outgoing and incoming press dispatches would be abolished from noon today. It has been in effect since May, 1948.

ARMY BEGINS MANOEUVRES

The army, dominant factor in Egyptian life since it ended the rule of King Farouk, emphasized its key position by announcing that its units will carry out manoeuvres in the Cairo area during the next week. Mechanized forces began clanking through the streets at dawn today.

The army said in its statement that it has "declared war against corruption." It also demanded immediate reforms to better the life of Egypt's poverty-stricken masse

"We are pledged to the Egyptian nation that nothing shall stand in the way of constitutional life," it said.

Egypt has been without a parliament since last January, when it was dissolved by Farouk following bloody riots in Cairo. At the time it was dominated by the Wafd party, now jockeying to regain its former position. The present emergency government is headed by Aly Maher, an independent chosen by Naguib to be premier.

Last night in a broadcast Maher heaped scorn on Egypt's political parties, and told them they must reform themselves "or disappear."

He said that as a result of party politics "our public life is cursed with sterility and paralysis."

Naguib in a communique today said the army wants legislation to limit ownership of arable land and wants the government to abstain from "indirect taxes whose burden falls on the poor more than on the rich." He cited new customs duties on tobacco, put in force last week with a resultant rise in the prices of cigarets and tobacco.

Parliament Decides To End Talal's Reign

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Jordan's Parliament decided today to end the reign of ailing King Talal and proclaim his son, Crown Prince Hussein, monarch.

Both Houses of Parliament convened to hear reports about the King's health. The government recommended that Talal's reign be ended.

Talal has been reported mentally ailing.

Winters Tells Forest Care

OTTAWA (CP)—Resources Minister Winters today said Canada's interest in perpetuating and properly managing her forest resources is based on economic considerations "of the greatest importance."

In an address prepared for delivery at the opening of the sixth British commonwealth forestry conference, Mr. Winters said Canada has made great strides since the second conference met here in 1923.

But, he said, "we have some distance to go before our over-all forest management will be satisfactory and the protection of our forests against fire and other natural enemies will be adequate."

Representatives of 18 Commonwealth countries are attending the conference, designed to exchange information and technical data on forest resources and products.

During the conference, delegates will visit Ontario and Quebec forest operations, resuming sessions here early in September. Later, some delegates will tour Western Canada.

Refugee Says Hvasta Escaped In January

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—A Czech refugee said today John Hvasta escaped with him and four other prisoners last Jan. 2 from a Czech prison where Hvasta, an American, was serving a 10-year sentence as a spy.

The refugee's story supported an official Czech announcement of Aug. 8 that Hvasta escaped Jan. 2 and that his whereabouts since are unknown.

The story of the escape was told in an interview by Jaroslav Burec.

Two Missing In Freak Flood

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—A mother and her small son were missing today in the wake of a freak summer storm and flash flood that made boiling rivers of two small creeks in the Wenas valley 15 miles north of here. Four persons were injured.

Deputy Sheriff Gene Pomeroy said he was told a wall of water 50-75 feet high rolled down Wenas Creek, dislodging houses, uprooting trees and flooding low-lying farmland as a rain of near-cloudburst proportions poured down Wenas Valley.

Missing were Mrs. Norman Winchell, 37, and her son, Floyd, 5, occupants of one of the seven houses uprooted and tossed into the flooding creeks.

Allan Woodrow President Of Liberals

OTTAWA (CP)—Allan L. Woodrow of Toronto, honorary treasurer of the National Liberal Federation of Canada, has been appointed its acting president on a temporary basis.

H.E. Kidd, general secretary of the federation, announced today that Mr. Woodrow will hold office until the advisory council meets Oct. 27-28 when new officers will be elected.

Mr. Woodrow succeeds the late Senator J. Gordon Fogo who died suddenly at Murray Bay, Que., July 6.

HONORARY TREASURER

Mr. Woodrow has been honorary treasurer of the Liberal federation since 1946 and was chairman of the finance committee of the 1948 national Liberal convention.

He is a well-known bank executive and retired from the Bank of Nova Scotia after extensive experience managing branches in the larger centres of the United States, the Maritimes, Quebec and Ontario.

Since his retirement he has been intimately associated with Liberal party affairs as a member of the national executive committee.

Thieves Get Pen From Alexander

LONDON (Reuters)—Thieves got away with a fountain pen given to Earl Alexander by Dwight Eisenhower when they raided the Defence Minister's apartment during the week-end, it was disclosed today.

The former Governor-General of Canada spent part of today checking to see if they stole any medals, orders or souvenirs he brought back with him from Canada.

He discovered the robbery when he returned to his apartment in exclusive Belgrave Place, in the west end, last night after a week-end in the country.

Detectives today photographed the disordered rooms and looked for fingerprints. They believe the thief or thieves entered the apartment with a skeleton key.

Anthony Eden To Wed

LONDON (Reuters)—Foreign secretary Anthony Eden will soon marry Miss Clarissa Spencer-Churchill, niece of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, the Foreign Office announced today.

Schuman Officials Begin Work on Plan

LUXEMBOURG (AP)—The Schuman Plan's nine-man high authority began work today on a program to give Western Europe both guns and butter, and perhaps eventual political unity as well. The executive arm of the six-nation coal-steel pool held its first working session under its chairman, French economic expert Jean Monnet, the plan's chief architect. The authority will meet here regularly for the time being, pending French-German negotiations which may allow for internationalization of the Saar and location of all the Schuman Plan activities there.

Monnet and his eight colleagues from West Germany, Italy, The Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg and France took office yesterday.

REMOVE BARRIERS

In his "inaugural address" as chairman, Monnet said the authority would quickly remove the barriers to free trade of steel and coal throughout the six nations, thus paving the way to increased production and higher living standards.

Western statesmen already have hailed the Schuman organization, named for French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman who first conceived it, as the initial step toward a political federation of Western Europe.

The authority expects to have the common coal-steel market operating in about eight months.

Monnet did not mention defence needs specifically but the guns-and-butter promise was implied in his statement that the pool's operations would contribute both to Europe's prosperity and peace.

MASS PRODUCTION

With a free, single market, Monnet said, "it will be possible to develop mass production, which is the only way to obtain lower costs, an expanded market and greater production."

The six-nation area now produces about 40,000,000 tons of steel and 230,000,000 tons of coal a year.

Monnet pledged quick action to dovetail the British steel and coal industry with the continental community, an item of top priority for the authority.

The nine members of the executive severed all official connection with their own governments and with any separate coal and steel concerns. They will have full diplomatic status. Their tax-free salaries will be around $10,000 or $12,000 a year.

BUSINESS BAD

MONTREAL—(CP)—Shipowners said today the bottom "has fallen out of the grain-shipping business," with the rate the lowest in eight or nine years.

2 Fishermen See "Monster"

PALMER RAPIDS, Ont. (CP)—Residents of Conway's Marsh have reported seeing a 10-foot-long "sea monster" which has a black body and the face of an ugly dog.

Fred Maschy and his two sons said they were fishing before sunrise when they heard a strange hissing sound. When they turned on their flashlight to investigate they spotted the monster cavorting on the water surface.

They said it circled their boat, made several menacing gestures and disappeared.

They said the thing had a body about two feet thick but they couldn't see if it had legs.

Palmer Rapids is about 82 miles north of Belleville.

Row Over 2 Sailors May Topple Jap Government

TOKYO (Reuters)—The Japanese government is in a tight spot today with speculation mounting that it may even be toppled from office—because two British sailors were jailed for stealing $4 from a taxi driver and driving off in his cab. The two were sentenced to 2½-year jail terms by a Japanese court Aug. 5. Since then British and American diplomats have steadily increased pressure for the release of the men contending they should have been tried by British military authorities.

Britain sent an official protest note last week claiming the sentence was far too severe.

The western protests are thought to be backed by the Japanese Foreign Affairs Department which feels that it is stupid to jeopardize the country's foreign relations for the sake of $4.

But the Justice Department contends that Japanese law courts should be outside the intervention of foreign powers, and a split has developed in Premier Shigeru Yoshida's cabinet, high sources say.

An authoritative source said today that the American ambassador Robert Murphy, on instructions from Washington, had told Yoshida that the U.S. fully supported the British demand for the men's release.

SEEK JURISDICTION

Since the Japanese peace treaty was signed earlier this year only American forces have jurisdiction over their own troops in civil cases — other troops must go before a Japanese court. Negotiations have been going on over this since Japan secured her independence.

Japanese newspapers have been headlining the case since it first began. Public opinion has mounted to the point now where it would be political suicide for Yoshida to try to release the Englishmen.

A possible solution may lie in appeals entered by the sailors' lawyers today. If the appeal court freed the men it would save face for Yoshida and presumably satisfy the British.

Bomb Chemical Plant Into Mass Of Flames

SEOUL (AP)—Allied fighter-bombers today turned a big North Korean chemical plant into a mass of raging flames in a concentrated attack with high explosives and fire bombs.

The Fifth Air Force said 150 planes heaped destruction on the chemical plant near Namsok, which is about 30 miles northwest of the battered east coast port of Wonsan.

Returning pilots said great clouds of black smoke hung over the building area, which covers a mountain side.

Grade XIII examination results of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School will be found today on page 15 while the complete results for all grades for the students of St. Peter's High School are on page 16.

Ridgway Sees Weaknesses In West's Buildup

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today the threat of war is still as great as ever, and there are serious weaknesses in the west's buildup to meet this threat.

The supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe told a press conference there is doubt whether the western Allies can reach their 1952 goal of 50 divisions—25 active and 25 in reserve—and 4,000 planes.

Ridgway also said he favors two year's military service — something European nations are to discuss in Paris tomorrow amid indications they will not adopt it.

PROTEST DRAFT TERM

Belgium has already been hit by strikes protesting her two-year draft term.

The most serious deficiency to S.H.A.P.E. buildup in the logistic field.

The problem of building warehouses, troop installations and air fields is broad and complex, he said, and "I haven't had time to go into the almost innumerable details of that program."

"There is no reliable evidence known to me," he said, "that the threat of aggression against the west had diminished. In preparing the defence against such a threat, he said, there were "serious inadequacies in several vital categories," but all the S.H.A.P.E. organization is trying its best to meet these deficiencies.

Warns Fighting Not Ended Yet

TOKYO (CP)—Maj.-Gen. A. J. H. Cassels, commander of the Commonwealth Division, yesterday warned "the people at home" against being too complacent about the fighting in Korea.

United Nations ground forces are having a tough time, he told a press conference.

"People at home are apt to think there is very little happening in this war," he added. "But in fact very few—if any—days go by without us having a casualty."

Cassels reported that the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and the King's Own Scottish Borderers repulsed enemy attacks in March and April. The Princess Patricias inflicted "very considerable losses" on the enemy and suffered few themselves.

Since then there have been no major attacks. But the Canadians and the rest of their Commonwealth forces have maintained strong patrols and "completely dominated no-man's land."

U.N. Planes Pound Chinese Holding Hill

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Chinese Communists today dug in on Siberia hill on the Korean western front under a terrific day-long assault by U.N. fighter-bombers and pressure from U.S. marines.

The low, shell-scarred knob east of the Panmunjom truce site has exchanged hands five times in two days. The Reds first seized it from First Marine Division troops before dawn Saturday.

A U.S. eighth army night communique said fighting continued today for the lonely outpost.

U.N. planes flew more than 150 sorties against the hill with flaming machine-gun fire.

Fighting has closed to hand-to-hand battles several times since the Reds first captured the hill. The chinese last recaptured it at 5 a.m. today.

The temperature rose to 104 degrees at times during the furious fighting.

Treasure Hunters Surprised

Find Dead Mountain Farmer Hid Wealth Worth $68,000

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—The search of an isolated home occupied by a wealthy man—who even in death was armed with a gun and a fierce pack of dogs—is almost completed today but unsolved are the questions:

Why did Samuel Jackson King live in such conditions while worth at least $68,000? and how did he save so much?

Treasure hunters who have probed the debris-littered mountain farmhouse where King lived have come up with nearly $18,000 in negotiable bonds, old currency, gold and silver coins in addition to bank books, safe deposit vault keys and real estate deeds indicating an estate worth approximately $50,000. These were tucked away in such places as a sofa, cookie jar and a woman's corset.

The whole thing started 10 days ago when 73-year-old King was found dead in a field on his farm. Nearby lay King's favorite dog, "Israel." Death was apparently caused by a heart attack.

Then Sheriff Karl I. Hare and his deputies went to the house.

Inside was an old sofa where "Israel" apparently slept. When it was moved, out dropped a false bottom revealing a sheaf of $1,000 bonds, with not a coupon clipped since 1934. Some $430 in $20 and $10 gold coins were found in a canvas sack. A rumpled roll of old large-sized currency contained hundreds of dollars in bills ranging up to $50.

Throughout the house officers found tin cans and glass jars filled with coins.

One man found a woman's corset and was about to throw it away when a wallet dropped from a secret pocket stitched in the lining. It contained $130 in bills.

The corset is believed to have been the property of King's sister, Amanda, who died 18 years ago.

Two wills were discovered. The most recent gave the farm and everything on it to a neighbor, Earl Gray, who worked for years as a part-time hired hand for King.

Truck Goes Over Embankment

Middleweight Champion Dave Sands Dies

NEWCASTLE, Australia (CP)—Dave Sands, British Empire middleweight champion, died in hospital here tonight from injuries he received in a truck accident.

Sands, accompanied by his boxing brother, Alfie, was driving a five-ton truck to a timber camp to condition himself for scheduled fights. The truck slid over a road embankment.

Sands, with head and internal injuries, was taken to hospital. He died about three hours after being admitted.

HELD FOUR TITLES

The 26-year-old Sands was rated by world experts as the greatest fighter to emerge from the Australian ring in nearly 40 years. He held the middleweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight titles of his country. He won the British Empire middleweight championship by knocking out Dick Turpin in the first round Sept. 6, 1949.

He won his only two bouts in the United States, winning decisions against middleweights Carl (Bobo) Olson in Chicago and Henry Brimm in Buffalo last October.

Sands often fought in England, Singapore and the Philippines. After his two fights in the U.S. he was beaten in London by Yolane Pompee, a Trinidad light heavy when giving away considerable poundage.

FAMILY OF FIGHTERS

Sands was one of a family of fighting brothers, all of whom won varying degrees of fight fame in Australia.

They were aborigines and were born near Kempsey, a dairy farm district about 300 miles north of Sydney. The family moved to Newcastle, an industrial and coal mining city, where the Sands boys learned to use their fists among the rough and tough boys of the mines, steel mills and waterfront.

The elder boys' ring earnings helped young Dave Sands through school and boxing lessons. He turned professional in 1943 at the age of 17. Up to the end of last year, Sands had 100 fights. He won 89 of them—58 by knockouts—lost eight and drew one, with two fights declared "no contest."

This year, he had been relatively inactive after his return to Australia from England, and had been unimpressive in the few fights he had, though winning them.

SOUGHT SUGAR'S CROWN

Promoters were trying to arrange a match for Sands against world title holder Sugar Ray Robinson in Sydney, and against Randy Turpin in London for Turpin's British Empire lightheavyweight title when death ended the plans.

In the current world rankings of Ring Magazine, Sands was third in line for a crack at Robinson's world middleweight title, behind Turpin and Eugene Hairston.

Nat Fleischer, editor of the Ring Magazine, when told in New York of Sands' death, said:

Boxing has lost one of its really great fighters.

"He was the best Australian boxer we have had since the days of Les Darcy."

Funeral Rites In Argentine For Eva Peron

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina yesterday accorded its highest funeral honors to Eva Peron, wife of President Peron, who died 15 days ago at the heights of her political career.

Peron himself and representatives of the Argentine congress, armed forces, and the diplomatic corps joined in an unprecedented country-wide tribute. Two of the strongest organizations with which Mrs. Peron was identified — the General Confederation of Labor (C.G.T.) and the Evt Peron foundation—also took a prominent part in the services.

Temporary burial followed in the new C.G.T. palace, symbolizing Mrs. Peron's intimate ties with the government-supported labor organization which claims a third of the country's population in its membership. Final burial will be in a still-to-be-constructed national monument where Mrs. Peron's embalmed body will be permanently displayed.

A prelate of the Roman Catholic Church, Santiago Luis Cardinal Copello, Archbishop of Buenos Aires, pronounced the blessing before the bier.

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT'S newest building is the $8,000,000 structure housing the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The 1,350 employees in the facts-and-figures factory at Ottawa will have available piped-in music, air-raid shelters, shower-baths, and the country's biggest cafeteria.

Blind Comedian Dies Suddenly

NEW YORK (AP)—Michael (Mike) Sachs, 62, who continued as a burlesque comedian for seven and a half years after going totally blind, died of a stroke early today.

His wife, who had been his stage partner for 19 years, said he was "so very happy" last night at the thought that they were going to play the season's opening Aug. 23 at the Old Howard, Boston burlesque house.

He lost the sight of his right eye when a blank cartridge exploded while hes was at play. He lost the sight of the other eye in 1945.

His wife, the former Alice Kennedy, said the veteran of a half century on the stage "never made a false step" while playing his comic burlesque roles in his years of blindness. He knew the stages well, and she gave him cues.

They were married in June, 1951.

RARE VISITORS

Two golden eagles soaring across fields north of Nassau were spotted by Lakefield-bound motorists Sunday afternoon. The two appear black when in flight, and have an enormous wing spread. They seem to glide through the air without any flapping of wings, like two giant gliders without motors.

HEAVY ACCIDENT TOLL

A heavy accident toll was recorded this weekend in the Kawartha - Haliburton district. Robert Barr, 30-year-old Toronto salesman, was drowned in Katchewanooka Lake. Fifteen people were injured in motor vehicle accidents—11 of them requiring hospital treatment either in Lindsay or Peterborough. And a farmer was hospitalized after being crushed between a wagon and a tractor in Otonabee township.

A DATE IN HISTORY

A convenient date in local history stood out in the brief story of the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway station in Ashburnham. In the fall of 1854, not 1884 a digital error on Saturday, the first train arrived in Peterborough and at the station between Hunter and Robinson Streets, east of Mark St. The charter for that railway was granted by parliament during the sessions of 1852-53.

The link that had to come

The two main roads to the solution of life's problems, divergent though they may have seemed to be, are the way of Science and the way of Religion.

These two paths converge in Christian Science. Today the rational thinker finds logic, supported by proof, in the religious thinker's deep conviction of a primal cause, or intelligence, called God.

Science and religion can now agree, for through the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, the actual Science of Christianity has been revealed.

This great book shows, through reason and revelation, the solution to problems of health, supply, or of any other kind. It may be read or obtained at all Christian Science Reading Rooms. The coupon is also for your use.

Car Tire Bursts, 2 Hurt in Crash

A flat tire is believed to have sent a car skidding out of control on wet pavement early Sunday morning on Highway 7 between Fowler's Corners and Omemee.

Both Nick Chitlick, 22, of Oshawa, driver of the car and Miss Birne Klein, 19, 546 Downie St., were injured when the car clipped off two guard posts at the bottom of a hill and overturned in the ditch.

Chitlick collapsed after freeing himself from the badly wrecked car and both he and Miss Klein were taken by ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital.

The result of X-rays taken to determine the extent of Chitlick's head, chest and other internal injuries is not yet known, but hospital authorities said today he rested comfortably during the night.

Miss Klein was treated for shock, cuts and bruises and allowed to return home Sunday.

Toronto Woman Marries Tobacco Heir In Georgia

SAPELO ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—Richard J. Reynolds Jr., and his third wife, an attractive 33-year-old Canadian divorcee, made plans today for a world cruise on the tobacco heir's newest yacht. Reynolds, 47, and Mrs. Muriel Greenough of Toronto were married Friday night in his air-conditioned, 60-room mansion here. It was her third marriage also.

The ceremony, attended only by estate employees and three of Reynolds' friends, was performed by a Methodist minister from the mainland in a formal garden adjoining a gold-plated tile indoor swimming pool.

Reynolds was divorced Thursday by his second wife, Marianne O'Brien Reynolds, at Miami. She was given custody of their two sons and a $3,000,000 settlement.

The tobacco heir yesterday accompanied his bride on a boat tour of this private island, one of three famous "golden isles" of the area which he owns. It is 12 miles long and three miles wide and is accessible only by plane or boat.

Friends said the couple will fly to London early next month for the launching of Reynolds' newest yacht, which will take them on their worldwide cruise.

The new Mrs. Reynolds was formerly married to H. Allison Laurence of Santa Barbara, Calif., and to Richard D. A. Greenough, New York correspondent of the London Daily Mail.

British M.P May Visit Peterborough

Harman Nicholls, M.P. for Peterborough, England, is likely to visit this city early in September, according to information received by Mayor Waddell in a letter Friday from City Auditor Edward Humpage.

Mr. and Mrs. Humpage are sailing from Liverpool Tuesday, Aug. 12, after a holiday visit in the Old Country.

Mr. Nicholls is parliamentary secretary to the Postmaster General.

"He is coming to Canada at the latter part of August with a British parliamentary delegation for a conference at Ottawa, and to look over a number of Canadian ideas," Mr. Humpage wrote last Wednesday from Tipton, Staffordshire.

WANTS VISIT

"While their itinerary is a very full one, and takes them from coast to coast, they will be in Ottawa for a week's conference. Mr. Nicholls has expressed a strong desire to visit Peterborough for a few hours because he has heard so much about us. . . . While he has to take a considerable part in the conference discussion, he thought that by getting a car in Ottawa he could drive to Peterborough, possibly stay over night, and get back to Ottawa next day.

"I thought it would be a good idea to let you know this, and if you desire him to run down to Peterborough from Ottawa that you could send him an invitation direct from yourself as Mayor so that he would receive it before leaving England.

"Mr. Nicholls also expresses the wish to met the Member of Parliament for Peterborough, Canada. He may meet Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., in Ottawa, but you could also notify him and Harold Scott.

"The conference begins about Sept. 7, and Mr. Nicholls probably could make Peterborough by the 10th or thereabouts. We had tea with them one afternoon, and yesterday Mrs. Nicholls was driving to Peterborough and took us along.

"In Peterborough we met Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Chamberlain, Alderman and Mrs. Martin, the new Mayor and Clerk, and they gave us quite a fine welcome. They enquired about yourself and Mrs. Waddell, Max Swanston and others whom they met here last October. It was a most enjoyable day."

Mr. Humpage mentioned an industrial firm in the Midlands, with whom Mr. W. Bernie, industrial commissioner, has been in correspondence. On a previous trip to England, Mr. Humpage had formed a similar connection with another manufacturing company, and for a time it appeared that they might locate here.

Police Leave Loading Dock

LEAMINGTON (CP)—Police were withdrawn today from the government dock here as the Canada steamship lines freighter Winnipeg loaded H.J. Heinz Company of Canada produce.

The Heinz plant here has been strikebound since Friday when 1,000 employees, members of the United Packinghouse Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) walked off their jobs to back demands in a wage dispute. Some 100 Heinz employees at Wallaceburg, Ont., 15 miles northwest of Chatham, also are on strike.

Some 25 provincial Police constables patrolled the dock yesterday as the C.S.L. freighter Selkirk loaded cargo, some of it Heinz produce. Municipal officials said protection was asked because it was thought the strikers might try to interfere with the loading.

The Heinz employees are asking a 21-cent increase on an hourly basic rate of 99 cents and the company checkoff of union dues. The company has offered 11 cents.

Mossadegh Given

Furthermore, Mossadegh is such an unpredictable person and the forces around him are so explosive that authorities said it is difficult to tell whether any effective steps could be taken. Two events contributed to this latest outburst of worry over the future of Iran:

1. On Friday the British government received a proposal from Mossadegh to reopen negotiations for a settlement of the British-Iranian oil dispute. But the conditions were described by authorities here as wholly unacceptable from either the British or the American viewpoint.

SUGGEST NEW PROPOSAL

American officials indicated they would suggest to the British in consultations here this week that while rejecting Mossadegh's offer the British government should make some counter-proposal or otherwise seek to get negotiations started up again.

and artificial respiration was used until Barr was declared dead at 10.30 p.m.

Barr had received cuts on his face and he also sustained body bruises. Dr. Young discounted the likelihood of him being struck by the propeller. Instead he thought that Barr lost his balance when the motor started up suddenly and he fell forward against it, striking his face.

He was only in the water 15 minutes.

Friends said that Barr was an expert swimmer and he must have been temporarily stunned by a blow; otherwise he could easily have swum to shore.

Barr was born in Scotland. Before he came to Toronto three years ago he lived in Montreal.

The funeral will be 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Hendren funeral home, and burial will be in Lakefield cemetery.

20 Fatalities Total For Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

There were 20 accidental deaths reported in Eastern Canada this week-end.

A Canadian Press survey early today showed 14 persons killed in Ontario. Rain added to driving hazards. Slippery roads and poor visibility brought the number of traffic deaths to eight. Three persons were drowned, two were fatally injured in falls and a 16-month-old boy was drowned when he tumbled into a tub of water in his farm home.

Quebec counted five fatal accidents, one in traffic and three persons from drowning. A Montreal man was killed when he fell on the pavement near his home.

A woman was killed in a motor car collision in Nova Scotia.

Last week-end—Civic Holiday—28 persons were killed in the six eastern provinces.

40th Trent River Regatta Attracts Keen Competition

TRENT RIVER (ENS). — The 40th annual regatta to be held in this community attracted crowds of spectators and contestants to the grounds on Saturday.

The event was originally scheduled to take place on Monday last, but was rained out, and resulted in a smaller attendance than usual on the postponed date. Gate receipts were about 70 per cent of last year.

The weatherman threatened to foul up the affair the second time but relented finally and allowed the sun to peek through the overcast sky at intermittent intervals throughout the afternoon.

The regatta each year attracts crowds that overflow the tiny summer resort community. For the past six years, the affair has been sponsored by the Trent River Community Club, and proceeds help toward the upkeep of the community hall. Previously, the regatta was sponsored by various organizations but when the hall was purchased a club was formed and it was then decided that this group should look after the annual event. President of the Club is Melville Wight of Trent River, and Mrs. Harry Mann is secretary-treasurer.

KEEN COMPETITION

Competition was keener in all the events, especially the speed boat races. Faster boats and a larger card of entries thrilled the crowd, estimated at more than 1,000 persons.

An added attraction this year was a display of water skiing by the Chemong Lake Water Ski Club. This group thrilled the audience with their display of skill on the water skis, and one number, a pyramid consisting of Doug. Laird and Terry Hill, with Trevor Mitchell on their shoulders, brought rounds of applause from the spectators. Doug Laird is president of the club.

Judges of the various events were all persons from outside the district. They were Albert Allmark of Toronto, Victor Horwitz of Cleveland, Ohio, and Al Pink of Peterborough.

The feature attraction of the day was the Peterborough Ornamental Swimmers. They amazed the onlookers with their skill in the water, and many of their intricate formations drew spontaneous ovations from the crowd. The crowd seemed to particularly appreciate the show put on by the junior girls of the group ranging in age from nine to 11 years. This group also included numbers by two very junior members of the group; Margaret Anne Murdiff, age 6, and Janice Currie, age 5.

Mrs. Craig Nelson of Campbellford was the lucky winner of a mix master. She held the winning ticket in the draw.

OLDEST SPECTATOR

Mrs. M. Buchanan of Clayton, Sask., was the oldest person on the grounds on Saturday. She received a lawn chair and the good wishes of the crowd. She is 83.

Three lucky gate prizes were also distributed. Mrs. F. Ruttan of Trent River received first prize; Mrs. Harold Agnew of Havelock received second, and Mrs. Donald Carnrite of Trent River took third. All were grocery prizes.

Gary McArthur of Peterborough outswam a number of other contestants in a 'duck race.' Gary captured a duck that had been turned loose in the water, and brought him to shore. He got a prize for his efforts too—the duck.

Beverley Dunsford of Trent River had a similar experience. She captured an elusive watermelon and succeeded in getting it to shore first. Her prize was the watermelon.

Following is a list of the results in the various competitions throughout the afternoon.

Boys' swmiming race, 12 years and under—1 Gary McArthur, Peterborough; 2 Bob McLaughlin, Trent River. Boys' swimming race, 15 years and under—1 Douglas Ruttan, Trent River; 2 Paul McNeely, Norwood.

Speedsters Churn Chemong Lake In Motor Regatta

BRIDGENORTH (ENS).—Chemong Lake's annual outboard motor regatta held Sunday was a success in spite of the drizzling rain that fell intermittently most of the day.

The regatta was sponsored by the Chemong Lake Power Club. The afternon's events started shortly after 2 p.m. and continued until nearly 6.30 in the evening.

All the racing events started from and were run off in front of the boat livery, with Stewart Brown and Barry Travisse both of Peterborough acting as emcees.

One of the highlights of the program was a demonstration of synchronized swimming by the Peterborough junior and senior Ornamental Swimming Clubs. Another feature of the afternoon's events was the ski jumping and other outstanding aquabatic antics performed by members of the Chemong Lake Water Ski Club.

Motor trouble prevented Charlie Abbott of Bridgenorth from opening up his Meteor II to its top speed of 75 miles an hour.

EIGHT CLASSES

There were eight different classes of boats, ranging from five to 25 horsepower which took part in the power racing events. The only near mishap was when Barry Foster of Toronto almost lost his motor during one of the races, but he managed to hold on to it.

Decorate Graves Of Soldier Dead

MARMORA (ENS) — Showers marred the attendance of civilians at the annual decoration day ceremonies held by Marmora Branch No. 23, Canadian Legion, on Sunday afternoon, but, augmented by comrades of the Campbellford and Frankford branches and members of the Ladies' Auxiliaries, the Legionnaires took part in a parade to the town hall and thence to the two local cemeteries and Memorial Hall. The parade was in charge of Zone Commander Capt. Percy Gray.

The color party, in which colors of Campbellford Branch No. 103 and its Ladies' Auxiliary, and Frankford Branch, besides those of Marmora Branch No. 237 were carried, was in charge of Comrade Albert Bartlett.

Hastings and Prince Edward Trumpet Band, under Lieut. Armund Duffy, led the parade. Trumpeter Glenn Cornell sounded Last Post and Reveille at each cemetery, as well as at the Memorial Hall.

The service at the town hall was conducted by W. J. Cottrell, chaplain of the Marmora Branch. Mrs. A. F. Fraser was pianist.

The Rev. Kenneth J. Crawford, B.A., B.D., gave the address, referring to St. Paul's observations of the Roman soldier, his injunctions to the Christian soldiers and his (Paul's) own personal exemplification of the life of a true soldier. Prayers were offered by Canon J. M. Brownlie. The benediction was pronounced by Canon Brownlie.

At the Sacred Heart cemetery, Rev. Father J. A. O'Neill read the list of veterans buried there and in other cemeteries in Canada and overseas. Flowers were deposited by Legionnaires around a white wooden cross. A comrade was placed at each grave where a special marker had been placed. Father O'Neill, in his address, paid tribute to the Legion for carrying out this annual ceremony and to the thought in each comrade's heart as he remembered the sacrifices he had shared with those gone before.

At the Protestant cemetery, the same form of decoration was followed, the chaplain reading the list of departed comrades.

At the Memorial Hall, a poppy wreath was laid before the memorial tablets by Comrade Stanley Kerr, president of the Marmora Branch.

Upon returning to the Legion Hall, those taking part in the parade were thanked by Zone Commander Gray.

"COOL CONTROL" POINTS ON THE SERVICE

1 Make sure ball is thrown up in a straight line. This is essential for control and stroke power. Ball should be thrown high enough to allow fully extended swing. Body stands sideways to net, shoulders turned in direction of serve.

2 To reach maximum height for downsweep, raise body on left toe. Extra height allows you to hit down on ball instead of hitting out flatly. Body-weight leans forward as ball is hit and follow-through begins, letting arm and racket come down across body.

3 Practise the throw. Throwing too high or too low may rob your shot of proper impact. Shots thrown too high are often hit on the wood or top of strings; shots thrown too low are usually hit on top of ball and go into net. Practise regularly for control.

Yes, it's control that counts, in tennis as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Change The Name Of Our Money?

Professor D. C. Masters of Bishops College, makes a suggestive comment in his article of Canadian coinage in the Canadian Historical Review. "It seems unfortunate in the long run that the Canadian unit of currency, like the American, was called a dollar rather than a Royal or something else. It tended to create the impression that the two should normally be exchanged at par, and that, if the Canadian dollar is at a discount, it is, in some peculiar way, an indication that Canada is an inferior country to the United States." The fact that the Canadian dollar is now at a premium to the American dollar (making Canada a superior country to the U.S.A.?) does not basically change the professor's criticism. If Canada did have its own currency names, a remarkable psychological change might result—in both Canadian and American minds—and even fiscal policy might benefit.

• • •

Not only is our currency called by the same name as American (with the exception of the American 'dime', although even our ten-cent piece is colloquially called a dime); also our coins and bills are the same size. For years Canada had a small five-cent piece, but it too, was altered to conform with the American nickel. Really, our only individual distinction is the two-dollar bill. The Americans have a two, but it is so unpopular—some sort of jinx seems to attach to it—as to be virtually out of currency.

• • •

With our own coinage—Royals, Beavers, Canucks, Jusque Mares—whatever names we would use to replace dollars and cents—both we and the Americans would know that Canadian money was Canadian and not a poor brother or upstart rich cousin of American money. There would be little fuss about the rate of exchange in shops; for Americans would change their money at the border or at their own banks before they came to Canada, as they do now when they go to any other foreign country. Think, too, how strong a tourist attraction distinctive Canadian coins and bills would be.

• • •

One of the most memorable aspects of foreign travel, and certainly a subject of conversation when the traveller gets back home, is the curiosity of the money. ("Oh! the funny money, my dear!") Tourists even bring samples of it back, to display proudly to neighbours and family, permanent and authentic souvenirs of the trip. Coinage of our own would be splendid advertising abroad, particularly in the U.S.A. "Canadian price of this article, ten Royals" the little note at the bottom of the American firm's advertisement would read. That would call attention to Canada more vividly than a big maple leaf stuck in the middle of the American advertisement. Certainly opinion abroad would change about Canada's status, we would no longer be confused in French, Czech, Hindu or Chinese minds with the United States and be thought of as just another American state.

• • •

Perhaps the chief advantage of all, should we change both our coinage denomination and sizes, would be cultural. Canadian money would not fit automatic American soft drink, gum, gambling and pin-game machines. American magazines could not conveniently use the same price tag, or overprint the usual lower one on their covers. And every time a Canadian spent a Royal in the U.S. he would be fully conscious that he was sending good Canadian money after American—and he would know the cost of it.

• • •

This matter warrants study and investigation, and we are thankful to Professor Masters for calling attention to it. We perfectly seriously suggest that Ottawa financial, social welfare and external affairs authorities give it close study. A Canadian decimal system of currency by any other name than American would, we suspect, smell sweeter to both Canadians and Americans.

Unity Moves In U.S. Democratic Party

The most important political development of last week in the United States was the manner in which the Democratic Party's position was strengthened. The two factors contributing most to this were the "declaration of independence" by Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and the indications that the (officially, will support Mr. Stevenson's candidacy. The former undoubtedly helped to produce the latter, and the net result is that General Eisenhower, the Republican candidate, will very probably be facing far stiffer competition than was considered likely a little more than a week ago.

President Truman had outlined his ideas about the Democratic campaign—a whistle-stop speaking tour, not to begin until September, with the organization he established left intact, and Frank McKinney to remain as national chairman and to look after such vital matters as collecting funds for the campaign. Governor Stevenson, however, politely but firmly declined to go along with this plan. He felt he had to make himself better known, and that he should begin doing so immediately; he also insisted on his own campaign organization, and he said Mr. McKinney was not acceptable to him as chairman of the National committee.

Although offended at first, Mr. Truman has now accepted this declaration of independence in good spirit. Senator Richard Russell of Georgia, able Southern leader who was a candidate for the nomination, has announced support for Mr. Stevenson, and this was followed by similar announcements from all the Southern States except Texas. In two states Democrats were told that the party was for Mr. Stevenson but that members who voted for General Eisenhower would not lose their party standing. However, despite this recognition that Democrats may feel impelled to vote for the Republican candidate, the Democratic candidate is immeasurably stronger in the South than Mr. Truman was in 1948.

The Democratic Party's position at the moment may be summed up briefly. On the issue of corruption, it has a candidate of the highest integrity, with a record of cleaning out corruption and inefficiency in the Illinois Government. It should retain the labour vote, through Mr. Truman, and it should be assured of one key state, Illinois. As noted, it has support in the South. Administration officials are working quietly and effectively to retain the agricultural vote—not too difficult a task for men with a large appropriation to distribute. In the short space of ten days, the party has been strengthened until it now appears that the forthcoming campaign will be warmly and evenly contested, and that the election will be won and lost by a narrow margin.

Noise, A Waste Product

At this time of year the jaded townDweller longs to get away from the noise of the crowded city to enjoy the tranquility of the countryside. Peterburians are very fortunate to be placed within easy distance of so many beautiful lakes: we might appreciate them better if we had to drive hundreds of miles to see them, as increasing numbers of tourists are doing each year. Yet even these sylvan haunts are becoming noisier than ever before. On some of the more accessible lakes the snorting and growling of motor-boats merges into a continuous angry hum reminiscent of the sound of Brooklands or Indianapolis. One might just as well be back on George Street.

Scientists assure us that noise is a waste product and common sense assures us that any unusual noise in an engine is a sign that something is wrong. One of these days it may be possible to reconvert all this waste sound back into energy.

But perhaps people do not really like to be quiet. We quote from the catalogue of a firm that sells car accessories: "Hollywood Type Muffler — Expertly tuned to give that powerful 'Boom-Boom Boom' deep-throated rumbling tone." Doubtless the manufacturers of motorboat engines could easily reduce the hellish buzzing of their products to a scarcely perceptible purr if there were any public demand. It seems that modern man needs noise to reassure him in the face of the awful uncertainties of silence. He still pays lip-service to the benefits of peace and quiet, but he is in reality ill at ease when cut off from the comforting affirmations of the internal combustion engine.

Worse than the silence are the unaccustomed sounds. Mrs. Hudson, the Cockney landlady in Somerset Maugham's novel Cakes and Ale expressed herself in lively terms on this subject. "Don't talk to me about the country," she said. "The doctor said I was to go there for six weeks last summer. It nearly killed me, I give you my word. The noise of it. All them birds singin' all the time, and the cocks crowin' and the cows mooin'. I couldn't stick it. When you've lived all the years I 'ave in peace and quietness you can't get used to all that racket goin' on all the time." A few doors away, Maugham adds, was the Vauxhall Bridge Road and down it trams were clanging, ringing their bells as they went, motor buses were lumbering along, taxis were tooting their horns.

Fortunately for the minority of those who love peace and quiet there are still plenty of unspoilt haunts of nature even in this locality, but they are becoming harder to find and one has to go further to find them. There is always the consolation that in a few months from now even the most frequented spot will return to its primeval state for its tryst with winter.

U.S.A. Under Tariff Wall

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

IT IS CLEAR that the recent instances in which American manufacturers have asked for an increase in particular American tariffs have created considerable alarm throughout the British Commonwealth, Europe, and Asia.

This alarm has been voiced in a number of diplomatic notes which have been delivered to the United States Government and in the speeches of several leading statesmen, the most recent being one by Mr. Peter Thornecroft, the President of the British Board of Trade. The general impression that seems to have been left with world opinion is that while the Americans preach free trade to everyone else, their industry is still sheltered behind an enormous tariff wall, which prevents the rest of the world from earning its full share of dollars, and which will be pushed still higher unless a vigorous protest is made.

THERE IS SOME TRUTH in this picture, but in the opinion of many American officials who honestly deplore the existence of the American tariff at all, it could easily lead to a false perspective.

In the first place, the quantity of recent publicised cases in which American manufacturers have asked for a heightening of a particular tariff is partly accidental. Until last year the American Tariff Commission used to be able quietly to turn down any applications which it felt were unjustified. Since 1951 the law has required them to report on each case to the President, who has to uphold or reverse their judgement in a public message. As a matter of record the President and the Commission have agreed on only one increase in recent years, that on imported fur felt for hats. The Commission has also recommended an increase in the duty on Swiss watches, but the President has not yet agreed to this. A great many others, such as increased duty to keep out British motor bicycles and Italian garlic, have been turned down.

MOREOVER, since the wheels of the Tariff Commission turn at the usual bureaucratic pace a great many cases, including those concerning bicycles and china ware, which affect Britain, tuna fish, which affects Japan and Mexico, and woodwind musical instruments, which affect many European countries, have all piled up together, giving the impression that there is a protectionist wave sweeping the United States.

✧ ✧ ✧

BY AND LARGE all the industries which have asked for protection from foreign competition are the less efficient ones who are unwilling or unable to adjust themselves to foreign competition. The dairy industry, which succeeded in getting a legislative prohibition (through Congress, not through the Tariff Commission) on imported cheese, has always been highly protectionist, not only against foreign but against domestic competition, as was evidenced by their long and ultimately unsuccessful campaign against margarine. On the other hand, efficient industries or those with a large export market of their own, like the motor car industry, have never tried to exclude their foreign competitors. It seems possible, though, that the motor car industry may one day try to oust British and European cars, which are selling successfully here by copying the best features of American design.

IN THE SECOND PLACE, many people still think of the American tariff in terms of the old Smoot Hawley Tariff which was introduced at the height of the Depression (in the early 'thirties) and which was frankly intended to be prohibitive. Its average level was fifty two per cent on dutiable goods, at prices then current, or about twenty five per cent in terms of post-war prices.

Before the war, as a result of reciprocal tariff negotiations with other countries, it had dropped to about eighteen per cent, and since the war, as the result of the General Agreements on Trade and Tariffs (Gatt), it has fallen to just over thirteen per cent. This is no higher than the tariff which the Commonwealth countries impose on goods from outside the Imperial Preference area.

MOREOVER, two-thirds of America's imports come in duty free, including some of the most valuable dollar-earning raw materials. Reductions on the tariff since the war apply to over ninety per cent of the goods and materials which the British Commonwealth exports to the United States.

Nevertheless, it is conceded that the fears of European and Commonwealth business are not founded wholly on ignorance or misapprehension. What is clearly worrying them is not the height of the tariff wall but the uncertainty with which it operates. In the first place, there are the "escape clauses" in the Reciprocal Trade Act under which the President can raise a tariff even though a lower one has been negotiated with other countries. An exporter faced with the costs and difficulty of breaking into the American market has no guarantee that his rivals in the United States will not try to get this procedure invoked if he is at all successful.

✧ ✧ ✧

SECONDLY, the Reciprocal Trade Act under which the current tariff concessions are made has to be repassed by Congress every two years, and will come up again in June of 1953. Not only has the Republican Party always been the high tariff party, but a majority of the Republicans in the Senate have generally opposed the Reciprocal Trade Act. If Mr. Dwight Eisenhower comes to victory with a Republican majority in Congress there is no certainty that the Act would be renewed. Thirdly, although the general level of the tariff is much lower than before, it is still highly protectionist on certain things which other countries could sell on their merits in the American markets at a lower duty. For instance, the duty on scientific instruments is sixty per cent, on bone china thirty per cent, on cotton cloth and piece goods up to thirty per cent. These are only three instances which affect British exports particularly.

✧ ✧ ✧

FINALLY, there is the complexity and uncertainty of American customs procedure, which the Administration has several times unsuccessfully asked Congress to simplify. For instance, an imported suitcase pays a relatively low duty; the same suitcase with a braid trimming round the inside pockets is classified as braid and pays a much higher duty. Imported nylon goods, which hitherto paid duty as socks or shirts according to what they were made into have just been reclassified as chemical synthetic material and pay a much higher duty. An appeal to an American customs court may take a year or so to settle and cost the importer a great deal of money.

✧ ✧ ✧

NO ONE CAN PREDICT with any certainty what is the future of foreign exports to the United States. At the moment all the major European countries are doing better business than they have done in any other post-war year. The value of the monthly average of French exports to the United States in 1952 is fifty per cent higher than that of 1950, Dutch and German exports are up by eighty per cent over the same period.

IN GENERAL, there is a tendency for export prices to rise in relation to the price of imports from the United States. Consumer purchasing power is running at a very high level in the United States, and it is possible that the current steel shortage will open new markets for British and European metal goods.

Like everything else, the question cannot be divorced from the outcome of the American elections. If the Republicans are returned it is difficult to feel certain that they would take strong action to streamline the tariff or to repeal the "Buy America Act" which makes it virtually impossible for a foreign firm to obtain a Federal contract. But it should be noted that one of Mr. Eisenhower's most influential lieutenants is Mr. Paul Hoffman, who as head of the Economic Co-operation Administration urged the United States to make it easier for foreign countries to earn dollars.

On the other hand, if Mr. Adlai Stevenson is returned with strong backing as the Democratic President there is a good prospect that the "Buy America Act" may be repealed and that a real effort will be made to reduce and simplify some of the more obnoxious elements in the American tariff.

Coronation Problems

By CYRIL HANKINSON, Editor of 'Debrett'
(as printed in The Calgary Herald)

NOW that the Coronation Commission and its various committees are commencing work, it is of interest to consider some of the problems with which they are faced. The Coronation ceremony is largely based on precedent and as a rule the examination of records showing what happened on a previous similar occasion provides the answer to most questions.

In the case of the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, however, much will have to be decided for which there is no analogy. The reason for this is that of our five previous reigning Queens, only two had husbands at the time of their Coronation, Mary Stuart, who reigned jointly with William III, and her sister, Anne. Certainly the Coronation of William and Mary must have been the cause of much thought to those who had charge of the arrangements, for it even necessitated the making of special duplicate regalia so that both the King and Queen could receive the customary emblems of Sovereignty at the same time.

While the Earl Marshal (the Duke of Norfolk) and his assistants will not have all these difficulties to face in 1953, nevertheless, we doubt whether reference to what happened at the Coronation of Queen Anne in 1702, which is the only precedent in our long history upon which they can draw, will give them a satisfactory clue to all the questions of procedure which will be raised.

At that time, the State Coach in which Queen Elizabeth II will drive from Buckingham Palace to the Abbey, did not exist and as the Queen Anne was suffering from gout and was very corpulent, she had to be borne in a litter to the Abbey from Westminster Hall where the procession assembled.

Even inside the Church she was incapable of walking for more than a few paces and had to be carried in a low arm chair. There is, therefore, no precedent for deciding whether the Duke of Edinburgh shall sit with the Queen in the State Coach on the way to the Abbey, or ride on horseback behind, as did the Dukes of Gloucester and Kent at the Coronation of King George VI.

Another point for decision is whether, when the Abbey is reached, there will be a place in the procession for the Duke of Edinburgh and, if so, who will attend him. Prince George of Denmark, Consort of Queen Anne, walked in her Coronation procession immediately behind the regalia with his train borne by his Master of the Robes. Then, too, there is the question as to where the Duke will be seated during the ceremony. Will a special chair be provided for him near the State Chair in which the Queen will be seated for the greater part of the service?

By ancient custom the privilege of being the first to pay homage to the Sovereign belongs to the Archbishop of Canterbury and Prince George of Denmark acknowledged this procedure by following the Archbishop. Apparently the Prince was regarded as a Duke of the Blood Royal by virtue of his having been created Duke of Cumberland. No special precedence having yet been granted to the Duke of Edinburgh, it will have to be decided whether he ranks as a Royal Duke and, if so, whether he or the Duke of Gloucester will lead in the act of fealty.

There is almost certain to be serious consideration given to the possibility of emphasizing more adequately in the service the fact that she is also separately Queen of all the Sovereign States of which the British Commonwealth of Nations is composed. At the last Coronation, the Commonwealth Prime Ministers drove to the Abbey each accompanied by a mounted escort of the Military Forces of his own country and were also given a place in the procession inside and the Standards of each country were carried in this procession by the High Commissioners. However, some further stressing of the fact that the Coronation is a Commonwealth occasion is expected.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now before the feast of the passover, when Jesus knew that his hour was come that he should depart out of this world unto the Father, having loved his own which were in the world, he loved them unto the end. And supper being ended, the devil now having put into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray him; Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he was come from God, and went to God; he riseth from supper, and laid aside his garments; and took a towel and girded himself.

After that he poureth water into a bason, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded. Then cometh he to Simon Peter, and Peter saith unto him, Lord, dost thou wash my feet?

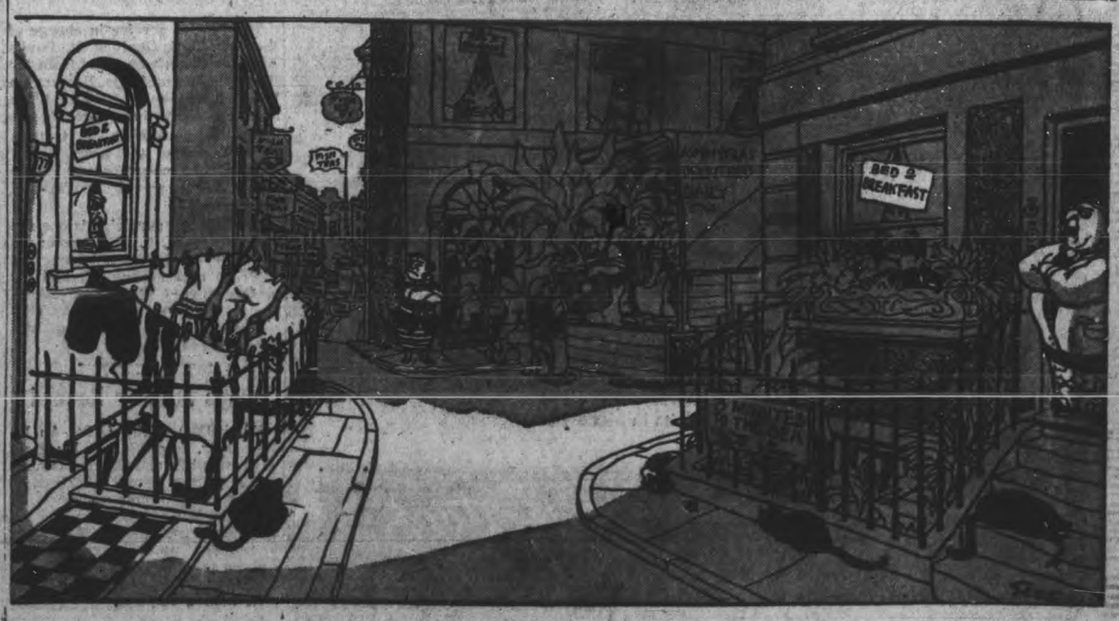
Jesus answered and said unto him, What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt know hereafter. Peter saith unto him, Thou shalt never wash my feet. Jesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou hast no part with me. Simon Peter saith unto him, Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands and my head. . . .

So after he had washed their feet, and had shaken his garments, and was set down again, he said unto them, Know ye what I have done to you? Ye call me Master and Lord: and ye say well; for so I am. If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another's feet.

For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you. (John 13:1-9, 12-15.)

Bystanders Face Difficult Decision

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)



Rather a difficult problem was emphasized in St. Catharines police court when Magistrate Harley Hallett called 75 to 100 bystanders "white-livered" when they did not go to the defence of a constable being beaten up by two dance-hall hoodlums in Port Dalhousie.

Fair play demands that people not stand idly by, but help the law when it gets into difficulties. On the other hand the policeman had the right to call on the spectators for help, but he apparently did not do so, probably because he was too busy defending himself.

However, there is a weakness in the situation. If a person aids the law, gets beaten up or killed what redress is there for the one injured or killed? A case in point is that of the young Toronto veteran two or three years ago who tackled a thug who had just robbed a chain grocery store and was shot to death in full view of his wife. The thug later was found in a California prison and died for another crime committed there.

The law could be very much strengthened in such cases if those who intervene on the side of the police were assured of compensation in the event of injury or death.

It does seem, though, that in the Port Dalhousie case there was undue reluctance to aid the policemen, especially as the offenders were young and one of them, shouted as he waded in that he would "get six months for it." He did.

"Even if we took in exiled kings, I know someone whose washing would still be hanging out all the week."

Here And There In Sports

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winnipeg Blue Bombers, billed as "raw and green," downed the Dominion champion Ottawa Rough Riders 24-6 in an exhibition match before some 10,000 shirt-sleeve football fans here Saturday night.

Rifle-like passing of Indian Jack Jacobs, Winnipeg quarterback, and smooth receiving by Tom Casey, fleet Winnipeg backfielder, sparked the western victory. In comparison, the passing combination of Tom O'Malley, Ottawa's quarterback, and backfielder Howie Turner, appeared hapless and weak.

Casey led the scoring with two majors, Jacobs got the third and Keith Pearce, the fourth. Three of them were converted by Jacobs and the fourth by Bud Korchak.

Gino Mazzanti scored a touchdown for Ottawa and Buck Rogers converted.

NEW GOLF TROPHY

A new international amateur golf trophy which may some day rival the Walker Cup in importance will be out into competition this week.

Seven-man teams representing Canada, the United States and Mexico meet Thursday and Friday at Seattle golf club for the Americas Cup.

The trophy was donated by Jerome Bowles, Jr., of Chicago, former president of the Western Golf Association.

Unlike the Walker Cup, limited to competition between the United States Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, the new trophy includes all the Americas.

Canada's team includes a number of champions: Walter McElroy of Vancouver, 1951 Canadian amateur champion; Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver, former holder of the same title; and Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ontario amateur and open champion.

Other members of the Canadian team are Phil Farley of Toronto, captain; Nick Weslock of Windsor, Pete Kelly of Fredericton, and Percy Clogg of Vancouver

WINS GOLD CUP

Slo-Mo-Shun IV, piloted by Stanley Dollar of Seattle, won the Gold Cup Saturday at Seattle in a race that saw all five of the other competing speedboats withdraw for various mechanical reasons.

Most violent of the withdrawals was Such Crust which exploded during the first heat. Driver Bill Cantrell was burned and thrown into the water. He was fished out within seconds, taken to hospital where his condition was later reported as satisfactory.

Also forced to drop before completion of the third and final heat were: Miss Pepsi, Miss Great Lakes II, Hurricane VI and Slo-Mo-Shun V, sister ship of the winner.

Even the winner had trouble. It failed to finish the first heat when it lost a propeller on the fifth lap of the 30-mile Lake Washington course.

Kesselring Wins By Wide Margin

KINGSTON (CP)—Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener Westmount and Rockway Saturday took the Ontario amateur golf title by the widest margin ever recorded in the 30-year history of the championships.

The 23-year-old defending champion, winning the honors for the third time in four years, crushed Jim Neale of Hamilton Glendale 13 and 12 in the 36-hole final.

He became the second amateur to win both provincial titles, Open and Amateur, in the same year, duplicating the performance of Phil Farley of Toronto in 1945. Kesselring is the fourth golfer in O.G.A. history to win the championship at least three times.

OVER PAR ONCE

In the six tournament matches Kesselring was par in only one. He equalled par 70 in one other and was under in his fourth other matches.

Neale was ahead only once Saturday in the 36-hole final, taking the first hole with a birdie on a 17-foot putt. Kesselring took the next three with birdies, while the fifth went to Neale when the Kitchener youth missed a 1-foot putt. Kesselring took the next four to finish the first nine five up.

Two birdies and three pars gave Kesselring five holes on the back nine, Neale took one with para and they halved the other three.

ENDS ON 24TH

The 19th went to Kesselring on a par, the 20th was halved on birdie threes and another par brought the winner the 21st. Neale missed his putt to lose the 22nd, Kesselring added the 23rd and the match closed on a halved 24th hole.

Kesselring found his toughest match of the tournament against George Eluck of Windsor in the semi-final which the champion won one up.

On Saturday's first 18 holes Kesselring toured the 6,525-yard Cataraqui course in 67, two over the course record set by Jack Littler.

Hermann Felts Bockwinkle 2-1

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A fair crowd of enthusiastic sports fans turned out to the Community Arena here on Friday night to see Campbellford's first professional wrestling show.

Barry L. Penhale of Toronto and Toar Morgan promoted the affair which was held under the auspices of the new Campbellford Memorial Hospital.

On the main event of the evening, Hans Hermann, the towering German giant, won two out of three falls over his better mannered opponent, Warren Bockwinkle. Bockwinkle was injured in the latter stage of the match and referee Bunny Dunlop declared him unable to continue. Semi-final time found Toar Morgan flattening rowdy Tiger Tasker in 22 minutes of a scheduled thirty minute match. The evening's opening preliminary match resulted in a draw between Sonny Kurgis of Columbus, Ohio and Bill Stack, the colorful Oshawa huskie.

The crowd seemed to enjoy the antics of the wrestlers, as they tossed each other about the ring. At one point, the referee was also pinned to the floor, and at one point, was chased about the ring by the husky wrestlers. This bit of horseplay delighted the crowd, some of whom took it seriously.

Burnbrae replaced their pitcher, Lyle Hay, after Hay allowed eleven runs in the fifth. Cliff Anderson hurled the rest of the game but it was too late to pull the game out of the bag.

U.S. Takes Cup Zone Final Canada Has Eye On Singles

By MAX McMAHON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada has lost its North American Davis Cup zone final to the United States but it has high hopes of scoring a win in one of the two remaining singles matches today.

The Americans won the final Saturday, defeating Canada in the doubles after sweeping Friday's two opening singles tests. Last time Canada won a Davis Cup match from the U. S. was in 1931 when Marcel Rainville downed Sidney Wood.

MACKEN CANADA'S HOPE

Canada's hopes of a win rest with seven-time Davis Cupper Brendan Macken who takes on Bob Perry in the first singles match, scheduled for 2:30 p.m., EDT. Henri Rochon meets Vic Seixas, American playing-captain in the second match.

The matches were to have been played yesterday, but were postponed because of rain.

Macken has a good service, a powerful forehand, a lot of depth and authority, and outstanding touch and control, particularly in volleys.

The lanky 19-year-old Perry has little experience on grass courts, where the bounce is far different than on cement, on which he was brought up, and on clay on which he has been playing recently.

BEATEN BY MAIN

Lorne Main, second on the Canadian team, defeated him recently in straight sets in a tournament in the eastern U.S.

Rochon isn't given too much hope against the powerful Seixas, ranked No. 1 in the U.S.

The team of Herb Flam and Seixas Saturday downed Macken and Main 6-3, 3-6, 6-3. Friday Flam downed Rochon 6-1, 8-6, 6-1 and Seixas defeated Main 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

The United States next takes on the winner of an India-Italy tie for the right to challenge Australia, cup holders.

Chatham Maroons To Join Ontario Hockey Senior Loop

STRAFORD (CP) — Chatham Maroons, formerly with the International Hockey League, this year will join Brantford, Hamilton, Sarnia, Owen Sound, Kitchener and Stratford in the Ontario Hockey Association's senior A loop.

Chatham decided to drop from the International League when increased travelling sent club expenses higher.

At a meeting of the association executive Sunday the seven clubs decided on a 168-game schedule opening Oct. 24 and closing Feb. 21 Each club will play 24 home games and the first four teams will meet in playoffs, each series a best of seven.

Jack Roxburgh, Simcoe, O.H.A. president, expressed the association's pride in the senior A loop, formed last year.

INTERNATIONAL MEET

At Grand Rapids, Mich., the International League Saturday tabled temporarily a Milwaukee application for admission to the five-team circuit.

Directors voted to meet again in Detroit Friday to take final action on Milwaukee's application.

There were unconfirmed reports from the meeting that Chatham had threatened to withdraw if Milwaukee were admitted.

The directors adopted a 56-game schedule, eight more each than last season for its five members: Fort Wayne, Ind., Toledo and Troy, O., Chatham, and Grand Rapids.

Directors also voted to sign an agreement with the Eastern hockey league freezing all players in their respective leagues until Jan. 1. This was designated to eliminate what directors called "player raiding" between the leagues.

Westwood Wins 8-1 Over Hastings

HASTINGS (ENS)—Red Warr held Legion to three hits, while his team shoved over eight runs to take the first game of the best of five series in the local league finals. It was by far the largest crowd of the season, as interest grows in what promises to be a drag-'em-out series.

Westwood opened the scoring with a lone tally in the bottom half of the first and were never headed, as they added three in the third, and a pair in fourth and eighth, while Legion scored their lone run in the fourth.

West went all the way for Legion, and gave up but six hits, but they were well timed, and six errors didn't help the cause.

The teams go at it again Monday with Jack Crowley and Bob Wilson probable starters.

Marlene Stewart Captures Second Women's Golf Crown

By JIM PEACOCK

EDMONTON (CP)—A young golfer, whose increasing prominence has astounded even the most optimistic forecasters, tees off today in her second major title defence in less than a week. Marlene Stewart, the likeable 18-year-old from Fonthill, Ont., won her second straight Canadian women's close crown Saturday. Today she goes against a field of about 120 in the qualifying round of the Canadian women's open, which she won last year at Laval-sur-le-Lac, Que.

Miss Stewart blistered the Edmonton Mayfair layout in the close with an eight-under-par 54-hole medal score of 72-78-79—229 to retain the title and chop 12 strokes from the tournament record set in 1949 by Babs Davies on her home course in Vancouver.

Miss Stewart went into the third round three strokes ahead of her nearest opponent and finished with a 15-stroke margin over second-place Mary Gay of Kitcherier.

The 20-year-old Ontario champion, Miss Gay, scored 77-76-91—244 for second and a four-stroke lead over third place Rae Milligan, 18, of Jasper, Alta., who carded 86-82-80—248. Miss Davies was fourth with 82-87-85—254.

FOUR SHOOT 257

Bracketed at 257 were Mrs. J.H. Todd of Victoria, Mrs. J.C. Whitelaw of Laval-sur-le-Lac, Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Montreal and Ada Mackenzie of Toronto. Dorothy Herbertson, an 18-year-old from Esquimalt, B.C., was ninth with 258.

Mrs. J.K.A Brown of Winnipeg and Mrs. N.J. Carlson of Toronto had 260s and Daintry Chisholm of Montreal tied with Anne Sharpe of Fonthill with 261. Joanne Goulet of Regina and Mrs. A.K. Snell of Edmonton carded 262s.

Miss Stewart's seven-under-par first round gave her a five-stroke lead over Miss Gay and the Ontario champion, whose steady golf in the first two rounds brought her 77 and 76, couldn't match pace with the winner.

Miss Gay fell apart in the final round with a 12-over-par 91 but Miss Stewart held to a par 79 to win easily. A 10 on the par-five 14th hole gave Miss Gay no chance in the final 18.

Miss Stewart's scores for the 54 holes gave her another record. None before ever had consecutive scores in the 70s in close play.

WORLD CHAMPION COLORED SOFTBALL TEAM, the Chicago Hottentots will play an exhibition game Tuesday night at 8.30 p.m. with a Peterborough all-star team. The colored players have earned a reputation in the United States and Canada comparable to the King and His Court. Harold Dormer and Pat Calladine will coach the Peterborough team, which includes Terry Woods, Howie Dalton, Lefty Doris, Russ Scriver, Red Sullivan, Walt Fife, Reg. Leether, Neil Thompson, Taylor, Jack Mackness, Harold Legrow, Joe Blewett, Jake Wade and Jack White.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By DON GRANT

Let's forget the hot weather, swimming, boating, baseball, lacrosse and other summer sports for a minute and look ahead to the cold wintry days when crowds will be going to the Civic Arena.

Already a number of enthusiastic hockey fans are wondering just what the Peterborough setup will be this year and, most important, if the McGillis Eagles will be flying down the ice lanes.

Sponsor D. A. McGillis, the club executive and players, you will remember, were suspended a year for refusing to play a game with Kingston S.A.C. during the district playdowns. The O.H.A. ruled the suspension and since has not altered it.

Mr. McGillis refused to let the team play in Kingston because S.A.C.s used goalie McDonald, from the Maritimes, and the Petes were using I.O.O.F. juniors.

On the weekend Mr. McGillis said that action will be taken to decide who's right in the interpretation of rules governing transfer of players from one province to another and the suspension of sponsor, executive and team. The Petes' use of I.O.O.F. juniors will also be dealt with.

Fans Quite Burnt Up With the O.H.A.

Mr. McGillis said that he plans to draw up a letter with the help of a lawyer to argue the three main points with the O.H.A., daring the hockey association to prove he's wrong.

"The players and coach have been asking what's going to happen; people on the street have asked what we're going to do. They seem quite burnt up at the O.H.A."

If the O.H.A. doesn't take action after Mr. McGillis' letter, he's prepared to go into court to get a ruling."

"I'll still go ahead with the team," said Mr. McGillis, of course that's providing the suspension is lifted.

Kingston May Enter Quebec League

Meanwhile, Kingston this year may play in an eastern league, associated with Quebec hockey. But there's a big "if" there. The Kingston club will enter the league providing they receive a year's leave from the O.H.A., if not they'll likely be back in our league.

If Kingston leaves, the Eagles remain suspended, and rumors prove false that Oshawa will ice a senior "B" team, only the Petes and Belleville will be left. Looking in that direction the hockey's future is black.

Even if the Eagles are re-instated and Kingston goes east, the three-team league would not be too good, especially with a long schedule, December to playoff time.

Mr. McGillis said that with a three-team league the "turnouts will be still good," adding that "there were too many games last year."

"With two good teams in the city you're going to fill that rink," he said.

Despite all, hockey's future doesn't look too rosy yet for this year.

BBBRRRRR! Back to something more seasonable. It took Al Marshall 12 years to do it but he reached the Olympics. Now in public relations with the R.C.A.F., Al, Gord Minty's protege and former Canadian junior swimming champion, was in Finland briefly during the games. He visited with the Canadian swimming team and other members of Canada's contingent of athletes.

To baseball for a second—Practically everyone who is interested in local sports has at some time heard of Jake Solomon, coach of the baseball Petes when times were good. Recently Baz Phelan, P. A. announcer at lacrosse and hockey games, visited Jake in Philadelphia. He found that Jake's heart has been acting up and that the old timer is still deeply interested in Peterborough and its sports.

ORFUNS' COACH ? ? Tony Kotowski, Mississippi State college player, arrived in Peterborough Saturday for an interview with the Peterborough Orfuns' as possible coach for this season. Kotowski was met of the C.P.R. station by lineman Wally Farr. Pointing at the station board, Kotowski said, "Boy, Peterborough's a long way from Mississippi." He was sent to Peterborough by Carl Voyles, coach of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Edge Toronto Yorks 13-8 Petes Closer To First Place

Backed by Lloyd "Moon" Wootton's solid net minding and sparkled by the flashy Rusty Slater, Peterborough Timbermen solidified their hold on the second rung of the senior O.L.A. ladder Saturday with a convincing 18-8 victory over Toronto West Yorks in Brampton. This win placed the Timbermen four points ahead of the third place Yorks and within easy striking range of the first-place Mimico Mountaineers. The Timbermen during the next week have the opportunity to overtake Mimico with five games in seven days, the first away tonight in Hamilton and the second at Miller Bowl on Wednesday against St. Catharines. The other games all at home are: Friday, Mimico; Saturday, Hamilton; and next Monday, Fergus.

The Yorkers, spiritless and impotent in the shooting, were held to a single goal through the first half while the Peterborough red tide surged to a comfortable 6 to 1 lead. The few strays that did get through the Red defenses were easily handled by the "Moon." Leading 8 to 3 going into the wind up the Petes, hit hard by penalties, were outscored 5 to 4 as Toronto staged a last ditch rally.

Fifteen penalties were called including misconducts to Dootch Vitarelli, Bobby Thorpe and Harry Wipper. Thorpe and Wipper sat out simultaneous misconducts in the fourth period following a couple of arguments with Referee Billy Fitzgerald. The Petes totalled nine of the 15 jail sentences.

Rusty Slater bagged four goals and assisted on two during a standout performance. Big Ross Powless added three. Bobby Thorpe and Harry Wipper contributing two each. Peterborough singles were counted by Curly Mason and Don Ashbee. Donny McPhail netted a pair for Toronto late in the fourth. Ken Croft, Nick Ferri, Wimp Timpson, Jack Kapasky, Jim McNulty and Leo Teatero counted Toronto singles.

UEW Into Ontario Finals Win Series With Batawa

Peterborough U.E.W. soccer team advanced into the Ontario Intermediate Cup finals Saturday when they fought their way to a 2-1 victory over Batawa in the second game of a two-game points to count series. The U.E.W. team won the round 4-3, tying the first game in Peterborough in June two-all. They now will defend the championship won last season and will play Kingston in the finals beginning on September 13.

Winning the toss, the Peterborough team chose to start with the wind at their backs and within two minutes the wisdom of the choice was proved. Batawa conceded a corner and from the flag, Andy Smith centred a lovely cross. The wind caught the ball and carried it into the net with a single player touching it.

Batawa fought hard to even the score but made little headway against the Petes' defence, who were playing an excellent game.

Play was of a high standard in this half with both teams finding their men on the passes. However neither team could score again until three minutes before the interval when George Smith pushed the score up to 2-0 for Peterborough.

After half-time Batawa followed Peterborough's example and notched a goal within two minutes. This made the game closer. The standard of play deteriorated and never again reached the first half levels.

Both teams strived their utmost to score again and both goal-keepers were kept busy. But no more goals were scored and the final whistle sounded with the score still 2-1.

Batawa considered the Petes their "bogey" team because at all times this season, the Shoemen have never won a contest with the U.E.W. .

Next Saturday the U.E.W. team will be hosts to Kingston in an Eastern Ontario Football League at Morrow park. This game will be a preview of the Ontario intermediate finals.

Next Thursday the team will lose one of its best and most popular players, Jock Robertson, who is returning to Scotland. Tuesday the club will be holding a farewell party for him.

Crescents Whip Thistles 18-9

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

In the Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association's loop Owen Sound Crescents defeated Fergus Thistles 18-9.

The victory over Fergus was Owen Sound's third straight and assured them a playoff spot.

Jack Foote tallied three times for Fergus while Arnold Smith, Bill Allum and John Lumley netted two each for the Crescents.

Queens Edged By Mimico 13-11, Miss Third Slot

Mimico Junior Mounties went all out Saturday night at Miller Bowl to edge Filter Queens 13-11 in a wide-open lacrosse match. Lou Vitarelli's boys wind up the regular schedule at Dundas Monday and commence playoffs Wednesday, probably against St. Kitts.

Mounties outscored Peterborough 4-2 in a fast and fairly even first period with the visitors holding a slight edge in play. The margin was even more pronounced in the second, as led by Larry Ruse, the game's individual star, Mimico tallied four to one, a remarkable display with a short-handed squad. Ruse scored six goals and one assist, four in the first half.

Led by Jerry O'Reilly, Rock Batley, Roger Smith and Carl Brioux, the Vitarelli lads staged a spirited rally in the third frame in an attempt to overhaul their inspired rivals; but the rally fell just short despite a 5-2 home edge on the period. Fighting gamely to protect their small but previous advantage, Mounties entered the final stanza playing do-or-die lacrosse. Despite continued drive by the locals, each team tallied thrice to keep the proportionate margin the same, and thus the Filter Queens had to suffer loss in a hard game. Several times during the late stages the local boys were right in, only to have Lady Luck frown on their final thrusts. Mimico deserved to win on the play as a whole, playing a clean game and taking advantage of all opportunities; while the locals, after a week's layoff, played slightly below their best team form.

Lineups:
Mimico: Goal, Bannister; defence, Walton and Passmore; centre, Longhouse; wings, L. Ruse, J. Ruse; rover, Tomtishen.
Peterborough: Goal, Hickson; defence, Groves and Brioux; centre, Smith; wings, Daniel, Morrissey; rover, Galley; alts., O'Reilly, Mullens, Farley, Batley, Fitzgerald.

Local Cricketers Edged Out By Grace Church

By C. H. IRESON

On Saturday the local cricketers went to Toronto to play a return match with Grace Church B in a Toronto Council match whom they had beaten in June 133 to 59.

But Saturday's game had the season's most exciting finish. Grace Church won out just by a hair.

The Petes had scored 105 and then Grace Church made it 104 for eight, but the ninth put on the necessary runs and they made it 108 with two more wickets to fall.

The P.W.s batted first and after losing a wicket for 10, B. Roberts and H. Ward took it to 52 for four when Ward went out to 14. Booth, nothing, Cotton, one were soon out and at 71 Roberts was out for a quick played 37. Then Wright made 19 in quick time with the total at 85. Later Cridland scored a useful 10 and the innings closed at 105.

With Grace Church going to bat, McCormick 42, Reid 20 and Lobbin 14 took it to 85 for four. Later batsmen took the score to 104 for eight wickets but Bartlett hit a four and won the match for Grace Church by two wickets.

It was a hard game to lose and the very rare failure of F. Booth with the bat was unfortunate. Previous to Saturday he had a batting average of 42.

Next Saturday the club again goes to Toronto to play the Avro B team who beat the locals here on June 25, 110 to 107.

On the following Saturday the locals close the season in the Toronto District Council with a return match against St. Edmunds.

Summary:

Peterborough — Batting — B. Smith 5, B. Roberts 37, H. Ward 14, F. Booth 0, E. Cotton 1, Wright 19, M. Scott 4, Boardman 3, Cridland 13, H. Dibben 3 not out, T. Frazer, Extras 10, Total 105.

Fall of Wickets, one for 10, two for 54, four for 55, five for 71, six for 79, seven for 87, eight for 103, nine for 105, 10 for 105.

Grace Church — Batting—McCormick 42, Waite 1, Reid 20, Lobban 14, Bartlett 6 not out, Wilson 0, Cox 8, Weeks 1, Potton 5, Gibson 1 not out, Extras 11, Total 109 for eight.

Whitby Triumphs Over Juniors 9-8

The Young Petes, coached by Al Menzies and Shockey Mein, were edged 9-8 by Whitby Merchants in Whitby Saturday. The boys, playing their second last game in Lakeshore Intermediate league, will advance into Ontario junior playdowns later this month.

The juniors rallied in the eighth for five runs but Whitby came back with two in their half, enough for the winning margin. Whitby led throughout until the Petes' five-run rally.

Whitby cashed in on their 12 hits and the Petes' one error for their nine runs while the juniors worked their eight runs on six hits and three Whitby errors.

Stars for Petes were Gary Kearns with a single, double and a home run in five times at bat, Don Bigford a homer in the fourth and Elmhirst, two singles.

Campbellford Whips Norwood Boys 9-1

NORWOOD (ENS).—Campbellford Defeated Norwood here 9-1 on Friday evening in a baseball game. Campbellford received four of their runs in the fifth inning two each in the second and fourth and one in the first. Norwood was held scoreless until the fourth when Kelly counted.

Petes Lengthen COBL Lead Trounce Kingston 8-2

Joe Stewart's senior baseball Petes lengthened their lead in the C.O.B.L. Saturday when they trounced Kingston in Kingston 8-2 before a fair-sized crowd at Megaffin Memorial stadium. This was the Petes' second straight win over Edwards Monarchs, the first being last Thursday when the Petes used the old squeeze play to edge the Monarchs. The Petes are now up two and a half games.

Billy Richards could quite easily "sue" his teammates for "non-support" after the Saturday night tussle when he was beaten by the Petes with his companions tossing in nine costly miscues that no doubt spelled defeat. However, to every cloud there is a silver lining and the locals probably got the bad game out of their systems at an opportune time with the playoffs approaching fast. Although the support collapsed the fact cannot be denied that Phil Clancy's four-hitter was also very much in the limelight and he was full credit for his win.

The Petes opened the scoring in the third with a trio of tallies on four singles, a pair of stolen bases and one error and, after Eric Rangk had homered over the right field wall in the fourth with one on, they added another pair in the fifth on a single, a fielder's choice, a stolen base and another error.

The visitors made it 6-1 in the sixth when Clancy was safe on a two-base error, went to third on an infield out and scored on Bill Edger's infield tap. They added two in the seventh when Al Menzies singled and scored on Joe Stewart's two-base hit. Arn Dugan was safe on an infield bobble and after Bryan Young flied out, Don Padgett singled to right to chase Stewart across the plate with the final Peterborough marker.

The Monarchs tried gamely to get back into the game but it just wasn't their night and Phil Clancy had them "eating out of his hand". They however managed to score their final tally in the eighth when Jack White walked, went to third on Lorne Ferguson's single and scored on Don Gilmour's infield out.

With Boros At Tam Meet

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—National open champ Julius Boros and golf's biggest money-winner of 1952, Cary Middlecoff, meet today in an 18-hole playoff for golf's biggest prize, the $25,000 top payoff of the "world meet.

The showdown will resolve the deadlock Middlecoff and Boros created by finishing the $90,000 Tam O'Shanter show yesterday with identical 276s, 12 under par.

Some sharp bickering marked the high-pressured chase for Promoter George S. May's rich endowment, which includes a $12,500 second-spot bundle for the loser of today's playoff.

PROTEST DELAY

Three players—Dave Douglas, Jack Burke and Ed Furgol, who shared lesser loot—complained that Middlecoff slowed up proceedings 45 minutes to accomodate televising of the finish. This trio protested that the delay, ordered by meet sponsors, cooled off their games as they stood around leaning on their clubs.

They claimed that Middlecoff, plus Chick Harbert and Bill Ogden in the same threesome, should have been penalized two strokes. But both meet and P.G.A. officials said the slow-up was the privilege of the sponsor.

Douglas wound up at 279 in a fifth-place tie with pre-meet favorite Sammy Snead, to collect $2,350. Douglas shot a closing 68.

TWO TIE FOR THIRD

Third spot, a stroke behind the deadlocked Middlecoff and Boros, was shared by Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo and the 36-hole leader, Jim Ferrier, who each pocketed $4,000 for their 277s.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver put together rounds of 69-76-74-73 for a total of 292. Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon, the other Canadian entry, withdrew after rounds of 75-81-75.

Middlecoff, who has won $15,239 this year, shot a phenomenal round of 31-33—64 yesterday the best since Lloyd Mangrum fired a Tam record-making 32-31—63 in 1948

Boros fashioned a 32-35—67.

Lowly Browns Knock Down Cleveland Indians 6-3 Stressing Greenberg Lament

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Veeck, owner of St. Louis Browns, is enjoying a laugh at the expense of his old pal Hank Greenberg, general manager of Cleveland Indians. Greenberg recently accused Veeck of trying to knock the Indians out of the American League pennant race by trading "good" players to Chicago White Sox. Greenberg's lament became a reality yesterday as the lowly Browns beat the pennant-hungry tribe and Bob Lemon 6-3. A victory would have moved the Indians to within a game of the pace-setting New York Yankees but by losing the Indians dropped two games back. The Yanks and third-place Boston were rained out.

In other American League games, Philadelphia and Washington swapped 4-2 decisions and Chicago captured a doubleheader from Detroit, 3-1 and 5-4.

Rain curtailed action in the National League.

In the games played, Chicago swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh's tail-end Pirates, 9-5 and 4-3, and St. Louis and Cincinnati divided a twin-bill. The Cards won the opener 3-2 and the Reds the nightcap 4-2.

BITTER DEFEAT

Cleveland's defeat was doubly bitter as a former Tribesman, Fred Marsh, accounted for the deciding runs with a three-run homer in the fourth inning.

Ageless Con Marrero bested Bob Shantz, top candidate for the American League's most valuable player award, in the opener at Washington.

The Senators got 10 hits off Shantz, who was gunning for his seventh straight victory and 21st of the season. The athletics managed to collect only five safeties off Marrero's "nothing ball."

The Cubs spoiled the major league debut of Ron Neccial in the opener at Pittsburgh. Neccial, who astouned the baseball world by striking out 27 batters last May while pitching a no-hitter for Bristol, Tenn., in the class D Appalachian League, was rocked for seven runs and 11 hits in six innings.

Ontario Keeps Cricket Title

TORONTO (CP)—A week of top-flight cricket came to a climax here this week-end in a sparkling two-day match that left Ontario Dominion champions.

The Ontario XI retained the title by trouncing British Columbia by 24 runs and an innings. Manitoba, Alberta and Quebec were eliminated in earlier competition

The final match opened Friday with Ontario batting. They ran up 278 runs for four wickets before the innings was declared. In their first innings British Columbia compiled 82 runs for four before play ended Friday and scored 35 for six when play resumed Saturday. They followed on for a second innings scoring 137 runs, but were still short of the Ontario figure—highest total of runs in the week's play.

Sunday, Canada defeated the United States by nine wickets in an international match.

The American team—drawn from West Indian clubs in New York—scored 87 runs, batting first. The Canadian XI scored 92 for one wicket declared.

Pat Murphy Wins Cycling Championship

WINNIPEG (CP)—Pat Murphy of Delhi, Ont., Saturday was named the all-round champion as he won the 25-mile race at the Canadian track cycling championship here.

In winning the tough 150-lap grind by a scant half length, Murphy collected another seven points and raised his total to 38—10 points ahead of his nearest rival, Bill Bullman of Winnipeg.

Art Johnston of Toronto was third point-maker with 27.

Bullman proved he was the outstanding sprinter at the three-day meet by taking the quarter-mile final by 1½ lengths over Murphy.

Murphy won three events—the 25-mile, the 1,000-metre time trials and the 4,000 metre pursuit

NINE OF 100

Of all the mileage run up by motor-cars in Canada, it is estimated pleasure driving takes only nine of every 100 miles.

Name Josie Smith Triple Tennis Winner

TORONTO (CP)—Josie Smith of Toronto was a triple winner at the Ontario junior tennis championships which wound up Sunday.

Miss Smith won the junior ladies' singles, paired with Vonnie Davis of Toronto, to take the junior ladies doubles and with Harry Hall of Toronto, for the mixed doubles final.

Jean Paquette of Ottawa won the men's singles.

Final results included:

Junior girls' doubles—J. O'Brien and C. Barton defeated G Delacretez and J. Jennings, Cornwall, 6-4, 6-3.

Junior boys' doubles—H Freedhoff and G. Daly defeated D. Hall and Carter, Cornwall, 6-4, 6-4.

Mixed doubles finals—J Smith and H. Hall defeated N. Reynolds, Kingston, and C. Turcotte, Ottawa, 8-6, 6-4.

WIN SOCCER CROWN

Italo-Canadians of Toronto Saturday night eliminated Ukrainian Sitch of Sudbury from the Dominion cup soccer playoffs by defeating the northern Ontario team 2-1 in overtime. The Italians are the Ontario zone winners and now meet the winners of the Quebec series.

Buffalo 1-4 Before Rains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If the second-place Syracuse Chiefs or the third-place Rochester Red Wings have any ideas about catching the International League-leading Montreal Royals, they had better play top-flight baseball the rest of this month.

As of today the Royals go on the road until Aug 28 and then they are home until the season ends Sept. 7. Neither the Chiefs nor the Wings are faced with such an extended road trip. But being 10 and 10½ games off the pace, respectively, will have to go some in the stretch run.

RAIN WASHES OUT GAME

Rain washed out the Sunday single contest between Montreal and Ottawa, but only the Wings were able to take advantage of the Royals' idleness. The Wings downed the Buffalo Bisons 7-4 before rain curtailed the second game of a twinbill after a scoreless first inning.

The Chiefs salvaged a split with Baltimore Orioles with a 1-0 nightcap victory after the Orioles had taken the opener, 7-5. In the day's only other action, Toronto Maple Leafs beat Springfield Cubs 5-3, and then trailed by the same score when the Toronto curfew halted the afterpiece with only one out in the seventh to make it an incomplete contest.

The second game came to an enforced halt with Toronto rallying. As it stands now with the game expected to be completed today, the Leafs have the tying runs on base but two are out in the seventh and final frame.

TWO RECORDS BROKEN

Two world records were broken Saturday as United States athletes won 15 of 19 events in the British track and field games at London.

Charley Moore of the U.S. won the 440-yard hurdles in the world record time of 51.6 seconds—three-tenths of a second better than the mark set by Italy's Armando Filiput in 1950.

The mile relay record fell to a U.S. team of Gene Cole, J.W. Mashburn, Reggie Pearman and Mal Whitfield. The time was three minutes, 8.8 seconds compared with the old mark of three minutes 9.4 seconds set in 1941.

Canada's best effort was by Jack Hutchins of Vancouver who ran second to Pearman in the 880-yard race.

Standard Level

Of Sports Raised At Helsinki

By TED SMITS

HELSINKI (AP)—During the 1952 Olympic Games which ended a week ago, thousands of words were printed detailing results of contests, reporting reactions of athletes to victory or defeat, and describing the background and color of the magnificent sports show.

The vast Olympic program, each event a story in itself, left many stories untold and questions unanswered.

The question which probably will be propounded most frequently is how did the athletes from behind the Iron Curtain act in their first major competition with the outside world.

MINIMUM OF BEEFING

"Correct" is the word for the behaviour of the Russians. There was an absolute minimum of beefing and an absence of rhubarbs.

Generally their athletes appeared much stockier than men from the west and were heavy-muscled. There was an impression beforehand that the Russian women athletes would be large and ugly While they wouldn't exactly qualify for a Broadway chorus, some were pretty and most all made an effort to appear feminine.

The Soviet athletes were well coached, although there was a peculiar standardization evident. For instance, pole vaulters, broad jumpers and high jumpers tended to strike a pose with one foot forward and head thrown back before making their tries.

The Iron Curtain countries all stayed at a village that accommodated about 1,500, some eight miles from the heart of Helsinki and completely isolated. The Russians even went out of their way to invite American athletes over, and once threw a wing-ding of a party.

SPOKE PERFECT ENGLISH

Some of the Russian newspaper men were mighty interesting. They spoke perfect English but their knowledge of sports seemed wobbly. It seemed obvious they knew more about politics than athletics.

With a few notable exceptions, every Olympic record was broken and nine worlds records were exceeded.

What's the answer? It's simple. The world level of performance has gone up tremendously during the last few years. Men have time for sports, and generally are getting better food and coaching. New techniques have been evolved and competition was unusually good.

LEVEL RAISED

Where will it end? Obviously there is an outside limit.

If you want to get analytical about it, the standard world records were not broken here; that is the records in which there is a great deal of competition all the time.

The records that went were in rather unusual events—the hammer, decathlon and the hop, step, and jump—plus the 1,600-metre relay.

In other words, the outside limit of human performance in major events was not pushed much farther back at Helsinki. The standard level, however, was raised vastly.

PILOT RETURNS — Flt.-Lt. Lawrence E. Spurr, 29, of Middleton, N.S., has returned to Canada from a tour of operations as an R.C.A.F. exchange pilot with the United States Air Force in Korea. He flew 56 missions with the 51st Fighter Interceptor Wing. A fighter pilot in the Second World War, he was mentioned in dispatches.

Class Freedom Inspires New Record

TORONTO (CP)—An experiment in freedom paid off for students at suburban Forest Hill collegiate.

Last September a new system of independent study was introduced for Grade 13 pupils. Attendance was voluntary, homework was left to the student's initative and no note from home was necessary to explain absence from class.

As a result students made the best showing in the school's history in June departmental examinations. Figures released Saturday show the 121 students wrote 842 papers and 94.2 per cent passed the provincial exams.

Lt.-Col. Baxter Dies In West

WINNIPEG (CP)—Lt.-Col. L. D. M. Baxter, 62, a former president of the Canadian Legion and director of several oil and financial companies, died at his home Sunday.

Born in 1889 near Kingston, Ont., he joined the Fourth Hussars in Kingston in 1908 and went overseas in 1914 as a captain with the First Canadian Division. Promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel in 1918, he was given much of the responsibility of supplying Canadian forces in Europe as assistant quartermaster general.

He was president of the Canadian Legion from 1948 to 1950.

Col. Baxter was president of Osler, Hammon and Nanton, and Nanton Trust Co., of Winnipeg, a director of International Utilities, New York, the Winnipeg Electric Co.; Anglo-Canadian Oils Ltd., the Dominion Bank, Home Oil Co. Ltd., and president of the Calgary and Edmonton Corporation.

He was past vice-president of the Canadian Progressive Conservative Association.

Missing Delegate Found In Hotel Room

TORONTO (CP)—An embarrassed Hungarian delegate to the 18th International Red Cross conference was found Saturday—after several hours of intensive search—in his own hotel room.

Dr. Ballint Soeres of Budapest told fellow delegates at 9 a.m. he was going out for a 15-minute walk. Several hours later when he could not be found, police sent a large detail searching downtown Toronto.

He had gone to see a movie starring a Hungarian actress.

10 Pilots Attend Ont. Zone Competition

BRANTFORD (CP)—Zone contests for amateur airmen here Saturday attracted 10 pilots from eight Ontario points. Charles Vaughn, St. Catharines, won first place and will represent Ontario in the Dominion finals for the Webster Memorial Trophy in Winnipeg.

Another St. Catharines pilot, Thomas Thususka, was second. Third place went to Willis Spring, Galt.

Queen Leaves

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen and other members of the Royal family left for Scotland yesterday for their summer vacation. Before departing the Queen gave her last sitting for a portrait being painted by American artist Douglas Chandor.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Provincial Police today charged three Niagara Falls men with rape after two Buffalo girls complained they were attacked on a lonely road near here. Accused are Orlando Perry, 26, his 25-year-old brother Samuel and Dominic Paulo 21.

Can Sell Interest

BONN, Germany (Reuters)—The allied high commission has told the West German Krupp steel firm it may sell a majority interest in a big Ruhr colliery company to a French group, a high commission source said yesterday.

Prisoners Escape

MONTREAL (CP)—Two prisoners who broke out of the Fullum Street jail for women last night by climbing to the roof of a shed and then scaling a 15-foot high wooden fence. They are Margaret Wheeler, 42, and Sandra Breid, 30.

Seeks Treatment

HONOLULU (AP) — Madame Chiang Kai-shek — Nationalist China's first lady—will arrive in Honolulu sometime this weekend to seek medical treatment for a skin disorder, a Chinese government spokesman announced yesterday.

250 Miners Escape

EAST KIRBY, Eng. (Reuters)—More than 250 coal miners escaped last night when fire broke out nearly 1,000 feet underground at the Bentinck colliery. Nine ponies, used underground to pull coal carts, were trapped. The fire was under control within three hours.

Hearing Postponed

FORT ERIE (CP)—Police said yesterday that the hearing of ex-jockey Johnny Perron, charged with conspiracy to defraud the public, has been postponed to Sept. 5. Police charge Perron was a central figure in alleged horse race fixing at Fort Erie last summer.

Gospel Ship Safe

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fears for safety of the gospel ship Messenger III were dispelled yesterday when the vessel turned up safely at Prince Rupert, B.C., after being delayed two days by engine trouble. The boat is operated by the evangelistic shantymen's society.

LABOR COUNCIL MEETS

A discussion on the dropping of rent controls will be heard tonight at the August meeting of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (C.I.O.-C.C.L.). A recommendation will be introduced by the executive.

COUNCIL MEETING

The only regular meeting of the city council this month will be this evening's at 7:30 o'clock. For July and August, the council is following the usually abbreviated schedule. Committee meetings will be held two weeks from tonight according to the midsummer series.

VICTIM IDENTIFIED

Belleville police Sunday identified the body of Albert Woodcox, 26, by his fingerprints. Woodcox was killed and his body was burned when his car was hit by a train north of Trenton Friday afternoon. The car burst into flames before he could be pulled clear and it was not possible to identify him immediately.

COTTAGES POPULAR

John Rogers, veteran operator of Belmont Lake says the demand for summer cottages this year is phenomenal. Americans in particular favor this type of vacation accommodation. At Belmont lake shore property is at a premium, and now cottages are being built on the islands. Big Island, already has about ten cottages on it, and more being built.

DUST IN CLOUDS

It may be that the county has exhausted its funds for calcium chloride to control the dust, or it may be that other roads are getting the preference. Guests at Buckhorn Lodge and other spots are not interested in these aspects of a problem, they just want officials to do something about the dust on the Lakefield-Buckhorn road. It rates the title of the dustiest spot in the county this week.

ATTEND INSTITUTE

Miss Grace Simpson and Miss Helen Watson of the public library staff attended a four-day institute on the use of films held last week at Queen's University, Kingston. The institute was sponsored by the Ontario Association of Film Councils, and the Department of Education. Lewis Bird and William Graff, chief librarian, attended the closing conference Saturday.

IMPROVING ROAD

A contractor has several pieces of heavy machinery in operation on the Bobcaygeon-Minden road south of Kinmount. Hills are being levelled and the road widened to highway width. This route cuts the distance from Peterborough to Haliburton by nine miles, and eliminates the need of going by way of Lindsay. The road is open to traffic but has three short detours around the sections being modernized.

100 Applications To Fix Or Increase Rents

Approximately 100 applications for increase or fixation of rent are outstanding at present in Peterborough," as reported by G. C. Power, rentals officer, Toronto, in a letter to Ald. A. B. Burrows, dated Friday, Aug. 8.

"Rentals appraiser J. W. Byers, is planning to go to Peterborough on Monday next week, to spend the whole week there, and attend to all outstanding applications.

"Mr. Byers was in Peterborough in March 1952, and again in June 1952, and, on each occasion, he disposed of every application on file, making some 80 or 90 decisions each time."

"Personally I consider that Peterborough has received very good service from this office, but of course that is a matter of opinion."

Mr. Burrows had written on July 29 to the Rent Control Board presenting this question: "Would it be possible to procure from you some information as to the number of requests you have had from landlords and tenants for prospective adjustments of rents in the city of Peterborough during the last two or three years?"

Ald. Burrows continued, in part: "My enquiry has arisen from the fact that there are many statements being made that it is difficult for tenants and landlords (especially the latter) to get prompt and equitable treatment from the rent-control authorities in the matter of adjustments of rent."

Gail Craig Wins Nine Firsts In Final Exams

Top students throughout their years at P.C.,V.S., Gail Craig, Pauline Zacks and Sheila Young achieved an impressive record of firsts in the June senior matriculation departmental examinations.

The results, announced today by the Department of Education, show 18-year-old Gail Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Craig, North Monaghan, with a perfect record of nine firsts.

This outstanding academic achievement was almost duplicated by Pauline Zacks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zacks, who has eight firsts and a second in English literature.

Sheila Young, 18, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert N. Young, achieved firsts in all subjects except English composition, physics and French authors in which she obtained second class honors.

GOLD LETTER

One of 14 P.C.V.S. students awarded gold letters this spring, Gail Craig is looking forward to beginning a course in modern languages and literature at the University of Toronto this fall. After graduating, Gail is hoping to obtain a position where she will be able to make use of her languages as languages are her favorite subjects.

Although both her parents are teachers—Mr. Craig is a teacher at P.C.V.S.—Gail has no intention of entering the teaching profession, but hopes to be able to work either with the Department of External Affairs or an agency of the United Nations.

An active contributor to the P.C.V.S. Echoes, Gail has won the award for the best entry to the school magazine for a number of years and during her final year was the magazine's literary editor.

The gold letter which Gail was awarded this spring is considered the school's top honor and is awarded for "meritorious service above and beyond the faithful performance of duty in any field of extra-curricular activity."

Rounding out a busy time of social, academic and extra-curricular activity, Gail has been a member of the P.C.V.S. Dramatic Club and directed "Brothers In Arms," one of the three plays presented this year at the annual night of plays.

OTHER SCHOLARSHIPS

Winning top scholastic honors is nothing new for Gail, who won the Nicholls Scholarship for coming first in her Grade XI year and repeated this accomplishment last year in the Grade XII examinations, when she also won prizes for highest marks in English, French and Latin.

In addition to her studies, Gail finds time for her two hobbies of studying the piano and raising thoroughbred shepherd dogs.

Like Gail Craig, Pauline Zacks is also interested in dramatics and was active in the P.C.V.S. Dramatic Club during her five years at collegiate. In her final year, Pauline directed Happy Journey, one of the plays staged by the club and was also on the advertising staff of Echoes and feature editor of Pocket Versions, the collegiate paper.

She also took part in inter-form basketball and volleyball and was on the Social Functions Committee.

TO UNIVERSITY

When the fall term opens at University College in Toronto, Pauline will begin a course in philosophy and sociology, but as yet, she has no definite plans for NINE FIRSTS—Miss Gail Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Craig, North Monaghan, who in her Grade XIII examinations written for her Upper School secured nine firsts in the nine papers written. Miss Pauline Zacks came second with eight firsts and one second in the nine papers written.

Motorcyle, Car Crash, Three Sent To Hospital

Two people on a motorcycle and a car driver were hospitalized early Sunday morning when the two vehicles collided at Stewart and Aberdeen Sts

All three are in satisfactory condition in Civic Hospital. The injured are:

Robert Kilborn, 25, of 856 George St., a deep gash in his left elbow.

Robert Abel, 21, of 337 London St., driver of the motorcycle, brush burns and bruises on his chest, legs, and head. He sustained a heavy blow on the head.

Barry McIlmoyle, 16, of 315 McDonnel St., cuts on his face, left leg and ankle, and brush burns.

Kilborn told police he was driving his 1952-model car south on Stewart St. When he neared Aberdeen Ave., he pulled out to the left to pass another southbound car and he was just even with it when the motorcycle suddenly appeared in front of him.

The motorcycle, owned by McIlmoyle and driven by Abel, crashed into the left door of Kilborn's car. Kilborn said he pulled to the right as quickly as he could when he saw the motorcycle but he was unable to avoid a collision.

The two motorcyclists were hurled from their seats by the impact and landed on the roadway.

Kilborn, who was driving with his left elbow on the driver's door of his car, had it badly gashed as a result of the impact. They were taken to Civic Hospital by ambulances from Nisbett's, Kaye's and Comstock's and were treated by Dr. Robert Pow.

The left door and left rear fender of the car were damaged. And the crash guards, front fender, headlight, foot rests and front forks of the motorcycle were all damaged.

Constables W. A. Scott and Ed. Patterson investigated.

Eight Injured In 2 Crashes Near Lindsay

Two Cars Collide At Intersection; Motorcyclists Hurt

Eight people were injured and six were taken to Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, as a result of two motor vehicle accidents Sunday night.

Six of them were hurt when two cars collided three miles west of Glenarm at the intersection of an Eldon township road and a Victoria County road. One of the cars rolled over once, temporarily trapping the occupants.

Two Toronto 'teen-agers were injured when they were thrown from a motorcycle that crashed into a car, five miles south of Minden, on Highway 35.

CAR ROLLS OVER

A car with five people from Minden was driving west on the county road when it met in collision with a southbound car driven by James Taylor, 27, of Oshawa. It rolled over once and received about $700 damage.

Injuries to the occupants were:

Martin Leatherdale, 53, driver, a cut forehead.

Gladys Leatherdale, 50, his wife, in hospital with cuts on the head and shock.

Mrs. Nora Russell, 25, daughter of the Leatherdales, in hospital with a broken pelvis and broken right collarbone.

Two passengers in the back seat, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Thompson, also of Midland, were not injured.

In the Taylor car were:

Mr. Taylor, the driver, a cut on his forehead and bruises.

Mrs. Glenda Taylor, his wife, in hospital with a broken kneecap, cuts and bruises.

And his 10-months-old daughter Deborrah, in hospital suffering from shock.

The injured were treated by Dr. J. C. Woodman of Woodville and Dr. G. C. Graham of Fenelon Falls and taken to hospital by ambulance.

Provincial Constable J. A. Williams of Fenelon Falls estimated the damage to the two cars would be $1,200.

THROWN OFF SEAT

Judy Turnbull, 16, of Eastbourne Ave., Toronto, is in hospital with a fractured left thigh and cuts on her head caused by being thrown from a motorcycle on which she was riding as a passenger.

The motorcyclist, Robert Hart, 19, of Bathurst St., is in hospital with a compound fracture of the left leg, brush burns and bruises.

The accident occurred near Miner's Bay on a sharp curve in the highway. Hart told Provincial Constable Al Hardy of Fenelon Falls that he felt his motorcycle hit a bump as they rounded the curve and it went out of control.

It crashed into the left front fender of a northbound car driven by Carl Campbell, 31, of James St., Toronto. The impact was so great that both of the 'teen-agers were thrown from their seats onto the highway.

Miss Turnbull was reported to have been thrown over the top of the car.

The left front fender, bumper and grill of the car were damaged and the front forks and frame of the motorcycle were twisted.

Stony Sailboats Dominate Chemong Lake Regatta

The two-day Chemong sailing regatta, Saturday and Sunday, was dogged by minor accidents, delays, stiff winds and rainy weather but officials felt that it was a great success, nevertheless. The Stony Lake Sailing Association supplied 19 craft which arrived in a complete tow line-up one hour late at Chemong due to a broken mast on the boat of Dr. Donald Clark and a few minor mishaps that occurred while locking through Burleigh.

Due to the late start the two scheduled afternoon events, Chemong dinghy race and Chemong open sailing, were run off together with catboats taking a ten-minute lead and the internationals a five-minute handicap over the sloops.

Both events in the two-in-one race were won by Lee Willoughby of Stony Lake while Stony skipper Doug Reid and crewman Peter Turner crossed the finish line five seconds behind Miss Willoughby, to come second. Frank Somerville finished third and Harold Matthews, skippering his father's "Skidley," came fourth.

FIVE REEL OVER

No less than five boats in the double event heeled over and filled and had to be towed from the course by crash boats. Arthur Teamerson's "Habitant" broke her 35-foot mast but the rest of the boats and crews suffered no damage.

Rain prevented the running of the Kawartha open sailing event and it was cancelled. Last year's winner Doug Reid, who came second in Saturday's event, was declared winner of this year's Kawartha event.

Commodore of the Chemong Sailing Committee Dr. Douglas Kelly and Mrs. Clare Collins presented the prizes, cups, pennants and flashlights. The Chemong committee consists of president Mrs. Cecil Wasson, commodore Dr. Kelly and on their working slate are Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Vincent, Mrs. Ralph Clarke, Harold Matthews, Dr. J. E. Howes and Clare Collins.

Percy Woman First 1952 Victim Of Polio

Peterborough's first death this year due to poliomyelitis occurred when Mrs. Clarence Glover, 51, of Percy township, near Warkworth, died in Peterborough Civic Hospital Sunday. She had been under medical care since last Thursday.

Dr. F. B. Britnell of Warkworth was called to the Glover home on Thursday who summoned Cobourg's medical health officer, Dr. C. W. MacCharles. Mrs. Glover was rushed to Peterborough and was attended by Dr. H. A. Mitchell and died early Sunday morning.

A private funeral service was held on Sunday at the Allen funeral home. The Rev. H. G. Lester of Warkworth United Church, in the absence of the Rev. J. M. Ritchie of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, officiated. Pallbearers were Mrs. Glover's two sons, Alex and James, Harold Redden and Ray Petty. Burial was at Warkworth cemetery.

Mrs. Glover was born at Pilot Mound, Man., Nellie May, daughter of the late John Pollock and Jessie Stephenson; she has spent 35 years in Ontario, most of them in the Warkworth district.

Besides her husband, she leaves two daughters, Mrs. Harold Redden (Edith) and Miss Isobel Glover and two sons, Alex and James, all of Percy township. There are two grandchildren, Janet Glover and Catherine Hedden, and one brother in Pilot Mound, Willard Pollock. Mrs. Glover was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Annual Battle Expected From Miners

WASHINGTON (AP)—The annual battle between John L. Lewis and the United States coal industry suggests the possibility of another knock-down, drag-out fight over the wages of 475,000 coal miners.

Lewis is being close-mouthed as usual, but the signs all point to another bitter economic struggle with the industry.

These struggles in past years have cost the country millions of tons of coal.

Only once in 10 years or more have Lewis and the soft-coal industry come to peaceable agreement on new contract terms. Last year Lewis won industry consent for a $1.60 daily wage boost, raising his miners' basic minimum daily wage to $16.35.

But a shortage of work in the coal fields has reduced the average miner's work week to less than four days.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, has written leaders of the industry that present work contracts will expire by the end of next month. The contracts in force now provide for termination upon 60 days' notice.

Envoy Boycotts Jap Festival

ITO, Japan (AP)—Sir Esler Dening, British ambassador to Japan, yesterday boycotted the annual "Miura Anshin" festival honoring the first Briton to reach Japan.

The ambassador's absence was attributed to the current dispute between Britain and Japan over two Royal Navy men sentenced to months in prison by a Japanese civil court for a $5 robbery

Britain has demanded their release. This was refused, but the Japanese foreign minister told the Japanese cabinet Friday that the case would be settled amicably as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri reported the Japanese police at Sasebo last night handed over to British naval authorities six British sailors who had been held since Aug. 3 for resisting arrest in a dispute over a $4 bar bill.

Picton Battery In Exercise

ST. HUBERT, Que. (CP)—Two hundred men of the 128th composite anti-aircraft battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, at Picton, left yesterday to take part in a joint army-air force training exercise, termed Mallard Duck preparing Canada's land and air defences, R.C.A.F. air defence command announced here.

Destination of the battery, commanded by Maj. J. D. Hall, was not disclosed, but it was learned it would camp near a large city.

A sister battery of the 128th composite battery, the 127th, also stationed at Picton, returned early in June from far-northern exercises, which included deep-snow, cold-weather conditions and a severe shortage of communications.

Spirit Is Subject Of Lesson Sermon

"Spirit" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world including First Church of Christ, Scientist, Peterborough, on Sunday.

The Golden Text was "We are of God . . . Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit." (I. John 4: 6, 13.)

Selections from the Bible included the following from John 4: 24: "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook included the following: "In Christian Science, Spirit, as a proper noun, is the name of the Supreme Being. It means quantity and quality, and applies exclusively to God."

London Weekly Pays McCullagh Tribute

LONDON (Reuters)—The weekly Sunday Times paid tribute yesterday to George McCullagh, Toronto publisher who died last Tuesday.

"He had the vision and faith to set out to build Canada's most influential newspaper, The Globe and Mail," The Times says.

"His fair but fearless drive quickly achieved this and made his paper also the mechanical and architectural showpiece of North American journalism."

Fiddling Champ

SHELBURNE (CP) — Mel Lavigne, 34-year-old Wingham radio artist, brought national musical distinction to his home town Saturday night when he won the first Canadian championship old-time fiddler's contest.

Centennial Ends

ST. THOMAS (CP)—The week-long celebration of the Elgin-St. Thomas centennial ended Sunday with special church services through the city and county.

RESTORE BOOKS—Alvin Kemper, Keeper of the Collection of the United States Library of Congress, examines one of the books damaged by water in a fire at the Parliament Library at Ottawa. He is in Canada to help restore the books. Scaffolding is for a chute down which wet books are taken out of the building for drying.

2 Entrants Badly Hurt In Horse Show At Sutton

SUTTON—Final day of Sutton's horse show brought serious injury to two participants.

Milton Brown, 52, of Oshawa, received chest injuries when his horse went down in the final heat of the 2.22 trot class.

Four other sulkies piled up in the melee and Brown was hit by a shaft and flying hooves. Taken to Oshawa General Hospital, his condition Sunday was reported as satisfactory. Riding in a steeplechase event, Mrs. Carol Pearson of King received concussion and a badly bruised shoulder when her mount stumbled and threw her after one of the jumps. It was the first time in many years that a mishap had occurred at the horse show here.

Following the pile-up in the trot events all eight horses entered got out of control and raced madly around the track. One by one they were stopped until only one—without a driver—continued running.

STOPS HORSE

A spectator, Harvey Ford, of Orillia, jumped from the stands to the rear of the sulky and from there climbed to the horse's back where he took hold of the reins and pulled it to a stop.

Janet Rough won the Dr. Ballard Trophy for Junior Working Hunter with her clever fencer Kando.

Class 10 calling for Maiden Jumper, was won by Iron Miss, owned by A. C. Texter of Welland. Tommy Sumbler had the leg up and rode with skill and judgment.

The Canadian Equestrian Team Challenge Trophy was taken by David Cork on his handy Gold Buckle.

The lightweight division of the Conformation Hunter class was won by Yellowknife Farm's Prelude. Reno Salty from the stables of J. Elliott Cottrelle carried off the heavyweigh portion.

The Maj.-Gen. Churchill Mann Challege Trophy fell to Kro-Flite owned by William H. Wright of Hamilton and ridden by Johnny Stickney.

Cecil Phillips' bay hunter Teslin walked away with the hunter championship, reserve going to the Cottrell-owned Reno Salty.

Debonnaire, Donald Vance in the saddle, won the Pleasure Hack class.

Several jumpoffs were necessary to decide the Knock-Down-and-Out Stake. When the score cards were totalled Flash Gordon of the Flash Stables, Toronto, was the winner. Doug Hood gave the winner a rousing ride.

The Col. Walter Rawlinson Memorial Trophy was won by Luther Winchell II's good hunter, Magic Carpet.

The Yellowknife Farms entry accounted for the Tanglewood Stables Challenge Trophy for Hunt Teams. The three well-matched greys out-jumped their rivals and stood up well in conformation and appointments.

Brian Herbison came down in front in the heavyweight steeplechase. His mount, Elmer's Choice, carried the backbreaking impost of 203 pounds. But Sam Stanley's good fencer was equal to the task. The high weights were to encourage big men with good hunters in the timber-topping game.

Restrictions Lifted

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain yesterday lifted restrictions on the movement of cattle which were clamped down last November as a foot-and-mouth epidemic spread through the country. Restrictions remain only in three infected areas involving five counties. A special report indicated that birds, especially starlings helped spread infection.

Trip to B.C. Has Political Implications

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent's impending trip to British Columbia is being billed primarily as a non-political affair but it has plenty of political implications.

It leaves little doubt that the 70-year-old Quebec lawyer intends to meet the wishes of his Liberal party followers and lead them in a 1953 general election.

The doubts had pretty well vanished anyway but the mushroom growth of the B.C. visit from a brief call into a sort of whistle-stop tour strengthens the belief he will definitely run again.

ALSO TO HELP

It would be unusual if Mrs. St. Laurent did not do something out there in private conversations to try to buttress the party and to close some of the divisions within its ranks.

There also is the next general election, generally expected in the fall of 1953. It was Mrs. St. Laurent's spring tour of B.C. in 1949, before an election date was named, which really touched off the election campaign in that year.

The initial purpose of Mr. St. Laurent's visit is a meeting of the Canadian Bar Association. He also is to participate in a ceremony at the University of British Columbia.

Vote To Continue Buffalo Strike

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Production at the Republic Steel Corp. plant here edged toward complete shutdown as open hearth workers voted yesterday to continue a walkout that started Saturday.

Republic termed it a "wildcat strike."

More than 500 hearth workers were out in the dispute they said involved job assignments and reclassification.

Donald M. Fulmer of Republic said the walkout started after two millwrights were sent home for refusing to perform normally assigned duties.

The plant, which employs 3,500, will be forced to suspend operations if open hearth workers remain out, officials said

Record Heart Beat Of Whale For First

SEATTLE (AP)—The heart beat of a small but maddened, thrashing whale with two harpoons stinging in its flanks, has been recorded on an electrocardiogram.

The recording made from the giant mammal—a beluga (white) whale—was similar to those of elephants and humans but more nearly resembled an elephant.

This first known successful tracing of a whale's heartbeat on a chart was reported Saturday by Dr. Robert L. King of Seattle and Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston, heart experts, who believe a study of the recording may give information which will help determine what the normal heart tracing of a large human being should be.

French Communists Growing Weaker

By BORIS KIDEL

PARIS (Reuters)—The French Communist party can still put 5,000,000 votes at the polls but it isn't as strong as it looks.

A by-election in central Paris at the beginning of July showed clearly that Communist leaders could still count on solid support at the polls.

But other events showed that Red sympathizers were disinclined to strike for political motives or go out into the streets to demonstrate against Gen. Matthew Ridgway, new supreme Allied commander, dubbed "the germ general" by the Reds.

INFLUENCE WEAKENED

All independent observers here agree that the general influence of the Communists throughout the country has weakened in spite of their unimpaired voting strength.

One of the most outstanding pointers has been the slump in the sale of Communist newspapers. The circulation of the national party organ "Humanite" dropped from 400,000 in 1947 to about 190,000 in June of this year.

A number of Communist weeklies, including "Action," the peace partisans' organ, "Ecran Francais, a film weekly, and "Tous les Arts," an artistic weekly, have recently suspended publication owing to financial difficulties.

The paradox that more than 5,000,000 Frenchmen still send Communist deputies to the Legislature although unwilling to support their party's campaigns is mainly due to a general indifference towards the purely political aspects of the party

"LABOR" POLICY

A survey published by the independent monthly "Realists" said that the bulk of Communist voters "are 'labor,' of British left-winger Aneurin Bevan's hue, and the party for which they vote represents for them what the British Labor party, supported by its trade unions, represents for the British worker."

A poll carried out among Communist voters by the independent Institute of Public Opinion showed that a vote for the Communists in France did not imply all-out support for the Soviet Union.

French workers, according to this poll, sponsored by "Realites," vote Communist principally because they want better wages, decreased cost of living, and redistribution of the national wealth.

Political observers here agree that the absence of another virile left-wing party has driven the mass of French workers to vote Communist.

The Socialist party, after winning a powerful position in the immediate post-war period, has since become mainly the party of civil servants.

Positive Accomplishments At Red Cross Conference

TORONTO (CP)—The Red Cross said yesterday that despite east-west friction at the organization's 18th international conference which ended last Thursday, "positive accomplishments" were made.

A statement commenting on the conference was issued by Leopold Macaulay of Toronto, chairman of the central council of the Canadian Red Cross Society, who said it also reflected the views of John A. MacAulay, of Winnipeg, chairman of the conference, and Dr. W. S. Stanbury, secretary-general of the conference.

The statement said:

"Notwithstanding the accusations and debates which took place in the general commission, there were very positive accomplishments . . .

"For the first time in history, the representatives of some 65 governments as well as the national societies, in spite of conflicting ideologies and open war, sat at one conference table. The fact that this could occur in the troubled world of today is of paramount significance. It could possibly not take place under any other auspices . . ."

JEFFREY FARNOL DIES

EASTBOURNE, England (AP)—Jeffrey Farnol, who fled from an English foundry furnace to start a career as a novelist on New York's 10th Avenue, died Saturday night at the age of 74. Farnol was the author of 40 best-sellers starting with "The Broad Highway" in 1911.

every Canadian benefits when farmers are prosperous

■ Farmers and their families constitute one-fifth of the home market for all the various goods and services produced by Canadian workers in factories, mills, mines, railways, stores and offices. The 1951 census showed a total of 2,827,732 people in Canada whose entire income is derived from farming . . . more than the combined populations of Quebec City, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton and Vancouver. Their needs and "wants" are exactly the same as those of urban dwellers.

■ When farmers are prosperous, these 2,827,732 people have money in their pockets to buy the things they want. They spend freely, in country stores, city stores, mail order houses. The stores, in turn, step up their orders for new supplies, which keeps factories humming, keeps trains and trucks rolling, creates new jobs, fills pay envelopes. Anything that affects the buying power of these 2,827,732 farm people, favorably or unfavorably, is quickly reflected in every other industry.

Massey-Harris presents these points for consideration by urban people in their appraisal of plans and programmes which are aimed to promote the welfare and advancement of Canadian agriculture. Good crops, good markets, and prices that yield a fair return, are essential to continuing prosperity . . . not only of farm people but of every Canadian from coast to coast.

Anxious Army Should Eat More Plum Jam

LONDON (CP)—Veterans of the First World War may remember plum-and-apple jam with mixed emotions.

"Red" Newman of the renowned "Dumbells" troupe was famous for his "Oh it's a lovely war" in which plum-and-apple jam was sardonically compared with "eggs 'n 'am".

But Gerald Nabarro, Conservative M.P. born in 1914, wants the army to eat more plum-and-apple jam in order to help the plum growers.

Anthony Head, secretary of state for war, also too young for the first war, felt the army had done "meritorious service in the consumption of plum-and-apple."

Head said he did not wish to sacrifice variety in the army diet in the cause of plum consumption. He explained that next year the army and the R.A.F. jointly would consume 2,425 tons of plum jam not to mention 400 tons of tinned plums.

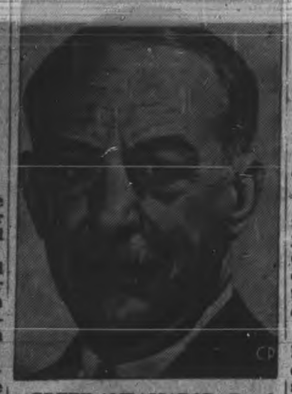
Colonel Alan Gomme-Duncan, a Tory member from Perth and a veteran of the 1914-18 conflict, offered his opinion that the plum-and-apple of his day was "neither plum nor apple."

Company Grants 10-Cent Increase

CLEVELAND (AP)—Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company granted 30,000 workers a 10-cent hourly pay increase Saturday night, subject to approval by the wage stabilization board.

The wage agreement with the United Rubber Workers of America (C.I.O.) was reached after six weeks of negotiations. Union officials said it would set the pattern for the industry.

Affected are 20,000 employees at Akron and another 10,000 in Goodyear plants at Los Angeles, St. Mary's, O., Gadsden, Ala., Lincoln, Neb., New Bedford, Mass., Windsor, Vt., Topeka, Kans., Jackson, Mich., and Muncie, Ind.



If approved by the government, straight time wages will increase to an average of $2.20 in Akron. The straight time average for all Goodyear workers would be $2.03.

Assault Not Drink Cause Of Being Dazed

COBOURG (ENS)—Leo Emery, of Peterborough, gave police court some merriment when he appeared on a charge of being intoxicated and with having liquor in an illegal place. He was fined $10 and costs on each charge. Chief R. Switzer, of Hastings, said that he picked him up on August 6 in a drunken condition and that he had a bottle of beer in his posession.

Emery told the court that he had been set upon by two men and beaten over the head. The chief of Hastings testified that he knew nothing of the assault.

"It seems every time you get in trouble you have some story about getting a beating," said the magistrate.

"It is a fact that two men beat me up in Hastings. That is why I seemed dazed. As for the bottle, I didn't have it because I had been drinking draught at the hotel," explained Emery.

Chief Switzer picked up the bottle filed as an exhibit after Emery was found guilty and Emery had the parting shot as the chief took away the bottle.

"What are you going to do with the bottle? Use it again?" snapped Emery.

Meat, Wheat Industries Reach Delicate Stage With Markets

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada's economy is currently throbbing with unprecedented activity but is gradually reaching a delicate and perhaps critical stage in two important billion-dollar industries—meat and wheat.

The meat market, in spite of the United States embargo on Canadian exports, has been comparatively strong, bolstered by federal government price support and by the tripartite Canada-United Kingdom-New Zealand agreement to move some surplus Canadian beef to Britain.

But under the agreement, Britain will take from Canada only the amount New Zealand can divert to the United States market. At one time, it was thought New Zealand might have 80,000,000 pounds for the American market this year. The figure now has been trimmed to 60,000,000.

BOUGHT 45,000,000

The Canadian government already has bought 45,000,000 pounds and that leaves only another 15,000,000 it can purchase for shipment to the U.K.

Normally, the heaviest marketings of Canadian beef are in the fall months when summer grass-fed cattle are ready for the dinner table. Unless the American market is opened, there likely will be a lot more than 15,000,000 pounds of beef surplus to Canadian demands.

Just how the government will handle this surplus will be a matter for some skilful planning. It already has committed itself to maintain a price-support program until the American market opens and that means it likely will buy up all surplus beef offered by the producers.

PRICES BELOW COST

Other countries besides the U.K. have indicated a desire for Canadian meat, but it is understood the prices they have offered are far below cost and would mean sharp losses to the federal treasury if taken up.

Meanwhile, the chances of an early reopening of the American market, closed because of foot-and-mouth disease in Canada, are growing more and more remote. There had been some hope it would be reopened 60 days after the federal government officially declares Canada free of the disease on Aug. 19. Now there is a feeling that the doors will remain closed perhaps until early next spring.

In the case of wheat, the critical questions are transportation and weather. Canada may have a record crop this year, higher than the 566,000,000-bushel record crop of 1928. In addition, she likely will have a large carry-over of wheat from the last crop year. The crop is early this year and farmers will be ready to move their grain earlier than usual.

IRON ORE DEMANDS

But the Great Lakes shipping fleet is striving to make up for the lag in iron ore shipments caused by the American steel strike. The ships are trying to get enough ore to the Canadian steel mills before the freeze-up to keep them going through the winter months.

Both ore and wheat will be bidding against each other for shipping. The Canadian Federation of Agriculture, for one, feels this may cause a shipping bottleneck such as developed last year. It feels the longer it takes to move the grain from the fields, the more opportunity there will be for fickle weather to change suddenly and threaten a harvest which otherwise would spell prosperity for a big segment of the Canadian population.

Belmont Lake Holds 25th Regatta

Belmont Lake Cottagers' Association, marked its silver jubilee Saturday before a crowd of more than 350 people with one of the most succesful regattas in the history of this midsummer event.

Youngsters summering on the lake, renewed their annual tests of skill against neighbors and the swimming and paddling events were keenly contested. Weather was ideal and the beach in front of the summer homes of Charles Carter, Teddy Pace and Jim Cumming's Trentonia resort made a perfect spot for the affair.

The committee headed by Jack Lowry, president of the Association ran the contests off and provided ice cream and soft drinks for children and adults alike. John Medcof, was key man in the regatta program. Others on the committee were: C. Carter, Geo. Kennedy, Jack Prest, Clarence Corbett, Archie Murray, Mrs. Jim Rogers, Jamie Medcoff, George Cunningham, Lynn Lowry, Wm. Medcof, John Brockenshire, and Ezra Stiles.

Find Indian Relics In Cavan, Believed Left From Battle

CAVAN (ENS) — Indian relics that may indicate an ancient battle in this township have been found from time to time on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Argue, R.R. 1, Fraserville.

Among the relics found are arrowheads, stones about the size of a tennis ball, stone skinning knives, and other sharpened stones.

The arrowheads and other stones found vary in color; some are greyish-blue, others are brown. This may point to two different sources for the stones, and thus possibly to a battle between two tribes.

Mrs. Argue, who has read up on Indian history, thinks it possible the Indians were from the Rice Lake district and from the Georgian Bay area.

On the farm west of the Argue farm is located an Indian burial pit where skulls, parts of skeletons and earthern pots have been found. One of the early settlers used a skull found in this pit to keep his tobacco in.

Among the other relics is a long, needle-like stone which was probably used for punching holes in leather to make moccasins, buckskin jackets, and other clothing.

Rebuild Abbey Theatre

Red Delegates Protest Heavy Bombings

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Communists today accused the United Nations Command of attempting to bury Korean armistice negotiations by stepping up air attacks on North Korea and repeatedly requesting recesses in the truce talks.

The 35-minute session at Panmunjom—first in a week—failed to produce any solution in the truce-blocking deadlock over war-prisoner exchange.

Despite their protests, the Communists agreed to another recess until Aug. 19.

Gen. Nam Il, senior Red delegate, complained of U.N. air assaults and declared, that "any so-called military pressure on your side will only invite you to miserable defeat."

CRITICIZES ALLIES

He accused the Allies of obstructing peace with repeated recesses —the latest one is the third week-long layoff in a row—and said the U.N. "is attempting to bury these armistice negotiations and is designing to extend the war."

Maj.-Gen. William K. Harrison, senior U.N. delegate, curtly told Nam Il that the Allies will repatriate only 83,000 captured Reds. The Reds demand return of 116,000 Communist soldiers but the U.N. refuses to force any prisoner to return to Red control. About 100,000 Allied-held prisoners and civilian internees have said in screenings that they will resist repatriation.

He stressed that education may be defined as "Ignorance Leading Out" to understanding.

Mr. Davidson was thanked by Mrs. Lawton for the Institute.

Germany, Japan Said Defence Against Reds

GENEVA PARK, Lake Couchiching, Ont. (CP)—Hanson Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times said last night that the keys to the successful defence of Europe and the Western Pacific against Communist aggression are Germany and Japan.

He spoke at the conference of the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs.

"Unless Germany and Japan are armed," Mr. Baldwin said, "I do not believe that Western Germany or the Western Pacific can be defended successfully against military attacks."

Saturday night, Rt. Hon. Hector McNeil, former minister of state in the United Kingdom government, said that unless there is effective joint economic defence to match the unified military program, the democracies will lose in the struggle for power and for peace.

"We can no longer be allies in arms and opponents in economics," he warned.

Water Fluoridation Halts Tooth Decay

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Water fluoridation has caused a 47-per-cent drop in tooth decay among Newburgh children, the state health commission said yesterday.

From 1944 through the middle of 1952 dental decay among elementary school pupils in Newburgh dropped 47 per cent compared with children in Kingston, where the water is not fluoridated.

Among children who had been given fluoridated water since birth the drop in tooth decay was even greater—two thirds.

You always want a second look

How many times a day do you take a second look at something? If you have a chance—you do it every time something new comes along.

When your team wins, by skill or weird luck, it isn't enough to see it pictured—to hear it told—just once. You take a second look . . . in your newspaper. It's the only sports medium that gives you a chance to gloat and mastermind to your heart's content.

Whenever a politician, or a labor leader, or an act of God changes the traffic light for your business, you take a second look . . . at your newspaper. It's the only news medium that gives you a chance for quick complete re-evaluation.

When you want a house, or refrigerator, or television set, you look in your newspaper . . . at A's ad, then B's and C's, then back to A's. You take a second look. And your newspaper is the only advertising medium that gives you a chance to shop and compare, and see what's for sale here and now.

Everybody wants a chance for a second look—on the things that interest him most. That's why practically everybody reads the newspaper—every day.

Just as you read the paper now, your customers and prospects read the paper too—at the time they choose, for as long as they choose—for the advertising as well as for news or for fun.

• When your selling is backed by newspaper advertising, your story has a chance to reach almost everybody. Not just comedy fans, or mystery fans, or sports fans . . . but everybody.

That's why advertisers today invest far more of their money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

Miss "Marnie" Pearse Wed In Tiered Gown Of Organdy

Of wide interest was the wedding here Saturday of Miss Mary Margery (Marnie) Pearse, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Pearse of Peterborough, to Mr. Donald Charles Armstrong of Ottawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Armstrong of that city.

The ceremony took place in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and was performed by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, minister of the Murray St. Baptist Church. Church organist Mr. Christopher Gledhill played the wedding music and Brian Dunford, boy soprano, was soloist. During the signing of the register he sang "O Perfect Love."

Baskets of white gladioli banked the altar.

The bride's gown was of white Swiss nylon organdy with tiers of embroidered organdy on its bouffant, floor-length skirt. The bare shoulder bodice was covered with a very brief bolero of all-over embroidered organdy, styled with short sleeves and a little stand-up collar. Her short veil was of nylon tulle and fell from a bonnet of the embroidered organdy. She carried a cascade of white carnations and green ivy.

Mr. Pearse gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Shirley Armstrong, as maid of honor, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Donald G. Pearse, as bridesmaid.

The attendants were frocked alike in floor length models of aqua taffeta and they had matching mitts and small, pleated brim hats. Each carried a colonial nosegay of sweet peas and roses.

Mr. Barry Gow of Ottawa was the groomsman and the ushers were Mr. R. William Pearse and Mr. Gerald B. Armstrong, brothers of the bride and groom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Pearse chose a gown of delphinium blue Chantilly lace and a hat of the same shade. She wore navy accessories and a corsage of red Sweetheart roses. The groom's mother was gowned in sheer black organza and her hat and accessories were pink and her corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

The reception of guests took place at the Club Aragon and many friends from out of the city were present.

Afterward the couple left on their wedding trip to United States. For motoring the bride had an aqua colored tailored suit and accessories of British tan and her corsage when going away was of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong will live in Ottawa West where they have built a new home.

Mrs. George Pogue At 82 Operates Tourist Home

On her birthday, Sunday, August 10, Mrs. George Pogue, of 82 Lansdowne St., began the day by setting her house in "apple-pie" order again following the departure of her overnight "paying" guests. Then she took the day off to celebrate her birthday and went out to dinner at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harold Wilson, 534 Sherbrooke St.

Mrs. Pogue runs a year-round tourist home but of course is busiest in the summer season when, as on Saturday night, she usually has four rooms taken. Incredible though it seems until you have met this spry lady of 82 years, she handles this business strictly alone and does all the laundry and cleaning herself.

Great pride in her seven-room home, which is attractively furnished and spotlessly clean throughout, and a keen business instinct help keep her alert. She has been operating the tourist home for the past 12 years and also makes this her hobby. That she gets pleasure, as well as profit, from her hobby is evidenced in the fact that her guests are anxious to come back to her, even though from across the border. The two carloads of Detroit people leaving Sunday took an interest in her birthday celebration and want to receive copies of this newspaper's tribute to her unusual vitality and vigor at four score and two.

Messages came during the day from her son, Mr. Charles Pogue, of Royal Oak, Michigan, and her daughter, Mrs. T. Simpson (Pearl) of Detroit, and she received some lovely gifts and a handsome bouquet of flowers. Greetings were also extended by her three grandchildren, two being Mr. Jack Wilson and Mrs. H. B. McGinness, of Peterborough, son and daughter of Mrs. Wilson (Lillie). She also has four great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Pogue was born Alice Inkpin, of Fenelon Falls. For several years following her marriage, she was on a farm in that district but moved to Peterborough 60 years ago. She went into the Lansdowne St. house 14 years ago and two years later, when her husband became ill and confined to bed, she put out her "Tourists" sign. For eight and a half years she took care of Mr. Pogue and successfully operated the business as well. She is proud, too, that her nursing care was sufficient for her husband until just a few hours before his death.

Though she does knit and sew a little, Mrs. Pogue is not a reader and has never been a "joiner" of organizations, so her pleasure is derived from her house and from the annual visits to her son and daughter in the States and more frequently to her daughter's here. Last spring she suffered a fall while cleaning her kitchen and was forced to have some help in the house for a few days, but otherwise her health has always been exceptionally good, perhaps because she is too busy working to be sick.

Bride's Mother Plays Organ

NORWOOD — (ENS)—In St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, Norwood, on Saturday morning, Mrs. Agnes Coughlin played the wedding music as her daughter, Teresa Patricia Coughlin, became the bride of Leonard Carroll of Smith's Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Coughlin and the late Charles Coughlin of Norwood and was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Charles Coughlin, and attended by her sister, Miss Mary Coughlin. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. James Carroll of Smith's Falls and was attended by his brother, Mr. Jack Carroll.

Nuptial mass and the marriage ceremony were by the Rev. L. A. Cleary of Kirkfield. Guest soloist was Miss Mary Neville. The church was decorated for the occasion with gladioli.

A bridal gown of white net and lace over satin was complemented by an embroidered net veil caught with orange blossoms and the bride carried a bouquet of red roses and ivy. The bridesmaid was frocked in pale green taffeta and matching headdress and carried a bouquet of yellow gladioli.

Flower girl was the bride's cousin, Mary Jon Anne Melady of Parry Sound and she was dressed in blue taffeta with a headdress of blue net and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Ushers were Richard Coughlin and Leo Carroll, brothers of the bride and groom.

The reception was held at the Club Aragon. The bride's mother received, wearing navy sheer with a hat of navy velvet and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother wore a turquoise crepe dress and bronze straw hat and her corsage was of white carnations.

Leaving afterward on a short wedding trip to Mindland and Niagara Falls the bride wore a red striped nylon dress with navy accessories.

They will live on the groom's farm at Smith's Falls.

Mother Makes Mistake In Choosing Girl's Clothes

DEAR MISS DIX: I'd like to see some advice printed in your column to make a mother realize that her 15-year-old daughter is old enough to pick her own clothes and hair style.

Sandra is 15 and has very good taste, but when she needs a new dress, or new shoes, she always has to take what her mother likes and wear it, whether she liks it or not. She never has a chance to pick what a girl of her age should wear. When it comes to hair styles, if her mother doesn't like it, she has it cut, regardless of what Sandra says.

When I was that age, my mother allowed me to select my own clothes and hair styles, and I always got advice if I needed it. However, I never had to wear "mother's ideas."

INTERESTED IN-LAW.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Sandra's mother is falling down lamentably on one of the most important jobs in her role as parent. It is just as necessary for her to teach Sandra to think for herself as it is to keep her well nourished. An adolescent is making the difficult transition from childhood to adulthood and it is up to her mother to guide her wisely so that the immature 'teen-ager becomes an adult who is emotionally as well as physically mature.

SHOULD BE CAPABLE

By 15 most girls of today are perfectly capable of selecting their own clothes—in fact, most of them show remarkable talent in this respect. The girl may need guidance, but never, never should she be made to wear clothing that is entirely selected by someone else. If she lacks the taste to choose properly, Mom should be cultivating taste in her—not killing all possibility of it ever developing by appointing herself sole judge of what is or is not to be worn by her child.

The reason some mothers continue to supervise and control every article of clothing worn by their youngsters is not lack of confidence in the young people's tastes, but a deep reluctance to relinquish any part of maternal dependence. And, of course, it is the determination to keep children dependent that makes for so much trouble when the adolescent reaches the years of maturity and doesn't have the ability to stand alone. In that eventuality, Mom has failed her job! Very often Mother simply doesn't realize that her daughter is growing up and is able to think for herself. As subtly as possible, in that case, interested relatives, such as yourself, might bring the matter of daughter's growing up to her attention.

There are several magazines published today devoted expressly to the styles, and living, of 'teen-agers. Perhaps you could give Sandra a subscription to one of them. Looking over the book with mother and pointing out things that she particularly likes, may convincingly convey the idea that her 'teen-age taste is good and can be trusted.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: How can I tell my husband's brother and his wife about the behavior of their child in our home? We have a lovely new home and try hard to keep it nice. We also have a young baby with a collection of fine toys. The in-laws come to visit and let their child run wild. He has left dirt marks on the wall, chipped the plaster in the front room, and broken some of my china ornaments. His mother feeds him in the front room, lets him carry food all over the house, lets him walk all over our beds with his shoes on, and will do anything to keep him from crying.

MRS. R. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: With people as inconsiderate of other's property as your in-laws, tact must give way to directness. Be careful, however, that you aren't being too fussy about possessions at the cost of other people's convenience and comfort.

Have certain areas definitely set aside in your house for the use of the children and insist, as diplomatically as possible, that the youngsters be confined to these spots. A play space, eating area and rest room should be sufficient.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: For some time I have known a boy whom I like a lot. He has shown interest in me but has never asked me out. He doesn't have a car of his own and, since I do have one, would it be proper for me to ask him to go to a show with a group?

MARGY D.

ANSWER: It would be better to let him make the first move toward a date. Lack of a car should not deter him if he is interested in you.

The water in which vegetables are cooked or canned is rich in vitamins and minerals extracted during the cooking or preserving process. It should be used to enrich gravies, soups or vegetable drinks.

3 Girls Intern At Hospital Staffed By Women

TORONTO (CP)—Life as an interne at the women's College hospital here isn't any cinch for the eight girls now at the only hospital in Canada staffed by women.

They get three evenings off each week. They must work every other week-end, from 8 a.m. Saturday until 8 a.m. Monday, catching sleep whenever they can.

Working with a staff doctor, the interne sees between 40 and 50 patients daily at the obstetrical clinics and about 30 patients at the medical clinic.

"Home" is a residence, the third floor of the old brick building which houses the out-patient clinics.

Dr. Deana Dibb, a senior in obstetrics this year, received her degree from the University of Western Ontario in her hometown of London. She plans to become a medical missionary and hopes to go to India next year to learn the language and to study tropical diseases.

Dr. Aino Tenjunen and Dr. Janet Ross also are married and plan to mix marriage with medicine.

Another student interne is Helen Currie of Kingston, due to graduate from Queen's University in 1953. She plans to major in anaesthetics and pediatrics, and hopes to practice in Ottawa.

Paris Preview: Ants And 'Le Soft Line'

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS — (NEA). — Some of the best style generals in the Paris high command of fashion have to take a trip around the world to get inspiration for a new plan of attack.

But Christian Dior just stayed at home and meditated for his campaign for fall and winter, 1952.

Maybe that is why the collection he is unveiling in the latest Paris openings is inspired by the ant, the most industrious, economical, intelligent and highly-organized member of the insect world.

At least that's what the grapevine reports from three top salons of haute couture in a sort of sneak preview of the 1952 unveilings.

✧ ✧ ✧

The undercover agent for the newspaper Figaro reports, for instance, that Dior is focussing interest on intricate cut combined with that almost intense femininity which Dior has always advocated.

Skirts, often wide, gather a few inches on the way down. The waistline is underlined, but definitely in its proper place. Bodices fit like the paper on the wall. Normal shoulders are adorned with a variety of collars, which is something all designers seem to be concentrating on this time.

Dior is using many stiff and rough-faced weaves, a great deal of soft satin—plus a couple of secret fabrics. And his colors, to go back to the ant theme again, are white ant, red ant, black ant, and every shade of brown.

DIOR'S "ant theme" inspired this Sketch in Figaro.

It's in harmony, he believes, with today's way of life.

✧ ✧ ✧

For Jean Desses it's "Le Soft Line," which is also synonymous with stark simplicity.

It apparently was inspired by a remark overheard in his luxurious salons. "It makes one want to dress poor," sighed his wealthiest and smartest client.

This soft line is essentially supple, highlighting a long, slender silhouette, hinting at, rather than revealing the feminine form. But he has stressed the bosom line, too. Skirts are longer, width restrained and essentially supple. When fullness is introduced it's a massed front.

The strategic point is the neckline. Draperies, often detachable, contribute the new "soft" look. Sleeves are long, turned back or pushed up, starting from rounded shoulders. Hooks-and-eyes and other fastenings replace buttons.

✧ ✧ ✧

In the four categories of evening wear are the short, full dance frock, the slended, ultra-feminine evening suit, and gala gowns — with sweeping or narrow skirts.

Red, and all colors with a red undertone dominate.

Jacques Griffe has adopted the "straight-as-an-arrow" theme. He says his collection is the acme of unadorned simplicity.

The waistline is unimportant, sometimes completely forgotten, but bosom and hips are underlined. Shoulders are inconspicuous but sleeves will reveal a new cut. Skirt lengths vary with the model and its function.

In contrast, evening gowns display sweeping skirts, showing a new handling of fullness.

DESSES' "Soft Line" looks this way to Figaro artists.

Supple woollens, velvet and satin are the leading media.

Variations of the seven colors of the rainbow and brown, replacing grey, are Griffe's coolrs for the Autumn.

List Of Eligibles Shrivels Britain's No. 1 Bachelor Girl

By DON SCHWIND

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret, Britain's No. 1 bachelor girl, will be 22 years old Aug. 21 and apparently in no hurry to plunge or be pushed into matrimony.

The latest name struck off Margaret's once long list of "possibles" was the Earl of Dalkeith. He announced his engagement this week to Jane McNeill, daughter of a Hong Kong lawyer.

In the House of Commons a member asked bluntly: "Who is Princess Margaret going to marry?"

Her friends say Margaret will marry when she falls in love and not until then.

RIVIERA RUMOR

The tabloid Sunday Pictorial has already appealed to Buckingham palace to stamp out a Riviera-born rumor that Margaret might wed Prince Nicholas of Yugoslavia.

The society worriers have nothing against the 24-year-old nephew of the Duchess of Kent, it's just that he's not British.

Margaret has the widest freedom to choose her escorts but court usage dictates that her escorts must be financially well-heeled, come from the best or better families if not from foreign royalty, be morally beyond reproach and young.

Most important, Margaret has to like 'em.

Margaret, who now gets from Parliament an allowance of £6,000 a year, will get £15,000 a year when she marries.

One of the leading eligibles is Billy Wallace, 25, stepson of Herbert Agar, former editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal.

The Princess is often a dinner guest in the home of Billy's folks and the couple are frequently seen around London.

But what worries Britons these days is how fast marriage is depopulating the group of eligible males.

Besides the Duke of Dalkeith, seven others have married or are about to be married.

WEDDING LIST

Julian Amery married society's Catherine MacMillan in 1950.

Lord Ogilvy, 25, and heir to the Earl of Airlie, became engaged to United States heiress Virginia Fortune Ryan last month.

William Douglas-Home married Rachel Brand in July, 1951.

The Marquess of Blandford married Susan Hornby last October with Margaret watching them go down the aisle.

David Somerset bowed out of the running with Lady Caroline Thynne in July, 1950.

Ian Hedworth Gilmour took Lady Caroline Montagu-Douglas-Scott to the altar in July, 1951.

The Earl of Westmorland—paired off with rich Jane Findlay in 1950.

At the snooty Hurlingham Club recently, Margaret's most frequent partners were Billy Wallace and Tom Egerton. The latter is a 33-year-old former guards officer who has taken Margaret to the races and is one of her pet dancing partners.

Ex-Guardsman Mark Bonham Carter is another trusty escort. He works as senior editor in a publishing house.

Lord Porchester, Henry George Reginal Molyneux, is the son of the Earl of Carnarvon and fast being rated as "near probable" by match-makers.

What's Right?

You have friends who live in a large city.

WRONG: Whenever acquaintances from your home town go to that city on vacation, give them the name and address of your friends and ask them to be sure to look them up.

RIGHT: Realize that it can be a great imposition to expect friends to entertain anybody you know who happens to be in their city for a visit.

CHEESE ON VEGETABLES

A vegetable-plate meal is always zipped up if you use a cheese sauce for one of the vegetables—asparagus, beans, spinach, cauliflower, or broccoli. If you want to short-cut the usual method of making cheese sauce, use condensed cream of mushroom or celery soup for the base. Just add ½ cup shredded Cheddar cheese to one can of soup; heat it over low heat, stirring constantly until well blended. Pour this over your cooked vebetable—it's good!

MARY MOORE SAYS

It Pays To Make Your Own Pickles

My duty is to housewives. I make this obvious remark because I am going to try to persuade you to make your own pickles if you want to save grocery money.

The bare facts are that the cost of a jar of commercially packed pickles is about three times as much as you would pay for them if you made them yourself.

I'm told it's a good cucumber year. I haven't wandered in a cucumber patch myself this year, but for the sake of you doubters I want you to know I've grown cucumbers myself, from spading, raking, planting, cultivating, to picking them at the right stage of growth and pickling them. At one time I was the only pickle eater in the family, but of late years Pete has joined me.

Note: I'm going to ask a favor of you girls. Please do not wait to write to me about your pickle troubles after you've bought the cucumbers or other vegetables and they are awaiting (in the basement) my reply. It takes too long for your letters to reach me and for my reply to reach you. Give me a fair chance because I want to help you. Write to me now if I have not given you the recipes you want to make up. If you want a quick-return reply enclose stamped self-addressed envelope.

BREAD AND BUTTER PICKLES

One gallon sliced pickles (4 quarts), 8 small white onions sliced, 2 green peppers shredded, 5 cups sugar, 1½ teaspoons turmeric, ½ teaspoon cloves, 2 teaspoons mustard seed, 1 teaspoon celery seed, 5 cups vinegar, ½ cup coarse salt. Slice cucumbers and onions wafer thin. (The careful slicing of these vegetables is important and knife must be kept razor sharp. Of course you peel the onions, but do not pare the cucumbers, which should be well-washed and dried). Mix sliced cucumbers, onions, shredded peppers and salt. Cover with ice water in which there are some cubes of ice, and let stand 3 hours, covered. Drain very well. Bring to the boiling point the vinegar and spices, add the vegetables, reduce heat and simmer 3 minutes. Pack at once in hot sterilized jars and seal.

Note 2: Some of you will be wanting recipe for sweet pickles and mixed sweet pickles. I would like to give you the proper method of curing or brining cucumbers for sweet and other pickles for this is the method used by commercial picklers. It is a long method and requires 5 weeks so let me know if you want to see it in this column.

DIXIE RELISH

One quart chopped green cabbage, 1 pint (2½ cups) each sweet red pepper and green pepper and white onions, 4 tablespoons salt, ¾ cup sugar, 4 tablespoons mustard seed, 2 tablespoons celery seed, 1 quart vinegar. Soak the whole peppers 24 hours in a brine made of 1 cup salt to 1 quart water. Drain and cover with clear, cold water and let stand for 2 hours. Drain well, then remove seeds and coarse white ribs and chop and measure the peppers. Add the chopped cabbage, onions, then place in crock or large enamel basin. Mix spices, sugar, and vinegar and pour over vegetables and let stand overnight. Pack into pint or quart sterile jars, seal to within ¼ turn of tight and process in water to come to within 2 inches of top of jars, covered, at simmering point for 15 minutes. Tighten seal at once.

Note 3: Send your requests for pickle recipes to Mary Moore, care of this newspaper.

100 Merchants Join In 3 "Dollar Days"

For three days this week, your shopping dollars will purchase premium values in nearly 100 downtown stores.

Merchants taking part in "Dollar Days" the first city-wide sale that has been tried in Peterborough in years expect a record number of shoppers will be taking advantage of the exceptional bargain values they will be offering on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

BACKED BY CHAMBER

The retail section of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce is behind the scheme, and if "Dollar Days" proves to be as popular with customers as it is proving to be with merchants then "Dollar Days" is sure to be an outstanding success.

Instead of just one or two stores offering selected articles at clearance sale prices, there will be approximately 100 downtown stores displaying "Dollar Days" penants, and inviting customers to come in and see the unusual values that are being offered duirng the three-day sale.

Pre-sale advertisements will be appearing in the Examiner for the next few days, giving city and out-of-town shoppers a preview of the outstanding dollar values they will be able to purchase during "Dollar Days."

YEAR'S BEST VALUES

With the autumn season approaching, practically every member of the family will be in the market for new clothing and shopping during value days is a sure way to get the year's best value for every shopping dollar.

Shelves and counters are being loaded by busy sales staffs in all stores taking part in the sale and a record number of shoppers are expected to crowd the downtown business section starting Thursday morning when Peterborough's biggest sale in years gets underway.

If "Dollar Days" is as successful as those taking part expect it will be, shoppers will be able to look forward to Peterborough "Dollar Days" as an annual event of money saving importance.

Gail Craig Wins

after graduation.

This year's head girl at P.C.V.S. and also a winner of one of thec oveted letters, Sheila Young will be studying philosophy and Sociology at St. Hilda's Trinity College in Toronto.

Senior leader at P.C.V.S. the last two years, Sheila took an active part in sports and in her Grade 12 year was vice-president of the Girls' Athletic Association. In her final year, her interest in scoring and refereeing inter-form basketball and volleyball was one of the reasons she was awarded one of the school's gold letters.

As for her main interest, "each year, it's been something different,"—dramatic club, athletics, music, she has her Grade 10 certificate in piano—and also, Sheila has won at least one scholarship or prize for her academic work every year.

She won the award for general proficiency in Grade 11 and 12 and also the prize for top marks in mathematics in Grade 12.

Although she has "always favored 'math and science," Sheila has decided she should acquire more general knowledge and "has decided to take something different at college." She will be studying social science at St. Hilda's and has no immediate plans for after graduation.

Patricia Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, 599 Homewood Ave., with five firsts and four seconds in English composition, and literature geometry and French authors also achieved a creditable record in the examinations.

Constable Scares Off Burglars

COBOURG. (ENS)— A constable on his rounds early today scared off safe-crackers intent on doing a job at the brewery warehouse. Police during the weekend tripled their watch over places likely to be on the list for safe-crackers and the brewery warehouse was one of them. Several times during the night the constables on parol checked these places and it was on a routine check around five this morning that Constable Tom Shaw noticed a man lurking in the shadows near the brewery warehouse.

The constable parked his car well away from the warehouse in order to avoid alarming the suspect and he was making his way towards the building when someone in a nearby house, thinking that a thief was after his car, shouted out the window and immediately the man fled. Constable Shaw was unable to apprehend the man and then made an inspection of the building. Examination revealed that a door was open, the thieves having entered via a window, which they closed carefully behind them and then opened the door from the inside, a technique followed in the theatre safe robbery the week before. Found outside the door was a large railway section hand's wrench and sledge hammer. The electric clock had been pulled out of the receptacle at around 20 to five, apparently to provide current to drill the safe door to receive the explosive.

Chief H. Pearse is investigating.

R. J. Richardson Dies In Simcoe

KEENE—The funeral of Robert John Richardson, who died on Friday in the Norfolk General Hospital at Simcoe after a lengthy illness, was held this afternoon from the Mather funeral home. The Rev. H. B. Harrington officiated and burial was in the Keene cemetery.

Born in Otonabee 56 years ago Mr. Richardson farmed in the township until 1938 when he moved to Simcoe where he has since resided. He was a son of the late Thomas Richardson and Harriett Edwards. In Simcoe he was a member of the Army, Navy and Air Force Club.

Mr. Richardson was a member of the United Church.

There survive one son, Thomas, and one daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Hoffman (Vealieta) both of Simcoe; two brothers, Delbert of Toronto and William of Hastings and one sister, Mrs. Lewis Downer of Otonabee township.

His wife, formerly May Kelly, predeceased him in 1928 and also one daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Webster in 1951.

Fire Destroys Special Theatre

ST. ALEXANDRE DE KAMOURASKA, Que. (CP)—Fire, of unknown origin, early today destroyed a 160-foot wooden structure converted into a theatre for centenary celebrations in this lower St. Lawrence River town.

Damage was estimated at $35,000. No one was reported injured.

Last evening marked the final showing of an historical drama whose author, Charles E. Harpe, French-speaking Canadian poet and playwright, died in the wings of the theatre 10 days ago.

Mr. Harpe's passion play was an annual event in the nearby village of St. Jean Port Joli.

Manitoba Gasoline Reduced To Dealers

WINNIPEG (CP)—Imperial Oil Company today reduced its wholesale prices of gasoline to dealers of light fuel oils by amounts ranging from one-fifth to 2½ cents a gallon at 185 of its 195 distribution points in Manitoba.

Officials said the reductions reflected net savings in transportation costs made possible by the agreed charges on freight rates offered by the railways and approved by the Board of Transport Commissioners. They vary according to freight charges from company refineries.

There was no change at Winnipeg where rail transportation was not a factor.

Resume Production

OSHAWA (CP)—Automobile and truck production at the General Motor plant here will be resumed on a two-shift, full-time basis today. The passenger car line has been idle since July 25 for the annual vacation. The truck assembly line closed three weeks earlier because of the steel strike in the United States.

Killed By Midget Train

LONDON (AP)—Derailment of a midget railroad train killed a year-old baby girl and injured 19 fun-seekers in London's Alexandra Park yesterday. The child was mangled in the wreckage of the train—a gasoline-powered locomotive and three open coaches.

Forest Damage Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The forest service says two preventive measures—better organization and a co-operative public—cut down forest fire damage last year. From 1950 to 1951 the number of forest fires in the United States dropped 21 per cent. The area burned declined from 15,518,540 acres in 1950 to 10,781,039 in 1951.

Olympic Squad Reaches Dorval

MONTREAL (CP)—The first returning contingent of Canada's Olympic squad—numbering 72—arrived at Montreal's Dorval airport yesterday aboard a B.O.A.C. Stratocruiser.

The athletes returned to Canada after participating in the summer Olympic Games in Helsinki.

Basketball players, paddlers, boxers and wrestlers were among the group.

Some 40 of them boarded trains for their home-towns a few minutes later after landing.

The remainder of the team, still overseas, are not expected home for about a week or so.

The aircraft which flew them to Canada left London Saturday. It refuelled at Iceland before continuing to Montreal.

Count Prepares For Another Tough Grind Keeping UN Delegates Off Each Other's Toes

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Count Jehan de Noue is getting ready for another tough grind. His assignment is keeping some of the most temperamental people in the world—United Nations delegates—off each other's toes socially.

His annual battle with the tea cup and cocktail set will come during the seventh General Assembly next fall. As chief protocol officer here, he is the official greeter for the U.N. and the man who coordinates the social doings of this international capital.

De Noue once guided President Truman about the U.N. and won presidential congratulations for introducing to the President every chief U.N. delegate without missing a name.

De Noue, 45, was born in Normandy. He taught languages at Rollings College, Winter Park, Fla. and lectured at Middlebury (Vt.) College before becoming liaison officer with the United States and Britain during the war. He also is a veteran of the evacuation of Dunkerque.

Ethel Merman Back In Films With Stage Hit

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There can be no doubt that Ethel Merman is back at work in the movies after a 12-year absence. Her voice can be heard all over the 20th-Century-Fox lot.

That's when she's speaking of course. When she's singing, it's reported she can be heard in Santa Monica.

On the stage where she was testing for the screen version of her Broadway hit, "Call Me Madam," about two dozen well-paid workers were ready to make a test of her hairdo.

MORE MERMAN MOVIES?

"I'm certainly happy they saw fit to let me do it," she remarked. "I think it's going to be a lot of fun. The cast (George Sanders, Vera-Ellen, Donald O'Connor) is great, and the director, Walter Lang, is my dream boy."

Will this mean more movies for Merman?

"Could be. About seven months ago I was offered a Broadway show for the spring of 1953. I turned it down because I couldn't see that far into the future. I don't know what I'll be doing next."

Her film producer, Sol Siegel, predicts she'll open a whole new career for herself in the movies.

The selection of Merman for the role was something of a novelty, by Hollywood standards. Her long list of hit musicals has always fallen to other stars for the film versions. For instance, Ann Sothern appeared in "Panama Hattie" and Betty Hutton drew "Annie Get Your Gun."

FEW CUTS

Siegel talked about the topical aspects of "Call Me Madam." The show was obviously based on the diplomatic career of Perle Mesta and contained many allusions to present-day Washington.

"We've cut out most of the topical references," the producer said. "The 'I like Ike' number has been taken out, since the picture won't appear until after the election.

"We've also eliminated the Dean Acheson character. It wasn't just because he might no longer be secretary of state; his part wasn't needed in the film version. But we left in the phone calls to Harry Truman and the remarks about Margaret's singing voice."

Boy 11, Wins Soap Box Derby

AKRON, O. (AP)—A bashful 11-year-old with a twisted grin—Joe Lunn of Thomasville, Ga.—yesterday won the 15th all-American soap box derby.

For his feat the fourth grader in Thomasville's east side grade school received a $5,000 four-year college scholarship.

He's going to be a doctor, although he admits that goal is some years away.

George Repar of St. Catharines, Ont., won one of the early heats but did not qualify for one of the big prizes.

Lunn, who weighs about 80 pounds soaking wet, was driving a well-taped and wired home-made soap box as he wheeled across the finish line ahead of Jimmy Thomas, 15, of Danville, Pa., and 14-year-old Vic Shepherd of Flint, Mich., who was third in the payoff heat.

Tommy Off With Old, On With New, His 10th

NEW YORK (CP)—Tommy Manville announced simultaneously yesterday his divorce from his ninth wife, the former Miss Anita Frances Roddy-Eden and his engagement to his 10th-to-be—Miss Corrine Daly, 24, Brooklyn.

Blonde Miss Daly said she met the 58-year-old asbestos heir five days ago.

Manville said that his multiple divorce settlements and alimony had cost him $3,000,000, and he had spent another $2,000,000 while the marriage lasted. He settled $100,000 on his ninth wife who won her divorce Saturday at Renosa, Mexico.

Wants Bathing Suits

TORONTO (CP)—Leighton K. Brill, executive producer at Melody Fair, said yesterday he has withdrawn from the panel of Miss Canada judges because he feels elimination of the bathing-suit parade would leave judges operating under a handicap. The Miss Canada contest is being held at Hamilton.

50 Unemployed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations bulletin of statistics showed Saturday that New Zealand, with a population of 1,947,000, has only 50 unemployed. Of all nations reporting unemployment figures, this is the lowest. But most Communist-ruled countries claim they have no unemployment.

COMPENSATING DAM — Dangerously high water level in Lake Superior has caused the opening of these eight gates at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. The gates, permitting a flow of 118,000 cubic feet a second, were opened on orders of the International Joint Commission when the level in Lake Superior rose to within an inch of maximum allowed by international treaty. A week ago when the gates were first opened, St. Mary's River rose two feet. After protests of flooded shore properties the gates were closed while repairs were made. They now have been re-opened.

Teachers' Pension Rights Discussed

OTTAWA (CP)—Loss of pension rights by teachers who move from one province to another is one of the problems to come before the 12th triennial conference of the Canadian Federation of University Women here Aug. 18-22.

The subject has been under study by a special education committee set up by the 6,000-member federation. Its report, to be presented during the four-day meeting, also will deal with the question of federal financial aid to the provinces for education.

CONFERENCE THEME

The theme of this conference is "Women and the State." It will be developed during a series of addresses and discussion groups led by prominent Canadian women.

These include Dr. Hilda Neatby of Saskatoon, a professor at the University of Saskatchewan and the only woman member of the Massey Commission on arts, letters and sciences; Dr. Esther Clark Wright, Fredericton, N.B., medical doctor; Dr. Olga Jardine of Victoria; Joan Gilchrist, Montreal lawyer; Dr. Bernice MacNaughton of Moncton, N.B., Dr. Aileen Noonan, retired Windsor teacher.

Principal speakers will be the Begum Ikramullah, wife of Pakistan's High Commissioner to Canada and Dr. Janet Robb of New York, consultan for the International Federation of University women with United Nations' economic and social council.

The conference also will review its program of scholarships and financial aid to libraries to stimulate reading among children.

New Zealand Trying To Tax Rabbits Out Of Existence

Stevenson is a mid-westerner but an internationalist and liberal in his public views—rather a moderate liberal. His running mate comes from the deep south and is fairly popular there, but not so popular with the northeastern liberal Democrats who would like to see racial equality enforced on the south by federal action. That is a policy which caused a split at the convention last week as it did to a far more serious degree in 1948.

Bulk of the voting members of the Negro population—about 13,000,000—are in the northern states. Negroes have great difficulty in getting to the polls in the deep south. That may be one reason why northern Democrats attach so much importance to their civil rights policy.

DEMOCRATS CHANCES

It would seem that the Democratic team might be the most favorably situated for success next Nov. 4. But their party has been in power 20 years and the mounting instances of petty wrong-doing in high places, favoritism and dipping into the public funds by trusted public servants, high taxation and business controls, may swing the people toward a change.

Obviously the change can come only through a few million people who have voted Democratic in the past five presidential elections, swinging over to the Republican ticket.

Thus the issue will largely swing on the success of two men of outstanding brilliance and proved integrity in selling themselves to the people.

Radio and television have brought to the people in a remarkably intimate degree, the weaknesses and strengths, the personalities and mannerisms of their public heroes.

NEED NEW TACTICS

The day is gone when a candidate can have a few set speeches and a few appealing sets of mannerisms and peddle them throughout the country.

What the candidate does and says in New York will be instantly known in Chicago and San Francisco and seen on television by perhaps 60,000,000 people.

Their appeal will have to be at the whistle-stops, the small, impromput meetings at isolated places and to as many of the people as they can reach in person.

Ike and Adlai are words that will be on the lips of the United States people in a steady drum-fire from now until election day and how the people react will be of interest throughout the world on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

But whichever takes over in Washington next January it seems unlikely there will be any great change in the relations of the United States to the world outside it.

Photographer Develops Method Of Identifying Police Suspects

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Police departments all over the United States are taking their hats off to Frank Reeves' hats-on method of criminal identification.

"The most progressive step in police identification procedure in 50 years," is the way some experts describe it.

Reeves, a professional photographer here, has invented a method of putting hats on police photographs of suspects, that makes it easier for witnesses, in some cases, to make positive identification.

The police departments of Camden, N.J., Huntington W. Va., and Cleveland, are among 42 others throughout the country that use his method of criminal identification.

Reeves became fascinated with the scientific identification section of police work some 20 years ago when he worked as a police reporter for a newspaper in Lexington, Ky.

IDENTIFICATION TROUBLE

"Time and again," he said, "I'd see witnesses hesitate over a photograph of a suspect. They'd say that they thought he was the man but they couldn't be certain because he was wearing a hat when they saw him."

After considerable study, Reeves came up with his hat identifier as the solution to the problem.

This is the way it works:

Front and profile pictures of more than 120 styles of hats, caps, tams and other headgear are mounted on a large sheet of transparent plexiglass.

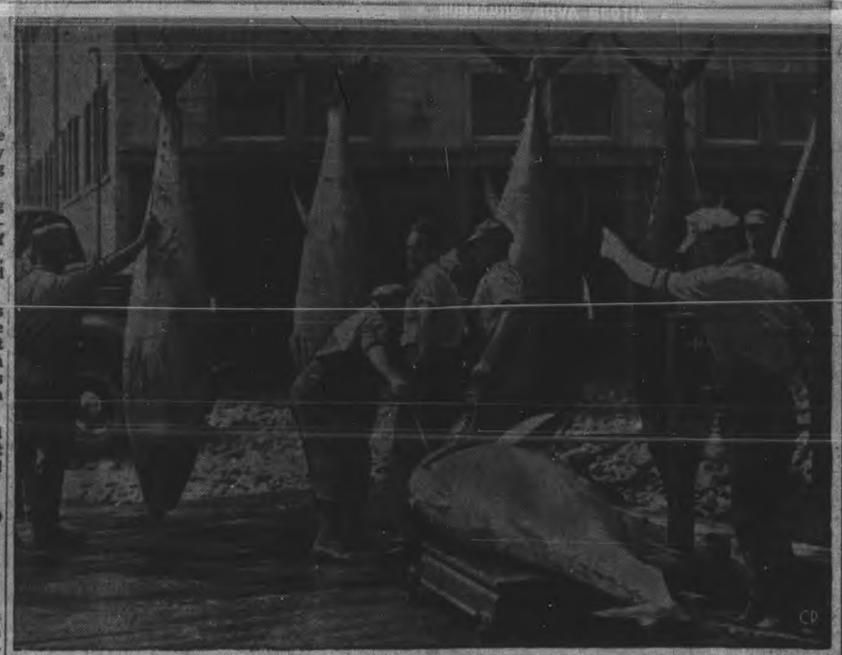
First, the witness identifies the type of hat the suspect was wearing. Then the hat is placed over the photo of the suspect's head. Reeves makes the hat to fit the head size of photographs used by the different police forces using his device.

Reeves' hobby is photographing policemen. His "Gallery of Louisville Police" contains photos of more than 500 local policemen, F.B.I. agents, U.S. marshals and private detectives.

The photographer built up his album by offering to make free portraits of law enforcement officers. When an officer comes in for his free photograph, Reeves makes an extra print for his own "gallery."

Reeves' offer is made on a small card which he hands out. On it is a small photo of himself and this inscription:

"Wanted! Frank Reeves.



This man has 'shot' over 300 policeman."

Baby Sitter Killed

YORBA LINDA, Calif. (AP)—An attractive baby sitter, Ruby Ann Payne, 15, was shot and killed yesterday in what police said was a rape attempt. The girl's body was found lying in a pool of blood in a bedroom at the home of a neighbor.

71-Day Fast

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Fakhir Burmah claimed last night he had beaten a world record for fasting held by a Tunisian named Raykan. But Burmah refused to come out of his glass cage and said he will stay there until Sunday, when his abstaining mark would be 71 days, two hours.

TUNA FOR EXPORT — Although tuna fishing is regarded as a famous sport at such places as Soldier's Rip, near Wedgeport, N.S., the fighting fish also is sought by commercial fishermen as a profitable industry. United States takes the lion's share of the catch. Tuna is exported to Maine, New York and Boston and other coastal centres. Prices this year average six cents a pound for the big bluefins.

TUNA RUN STARTS—Commercial tuna fishing is fast becoming a major industry for an expanding group of Nova Scotia fishermen. In St. Margaret's Bay, near Halifax, 200 fishermen are engaged in the run which continues until mid-October. One Halifax exporter said: "We can take from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 pounds. The market is unlimited." Fishermen are shown hauling up traps and spillers with their catch of tuna.

Tuna Fishing Big Business In Nova Scotia

HALIFAX (CP) — Commercial tuna fishing is fast becoming a major industry for an expanding group of Nova Scotia fishermen.

At nearby St. Margaret's Bay, some 200 fishermen are busy. The tuna run has started and will continue until the middle of October.

Said one Halifax exporter: "We can take from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 pounds. The market is unlimited."

Ten years ago, however, fishermen regarded the battling bluefins as a nuisance. They ripped up nets and ate tons of herring and mackeral.

But during the war years, when Japan's tuna export trade to North America was cut, Canadian and United States canneries began looking to their coastal waters.

TUNA TOURNAMENT

Evidence showed they were abundant. Near Wedgeport, N.S., a tide-tortured strip of water called Soldier's Rip was already famous as the "world's best angling spot for tuna." Each September it is the scene of the international tuna tournament.

The United States takes the lion's share of the catch. Tuna caught in the St. Margaret's Bay area are sent to Maine in refrigerated trucks. Fishermen southward along the coast send their fish to Digby, where they are shipped to New York and Boston.

The 1949 catch of 868,000 pounds was worth $75,000 but prices have declined. Fishermen were offered six cents a pound this year. Although a good haul can net them as high as $240 daily, a fisherman's average earning for the three-month season is $1,200.

Tuna are caught by a trap and spiller method. Few are harpooned. The trap consists of a regular herring or mackerel net set with one end open. When tuna are caught, a spiller—heavy net with a six-inch mesh—is dropped and scooped under the fish.

Six or seven boats draw the spiller to the surface, where the fish usually smother if it is full. But if the catch is meagre, then the thrashing tuna are killed by axes.

When the run is heavy, 40 to 50 large tuna have been caught in one haul, and often 200 smaller ones.

The bluefins, which reach a weight of 1,500 pounds, make their annual trip to the Nova Scotia coast, but nobody knows where they spawn. Although taken for centuries, notably in the Mediterranean, they have kept their secret.

2 Per Cent Of Exports Go To Red Countries

UNITED NATIONS, U.S. (AP)—The free world sent only two per cent of its exports behind the Iron Curtain in 1951, a United Nations survey showed yesterday. The same survey showed trade among free countries booming as never before in history.

The U.N.'s monthly bulletin of statistics revealed that not only is non-communist trade with Russia, her satellites and Communist China minute in comparison with other commerce but it is constantly declining.

Red countries got $1,550,000,000 worth of goods in 1951—the last year for which figures are available—but most of this was in the early months. Volume of trade was down 25 per cent by Jan. 1, 1952.

Speculate If Pyramids Contain Answer

By ED POLLAK

CAIRO (AP)—What will happen Aug. 20, 1953?

Will that day mark the beginning of the third world war? An earthquake which will ravage half the world? The death of Stalin? The re-appearance of Hitler?

Some people are convinced the day will be a major historical event. Because, they say, Aug. 20, 1953, is one of the significant dates mysteriously pointed out in the construction stones of Egypt's great pyramid.

Others say there is nothing to it—that it's all nonsense.

ONE OF 7 WONDERS

The great pyramid, located just outside Cairo, was built some 5,000 years ago. It is the burial place of the pharaoh Cheops. With two smaller pyramids—built under the pharaohs Kephren and Mykerinos—and the sphinx, it forms a compound which the ancients acclaimed as one of the world's seven wonders.

Egypt has 60 pyramids but it is the great pyramid of Cheops that has intrigued generations of researchers and mystic thinkers.

In 1864, Charles Piazzi Smith, royal astronomer of Scotland, published a book "Our Inheritance in the Great Pyramid." He theorized that the ancient Egyptians, to build the monument which towered 482 feet above the fabulous city of Memphis, used a special measure. This, Piazza Smith said, was the "pyramidal inch" which equals 1.001 modern inches. He then under took complicated calculations to prove that the pyramidal inch was the 500-millionth part of the earth's diameter.

SUPERNATURAL INSPIRATION

Supporters of the theory that the pyramid is a "prophecy of stone" note that the ancient Egyptians knew nothing about the earth's diameter or the 3.1416 figure. Therefore, they conclude, something supernatural inspired its designers.

J.P. Lauer, chief architect with the Egyptian antiquities department rejects all mystic theories.

In his book, "The Problem of Egypt's Pyramids," Lauer, a Frenchman, claims all calculations based on measurements of the pyramids are started on false or distorted data. Says Lauer:

DATES FOUND

"Our theorists are agreed to consider the end of the great gallery, that is the foot of its southern wall, and the beginning of the low passage leading to the anteroom, as corresponding to the date of the outbreak of World War I—1914."

Then Lauer lists these other date "found" by the theorists:

1918, the end of the First World War.

Aug. 20, 1938—Nov. 27, 1939—March 3 and 4, 1945—Feb. 19, 1946, and Aug. 20, 1953.

None of these dates, argues Lauer, has marked any significant event. (Aug. 20, 1953, of course, is still to come.)

Another author, the French abbot Moreaux, found that if you divide the perimeter of the base of the pyramid by twice its height you obtain 3.1416 or PI, the ratio of the circumference of a circle to its diameter.

16-Pound Muskie

HASTINGS (ENS)—W. Hormizer of Pittsburgh, Pa., while fishing with Iden Bonds Jr. of Hastings near Grasshopper Island in the Trent river, hooked a lunge that tipped the scales at 16 lbs. and measured 39 inches. This is Mr. Hormizer's first lunge.

Freighter Aground

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—A freighter ran aground in the St. Lawrence River yesterday when its steering gear broke. The Lawrence-Cliff of the Ogdensburg-Hall Corp. was grounded a few miles upstream from the freighter Fircodoc, which on Tuesday was stranded about 10 miles east of here.

Coudn't Smell Fire

KITCHENER (CP)—F. R. Minns, Toronto salesman, found yesterday that the lack of a sense of smell can be a handicap. Because of his disability, he did not discover a fire in the back seat of his 1950 English-made car until it was too far advanced to be extinguished. The car, a wallet and a suit coat were destroyed.

2 Escaped Prisoners From Guelph Caught

GUELPH (CP)—Two prisoners at the Ontario reformatory who escaped Saturday by breaking a window in the institution's woollen mill have been recaptured.

George Nobles, 18, of Woodstock and Patrick Villeneuve, 18, of Foleyet, Ont., escaped at 11 a.m. Twelve hours later Nobles was taken into custody near Ellen's Bridge.

Villeneuve was arrested Sunday.

Convict Paid $1,000 Fee For U.S. Visa

Detroit Paper Says Consulate Worker Involved In Racket

DETROIT (CP)—The Times said today that a convict in a Canadian prison paid $1,000 for a United States visa which he obtained and used four days after his release.

The convict is still living in the U.S. and is a law-abiding resident, a newspage story said.

The newspaper said also that a former employee of the U.S. consulate in Windsor is under investigation by the Justice Department as having been involved in a "highly-organized visa fraud set-up."

ANONYMOUS INFORMANTS

The statements were credited to anonymous "informants." No names were given.

One of the "informants" who claimed to have taken a personal part in obtaining the visa for the convict said the man got in touch with "a visa racket agent" while he was imprisoned and paid over $1,000.

The U.S. consulate employee who was employed in a minor capacity was said to have operated an office elsewhere in Windsor with a staff that included foreign language interpreters.

SPECIAL ATTENTION

Another "informant" stated that visa applications which were made out in colored pencil by an agent of the visa racket got special attention at the U.S. consulate in Windsor, the Times said. Various colors were said to have been used and each color was said to have special significance.

The newspaper said that several "petty racketeers" have entered the U.S. with visas during the last 18 months. Racket agents were able to obtain police clearances for persons who had served time in prison.

A clear police record is necessary to obtain a visa.

Attorney - General James P. McGranery said Friday in Washington that some 100 Canadian citizens have obtained entrance to the U.S. with visas obtained with fraudulent papers.

NINETY-FIFTH BIRTHDAY today, for Miss Mary Eagleson of Millbrook is a happy occasion for the village's oldest citizen. She was born in Cartwright Township, near Nestleton, lived many years in Bailieboro and laterly in Millbrook and is at present in a Peterborough nursing home. Though crippled by a street fall 22 years ago, Miss Eagleson has otherwise been in excellent health. "I have no ambition to become a centenarian, however," she said today in an interview.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Exchange Fire In 15-Mile Essex Chase

Harrow Constable Noticed Stolen Car, Pursued

HARROW (CP)—A gunman who escaped in a stolen automobile after a running gun battle with a Provincial Police constable was being sought in the Harrow district today.

Constable Stanley Grabb spotted the automobile early today speeding along the main street of this Essex county town. He took off in pursuit in his cruiser and the battle began with both quarry and pursuer firing shot after shot.

The chase followed a twisting course for 15 miles along darkened sideroads before Constable Grabb lost sight of the gunman's car.

Police at Windsor, 15 miles north identified the stolen automobile as that in which Arthur Calibaba, 21, and Alice Chaput, 18, were briefly abducted Aug. 4. The car was recovered at Blenheim, Ont., after the abduction and stolen again in Windsor last night.

New Highway Link Near City To Ease Traffic On 28 and 2

Designed to ease traffic pressure on Highway 2 from Newcastle to Bowmanville, a 16-mile diversion will be built from Highway 35 to Highway 28 just west of Peterborough. Hon. George Doucett, minister of highways, said today a start would be made on the diversion as soon as materials were available. The project is one of seven scattered throughout the province.

The new diversion will run from just south of Pontypool on Highway 35 to "five-mile-turn" west of the city. It will funnel traffic from Highway 2A—the four-laner being built eastward from Toronto—and from Highway 2, to Peterborough.

SEVEN PROJECTS

Seven million pounds of reinforcing steel are needed for the seven priority projects listed by the highways department. Because of this, there may be some delays in starting construction, although Mr. Doucet said every effort would be made to obtain the needed steel.

From Highway 35—which runs north from Newcastle to Lindsay and eventually Dorset—the diversion will run northeast, roughly parallel to the C.P.R. tracks.

It will probably cross the C.P.R. line somewhere between Dranoel and Cavan.

In actual mileage, the diversion will mean very little change from the Highway 28 route via the Dale cutoff and Welcome. The main difference will be in a smaller number of sharp turns, and more straightaway.

Also scheduled as priority jobs are: a by-pass on Highway 11 at Washago; connections of Highways 15 and 17 at the east and west approaches to Ottawa; an express route on Highway 11 north of Orillia; completion of Highway 69 from Parry Sound to Burwash; a controlled access highway to intersect Highways 2 and 4 midway between London and St. Thomas; and grading of a controlled access highway to the north end of Kingston from Cataraqui village.

U.N. Admits Planes Flew Over Truce Site

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The United Nations Command said today the two or three jet planes which flew over the Panmunjom truce-talks site Sunday in violation of its neutrality probably were U.N planes.

The statement was in a note from Col. Charles W. McCarthy, senior U.N. Command liaison officer to Col. Chang Chun-san, top Red liaison officer, delivered at Panmunjom in response to a Red protest.

The note said witnesses were unable to observe identifying marks on the planes but "we have concluded in all probability the aircraft in question were those of the U.N.

"This overflight is regretted. Our side will make continued efforts to prevent occurrences of this kind."

The truce talks, in their third successive week-long recess, are scheduled to resume Aug. 19.

Three Injured On Cruiser's Mercy Trip

Three people were injured Monday night when a provincial police cruiser carrying 16-year-old Lois Parr, of Brooklin, to Oshawa hospital, struck a truck, snapped off a telegraph pole and overturned in the ditch. The accident was at Laracor Ave. and Simcoe St. N., just inside the northern limits of Oshawa.

Lois' brother, 14-year-old Glen, who was accompanying her on her emergency dash to hospital, received a cut left ear, cut on the collarbone, and bruises on the head and shoulder.

O.P.P. Constable O. G. Smith, of Whitby, driving the cruiser, sustained a head cut.

TRIED TO PASS

Sounding the siren, Constable Smith tried to pass a half-ton panel truck, driven by William A. Smith, of Oshawa. Smith heard the siren, he told city police later, but thought it was passing him on the right. He started to make a left turn and the speeding cruiser crashed into his left fender and wheel.

The cruiser then careened over to the left shoulder of the road, snapped off a telegraph pole and overturned. The two Parrs were reported to have been thrown out of the vehicle. Both are now in Oshawa hospital being treated for their injuries.

The cruiser is wrecked and the front left fender and wheel of the truck are also damaged beyond repair.

US Marines Knock Reds Off Hills

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Flame throwing tanks and riflemen of the United States Marines last night burned and blasted Chinese Communists off Siberia Hill and today captured Bunker Ridge, dominating the sector on the Korean western front. A Marine spokesman said that by mid-afternoon the entire Siberia area was "quiet as a churchmouse." Since Saturday the fighting for the nob east of the Panmunjom truce-talks site had been bitter. The Chinese made their first bid to win the hill Saturday. It changed hands six times before the Marines finally secured it.

VESSELS HIT

The navy announced that Communist shore batteries hit the American destroyer J. R. Pierce and Barton and the British frigate Mounts Bay in separate actions in the last week. One American and one British sailor were killed and 14 sailors wounded. None of the warships was seriously damaged.

U.S. B-29 superforts and B-26 light bombers last night hit the area north of Wonsan, which had been razed earlier in the day by a 150-plane fighter-bomber attack.

The U.S. Far East air force said the superforts smashed a metal fabricating plant turning out ordnance supplies. The B-26s mopped up on a chemical plant and troop area.

PLANES STRIKE

Fifth air force planes hit the Chinese in the Siberia sector with rockets, bombs, and flaming gasoline prior to the Marine assault.

Flame-throwing tanks thundered to within 20 yards of the crest of Siberia and sprayed the hill. Riflemen, five yards behind the tanks, picked off the Reds who escaped the flames.

AP correspondent Sam Summerlin, at the front, said Siberia Hill is so beaten with shell, bullets, and fire "that it looks like a big mound of face powder."

DIVERSIONARY ACTION

The attack on Siberia Hill was a diversionary action to throw the Reds off guard for the main assault on Bunker Hill, long held by the Reds and named because of its stout fortifciations.

Policeman Halts Death Leap

TORONTO (CP)—A 27-year-old war veteran early today stood silhouetted against police searchlights atop a three-storey northeast Toronto home and threatened to jump.

Constable Ronald Byron removed his shoes and stockings and climbed a fire department ladder to the roof top. There, for five minutes, he talked with the veteran and offered him a cigaret. Then the man, a one-time mental patient at burst into tears and shouted: "I haven't got the nerve. . .no nerve."

In police station he was charged with causing a disturbance.

Police said they will recommend he undergo a mental examination.

Name of the man, spotted by passers-by as he stood on the edge of the roof, was not released by police.

Claxton Lauds Air Defence

CAMP PETAWAWA (CP)—Air defence of North America has been proved practicable, Defence Minister Claxton said today.

He made the statement in unveiling a memorial to Canada's first military flights 43 years ago and he called those 1909 events "the beginning of something that has become enormously significant and distinctive in our national life."

"That the air defence of North America is practicable was demonstrated two weeks ago by Exercise Signpost," the minister said. That was the joint Canadian-American air-defence exercise which went on for a week on both sides of the border.

Mr. Claxton said more than 80 mock attacks "were made without warning by large numbers of the biggest and fastest bombers there are and they were identified and intercepted."

Nye Leaving For Ottawa Job

LONDON (CP)—Lt.-Gen. Sir Archibald Nye, soldier-diplomat, sails for Montreal today to take over the post of United Kingdom high commissioner in Canada.

With Sir Archibald will be Lady Nye, daughter of Sir Harry and Lady Knox, their young daughter, Harriet, and 23-year-old Sheila Stevenson, Lady Nye's daughter by her first marriage.

Prior to his new appointment, Sir Archibald was Britain's high commissioner in India and earlier governor of Madras. From 1941 to 1946 he was vice-chief of the imperial general staff with particular accent on liaison between air and ground forces.

A native of Dublin, Sir Archibald joined the British army as "Private Ted Nye" in 1914 and won a commission within a year. His first regiment, the now-defunct Leinsters, had a remote link with Canada.

This was an Irish force which was also called the "Royal Canadians" because it fought at Niagara in the 19th century.

Farm Land Promised To Egyptians

CAIRO, Egypt (Reuters)—Egypt's bloodless revolution entered a new phase today with a plan by "strong-man" Mohammed Naguib to take farm land away from the rich and give it to the poor.

Naguib held out to poverty-stricken millions a dazzling hope of owning the farms which they have worked for generations for a few wealthy owners.

The general who bounced King Farouk from his throne presented his sweeping demands for agrarian reform to Aly Maher, the independent he chose to head Egypt's emergency government.

Naguib's plan called for individual land ownership in Egypt to be limited to 200 acres. The state would take over the surplus land and pay compensation in installments over 30 years with interest at 3½ per cent.

The state-owned land would be sold to peasants on terms over 30 years.

Egypt has about 6,000,000 acres of arable land, most of which is in the hands of about 500 owners.

FARM WORKERS LEAVE

OTTAWA (CP)—The big annual move of eastern farm workers to help western farmers harvest their crops has begun, the Labor Department announced today.

Red Envoy Given Asylum In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—For the first time and after what officials described as "appropriate research," Canada has granted political asylum to an Iron Curtain diplomat who came here as a Communist and worked for a Red government for a number of years. He is Dr. Jiri Georges Mares, 43-year-old lawyer-diplomat who yesterday resigned as Czechoslovakian consul-general in Montreal and was given permission by the government to remain in Canada with his wife and three children. It has been decided, officials said, that they would be good immigrants.

CHANGED THINKING

Dr. Mares later told a press conference he was a Communist in 1948 when he came to Montreal but that he has completely changed his thinking in Canada, mainly starting with the Korean war. He said he made up his mind to quit the Czech foreign service when Prague suggested he should come home on vacation and bring his three daughters.

He quit because that "would mean putting the children in a state-directed institute which would systematically eradicate the democratic and Christian education which they received in Canada." Another reason was that it has become obvious "it would be impossible to continue working for the present Czech government."

Dr. Mares is believed to be the first ex-Communist among the lengthening list of foreign diplomats who have been granted political asylum here since the war. He is the eighth Czech to be given sanctuary since the Red Coup in 1948.

The external affairs department said he first approached the immigration department some time ago and that "appropriate research" into his background and reliability preceded yesterday's decision. The R.C.M.P. were involved in the check.

Dr. Mares and family were given a six-months entry permit, the normal prelude to full admission in such a case. Dr. Mares said he still doesn't know what he's going to do for a living.

Fired From U.N. Awarded $6,990

GENEVA (CP) — Hugh Lukin Robinson, former Canadian civil servant who claimed he was fired from his United Nations job because of union activities, yesterday was awarded $6,990 by a U.N. administrative tribunal.

Robinson, 36-year-old population expert from Toronto who once worked in the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa, was dismissed last January at the end of his one-year contract with the U.N. secretariat.

He alleged his $6,000-a-year job was terminated without reason after two years service because he had been active as an executive of a staff union which charged Secretary-General Trygve Lie with "union-busting" tactics.

Begin Search For Lost Plane

SUMMERSIDE, P.E.I. (CP)—Thirteen aircraft were scheduled to leave the R.C.A.F. base early today to search for a Harvard and its crew of two, reported missing last night after taking off on a local flight.

The Harvard, used for training purposes, left base in early afternoon and failed to return. It was not expected to fly more than 35 miles from the field.

Names of the men aboard were not released pending notification of next of kin.

Japanese Parliament Confirms Treasure Loss

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese Parliament committee today said it has confirmed that a large quantity of Japanese national treasure is missing and that receipts by occupation officials for some of it are "extremely unclear and figures do not jibe."

The report said also that much of the treasure may have disappeared during the Second World War while the property was still in Japanese hands.

"We have confirmed the loss of a considerably large quantity of precious metals and diamonds, including the Empress Nagako's crown made of gold and platinum and studded with five large diamonds," the committee said.

The Empress gave the crown to the government during the war as a patriotic example.

Most of the treasure was bought by the government for war use or contributed by citizens.

Seek Jewels and Gold

Prepare To Dredge Mud For Louis XVI's Fortune

LE HAVRE, France (Reuters)—A French salvage firm is preparing to dredge from the mud and quicksand of the Seine estuary a fabulous treasure—virtually the entire fortune of France's King Louis XVI and his Queen Marie Antoinette.

The royal treasure, said to include a $280,000 diamond necklace gift to Marie, was aboard the 130-ton brig Telemaque when she was swallowed up by a storm only 200 yards off the fishing village of Wuilleboeuf in 1790.

Unsuccessful attempts to find the brig were made the same year and in 1818, 1837, 1843 and 1938.

Spurred by the 162-year-old story of the treasure hoard, reputed worth more than $20,000,000, the French company will make another try this summer using every modern salvage device, including diving bells weighing 100 tons.

Dull-witted Louis and his beautiful and pleasure-loving wife were being held prisoner in their Paris palace when the Telemaque was given orders to sail the fortune to England for safety.

On the night of Jan. 1, the Telemaque slipped out of Rouen with its treasure hidden in barrels of tar. Two days later the small vessel sank into the Seine estuary's quicksand.

Including the fortune were golden holy vessels, gold and silver bullion, priceless silverplate and jewels.

Will Ask Truman Walk Carefully

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson meet today for historic talks during which the Illinois governor may ask Truman not to steal his thunder in the presidential campaign ahead.

Stevenson's packed six-hour visit to the capital—particularly his private talk with Truman—is certain to be a sharp test of his diplomacy.

WHISTLE-STOP TOUR

The President wants to make a whistle-stop campaign tour lambasting the Republicans and plugging for the Democratic candidates. But he has said he will do what Stevenson wants him to do.

The Illinois governor is expected to tell the President he will be glad to have his help—but not to such a degree that his own campaign efforts will be forced to secondary play in the press.

Aside from that, there is another important angle: Stevenson already is trying to brush off charges of some Republicans that he is a "captive candidate" of the Truman administration. He wants to run on his own.

120 Marooned On Mountain

LLANBERIS, Wales (Reuters)—About 120 people, marooned by a plane crash which blocked a mountain railway line, spent last night in a raging gale at the summit of 3,560-foot Mount Snowdon.

Some stayed in a chalet on the peak, the highest in Wales. Others stayed in the trains.

The line was blocked for several hours when an R.A.F. bomber crashed on the track, killing the crew of three. By the time it was cleared the howling wind made it unsafe for two trains, held up by the crash, to proceed along the steep mountain railway.

Need 5,000 Teachers

WINNIPEG — (CP) — Canadian schools will be short about 5,000 qualified teachers in 1952-53, George G. Croskery of Ottawa, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Teachers' Federaiton, said today. In his annual report to the 31st conference of the federation, Mr. Croskery said a country-wide survey showed 6,500 teachers left the profession this summer. In addition 3,000 teachers were needed to "take care of an estimated increased in enrolment of 93,100 pupils." He said teacher training schools will turn out about 4,500 graduates. The number in training in 1951-52 was "almost 20 per cent lower than in 1950-51."

New Crackdown In China

Plan Special Police Bureau For Every Village, Factory

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Communist China today announced plans to set up a country-wide police organization with bureaus in every village, school and factory empowered to arrest people for anything from major crimes to "wrong thoughts."

The police organs will be known as "security committees."

The scheme was announced today by the federal Department of Public Security and carried by the official Chinese news agency.

The announcement said the committees would help the government prevent "counter-revolutionary activites of arsonists, spies, traitors and bandits."

The greatest purge in the history of modern China has been conducted in recent months against merchants and businessmen found guilty of "illegal practices," mostly vague charges of defying communist regulations or being "counter-revolutionaries." Thousands have died before firing squads.

But it was announced recently in Peiping that the purge is nearing completion. The intention apparently is to set up the "security committee" system to see that the "counter-revolutionaries" do not regenerate.

The announcement says the members will be elected but did not say who will vote.

Bus Plows Into Flood 18 Passengers Panic

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP)—A Dixie Greyhound bus plowed into a flood near here early today and a torrent of water poured through it, throwing some of the 18 passengers into panic.

An elderly passenger was missing and presumed drowned.

Bill Thompson, about 30, of Eufaula, Ala., was credited with saving three other passengers who were swept off their feet by the swift current after leaving the bus.

The bus was swamped near here where a cloudburst turned a normally-quiet creek into a raging torrent. Water poured over the highway at a depth of five feet at one time.

Canada's Exports Climb To Peak Of Over $2 Billion

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's exports climbed to a peak $2,100,000,000 during the first six months of 1952. They were pushed ahead, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday, by a marked expansion in shipments to the United Kingdom, Latin America and most European markets. While these markets provided the main impetus for a 20-per-cent jump over last year's comparative six months total of $1,760,000,000, shipments to the United States also were slightly higher, passing the billion-dollar mark for the second successive year.

In spite of her dollar troubles, Britain's purchases in Canada reached a peacetime high of $395,000,000, up more than $140,000,000 from last year's $254,000,000. Shipments to Latin America almost doubled to $148,300,000 from $79,700,000.

Most of the general increase was due to expanded volume which swelled by some 17 per cent.

MAINTAIN PACE

June's exports maintained the accelerated pace, climbing to $375,000,000, up more than $60,000,000 from $313,000,000 last year and just slightly below the all-time monthly high of $381,000,000 reached during May.

Newsprint and wheat sparked the big 1952 advance. Wheat, which had been riding in fourth place among the export leaders, jumped back into the second slot, climbing to $84,500,000 during June from $40,600,000 last year and shooting up to $263,244,000 from $148,631,000 in the six-month period.

Newsprint shipments climbed to $48,338,000 from $39,214,000 during June and maintained the six-month lead at $283,244,000 up from $248,500,000 in the first six months of 1951.

8 Mountaineers Head For Africa

By PETER ARROWSMITH

PARIS (Reuters)—Eight French mountaineers, inspired by the recent success of French expeditions in India and South America, plan to set out this month to tackle three snow-capped giants of Africa.

The leader of the African expedition, explained that an increasing number of French climbers felt the challenge of non-European mountain peaks.

"Mountaineering began in France as a sport 90 years ago. Since then all our peaks have been scaled," Martin said. "The sport has become popular and the mountains so crowded that solitude, one of the mountaineer's delights, can no longer be found in France—we go to Africa."

French expeditions have always combined science with mountain climbing. The Club Alpin, of which all the Kenya party are members, has a scientific commission of 70 mountaineer scholars which collates geological, botanical and glaciological information obtained in the course of expeditions.

U.K. Forces Announce New Malaya Victory

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—British security forces yesterday announced new successes in their Malayan jungle battle against Communist terrorists, including the killing of six women terrorists.

One of the women was Yap Ching, a 26-year-old local terrorist committee member with a dead or alive price of $300 on her head.

Fifty terrorists have been killed or captured so far this month and 13 of their food dumps have been discovered. Security forces also destroyed 10 terrorist camps in Pahang state, long considered the guerrillas' stronghold.

Food Supplies Plentiful Despite Drought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plentiful supplies of food appear to be in store for the United States during the year ahead despite last month's damaging drought in the south and northeast.

In its latest measurement of production prospects, the U.S. agriculture department predicted late yesterday that the combined volume of all crops this year will be larger than in any year except 1948 and 1949.

Although the indicated output is larger than last year, it will be less evenly distributed because of heavy losses in southern states. The south will need to ship in more feed than usual if it is to avert a serious setback in the production of meat, dairy and poultry products.

ENOUGH ELSEWHERE

Elsewhere, there appeared to be sufficient corn, oats, hay and other feed materials to foster a further expansion in production of beef, pork, milk, eggs and poultry.

The U.S. is harvesting its second-largest wheat crop on record, far in excess of expected needs. Only in the case of potatoes and sweet potatoes are supplies likely to become tight before new crops are harvested in 1953.

Meanwhile, the department moved to provide financial aid to more financially-distressed farmers in drought areas. It put all New Hampshire, 10 additional counties in Oklahoma and seven in Illinois in the "disaster" classification. Farmers in such areas may obtain loans to carry on operations.

The department previously had designated all of Maine, Massachusetts, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas and parts of Missouri as drought disaster areas.

GREAT WATER

The state of Michigan was so named for the Indian words "Michi" and "Gama" meaning "Great Water."

HIS GARB hardly proletarian, Andrei Gromyko, new Soviet Ambassador to Britain, is his usual unsmiling self as he leaves the Russian Embassy in Kensington Palace Gardens, London, to present his credentials to Queen Elizabeth. In keeping with protocol, he entered a gilded Royal coach to ride to Buckingham Palace where he was introduced to the Queen by Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary. The Russian envoy spent 20 minutes at the palace.

Left Home And $250,000 Providing Name Changed

KINGSTON (CP)—A home and $250,000 awaits Lt.Col. Edward Murray Dalziel McNaughton on condition that he change his last name "legally and publicly" to Leslie.

Lt.Col. McNaughton, now serving with the Canadian forces in Korea, is the son of Gen. A.G.L. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission.

The unusual request is the main provision in the will of the late Mrs. James Norman Stuart Leslie who died here May 19. Her husband, Col. Leslie, predeceased her a year ago. He was a former officer commanding the Royal Canadian Artillery here. Lt.Col. McNaughton was named in the will as Mrs. Leslie's nephew.

SETTING UP TRUST

The first charge on the residue of the estate after the granting of several small bequests is the setting up of "The Leslie Trust," made up of the $250,000.

Mrs. Leslie also left $25,000 to the children's section of Hotel Dieu hospital and another $25,000 to the children's section of Kingston General hospital.

Only specific charitable bequest was $1,000 to the Victorian Order of Nurses, Kingston.

The will says that if Lt.-Col. McNaughton, who is unmarried, refuses to change his last name, children of any future marriage are to be given a similar opportunity.

"ONLY" SURNAME

If he accepts the conditions he will receive the income from the trust fund and have the privilege of living in the Leslie house here. His acceptance would mean that Leslie would be his "absolute and only" surname.

After 20 years if there is no one legally entitled to the fund under the conditions regarding the name, it is to be divided between four residuary legatees, two of whom are Lt.-Col. McNaughton's sisters.

The same conditions regarding the change of name apply in the event of a son of Lt.-Col. McNaughton being the beneficiary. In the case of a daughter being entitled to the income or capital at the time of marrying her husband must take the name of Leslie within one year after marriage or within one year of her becoming entitled to the trust.

LONDON (CP)—Citizens in many areas of Britain when facing an emergency dial the code number 999 for quick assistance. The service for speedy police, fire or medical aid was established in London in 1937 and now has been extended to about 2,000 telephone exchanges in the United Kingdom.

Anthony Eden To Marry Churchill's Niece

LONDON (Reuters)—Foreign secretary Anthony Eden will soon marry Miss Clarissa Spencer-Churchill, niece of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, the Foreign Office announced today.

Eden's first marriage was dissolved in June, 1950, on grounds of desertion by his wife, the former Miss Beatrice Helen Beckett, who had lived in the United States for two years.

Eden is 55; his fiancee 32.

Miss Spencer-Churchill is the daughter of the late Maj. Jack Spencer-Churchill, the Prime Minister's only brother—"The Churchill nobody knew."

Ash-blonde, fair-complexioned with periwinkle-blue eyes, Miss Spencer-Churchill was hailed as the most beautiful debutant of 1938. She has studied drawing, written on ballet, the theatre, books and films, and taken university courses in philosophy, English and French literature.

In the last war she worked in Britain for the English newspaper produced for the Russians in Kuibishev. For a time she was at the Foreign Office.

Miss Spencer-Churchill bears a striking resemblance to Churchill's daughter, Mary.

Western Powers To Make Bargain

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The western powers today offered to take part in a Big Five meeting on disarmament and atomic control if Russia will agree to a plan for voluntary troop ceilings.

The offer was laid before the United Nations disarmament commission by Britain, the United States and France in a working paper drafted to answer questions raised by Russia on the earlier paper proposing the troop ceilings.

The new proposal provided that the Big Five (presumably including Red China) would meet "upon acceptance" of the plan for ceilings and would tackle the whole general disarmament problem. Russia, however, already has indicated she will not agree to the ceilings.

The original paper proposed that the United States, Russia and China voluntarily reduce their armed forces to 1,500,000 men each and that Britain and France cut down to 800,000 men each.

The new paper suggested that the procedure for putting these ceilings into effect be worked out by the Big Five.

The Big Five also would go into the whole question of eliminating weapons of mass destruction, such as atomic weapons and germ warfare, and would take up the controversial question of controlling atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

A U.S. eighth army staff officer said: "The diversion was a success. The Chinese were completely fooled and badly confused."

Chinese and U.N. artillery pounded into the inferno but in 90 minutes the Marines held the ridge. Between then and dawn a small group of Reds was wiped out in a saddle of the ridge.

The eighth army staff officer said there were no live Reds on the ridge, but Summerlin reported that early this afternoon a small bunker —perhaps only one or two Chinese —still harassed the Marines with machine-gun and sniper fire.

Prince At School New Jordan King

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters)—Crown Prince Hussein, 17-year-old student at an English private school, Monday became King of Jordan. He was proclaimed after the Jordan parliament decreed the abdication of his father, King Talal, who has been certified insane and unfit to rule this Middle Eastern country. A three-man regency council will rule for him until he comes of age on his 18th birthday, May 2, next year. During a six-hour secret session parliament decided to proclaim young Hussein in place of his father, later hearing medical evidence that 41-year-old Talal is incapacitated by insanity so that he could not govern. Talal is believed suffering from schizophrenia (split personality).

The stockily built new King of Jordan recently graduated from Harrow, exclusive English boarding school for boys. At present he is on vacation in Switzerland with his mother, Queen Zain.

He became heir apparent to the throne last year as he stood beside his grandfather, King Abdullah, when the dynamic old ruler was murdered in Jerusalem. Hussein's father, Talal, was made King and he himself became next in line for the throne.

OVERSHADOWED BY FATHER

Talal, known as the Lonely Prince was always overshadowed by his father. He had in his youth little opportunity to learn the arts of kingship. And he was generally excluded from responsibility.

Some observers attribute these reasons as being responsible for the frustration and despondency which led up to his illness.

This year his condition deteriorated rapidly.

There is nothing to indicate that Hussein will be more anti-British than his predecessors. He speaks English fluently and had dreams of entering Sandhurst Military College on his graduation from Harrow.

(In London government sources said they believe Britain's ties with Jordan would be strengthened with Hussein's ascension to the throne. His father was regarded as being anti-British in contrast to old King Abdullah's policies.

(For years Abdullah was a kingpin in Britain's system of mid-eastern alliances. The British still officer and train the strong Arab Legion, with a Briton, Brig.-Gen. J. B. Glubb, as its commander-in-chief.)

All Prices Slip Lower On Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Prices in all sections slipped lower today in early afternoon stock market trading.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,168,000 shares.

Foods and steels led the industrial decline. Papers showed strength and utilities and constructions were firm. Brazilian Traction, a utility, opened weak and slipped in active trading.

Senior golds were weak but junior producers and prospects recorded more gains than losses. Active trading in Brewis, Crowshore, Hugh Pam and Norgold, all prospects, brought penny gains. Holding companies were mixed.

Losses in western oils outnumbered gains almost two to one as support faded for many issues. Home Oil, Tower Petroleum and Canadian Williston showed strength but Devon Leduc and Trans-Empire weakened.

A few base metals made small gains in active trading but a majority slipped.

The exchange's 1 p.m. indices showed industrials down 1.30 at 331.98, golds down .31 at 93.36, base metals down .54 at 197.80 and western oils down .97 at 142.14.

Pickets Set Up Tents At Plant

LEAMINGTON (CP)—Pickets of the United Packinghouse Workers had set up tents and a canteen today outside the H.J. Heinz of Canada plant where 1,000 workers have been on strike since Friday to back contract demands.

The tents and the peacefully-strolling pickets were the only outward signs of the tie-up which agricultural officials say may cause thousands of dollars worth of tomatoes to rot in the fields of Essex and Lambton counties. Company refrigeration equipment was operating.

The tomato run in most canneries was expected to start next week.

Members of the C.I.O.-C.C.L. union are asking a 21-cent wage increase on an hourly basic rate of 99 cents. The company has offered 11 cents. Some 100 Heinz employees at Wallaceburg, 15 miles northwest of Chatham, also are involved in the strike.

The company has charged the dispute has been "manufactured by a small group who have assumed leadership of the union." A union statement declared that the Heinz company "being the only industry in town for many years. . . has been able to maintain low wages and generally poor working conditions."

Main product to be mined, the announcement said, is pyrochlore, used in the manufacture of heat resisting alloys for jet engines.

Other products will be baddleyite and zircon. The pyrochlore will be exported to the United States. Baddelyite and Zircon will be for British consumption, the announcement said.

RED-HEADED DAY FAMILY in Clarence Day's famous and funny account of his own father and family, "Life With Father," which the Summer Theatre stages this week. Mother and Father Day (Kate Reid and Jerry Sarracini) on are on the settee, with the two youngest sons by them—Peter Dorrington on arm, Rosalind Ross on floor. The two eldest (back row) are played by Frank Perry (left) and Jerry Campbell (right).—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Life With Father Very Good On Summer Theatre Stage

Life with Father must have been rather awful, but the stage version of "Life With Father" is awfully good. The Summer Theatre is giving an expert and dressy production this week, and Monday evening the Queen Mary auditorium was packed for it; scores of people were turned away. The crowds attested the popular appeal of the Clarence Day family story in its narrative, dramatic and movie forms, and the confidence of people that they will see a good production by the Summer Theatre. They did.

The set is very fine, notable for excellent and numerous stage props and effective sliding doors. The company on stage is the largest of this season: sixteen all told, by the time all the red-headed Day family, their ever-changing maids, and Cousin Cora are accounted for.

RED-HEADED FAMILY

Apart from a slight edginess on opening night, the Day family played smoothly, warmly, humanly and as a family. Father Day is Gerry Sarracini. His characterization is excellent, with his bristling moustache, his booming voice and kitchen thumps. Mother Day is Kate Reid—pretty and matronly, and winningly having her way with Father—and with the audience.

Frank Perry returns to the Peterborough stage in the role of eldest son, Clarence (his first appearance Monday drew applause). With his good stagecraft, he has the appearance and manner of the collegian son of his father. Jerry Campbell plays the other adolescent son, John, with remarkable zing and interpretation, creating not a copy but the real personality of a fifteen-year-old.

The local children who played the youngest Day sons were winsome and really quite pat in lines and action: Rosalind Ross (Harlan) and Peter Dorrington (Whitney).

Patricia Moore is a pretty and well-skilled actress. This week she takes the part of visiting Cousin Cora with the control, intelligence and finish we have learned to expect from her. Meryl Braithwaite makes a lovely Mary Skinner, skittish and ecstatic as the teen-age Ohioan agog about New York and Clarence Jr. Ronald Bailey (the Rev. Dr. Lloyd) takes the spotlight in his churchy blandishments with Father, with Father turns into skirmishes.

Barbara Hamilton gives her small part of Margaret (faithful Irish cook) pleasantly humorous turns. Others in the cast are: Peter McCombe (Dr. Humphreys), Ted Palmer (Dr. Somers), and the succession of maids —Betty Child (Annie), Helen Robertson (Delia), Peggy McCombe (Nora) and Betty Blair (Maggie).

Bill Needles produced the play, Peter Mews designed and painted the set, and Bill Zaharuk managed the stage—and painted some of the pictures.

An amusing, happy and poignantly nostalgic family comedy, well worth seeing —T. J. A.

Pravda Sees Stiffening Of Korean Resistance

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda today reported a stiffening of North Korean resistance to United Nations forces and an increasing determination throughout that battle-torn country to win "total victory."

The article in the Russian Communist party's newspaper said: "The Korean people are intensifying their resistance to the aggressors."

The newspaper added that North Koreans were taking steps to "break up the new monstrous provocations of the American interventionists, who are striving by means of military pressure, bloody terror and slaughter to force on the Korean people unjust conditions of an armistice."

PEOPLE LIKE Coca-Cola WHERE THEY WORK

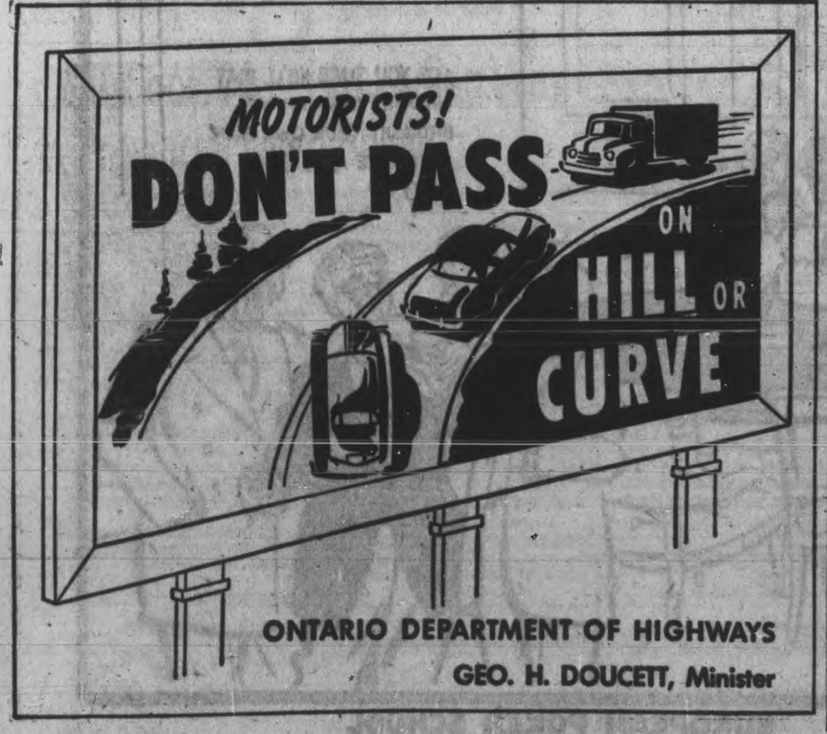
Find Hacksaw Near Warehouse

COBOURG (ENS) — Police Monday found a hacksaw in the vicinity of the brewers' warehouse where a safe cracking job was frustrated when Constable Tom Shaw arrived on the scene about five in the morning. Police kept close check during the weekend on all places which might be favored by safe-crackers in view of the robbery the week before when the safe in the Park Theatre was blown.

Shaw caught a glimpse of a man in the shadows of the warehouse but lost him when he took to his heels. Thinking that he was the look-out man and that the rest were inside, Constable Shaw entered the building but found nobody there. He discovered a large railway wrench and a sledge hammer at the scene and later police found the hack-saw.

Greek-Bulgarian Dispute Flares Again

ATHENS, Greece (Reuters)—The Bulgarian-Greek dispute over Gamma Island flared up again yesterday when Greek frontier guards fired on two Bulgarian soldiers who tried to reach the tiny island.



An official report said today the Greeks opened fire with a machine-gun.

Last week Greek reinforcements were sent to the area after shots had been exchanged when Bulgarian troops landed on the island Aug. 7. After more gunfire last week the Greeks announced the Bulgarians had left the island.

Both countries protested to the United Nations alleging acts of border agression.

Scientists Arrive

MELBOURNE, Australia (Reuters)—Twenty-four British scientists taking part in Britain's first atomic-weapons test arrived by air yesterday at Onslow, on the Western Australian mainland. They flew from Singapore in an R.A.F plane then passengers and equipment transferred to the frigate Hawkesbury for the voyage to the Monte Bello islands, where the tests will be held.

Communism Not Solution To Chinese Problems--Tonge

The Chinese people will find that Communism isn't the answer to their national problem, the Rev. Walter H. Tonge of Lakefield told a luncheon meeting of Rotary on Monday. And when that time of disillusionment comes there will be an opportunity for the Christian faith to expand in China.

A missionary in China for three years, Mr. Tonge gave three reasons for the success of Communism there.

One, the religions previous to Christianity were unable to satisfy the needs of the people.

Two, the economy of the country collapsed and the people lost faith in it.

Three, there were political mistakes—both by Chiang Kai-shek and the United States.

Religions of Taoism, Confucianism and Buddhism helped develop one of the highest cultures in the world, said Mr. Tonge, but they were barren of the things that would raise the living standards of the masses of the people. Moreover they became intermixed and overlaid with superstitions.

CREATED VACUUM

"This created a vacuum in the minds and lives of the Chinese people—a vacuum that has not been filled."

Mr. Tonge said Christianity has made an impact on China. "What has been done has been done well and lasting, but it is insufficient ... little in comparison to the need.

"The ideology of the Communist way of life is very appealing, particularly to people without the necessities of life... What we see in China is the disintegration of the old Chinese religions and the failure of the Christian religion to capitalize on this failure."

Mr. Tonge said that Chiang Kai-shek, who wanted to be the George Washington of China, had an almost impossible task. Long wars had ruined the country economically; 85 per cent of the national budget was going for war purposes.

Inflation struck the country—sometimes money values inflated 500 per cent in a week—and the people lost confidence in government currency. They turned to barter as an alternative.

RING OF CORRUPTION

Mr. Tonge said that Chiang Kai-shek was trying to lead China from a feudal system of "rule by warlords." Apart from the shaky economic structure of the country he was handicapped by "a ring of corruption" surrounding him.

The United States support of the Nationalists also drew criticism from Mr. Tonge. He said much of the aid was useless and the Chinese Nationalists were kept "dangling on a string"—unaware of what United States policy really was.

He said that people in this continent should realize that some of the things the Communists are doing are good. But ends don't justify means, he said, and so we can't agree with their methods.

The future of China, and of the whole world, depends on the vigor of the Christian faith in answering the militant challenge of Communism, said Mr. Tonge.

He was introduced by Grant Miller and thanked by the Rev. Arnold Mathews. President Robert Maybee was in the chair.

Two German Divers Salvage Ammunition Boat Trongale

HALIFAX (CP)—The freighter Trongate, sunk by naval gunfire in Halifax harbor after catching fire while loading ammunition for a convoy in the Second World War, now is being salvaged for scrap.

Ironically, a team of German divers is doing the job. They are a father-and-sons combination headed by Karl Ross, 57-year-old veteran with 30 years' diving experience. His sons Karlheinz and Egon are the fourth generation of their family to follow the same vocation.

Working 60 feet down in the harbor, the three operate in shifts, breaking up the freighter with explosives and torches. While one is below, the two others keep sharp watch from a tender, maintaining continuous conversation with the man below as a safety check.

Karlheinz handled the first part of the job, cutting a 30-foot section of the bow free from the remainder of the vessel. Egon was assigned the next cutting duties and then the father will go to work.

Have 132 Homicides

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City had 132 homicides and 22,005 burglaries in the first six months of 1952, the police department reports. The figures compare with 116 homicides and 14,961 burglaries in the comparable period of 1951. Police figures showed yesterday that major crimes in every category increased sharply for the six-month period.

Isaac Wright

MARMORA (ENS) — Under auspices of Marmora Branch 237, Canadian Legion, the funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon of Isaac Wright. The cortege left the residence of his son George to St. Paul's Anglican Church. Service was conducted by Canon J. M. Brownlie. Burial took place in the veterans' plot in Marmora Protestant cemetery, the pallbearers being James Cross, William Cross, Harold Lowery, nephews and Norman Hipson, Costan Paranuik and Ernest Gordon.

The death of Mr. Wright occurred on Saturday evening in the Havelock Nursing Home to which he had been admitted 11 days previously.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Durland Wright, he was born in Marmora. He answered the call to service in 1915 enlisting with the 155th Battalion Canadian Infantry, later being transferred to the 21st Battalion overseas. In course of his overseas service he was gassed. On his return to Canada in 1919 he took up farming in Marmora township a little north of the Beaver Creek bridge on the Cordova road. Later he was variously employed including a period as teamster with the Pearce company. For the past 10 years he was unable to work and spent different periods in hospitals including the D.V.A. hospital in Kingston. He was of a friendly nature and was a member of the Marmora Branch of the G.W.V.A. until that organization disbanded, later becoming a member of the Canadian Legion.

He is survived by his wife, the former Edna Emigh; two daughters Mrs. C. McCuen (Mabel) and Mrs. G. Hemingway (Elizabeth) Hamilton and two sons John, Hamilton and George, Marmora.

Decoration Day Held At Bethany

BETHANY (ENS)—The annual Remembrance and Decoration Day was held at Fallis' cemetery, two miles south of Bethany, on Sunday with many from distant points attending the open air service.

There are no accurate records as to when the cemetery was first established there and the church built on ground given by the late Robert Fallis. It is over 50 years since the church was dismantled and moved some two miles further south near Manvers Station. It is now known as Manvers United Church, a part of the Janetville-Pontypool circuit. A brother, James Fallis, donated the land for the school on the opposite corner, which is still known as Fallis' school.

A. H. Monk of Bethany had charge of the service, reading the scripture lesson and offering prayers and speaking briefly on the purpose of Decoration Day as a day of remembrance and of showing appreciation to those who have gone before, of thanksgiving for the privilege of another year of fellowship.

Lieut. Rickard of the Lindsay Salvation Army also payed tribute to the pioneers who established the cemetery and church. "Their first thought in a new country was establishing a Christian way of living. We are enjoying the benefits of their hardship and toil."

The Rev. J. O. Johnston, minister of Berkley St. United Church in Toronto, in his remarks also paid tribute to those who have gone before; their ability to make real homes in a new country; their unselfishness and devotion to the higher things of life; their implicit belief in God and His love for all peoples.

The Salvation Army band was in attendance, playing several selections throughout the service. Mr. Monk expressed thanks to the committee: Norman Fallis, Earl Argue, Norman Porter and William Johnston who are the trustees of the cemetery and who arrange the annual day of remembrance; to all those who had assisted and also to George Smith, the caretaker.

Fight Nip-and-Tuck Battle To Save Damaged Books

OTTAWA (CP)—Librarians are fighting a nip-and-tuck battle against mold and mildew threatening thousands of valuable water-damaged books from Canada's parliamentary library.

They were winning for a while with the aid of four big humidifiers drying the books water-soaked when firemen fought a blaze in the library dome a week ago.

But during the weekend a 14-hour downpour of rain hit the capital. It increased the humidity in which mold and mildrew thrive. Also more water seeped into the library again through its damaged dome.

As a result, library officials said last night they could not estimate what the final cost may be of rehabilitating Canada's most valuable book collection, one that was to be the nucleus for a national library.

R. M. Hamilton, assistant librarian, said the "mold just keeps growing and increasing the damage." It may mean the rebinding of many books otherwise not seriously damaged in the fire.

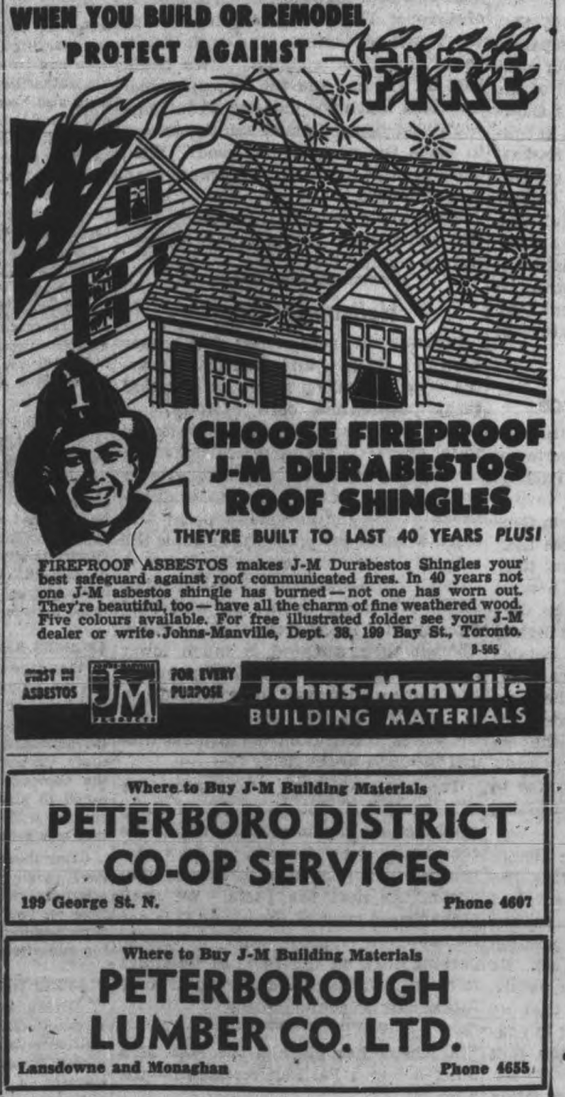
"If you figure $4 a binding for several thousand books—I just haven't any idea how many— it runs into a lot of money," he said.

Raw Material Supply "Safe"

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain's stockpiles of industrial raw materials now are at a "safe level."

This assurance was given today by the bulletin for industry, a monthly review of the economic situation issued from the British Treasury.

Some fall in stocks during the rest of the year is considered probable, but "lack of supplies generally should not check the hoped-for increase in industrial production," it said.



The coal stockpile is better than at any time since the war but this is mainly due to lower industrial activity, notably in textiles.

Steel production has been running nine per cent higher than a year ago and imports are up by 28 per cent. Pig-iron production is up by nine per cent. Ingot steel output is recovering.

Strike Threat Averted

SOUTHSEA, England (Reuters)—Immediate threat of a strike in Britain's vital engineering and shipbuilding industries was averted last night when leaders of 3,000,000 workers agreed to propose new talks with employers.

"COOL CONTROL"

PITCHING: THE BASIC GRIP

1 Ball should be gripped along or across the seams. A short-fingered hand should grip ball across the seams at the narrowest point; long-fingered hand holds ball across seams at widest point. Grip across the seams gives better control.

2 Grip always should be firm, but never tight. Tips of index and second finger and joint of thumb should be your pressure points. Wrist action and way of releasing ball on pitch will give control to standard throws.

3 Gripping ball along the seams usually makes it harder to control. The raised stitches, when held across, help give 'spin' to the ball as the seams rotate towards the batter for more air resistance and rise. Sidearm and underarm pitchers use grip along the seam for fast 'sinkers.'

Yes, it's control that counts, in Baseball as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Diverse Provincial Politics

Four provincial general elections have been held this summer, and a fifth, in New Brunswick, will take place on September 22nd. In Quebec, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the ruling parties were returned to power—National Party in Quebec, C.C.F. in Saskatchewan and Social Credit in Alberta. The most remarkable of the elections, in both the results and finding the results, was of course in British Columbia. The returns prove the general rule that electors do not vote against prosperity.

* * *

There were good reasons for the exception in British Columbia. The government there of old-line parties had been an uneasy coalition dissolved too close to the elections to prove to the voters that the residual Liberal government had the strength and integrity to merit power. A special issue coloured the B.C. elections: the separate school question. Neither of the two old parties satisfied the Protestant majority of the people that it would oppose establishing and extending separate schools for Roman Catholics, supported by public funds. The Social Credit party, explicitly Protestant, was an assurance to the majority of the voters that Roman Catholic schools would not be given public school status. The second-choice method of voting reinforced Social Credit candidates. They won more second-choice votes than other candidates, because, if they were not the best in voters' eyes, as second-best they at least were a Protestant assurance.

* * *

The success of the Social Credit party in Alberta for the last fifteen years was reflected across the provincial boundary into B.C. Its careful husbanding of the province's oil resources, permitting exploitation only with handsome bonuses to the Provincial Treasury (thus assisting in reducing taxation), was an example of what amateurs in government could do. The Alberta Social Credit party is certainly not amateurish now, having been in power since 1935, but it was once as untried as the new Social Credit party and government in B.C. Particularly under the administration of William Aberhart's successor, the Hon. Ernest C. Manning, Premier since 1943, the Alberta Social Credit party has demonstrated its honesty and particularly a capacity to learn quickly and forget its funny-money theories in the face of bonanzas in oil. Premier Manning, now 43, is still the youngest provincial premier. Last week he and his government were returned to power with a solid majority. This result was inevitable—nothing succeeds like success, particularly with a government seeking re-election.

* * *

The provincial elections show that Provincial politics are indeed separate from Federal. In none of the four elections held this summer did either of the two major Federal parties make a showing. A unique provincial party is in control in Quebec. The C.C.F. has Saskatchewan, and two Social Credit governments rule Alberta and British Columbia. This separation of Provincial from Federal politics is healthy and one of the surest bulwarks against centralization of control. The diversity of provincial politics as well as their detachment from Federal is a modern strong feature of the Canadian confederation.

Couchiching Conference

Since 1932 the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs has arranged a series of summer conferences at Geneva Park on Lake Couchiching. They have invited well-known speakers not only from Canada but also elsewhere to address their meetings. This year, for the first time, a much larger public is able to hear at least part of the proceedings: the CBC is broadcasting a portion of each nightly session and thereby making a notable contribution towards the political education of the public. One of the most interesting feature of the broadcast is the discussion which follows the set speech; unfortunately the radio audience hears little if any of this owing to the exigencies of the broadcasting schedule.

On Saturday evening, Mr. Hector McNeil, Minister of State during the former British Labour Government, had some pertinent things to say on the subject of economic co-operation amongst the countries of the West. He admitted that it would hurt some people, but he made the telling point that we cannot be allies in war and foes in economics, for the very good reason that it does not work. We would qualify Mr. McNeil's remark with the observation that there is a difference between healthy competition and economic warfare. It is vitally necessary at this time to reduce the artificial barriers to competition that exist in the world today. In particular the protectionist policy of the U.S.A. needs revision, with its "escape clauses" and its complicated customs regulations.

When it came to questions Mr. McNeil, though no longer holding any official position proved himself an expert at dodging the issue. Could it be that the presence of microphones at the conference acted as a brake on candid comment, or is question-dodging an occupational disease of politicians? While providing financial aid to this enterprise we trust that the CBC will resist the temptation of interfering with the frankest possible exchange of views.

Persian Dilemma

Affairs are moving swiftly in Iran; the drunken see-sawing of policy under the influence of the economic crisis has produced a new situation. After the Senate had refused plenary powers to Mossadegh which had already been granted by the Lower House the Lower House itself stiffened its attitude and went back on its first decision. Now the Senate has yielded to Mossadegh's demands and the Lower House is in a quandary.

Britain and the United States are in a quandary too. It is useless to expect that power will return to a small and discredited minority of comparatively liberal-minded millionaire landlords. There are only two alternatives, Mossadegh or the Tudeh pro-Communist party. At present the Tudeh is backing up Mossadegh, hoping to succeed him in power as the Bolsheviks succeeded Kerensky. Legalistic arguments concerning the ownership of the oil wells and refineries no longer apply. The longer a settlement with Mossadegh on any terms is delayed the worse will Iran's economic plight become and the greater will be the chances of the Tudeh party of ousting Mossadegh.

We cannot sit back passively and allow the Tudeh party to seize power for two reasons. In the first place this would undoubtedly give Russia control of the country and of the oil wells; in the second place it would give her for the first time in history direct access to the Indian Ocean.

We must therefore make an about-turn and support Mossadegh as the lesser of two evils—unless some new factor emerges from this unpredictable country. Mossadegh himself might be forced to ask for aid in quelling the Tudeh from the very power that he has so dramatically defied.

From Stirling To St. Thomas

We congratulate the St. Thomas Times-Journal on its enterprise, effort and the successful result of these in its special twelve-section, 136-page edition in recognition of the centenary of St. Thomas (the city) and Elgin County. This salute—no, this cannonade—is loaded with readable information about the city and county, past and present, and illustrations recalling old days and newer instances. Despite the edition's size, the layout is temperate and in good taste.

We note on the page of sketches introductory to the centenary material that St. Thomas was formerly known as Stirling but in 1817 was named in honour of Colonel Thomas Talbot, founder of the Talbot settlement, "the word 'Saint' being added for euphony." We think that St. Thomas and the Times-Journal are being much too modest. What, unworthy of being deemed saintly, except to make the name sound good? Well, perhaps it is better to be frank than sanctimonious. Anyway, the Times-Journal would be the last to assume that the unhallowed roaring past cannot have a ripping future.

Helicopters Ahoy

Progress in aeronautics has never been in a straight line. For many years the dirigible balloon appeared to afford great possibilities, both military and civil. Now the emphasis has switched to jet aircraft. Yet there are signs that the helicopter is coming into greater prominence. One of the main drawbacks of the conventional type of aircraft, whether jet-propelled or no, is the necessity for an extensive landing ground. The helicopter, on the other hand, can hover in the air and land directly on a handkerchief, so to speak. Though their airspeed is much lower they can land in the centre of a populous city and thus perform the total journey in considerably less time, cutting out the drives to and from the airports that add so much to the delay.

The recent exploit of crossing the Atlantic by helicopter shows that these machines are capable of long trips. We confidently look forward to new developments in helicopter construction during the next few years. We shall probably see more of them, and it is not fantastic to suppose that helicopter parking sites on the roofs of buildings in down-town Peterborough will at some future date be commonplace.

THE AMERICAN SCENE:

Armour Back To Battlefield

By KENNETH HARRIS

YE OLDE SEWTE of armour has not only made ye comebacke to the modern battlefield but it has apparently come back to stay. Six months of tests on the Korean front have proved that personal armour not only reduced casualties but gives tremendous psychological comfort to troops who wear it.

There are two armoured vests in existence. The United States Army jacket is still in the experimental stage, though the Medical Corps has already said that it is satisfied with it. It weighs eight pounds and consists of twelve layers of laminated nylon covered with a waterproof outer cover. Highly flexible, it resembles a heavy sleeveless waistcoat, and costs about £40 to make. Two thousand five hundred men have worn one or another of these vests in action, mainly on patrol and reconnaissance work, and seventy-seven lives have been saved by the vests. A soldier who was wearing one fell on a grenade to save the lives of his patrol, and though the explosion lifted him off the ground and a three-inch splinter ripped the vest from top to bottom, he escaped with scratches, bruises and slight concussion.

Other incidents have shown that the Marine Corps vest can stop a .45 revolver bullet fired from 20 yards range and slugs fired from a similar calibre sub-machine gun at rather longer range. It has resisted seventy-five per cent. of the fragments of a medium-sized mortar shell bursting ten feet away.

AN INTERESTING new kind of elevator has been patented by a Mr. Joshua E. Shirley of Pennsylvania. Joshua thinks that so long as an operator has to travel in an elevator, valuable space is being wasted, but that, on the other hand, to have lifts controlled by the passengers is to put a delicate system at the mercy of the layman who, in busy buildings at rush hours, is almost certain to paralyse the whole system once or twice a day. So he has patented a lift system in which the elevators are equipped with a microphone, a loud-speaker, and a television camera. All these are connected with the remote-control panel which controls the whole bank of lifts. One man sits at the panel. The television camera tells him how many people are on each lift and where they are getting on and off and gives him a view of the landings outside of which people are waiting to get in. The passengers tell him through the microphone where they want to get off. He can, if he wishes, tell them where to get off through his loudspeaker.

NEXT YEAR, New York City's Board of Transportation is going to overhaul that part of its underground railway (subway) which runs under 42nd Street, a short-distance shuttle service which is perhaps the busiest section of New York's whole subway system.

As a result, however, of the demonstration recently arranged by the Goodyear Tyre and Rubber Company, the Board may scrap the old subway and substitute for it the company's new passenger conveyor belt which has now been tested and pronounced safe.

✧ ✧ ✧

IF THE CONVEYOR BELT were installed, passengers would walk downstairs and on to the platform in the usual way. But from the platform passengers would walk directly on to another platform which would be moving slowly, at perhaps a pace of two miles an hour. Alongside of this platform would be a line of cars, moving on an endless conveyor belt at the same pace as the platform. The passengers would step into a car without difficulty and when the car got to the end of the platform, its belt would pass over accelerating rollers until it was going fast enough to be shifted on to the main conveyor belt operating just outside the station. Within a few seconds it would be travelling at about twenty miles an hour. As it approached the next station it would pass over decelerating rollers and the reverse process would begin.

The boarding of the conveyor has been tested by women wearing high-heeled shoes and carrying armfuls of parcels, by small children and by cripples. It works so well that the authorities in Chicago and Los Angeles have also become interested in the conveyor and there is talk of using it at airports, congested shopping centres, parking places and baseball grounds. The New York Board has estimated that a belt installed at 42nd Street could transport 15,000 people an hour, twenty-five per cent more than the present subway can handle even in ideal conditions.

THE SEVENTH ANNUAL convention of the National Association of Secretaries has just been held at Washington, and one thousand representatives of America's most powerful profession—business-tycoons, Cabinet Ministers and columnists are but clay in their hand—have laid a number of ultimatums on the line.

First, they have demanded that no secretary be called a stenographer. "A secretary," one beautiful blonde said, "thinks a stenographer just plain plugs."

One of the aims of the convention was to hammer out a programme which could lead to better, that is to say, tamer, bosses. Better "understanding", "more encouragement for good work," being taken out to dinner now and again as a gesture of appreciation, were listed high in the programme.

✧ ✧ ✧

BOSSES SHOULD TELL secretaries where they (the bosses) were going to when they left the office, and should phone back every two hours at least to report their movements and to be given messages. Better working surroundings, good light, plenty of desk-space, ventilation and quiet were also among the demands. and bosses were particularly asked to give their dictation early and not rush in with it last thing just as the secretary was going home.

Other things required were: Typewriters in good repair, mess-proof pens, morning and afternoon refreshments on the house, a little time off now and again for shopping, and a fifteen-minute recreation period every morning and afternoon.

LATEST DEVELOPMENT in the saga of the "flying saucers" (those shining objects of practically every shape, size, speed and brilliance which various people have reported seeing since June 1947 is the news released in Washington that the U.S. Army engineers now know how to make them. In fact they not only know how to make them, they are making them.

The Army was put on to the idea by a local physicist who found himself making "flying saucers" by accident when he was trying to make something else. The physicist was using a vacuum bell, a large glass jar about three feet high and about eighteen inches across. For the purposes of his experiment he had reduced the air content within the jar until its atmosphere was almost a vacuum. Into this very thin air, through a hole in the base of the bell, he passed static electricity.

✧ ✧ ✧

HE THEN FOUND that when minute quantities of air were allowed to get into the jar through the base a bubble of orange light suddenly appeared on the base and formed a field into a shape like that of an electric light bulb with the connection end lowermost.

This is the shape most usually reported by observers of "flying saucers". A wave of the hand (the human body can contain enough static electricity to influence the motions of the bubble) or the application of a magnet to the surface of the bell caused the bubble to move slowly to the surface of the jar or to hover in the air.

What has all this got to do with "saucers" apart from the fact that the shapes and the glow are very similar? First, the near-vacuum in the bell resembles the atmosphere of the heavens at a distance of about two-hundred miles from the earth, and, given certain conditions a suitable charge of static electricity passing into that atmosphere would produce huge globes of light similar to the tiny little things produced in the bell.

These huge globes might be seen direct by high-flying pilots, or their reflections might be seen many miles away. The reflections would be transmitted by layers of hot air which often act like great heavenly mirrors sending reflections which, though they come from small bodies moving at slow speeds, appear to be huge things moving at thousands of miles per hour, just as the reflection cast by a small mirror moved in the hand can appear as a huge blob of light moving at high speed across some shadowy area.

An American Opinion: "But All Candidates Pose With Fish"

C.C.F. Convention Against Pacifism

(MONTREAL STAR)

THE Woodsworth tradition dies hard in the C.C.F. The party's national convention, in framing its foreign policy plank, ran full tilt into the pacifists who follow the tradition laid down by the late J. S. Woodsworth. To the credit of the party and its leadership, notably Mr. M. J. Coldwell and Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan, the pacifists were roundly beaten.

This, from any point of view, was encouraging. But it is cheering mainly because it is by the pacifist door that the Communists try to infiltrate Canada's left-wing party. Time was when to be a pacifist raised no suspicions. It was a legitimate, if unpractical, belief. Nowadays, however, it has become impossible to disentangle pacifists from Communists and fellow-travellers.

This was in the mind of the C.C.F. leadership which knows very well that Communist infiltration would wreck the party. The Communists know this too, and wrecking the C.C.F. has a high place on their schedule of operations. Hence the vigour shown by a large majority of the delegates in resisting the pacifist plea.

The resolution as passed, was, to be sure, wishy-washy enough. Military preparedness it reads (and the following clause was what the fight was about)" necessary though it is in the present international situation, cannot take the place of positive action to end poverty and exploitation." But the C.C.F. did thus formally admit the necessity of military preparedness. That, having regard to the convention battle over the need for N.A.T.O. a few years ago, marks an advance in the party's thinking.

As to the desirability of positive action to end poverty, this is the avowed aim of all parties in every country in the world. Everybody we ever heard of is as much against poverty as he is against sin. The C.C.F. thus blazes no new trail. The goal is agreed by all. The controvery is therefore one over method, not aim. The C.C.F. wants to achieve it by the rapid extension of socialism, but Canadians will ask for much more proof about the merits of socialism before they go for it. The evidence to date is discouraging to say the least.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas called Didymus, and Nathaniel of Cana in Galilee, and the sons of Zebedee, and two other of his disciples. Simon Peter saith unto them, I go a fishing. They said unto him, We also go with thee. They went forth, and entered into a ship immediately; and that night they caught nothing. Jesus stood on the shore: but the disciples knew not that it was Jesus.

Then Jesus saith unto them, Children, have ye any meat? They answered him, No. And he said unto them, cast the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall find. They cast therefore, and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes. Therefore that disciple whom Jesus loved saith unto Peter, It is the Lord . . . . As soon as they were come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid thereon, and bread.

. . . This is now the third time that Jesus shewed himself to his disciples, after that he was risen from the dead.

So when they had dined, Jesus saith to Simon Peter, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me more than these? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord: thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep. He saith unto him the third time, Simon, son of Jonas lovest thou me? Peter was grieved because he said unto him the third time, Lovest thou me? And he said unto him, Lord, thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus saith unto him, Feed my sheep. (John 21:2-7, 9, 14-17.)

Must Be Permanent

(Le Devoir, Montreal)

If the declaration of the Minister is to be taken literally the St. Jean Military College will not yet become a permanent institution. Its very existence will depend upon the number of pupils who enrol. What will happen if this number is small? Will the second and third years simply not be added, according to the minister's own words? Will the college be completely closed? It would be interesting to know. . . . The present re-armament program calls for more men. These recruits should be found among French-Canadians as among English-Canadians. It happens that the shortage of French-speaking officers is already such that numbers of English-speaking officers have to be used in French-Canadian units. French-speaking officers must accordingly be trained in haste to complete the French-Canadian strength which is foreseen. . . .

Hastings Evens Westwood Series With 13-12 Win

HASTINGS (ENS). — Legion evened the best-of-five series at a game apiece Monday night when they defeated Westwood 13-12, in a real thriller, that had a capacity crowd on their toes all the way.

Westwood jumped into an early lead, scoring two in the second. Legion fell apart in the third and the score read 8-1 when the third man was put out.

Legion came back strong in the bottom half of the fourth, and Westwood started to show the effect of the pressure, as they muffed two in a row, and the score stood at 8-7.

Legion kept the pressure on, adding two more in the sixth, and another in the seventh, and going into the ninth, appeared to be coasting into an easy 11-8 win.

Crowley, who went all the way for Legion, tired and when Legion had finally pulled up their sox, Westwood was in front 12-8. In the bottom half of the ninth, Scriver, lead-off man, hit a single followed by Jones. Radford flied out, scoring Scriver, and at that time Bob Wilson came in to relieve Warr on the mound. Crowley, the first man to face him, drove a three and two pitch into deep centre field, and Jones scampered home the winner.

The teams meet again on Wednesday night in what might prove to be the most exciting finals in years, and it could go either way.

Here And There In Sports

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Mel Embree, United States negro end with Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union last season flew to Hamilton yesterday looking for work with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Embree received his release from Calgary last week following a court action in which he charged Coach Les Lear and Line Coach Ed Champagne with assaulting him because he refused to sign a contract. Lear and Champagne were acquitted.

Winnipeg coach George Trafton would not say whether Embree will work with the Bombers against Hamilton Tiger Cats here Wednesday in an exhibition game.

3 Canadians Keep Leading Open Pace

By JIM PEACOCK

EDMONTON (CP)—The Canadian women's open golf championship today moves into the first round with three junior stars bearing Canada's hopes of keeping the title at home.

Mary Gay, 20-year-old Ontario champion from Kitchener, yesterday matched pace with Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont., to top more than 120 who started in the qualifying round. Both shot one-under par 78s over the Edmonton Mayfair's rolling fairways.

The 18-year-old defending champion, Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., and Alberta champion Rae Milligan, 19, of Jasper, tied for third with 80s to give Canada three of the top four placings. United States players dominated the open from 1947 to 1951.

THREE AMERICANS

Three Americans were among the top 10 qualifiers. Grace Lenczyk of Hartford, Conn., runner-up last year, placed fifth with Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Montreal. Both had 82s.

Polly Martin of St. Clairsville, Ohio, was bracketed at 83 with Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria, Mrs. N. J. Carlson of Toronto, Mrs. J.C. Whitelaw of Montreal, and Babs Davies of Vancouver. Anne Sharp of Fonthill shot an 84.

Miss Gay brought in her sub-par 78 with a first-nine par 39 and a one-under 39 on the back nine. She birdied six holes and went one-over par on five.

SHORT SECOND SHOTS

Short second shots slowed Miss Stewart's pace over the front nine and she came in with a 41. On the second half she hit them long and hard and carded a one-under 39.

A playoff resulted when eight players carded 90s to qualify. Two were eliminated to cut the championship flight to 32. They were Geraldine Evans and Mrs. W. H. Barclay, both of Saskatoon.

Canadian Ladies' Golf Union officials were awaiting word from Toronto headquarters before staging a playoff between Misses Gay and Anderson. Miss Gay won the Ella Murray rose bowl for low Canadian gross in the ground, but it was not ascertained if a playoff would be necessary to determine straight low gross.

Top Honors Go To Marksman At First Shoot

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont. (CP)—A sergeant in the Royal Canadian Electrical Mechanical Engineers, competing for the first time at the 84th annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association shoot, yesterday won a three-way shoot-off to capture top honors in the Sherwood match.

Sgt. Roy J. Scott of Chilliwack, B.C., a tall, husky expert in small bore competition, tied in with Wo. 2 E. L. Warner of Sherbrooke, Que., and Gunnar G. Westling of Vancouver. Each had possible scores of 50 from the 300-yard range.

SCORES A 24

Scott scored 24 of a possible 25 in the shoot-off, Warner finished with 22 and Westling was third with 19.

Earlier, Scott finished with a possible 50 from 200 yards in the Tyro match to tie with nine other marksmen. In the tyro shoot-off Tpr. A. H. Blanchette of Calgary, pumped five perfect shots into the target from 200 yards to score a possible 25 and settle the argument. Scott scored 24.

The nine ties in the Tyro included Cadet R. Livesley of Winnipeg.

The Tyro is open to those whose names have not appeared in the grand or all comers aggregate at any D.C.A.R. meet subsequent to the Second World War.

FOUR EXPERTS TIE

Four expert riflemen tied for top position in the Macdougall match, shooting 10 rounds from each of the 200 and 500 yards. The shoot-off to decide the winner was scheduled today.

Tied with possible scores of 100 were Maj. A. H. Gormeley, Charlottetown; Capt. J. C. Kirk, Listowel, Ont.; Lieut, S. F. Wheeler, British rifle team; Flt.-Lt. G. T. Giles, Ottawa.

Sgt. Martin Ostergaard of Calgary won the Borden match with a perfect score of 50 from 300 yards—the only perfect score in that match.

Name Jordan Olivar Rugby Coach For Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Jordan Olivar, who joined the staff only a few months ago, today was named Yale's acting head football coach. He succeeds Herman Hickman.

Hickman, one of the best-known coaches in the United States, quit yesterday for private business.

The naming of Olivar and the resignation of Hickman, who had eight years to go on a 10-year appointment, came as big surprises.

Hickman signed a public relations job with the General Cigar Company of New York. He also promised to help Olivar, when time permits, as a consultant and scout.

Ordered By Canadian But Sold To Farouk

VICTORIA, B.C. (CP)—Fate of a famous "pot of gold" tea set manufactured in England for a British Columbia firm is a puzzle since King Farouk was ousted from the Egyptian throne.

J. Courtney Haddock, director of a department store here, said the tea set made by English master craftsmen to the order of his firm had been sold instead to Farouk. He estimated the set, which contains 400 ounces of gold, was worth $110,000.-

Julius Boros Captures Tam, Prize May Be Bigger

CHICAGO (AP)—Golf's golden August visit by Santa Claus in the person of Promoter George S May could be bigger and better next year than his $120,000 Tam O'Shanter show just closed.

That should be good news to the likes of U.S. Open champion Julius Boros and the golfing dentist, Cary Middlecoff, who yesterday settled for a record $25,000 and $12,500 respectively in a playoff for May's "world championship of golf."

BIGGER JACKPOT

May said he has dates reserved with the Professional Golfers' Association next year for his annual Tam O'Shanter carnival and has in mind an even greater jackpot than he paid in the dove-tailed $30,000 all-American and $90,000 "world" in the past two weeks.

May plans to increase the $25,000 world first prize and the $3,420 top melon in the all-American. He may even arrange regional playoffs to bring a larger field to the combined meets.

There were reports that Boros, who rallied furiously for his two-stroke, four-under-par 68 playoff victory, and the vanquished Middlecoff with 70 had an under-the-table deal to split the world $25,000 first and $12,500 second prizes.

REPORT TAX DEAL

That would have given each $18,750 and the word was out that they had arranged to settle the taxes on the entire $37,500 swag.

But the two players and the P.G.A., denied such a manoeuvre. The P.G.A.'s freshest money-winning list had Boros in front with $34,332, based on a $25,000 first "world" prize, and Middlecoff second with $27,739, pegged on second "world" money of $12,500.

The two had finished the 72-hole "world" event Sunday with identical 276s, 12 under par.

King of Thieves

DORTMUND, Germany (AP)—Police officials said a man arrested yesterday described himself proudly as "king of the chicken thieves." Police did not challenge his claim. They charged him with stealing more than 1,000 chickens in a series of 360 thefts.

Combines Whip Viskings 8-0 To Enter Finals

OMEMEE (ENS)—A two-hit pitching effort by Reg. Gordon coupled with a three-run homer by Roy Crawford boosted Omemee Whitmore-Weir Combines to an 8-0 win over Lindsay Visking in the second game of the semi-finals in the Lindsay Softball League which was played in Lindsay Monday night.

Joe Becke went the distance for the losers, walking two, striking out five and allowing 11 hits.

Omemee scored once each in the first and fourth and added five in the fifth to put the game on ice.

Becke and Kenton got a single each for Visking's only hits.

As well as a three-run homer Roy Crawford collected two singles in his four trips to the plate. Dracup, Jameison and Gerry Bryans had two hits each, with Craig and Ken Bryans securing one safety each.

At a meeting held after the game, a protest lodged by Visking over a decision by umpire-in-chief Bryans in the first game was thrown out.

The Visking team have decided to forfeit the third game which was to have been played in Omemee Wednesday night. This gives the O's the right to advance into the finals against the winner of Lindsay Combines vs. Carruthers.

Lineups:

Omemee Combines—Dracup, 3b; Mitchell, lf; G. Bryans, cf; Parsons, rf; R. Crawford, ss; Jameison 2b; K. Bryans, 1b; Craig, c; R. Gordon, p.

Lindsay Visking — Bate, 3b; Heatlie, 2b; Abercrombie, 1b; Becke, p; White, cf; McCabe, rf; Kenton, ss; Balfour, lf Boyd, cf.

Umpires: Plate, J. Lewis; bases, Henry and Bryans.

TONS OF STOLEN MAIL: Hank grey-haired, 50-year-old mailman Roman Kortes in the basement of his home in Detroit as Federal postal inspectors began examination of the huge collection which had accumulated during the past four years. Kortes, a mailman for 27 years, pleaded guilty in court of a charge of embezzlement telling the judge, "I just couldn't help it. If I saw a package that hadn't been delivered, I put it in my bag and took it home." Two large mail trucks were needed to carry the mail back to the Post Office and more was found in the postman's garage.

NEW ORFUNS' COACH, Tony Kotowski, immediately started practices Monday night at the exhibition grounds after he was signed. The Mississippi State College backfielder runs through the snap with Paul Frise, 210-pound snap, with Bev Goulding's last year's C.O.S.S.A. champions. More than two dozen more collegiate and St. Peter's High senior football graduates and last year's Orfuns were out for the opening workout.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Kotowski Signs

Tony Kotowski, Mississippi State College graduate, was signed by the Peterborough Orfuns' executive Monday night as coach for the 1952 season. Immediately the well-conditioned former backfielder started directing light practices at the exhibition grounds. Earlier this year Kotowski was drafted to play for the Philadelhpia Eagles in the American professional league but chose to try out with Carl Voyles' Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Voyles when cutting his U.S. imports last week recommended Kotowski to the Orfuns as coach.

Kotowski started his football career in New Kensington, Pennsylvania, where he played with the high school team. He went to St. Mary's College in California, about 30 miles from San Francisco, for a year and a half, then to Mississippi State. He played end, half and safety positions.

More than two dozen former P.C.V.S., St. Peter's High and last year's Orfuns were on hand for the opening practice.

Midway through the workout Dr. Donald Aitken, president of the Orfuns' club, briefly introduced the new coach and explained club plans for the season as well as player and club responsibilities during the season.

VETERANS

Back from last year's Orfuns were backfielders Bill Huntley, Hank Russell, Ron Hodson and John Berry, and linesman Bill Trimm, Clive Naismith, Don McGillis, Gord Beatty and Bob (Bounce) Howe.

From Bev Goulding's P.C.V.S., C.O.S.O.S. championship team, Warren Brown, Paul Frise, Norm Hayward and others were working out. Big Stan Facendi plus several other linemen are expected out later this week. From St. Peter's senior team was Paul Crough and another expected backfield candidate, Carl Brioux.

From last year's Ryerson squad which played against the Orfuns in the district league were backfielder Russ Dawes and guard Ken Kloepfer.

Petes Edged 5-4 By Cobourg In Lakeshore Play

COBOURG.—Cobourg Legionnaires defeated Peterborough juniors last night 5-4. The Legion team was well in the lead until the last of the fifth when the Petes homered Max Smith for a three run rally. Three hits coupled with a fielder's choice and two errors to first baseman Art Young gave the Petes their chance in the final frame and two men died on base as shortstop Howie Dalton pegged first baseman Cupali of the Lift Lock squad out at first base to end the innings and the game.

Transferred here when the Peterborough kid team could not secure the diamond in their own city, the tilt was featured by the presence of Sailor Murdock on the Pete mound. The Sailor, home on leave, sported a thick beard that drew attention of everyone in the park. He held the Cobourg club to just five hits, two of them by rival pitcher Max Smith who went the route to win. Catcher Chub McIvors' double with two on in the third frame was the telling punch for the winners. Two errors, one in the first, coupled with a hit and one in the fourth with another safety gave the Legionnaires single runs and Max Smith's single in the big third accounted for the other Cobourg tally.

The win, short as it was, is enough to give the Cobourg club 26 points, one more than Lindsay Merchants and sends them into the play-off round with Whitby in the semi-final round of the Lake Shore playdowns. Lindsay will tackle Bowmanville in the other series both of which are three out of five with the winners taking part in a best in seven series for the league title and the right to advance into the O. B. A. playdowns.

Line score: Cobourg, 0103, 101—5 runs, 5 hits, 3 errors. Peterborough: 010, 030—4 runs, 7 hits, 3 errors.

Peterborough had last inning as it counted as their home game.

Batteries: Smith and McIvor. Murdock and Bigford.

Umpires: Cane, plate; Borland, bases.

Gonsalves Stages Rally To Gain Draw

BOSTON (AP)—Durable young Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland, Calif., last night staged a brilliant rally to gain a draw with highly-regarded Georgie Araujo of Providence, R.I., in a furious 10-round bout.

The 21-year-old lightweight took a terrific pasting in the first and second rounds but fought back gamely in a windmill finish.

The draw ended a 28-bout winning streak of Araujo, rated just behind lightweight champion Mauro Salas of Mexico and former titlist Jimmy Carter of New York.

Araujo weighed 135½ and Gonsalves 134.

The bout drew a gross gate of $10,156.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By DON GRANT

Peterborough's Timbermen received a jolt today when Carl Voyles, Coach of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, told me in a long-distance telephone call, that Gerry Fitzgerald "is going to stay with us".

Big Fitz, just in case some fans didn't know, is quite a football player. He starred in C.O.S.S.A. play for St. Catharines, then later with University of Western Ontario. This season he's been trying out with the Big Four Tiger-Cats and from Voyles' lips, Fitz is there to stay.

His lacrosse career ended several weeks ago when he went to the Tiger-Cats camp and there's definitely no hope of him playing again this season for the Timbermen.

Signed Not To Play Lacrosse

"I don't want him to play lacrosse in fact it's in the contract that he can't play," said Voyles. "Is he signed? Oh Yes! Signed before the lacrosse season began."

"He's looking good for us and looks like he'll make the squad," continued Voyles.

Will Big Fitz make the first string? Voyles answered that he's made no effort to pick that lineup.

Voyles stressed emphatically that Fitz is through with lacrosse, explaining that the Fitzgerald hasn't the time for lacrosse and football.

Voyles summed up Fitz's chances of playing lacrosse with "He's getting paid for playing football". Those old contracts are really binding too.

Best Defenceman In Country

To say that Big Fitz will be missed by the Timbermen, would be the under-statement of the week. He's only the best lacrosse defenceman in Canada and other teams will be breathing easier now that Fitz is out.

Meanwhile it's probably a well-known fact that the Timbermen are scouring to fill their ranks by the player-signing deadline, Friday. Already they have signed another Powless, this time Del Powless from the Brantford Mohawks, an intermediate team. A 180-pounder, Del should be able to jolt a few.

Others are expected to be signed this week.

Big Push Is On For First Place

None too soon either for the home stretch for first place is under way. The Timbermen have odds in favor of them reaching first place, thanks to home games, beginning Wednesday with St. Catharines, Friday with Mimico, Saturday with Hamilton and finally next Monday with Fergus.

But first place probably won't be decided until the last scheduled game. Lo and Behold, it's against Mimico, no less than a week Wednesday and in Mimico! ! ! !

Back to the player deal, Bob Pearson, club president, said that although "the team is going good, better than ever, we want depth to the team".

Pearson pointed out that the Timbermen have 12 seniors who have played in senior "A" playoffs and the others are inexperienced.

The Timbermen can sign up to 20 players but must do so before Friday; they have only 15 signed now. Where these players are coming from, we'll say later.

But Bob went out on a limb, predicting the Timbermen either first or tied for first with Mimico, Toronto in third, Hamilton fourth, Owen Sound fifth and St. Catharines sixth.

Here's some good news. Bob just phoned to say that little Ike Hildebrand will be back on Wednesday. He's been missed.

* * * * * *

A couple of games tonight need special mention. All-star softballers take on the colored Chicago Hottentots in Bowl. While at the park the Petes senior ball team play Belleville Redmen. Both are tops; too bad both are on same night.

Thorpe's Timbermen Keep After Mimico In First With 11-5 Win In Hamilton

HAMILTON (Special)—Bob Thorpe's Timbermen kept on the heels of the league-leading Mimico Mountaineers Monday night when the woodsmen performed hardwood magic in bulling their way to an easy 11-5 victory over the fourth-place Hamilton Tigers. Meanwhile in St. Catharines the Mounties edged out Athletics in the last 38 seconds when Fred Sanford scored to keep the Mounties one game out in front of the hot Timbermen. The Thorpe squad can tie first place with Mimico Wednesday night with a win over the Athletics at Miller Bowl.

The Petes drew first—and last—blood and were never headed in between. They led 3-1 at quarter, 6-3 at the half, 9-4 at the three-quarter mark and went on in the fourth quarter to outscore Tigers 2-1.

Big guns in the lumber king attack were Jack Mason and Russ Slater, who each scored three goals. Merv. McKenzie with a brace of tallies was best for the Tigers.

The game left the Petes with an 18-7 record for senior O.L.A. league, while the Tigers dropped below the .500 per cent. mark with a 12-13 won-lost record.

It was the second to last home appearance for the Tigers.

The Petes missed Gerry Fitzgerald, husky fullback, who is trying for a berth with the Hamilton Tiger Cats, the city's Big Four football entry. But with Ike Hildebrand, Ross Powless and Don Ashbee playing a crushing type of game the loss wasn't too noticeable—to Hamilton fans at least.

The visitors claimed they "wuz robbed" on one Hamilton goal. In the quarter Doug Davidson tallied for the locals on a high shot which apparently shot over Moon Wooton's shoulder. The Petes claimed the ball didn't score. The goal judge said it did.

The rub was this: The Petes forgot to bring their own goal judge with them and asked the Hamilton team to provide men at both ends of the arena. It was the second Hamilton goal judge who ruled the shot scored.

The teams:

Hamilton—Goal, Fiavelle; defence, McKenzie, Brown; rover, Love; centre, Davidson; forwards, McDonald, Dorney, Miemaios, Grainger, Doyle, Lee, Sutherland, McFarlane, Gair, Rankin.

Peterborough — Goal, Wooton; defence, Killingbeck, Nickle; rover, Hildebrand; centre, Thorpe; forwards, Vitarelli, Ashbee; alternates, Wipper, Powless, O'Hearn, Mason, Burns, Slater.

A COMER — Byron Young (above) is noted for football quarterbacking, but this summer has proved an outstanding fielder for the Petes' baseball seniors. He is a product of the minor leagues and will be played in left field when the Petes meet Belleville tonight at Riverside.

Burtols Whip Ashby's 20-7 Advance Into Provincials Marines Defeat Belleville

Phil Mack's Burtols advanced into the provincial women's softball playdowns Monday night with a convincing 20-7 win over Ashbys. The series, originally intended as a best of seven, was cut to a best-of-five. Burtols won three straight. The Provincial association demanded that a winner be declared to meet Oshawa on Wednesday in the Bowl at 8:15. In the second game Monday, Marines opened their city intermediate series with a 11-7 victory over Belleville; the second game to be played in Belleville on Wednesday night.

A base on balls, followed by three hits, started Ashbys off in the first with three runs, following up in the second with two more runs off two hits for a 5-0 count. But from there until the last inning, when they counted two more, Ashbys were out of the running.

Burtols went scoreless until the fourth when they collected five hits, made the best of two errors and a walk for seven runs to take a 7-5 lead. They continued to roll on with six runs off five hits in the fifth, seven runs off five hits in the sixth and were scoreless in the eighth and ninth.

Burtols' Mabel Gillen whacked out four of Burtols' 19 hits during her five times at bat to easily lead the hitting. Joan Dunk was the standout fielder. B. Partridge led the Ashbys nine with two for four as well as being a fielding star, sharing those honors with M. Boyce.

CLOSE GAME

The second game, dut to its closeness, was by far the better game. Belleville jumped into a two-run lead in the first inning but the Marines went ahead in the second 5-2 and from there were always out in front. Marines scored a single in the fourth, fifth, three in the sixth and a single in the eighth.

Belleville's best inning was in the sixth. Then they received three walks and collected four hits, passing three runs across. But that rally was too late to do any good.

Marines' H. White rapped out four safeties in five times at bat while Belleville's best showing at the plate was R. Butler, two for four. J. McIlwain and J. Hart were Marine fielding standouts; B. Young and R. Butler were fielding best for Belleville. Both teams worked a double play.

FAST WORKOUT

NEW YORK — (NEA). — A speedy cut, in horse racing parlance, is a fast workout.

Queens Win 14-5 Over Dundas, Last League Tilt

Lou Vitarelli's Filter Queen juniors came through with one of their better games Monday night to finish the regular Ontario Junior "A" schedule with a 14-5 win over Dundas in Dundas. That assured the Queens of a fourth position in the standing and the last junior "A" playoff position. They expect to meet St. Catharines juniors sometime this week in the opening game of the Ontario semi-finals.

The Queens by passing and checking well were in charge of play practically throughout the game. Joe Hickson, Queen's goalie, came through with a standout performance, to hold the Dundas score down.

All the Queens took part in the scoring but Carl Fitzgerald and Art Galley who were standouts defensively.

Vitarelli's crew were held to a two-all tie in the first quarter as Carl Brioux, first from Gerry O'Reilly, and then from Bev Groves, scored both goals. Dundas' Blanchard kept Dundas alive with a pair of tallies.

But the Queens pulled ahead in the second on goals by Bob Batley, two, and Carl Brioux for a 5-2 half-time score. They continued to lengthen the lead in the third quarter with Roger Smith, Roy Mullen, Brioux and O'Reilly scoring for a 9-3 score. In the fourth the Queens had their best lacrosse showing with a five-goal effort, featuring Steve Morrissey, Batley and O'Reilly.

Batley and Brioux led the Queens' scoring with four goals each while O'Reilly had three. Williams and Blanchard each scored two for Dundas.

WINS RICH RACE—Prince Adios, speedy four-year-old stallion owned by Grant Hodgins, of Clandeboye, leads the field in the $7,500 Canadian Cup Race at Toronto. He was driven to both heat victories by the owner's brother, driver Clint Hodgins. Williamsburg, No. 6, came second in the second heat, but was unplaced in the first. States Attorney, No. 8, was third in the second heat and second in the first. Malcolm Hanover, No. 4, 1951 winner, was out of the money in both events.

Red Wings Blank Buffalo 3-0; In No. 2 Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With Montreal a runaway leader in the International League, attention centres on the battle for second place.

Rochester moved into the No. 2 spot last night, a half game ahead of Syracuse, by taking a rain-abbreviated 3-0 victory from Buffalo. Play was halted in the top of the sixth.

Syracuse lost its hold on the runnerup slot when Baltimore Orioles trimmed the Chiefs, 7-2.

In other games, Ottawa ended Montreal's 10-game winning streak, 3-2, and Toronto swept two from Springfield, 5-2 and 6-2.

A two-run homer by Rip Repulski and a solo shot by Lou Ortiz carried Rochester to victory over Buffalo. Jack Faszholz didn't have to work long for this 13th win. The only one he had trouble with was Frank Carswell, who made the Bisons only two hits.

5 RUNS IN SECOND

At Syracuse, the Chiefs lost out when Baltimore shelled Arnie Landeck for five runs in the second. After that, the home town boys never came close. Big noise for the winners was Marv Rackley, with three for five and three RBI's.

Ottawa's Johnny Metkovich end Montreal's win streak by belting a home run in the seventh inning. That snapped a 2-2 tie and gave Marion Fricano his 13th victory. Gil Mills was the loser.

At Toronto, the Leafs won the opener from Springfield on Hal Keller's two-run triple in the fourth. In all, Charlie Keller's kid brother knocked in three runs, to help Vic Lombardi to his ninth victory.

In the nightcap, the Leafs sewed it up by scoring three runs in the fourth and fifth innings. Ed Stevens smacked a two-run homer in the fifth, and wound up the game with four RBI's.

MAN TO WATCH—Although Bob Perry, 19 (above), of the U.S. tennis team was defeated by Brenden Macken of Canada in the Davis Cup match Monday, Macken declared he would hate to play him in two years, when he will be a formidable opponent.

Brenden Macken First Canadian To Win In Davis Cup Match Play

MONTREAL (CP)—"I'd hate to play Bob Perry in two years time."

That's what a dog-tired Brendan Macken said after he had defeated the 19-year-old Perry yesterday to become the first Canadian to win a match in Davis Cup tennis play against the Americans since Marcel Rainville turned the trick against Sidney Wood in 1931.

The United States team won the best-of-five North American zone final 4-1 with two singles victories Friday, a doubles win Saturday and one singles triumph yesterday.

FLAM BEATS MAIN

Macken downed Perry 6-3, 11-13, 6-4, 6-4 after Herb Flam had made it four-straight for the United States, defeating Lorne Main 6-2, 6-2, 6-3.

Commenting on Perry's performance particularly in the marathon second set which he won when he broke Macken's serve in the 24th game, Bren said:

"A lot of people might think that Perry is the weak member of the team—he's only a year out of junior play—but it just isn't so. I'd hate to meet him in two year's time."

It was Macken's experience gained in seven years in Davis Cup play that defeated Perry.

When the two were belting it out from the baselines, with neither man winning, it was Macken who was able to vary his game, using drop-shots and cross-court placements close to the net to good effect.

Flam put Main out of the way in jig time.

IMPATIENCE COSTLY

The only time he lost was when he became impatient, slamming the ball right out of the club ground at one point, and Main broke through his service momentarily.

But Flam settled down to tactics the Americans used all through the series—keep the ball going until your opponent errs.

Flam Friday defeated Rochon 6-2, 8-6, 6-2, and Vic Seixas defeated Main 6-2, 6-3, 6-4. Flam and Seixas joined forces Saturday to down Macken and Main 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 in doubles.

The United States now takes on the winner of an Italy-India series for the right to challenge Australia, present holders of the cup.

Double Disaster For Giants Bow To Braves In Twin Bill

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

The time is now for the little miracle of 1952. Dawn of this fateful day—Aug. 12—again finds the bewildered New York Giants far behind the front-running Brooklyn Dodgers in the National Baseball League. Nine games back—instead of 13 or 13½ as they were last year—the Giants show no signs of an August-September drive such as thrilled the sports world in '51.

But there was little hope a year ago, either. No signs that the Giants were about to take off on a 16-game win streak.

MEET TONIGHT

A freak of the schedule brings the Giants to Brooklyn tonight for a three-game series. A sweep for the Giants is almost a must. Two out of three by the Brooks would open up a 10-game lead with less than 50 to go.

The Brooks come into the big series with all guns booming. Gil Hodges, Roy Campanella and Jack Robinson smashed home runs last night in a big six-run rally in the sixth inning at Philadelphia to earn an even break for the night.

Robin Roberts pitched the Phils to a 7-2 victory in the first half of a twi-night doubleheader. The Phils were out front in the second game on Bill Nicholson's three-run homer in the fifth until the Dodger homer barrage started. When it was over, Brooklyn had the second game in the bag, 9-5.

DOUBLE DISASTER

Double disaster was the story for the Giants in Boston, where they followed two shutout defeats with a doubleheader loss to the sixth-place Braves, 11-10 and 4-2.

Shoddy relief pitching lost the first for New York, blowing a 10-7 lead while the Braves rallied for four in the eighth. Lew Burdette held the Giants to five hits in the second game.

St. Louis also lost ground to Brooklyn, absorbing a 10-2 pasting by Chicago Cubs. Chicago's Hank Sauer slammed his 29th and 30th home runs to bring his runs-batted-in total to 96.

REYNOLDS WINS 150TH

Allie Reynolds' two-hit shutout and 150th major-league victory was the big news in the American League as New York Yankees blanked Boston 7-0, opening up a 2½-game lead on idle Cleveland. Mickey Mantle hit his 17th and 18th homers plus a double in the attack on Sid Hudson and two successors.

Cleveland at Detroit and St. Louis at Chicago in the American were rained out.

Washington split two with Philadelphia, the Senators taking the first 6-5 on pinch-hitter Frank Campos' fly ball with the bases loaded in the ninth. The Athletics won the second, 2-1.

Cincinnati drove Pittsburgh even deeper into the National League cellar with a 10-4 romp.

7,000-Mile Tour Costs Students Less Than $50

MONTREAL (CP) Paul Le Siege and Georges Hooper, teen-aged students, have returned from a 35-day 7,000 mile tour of western Canada that cost them less than $50.

The same pair last year toured the Gaspe peninsula for $7.50. This summer they roamed the west, sleeping in a pup tent or emergency town accommodations.

They took in the Calgary Stampede, visited the mounted police training centre at Regina, gazed in awe at the Canadian Rockies and picked luscious cherries in British Columbia's Okanagan Valley.

Dressed in scout uniforms, they had no trouble getting rides, hitchhiking as much as 500 miles on a good day.

Silver Seized Pair Arrested

COBALT.—Provincial constable J. S. Saumier early Monday intercepted 100 pounds of sliver on its way to Sudbury and arrested M (Bud) Gilson of Cobalt and Douglas Reid of Sudbury on charges of high-grading.

In addition to the genuine silver the officer found two large "nuggets" in Reid's car which later proved to be silver-plated iron. They weighed 40 and 18 pounds.

Held for questioning but later released was Rita Richer, about 30, a friend of Reid, who was riding with him in his car. The accused were in different autos, which P.C. Saumier stopped by straddling his police cruiser across Highway 11 near Gillies Airport. After finding the silver he radioed to P.C. Ralph Berry of Haileybury for help.

Police said the silver, which has not yet been valued, appears to be almost pure.

Reid told police he was an employee of the International Nickel Co. Gilson is a part-time worker and sportsman, widely known in the Cobalt area.

Venice Falls In Moat No Canal To Help

MILWAUKEE (AP). — There was a lot of unhappiness at the Washington Park Zoo Sunday night—8,000 pounds of elephant was feeling low. Venice, the 33-year-old Zoo favorite, was found at the bottom of her 10-foot moat shortly before midnight. It took all available personnel to build a ramp out of bailed hay so she could climb out. She made it at 3 a.m.

Commonwealth Conference Important To Trade Future

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

There are two big question marks around the Commonwealth conference in London in the fall. They are:

1. Will the conference find some way to make trade easier in the world at large? Or:

2. Will it further the tendency of the Western World to split into separate trading compartments?

There can be little doubt that the conference, if it could, would plump for No. 1—easier trade in the world at large.

U.S. KEY COUNTRY

However, the key country in the matter of bringing about easier trade is the United States. And the United States won't be there. Further, from now until about conference time, it will be in the midst of an election campaign and probably not in a position, for some months, to make any great trade decisions.

This situation may send the conference in search of emergency measures to keep the sterling area solvent. Such emergency measures may mean drawing the sterling area—which consists of Britain, the Commonwealth, except Canada, the Empire and a few other countries—into further trade seclusion.

If such a step becomes necessary, it will be the dimming of a dream, which we have had since the end of the war—the dream of breaking down trade barriers.

COULD BREAK BARRIERS

Steps towards fulfilment of the dream had been helped by the fact that the United States administration, as distinguished from its legislative branch—Congress—has had some powers to act. It could break down American trade barriers to a degree, and so encourage other countries to do likewise.

Now the United States administration has reached about the limit of the concessions it can make without going back to Congress for further powers.

And it does not seem apparent—rather otherwise—that Congress is prepared to give the world fresh leadership towards freer trade. Congress does not seem as conscious of its responsibilities in the world trade sphere, as it does in the world political sphere.

MAY PULL AWAY

In this situation, it won't be surprising if the Commonwealth conference—the sterling area part of it—takes a "man the lifeboats" attitude and pulls away a bit farther.

What one might hope for is that the conference may produce some plain-spoken exposition of what the barriers to freer trade are.

It is difficult to see how the Western World can continue to operate effectively—economically, politically or in defence—if one part of it is to continue semi-bankrupt; with the other, and richer part, dashing in every now and then with emergency aid to prevent collapse.

That has been the story since the end of the war. It has worked so far, but it would be hoping a lot to expect it to work much longer.

Higher Calibre Teachers Needed Federation Told

WINNIPEG (CP)—More teachers of a higher calibre, longer training and greater experience are needed in Canada, Tom Parker of Halifax, president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, said last night at the opening session of the federation convention.

The teacher supply situation was "grim" throughout Canada, but the kind of person attracted to the profession was an even more important problem.

"We need men and women who are mature and stable and can provide their pupils with the security and understanding which so many children find nowhere but in school."

Hvasta's Parents Promised Action

WASHINGTON (AP). — The parents of John Hvasta, a war veteran reported to have escaped from a Communist prison in Czechoslovakia, today had a state department promise of "definite action" to try to get more information about their son.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hvasta and their son Steve, 22, came here from Hillside, N. J., yesterday to ask state department aid in determining the fate of their elder son John.

The Czech government reported last Monday that John Hvasta escaped from a Communist prison near Bratislava, Jan. 2. He was serving a 10-year sentence on charges, denounced by the U. S. government as baseless, that he was an American spy.

No word has ben heard from him since. Yesterday, however, a Czech refugee named Jaroslav Burec said in Munich, Germany, that Hvasta escaped with him and four other prisoners, and that he was confident Hvasta is hiding in Czechoslovakia.

R.C.A.F. Squadron Flies 4,300,000 Miles For U.N.

DORVAL, Que. (CP) — The R.C.A.F.'s No. 426 Thunderbird transport squadron flew 4,300,000 miles for Canada and the United Nations in its first two years of the airlift to Korea, and it's still going strong.

But things have changed since the early days, when the squadron was on a one-flight-a-day schedule. Now it flies the Pacific about twice a week and does other jobs besides from its headquarters here near Montreal.

The first of the squadron's Canadian-built four-engined North Stars took off from McChord Field near Tacoma, Wash., July 27, 1950, bound for Tokyo. Since then the squadron has flown more than 400 round trips.

CLOCKWORK NOW

Defence Minister Claxton noted the anniversary with the statement: "The operational record of 426 Squadron during its two years on the Korea airlift merits the highest possible praise. . .I can think of no finer tribute than to say that squadron personnel have reduced a gruelling and extremely demanding task to the status of a purely routine operation."

The Thunderbird North Stars have carried close to 5,000,000 pounds of freight and mail, and more than 10,000 passengers, including many wounded brought back from the Far East.

The Squadron was at its Dorval home base when it received orders to move to McChord and begin the trans-Pacific operations. Under command of Wing Cmdr. Campbell Mussells, O.B.E., D.S.O., D.F.C., of Montreal, the squadron flew its own North Stars to the Pacific coast, taking ground crew, administrative staff and servicing equipment with it.

HECTIC AT START

At first the squadron went through a hectic period, keeping to one-flight-daily schedule with only six aircraft on strength. During the criticial period when the Korea campaign demanded maximum effort air crew were logging as much as 160 hours a month through some of the worst flying weather to be found anywhere.

In recent months the squadron has been flying eight round trips a month, operating from Dorval instead of McChord.

Wing Cmdr. Mussells left the Thunderbirds last year to become senior personnel staff officer at air transport command headquarters, Lachine, Que. He was replaced by Wing Cmdr. J. K. MacDonald, D.F.C., of Antigonish, N.S.

Since the squadron's base was moved back to Dorval, Wing Cmdr. H. W.. Lupton of Regina has taken charge as commanding officer of No. 426. Wing Cmdr. MacDonald is to take over new duties with the R.C.A.F. in Europe.

Loudspeaker Network Placed In Canada's House Of Commons

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A parliamentary problem should soon be laid to rest.

The next session will be the first to solve for everyone in the Commons chamber—members, reporters and visitors alike—the puzzle of what is going on.

A Halifax firm is installing a sound-reinforcement system that will allow everyone in the big green chamber to hear what a speaker is saying, just as though they were sitting side by side.

For years now members have been complaining that the visitors and press galleries, and even a fair number of the members themselves, could not adequately hear what was being said.

OUD SPEAKER NETWORK

Experts believe they have found the answer in a network of microphones and loud-speakers similar to that used in the British House of Commons at Westminster. The system will be installed and waiting for members when they return to their seats here in November.

A five-man crew from Cossor (Canada) Ltd. of Halifax, under a 33-year-old Montreal-born engineer named Frank B. Lee, a Canadian of Chinese descent, went to work early in July. They expected to be busy through the summer fitting their modern apparatus into a chamber that was never intended for this sort of thing.

The big aim, says Mr. Lee, is to install the equipment as unobtrusively as possible. One big headache was how to suspend 19 microphones to hang about 10 feet off the floor and in such a way that a member could speak in his normal voice in any part of the chamber and be heard easily.

It was eventually decided to suspend them from wires fastened in turn to wires strung from side to side of the chamber close to the ceiling, far above the green carpet.

TWO-WAY SYSTEM

The aim is to have a two-way system—the microphones to broadcast the voice of the member speaking and small loud-speakers for listeners. The loud-speakers will be fitted all over the chamber, one for each two-member desk, one for each two members of the press gallery, one for each two seats in the other galleries upstairs

In the diplomatic gallery there will be a small control console from which an operator can turn on the microphone nearest the man who has the floor.

The others will be kept off. If they were all turned on at once, the members would be robbed of one of their favorite pursuits—holding private conversations in not-too-modest whispers.

EXTRA WAGE RATES

An agreement has been signed between C.G.E. and Local 524, U.E., pushing up rates on 424 jobs from one cent an hour to 19 cents. Some 2,350 production workers are affected. The new rates will be retroactive to April 14.

THIRD FALSE ALARM

Lindsay fire department was called out Saturday night for the third time in two days on false alarms. A person telephoned and reported gas escaping at a Huron St. address. There is no gas in Lindsay and firemen found all in order at the house.

APPLES OF THE HESPERIDES

Red Astrakhan apples are on the main street stands, a comparative few of a fruit that rates qualitatively far higher than their quantity indicates. They used to be the first loot of the season in orchard raids by boys now in sedate manhood to whom the water-core specimens excelled even the apples of the Hesperides.

FORM BOWLING LEAGUE

This fall, the Peterborough and District Labor Council (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) intend to start an inter-union bowling tournament. Four members were elected Monday night to make the necessary arrangements. They were Alfred Barber of Local 210, U.P.W.A., Lorne Bebee, Local 293, U.P.W.A., George Lindsell, Branch 19, National Organization of Civic Utility and Electrical Workers, and Charles Batchelor, Local 570, I.U.E.

BREAKS VERTEBRA

When a scaffold on which he was working broke Monday afternoon, 46-year-old Russell Mowatt of Burks Falls fell to the ground and received a broken vertebra in his neck. He was helping his brother-in-law brick a chimney at Lee St. and Barnardo Ave. when the accident occurred. He was taken to hospital by Nisbett ambulance and complained of a pain in his neck and shoulders. An x-ray revealed a broken vertebra. His condition today is satisfactory.

THE OLD CITY HALL WILL BE LEVELLED by this weekend, wrecking contractors hope. The only hold-ups to date have been the drilling of cement-encased vaults that entailed drilling before the installations could be removed. When the building is demolished and the ground levelled and asphalt-topped there will be parking room for 56 cars, giving the Market Square parking lot accommodation for a total of 150 cars.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

City Council Decides To Look Over Street

To understand clearly the effect of the grading on Bellevue Ave. and the new sidewalk that is to be laid, city council decided Monday night to see the street for themselves.

They heard a deputation headed by Frank Robson representing the people on Bellevue between Stormont and Donegal Sts. Property owners are apprehensive of the possible result of street plans creating difficulty for them in having access for their cars into their lanes. The question of road levels and surface water was also mentioned. Unfamiliar with the details of the street, the council decided that the best course was examine the street and the work that has been begun.

Norma Hughes Secretary-Gen. Of Blind Council

CALGARY (CP)—Appointment of Norma Hughes of London and formerly of Peterborough as secretary-general of the Canadian Council of the Blind was announced yesterday at the opening session of the council's four-day convention here. Thirty delegates from nine provinces are attending.

The post of secretary-general was created this year to take care of the rapid growth of council activities across Canada.

An increase in the blindness allowance from the present $40 a month to $50 and elimination of the means test was urged by delegates.

Under existing legislation, a blind person is eligible for the $40 allowance providing the pension plus his earnings do not exceed $840 annually for a single person and $1,320 a year for a married person with a sighted wife or husband.

Miss Hughes, the daughter of Mrs. Clara Hughes, was born in Peterborough and has been blind all her life. She attended city schools and graduated from the Peterborough Normal School. She spent some time in the city tutoring high school students and working as a stenographer in the C.G.E. before moving to Toronto with her mother in the early 1940's.

To Ask Charlotte Whitton To Open Exhibition In Sept.

As between the Hon. Louis Breithaupt, Ontario's Lieutenant-Governor, and Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa, for the formal opening of Peterborough's Exhibition, guess who got the nod at the meeting of the directors Monday night. You're wrong, maybe; it was the loquacious first lady in the capital municipality, and president Norman McConkey was authorized to extend the board's invitation, somewhat late as it is in taking wing.

It was Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., who suggested Hon. Mr. Breithaupt, and one of the younger members came up with Mayor Whitton, who perhaps contributes an element of interest and novelty in being the first woman to be invited for the conventional opening.

As chairman, Mr. McConkey was mentioning the Governor's name first.

"Some of them down at this end of the table would rather see the names changed around," said Don Milburn.

And that's the way it was decided; the first invitation to Mayor Whitton. Charles E. Moore had remarked that he understood the Lieutenant-Governor was opening the London Exhibition, in the same week as Peterborough.

FIVE FOR $2.00

The board decided Monday night to offer admission and car parking tickets at five for $2 in advanced sale to Saturday, September 6.

That means 40 cents a ticket at the gate, but not at the grandstand. It was hoped that this advantage to the public would be accepted by substantial sale of tickets prior to the week of the show.

Wednesday will be Children's Day, and for the youngsters there will be no admission charge.

Ask For Permit For Gas Station

Request of the Canadian Oil Co. for permission to build a service station at the southwest corner of Monaghan Road and Lansdowne St. was referred to the city planning board by the council Monday night.

Ald. J. E. Gillespie in presenting his motion said that the area was zoned for residential use.

Ald. T. D. Miller pointed out that the property could be acquired only by lease, and in all probability could never serve residential purpose.

The land is owned by the Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation to whom it was a bequest from a parishioner years ago when St. Peter's parish embraced the whole of the city.

THREE CORNERS OCCUPIED

Ald. Miller said St. Peter's cemetery was at one corner, Peterborough Lumber Co. another, and there was also a new service station at the southeast corner.

"I agree with the motion to refer this application to the city planning board," Ald. Miller said, "but as we know there is little chance of it ever being a residential property I see no point in holding the company up for probably a month if they want to go ahead with a building."

Ald. Gillespie agreed to altering his motion authorizing City Engineer Chalmers to issue a building permit, if the planning board found that the corner property would not be available for housing.

Postpone Paving Monaghan Rd. Till Next Year

Paving of Monaghan Road south from Braidwood Ave. to Riverside Drive is likely to be deferred until 1953, Murray Metcalfe of City Engineer Chalmer's department said today.

The surfacing of the upper section of Monaghan Road between McDonnel St. and Hopkins St. is finished, and Warren Paving Co. has the base on Albert St., from Park St. to Monaghan Road, nearly completed for its surfacing. The next move will be to Charlotte St., from Monaghan Road to a point about 100 feet around the curve on Clonsilla Ave. That job calls for curbs and gutters, and widening of the paved surface to 36 feet.

Warren Paving will wind up their season's work with the resurfacing of George St. south from King St. to the C.P.R.

COUNTY JOBS

County of Peterborough has almost completed an asphaltic mulch surfacing of Sherbrooke St. west from Clonsilla Ave. to the foot of Greenhill. This is a North Monaghan road, in the western suburb.

Suburban Area Commission has also paved the strip through the hamlet at Ennismore, and about three-quarters of a mile in Douro, easterly from the Warsaw Road.

On the old Keene Road a new top has been laid from the C.N.R. south in Otonabee about 1¼ miles. This road turns south from No. 7 Highway just east of the city. That was a Suburban Area improvement.

On Monaghan Road south considerable work is in progress, part of it as drainage, with other improvements in that vicinity of the new Kenner Collegiate Institute. That is probably the reason why Mr. Chalmers decided not to break up Monaghan Road this season.

Magistrate Criticizes Constables

Proper Investigation Lacking In Cases Of Drinking Drivers

Police officers were criticized by Magistrate R. B. Baxter today for charging car drivers with driving while their ability is impaired by alcohol and not bothering to carry out proper investigations.

"There is no evidence the accused drove the vehicle bearing the licence number stated in the charge," Magistrate Baxter said in dismissing a charge of driving while his ability was impaired against Merle Donald Lunn of Fraserville.

"Many charges are being laid under this section," he continued, "and I think the police are allowing themselves to slip down in investigating these matters. It is still a criminal offence and has to be proven," the Magistrate warned.

REFUSED STATEMENT

The magistrate refused to permit either O.P.P. Constable John Cawood or Constable William G. Scott of the city police force to admit a statement concerning who was driving Lunn's truck when it was allegedly involved in an accident at the south end of Monaghan Rd. August 2. It was while investigating the accident, that Constable Scott caught up with a truck Lunn admitted driving, and later had him arrested by Constable Cawood on the impaired charge.

Both officers gave the symptoms usually given by police officers in such charges, they said Lunn's speech was "a little incoherent," his breath smelled of alcohol and he staggered and was unsteady on his feet.

When acting crown attorney Walter Howell ended the crown's case, the magistrate dismissed the charge because he said there was no evidence connecting Lunn with driving the truck bearing the licence number alleged in the charge.

In cross examining Constable Scott, Alex L. Elliott who defended Lunn asked if Lunn had ridden on the running board of a car for about a mile from where he first questioned him on a township road.

Constable Scott said he didn't know for sure.

Commenting on this aspect of the case, the magistrate said, "Here we have an officer, Constable Scott, stating a man was not fit to drive a truck who doesn't know how the man rode away. If he allowed him to ride on the running board he was certainly lax in the execution of his duty."

Ex-Consul In City

Dr. Jiri Mares, Czechoslovakian consul-general, who Monday was granted temporary asylum in Canada, spent most of the day in Peterborough, purchasing a trailer. Dr. Mares quit his post as consul-general in Montreal because of his disillusionment with communism, and hopes eventually to become a Canadian citizen. An interview with Dr. Mares will appear in Wednesday's Examiner.

Labor Council Will Battle For Rent Control

The Peterborough and District Labor Council (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) indicated Monday night they were prepared to battle any attempt to abolish rent controls here.

To show that they mean business, they have already printed thousands of copies of two questionnaires. These will be circulated among the 15 local unions affiliated with the labor council, representing more than 4,000 workers.

One questionnaire asks the signer if he is in favor of rent control. The other is more detailed, asking the number of children and adults in each family, the type of accommodation, whether or not the apartment is self-contained, the amount of rent paid, and the other amenities.

Purpose of this survey is to gather data on actual living conditions in Peterborough so that if the Ontario government holds a board of enquiry here this information will be available.

This move by the labor council was made after a discussion on rent controls by city council on July 28.

A select committee of the Ontario Legislature, dealing with rent controls, informed city council that they could take over the administration of rent controls. After some discussion, in which a number of aldermen thought it a field the city would be wise to keep out of, a reply was drafted to the special committee.

BOARD OF ENQUIRY

The reply requested the special committee to set up a board of enquiry in Peterborough to get the facts on housing accommodation and rents here. And on the basis of this the special committee could decide whether or not rent controls should be continued.

That's where the matter stands now. City council has not heard from the special committee again.

"City council is trying to get out from under rent control," said Alfred Barber of Local 210, United Packinhouse Workers of America. "The record shows that four aldermen wanted to retain rent control and the rest voted against it, including the Mayor."

Members of the labor council anticipate that if there is a board of enquiry both tenants and landlords will be present to argue their case. And they want some information — obtained through their questionnaire survey —to back up their contention that rent controls should remain.

Vets Refuse March In Parade

HAMILTON (CP)—A number of would be participants in last night's war veterans comradeship week march past city hall refused to fall in when they noticed that the parade was not to be led by a color party.

Alf Smees, M.B.E., president of the United Council of Veterans, who was in charge of the parade, commented this morning: "It was an unfortunate and regrettable incident. The colors were omitted inadvertently."

Hit Rear Of Car Driver Fined

John McIvor, R.R. 10 Peterborough was convicted of careless driving and fined $10 and $11 costs by Magistrate R. B. Baxter in police court today.

McIvor was driving a six ton County of Peterborough truck toward the city on Highway 7, the evening of July 7 when it struck the rear of a pick-up truck and sent it into the path of an oncoming car.

In finding McIvor guilty, Magistrate Baxter said the accused said he saw the truck (driven by Glen Hanes, R.R. 2 Peterborough) stop when he was 75 feet to the rear, yet for more than 60 feet there was no evidence of application of brakes. "His only negligence was in failing to keep a proper lookout as to what Hanes was doing," the Magistrate said.

McIvor was defended by Robert Carley.

YWCA Keeps Pace With New Projects

TORONTO (CP)—The Y.W.C.A. is keeping pace with Canada's growth through construction of new buildings in many areas.

National headquarters of the women's Y here says the largest of these projects is the new Y at Montreal, opened last February at a cost of $1,500,000 to replace an old building destroyed by fire two years ago.

In Vancouver a new international Y has been opened for girls of various racial backgrounds. At New Westminster, B.C., a big old house was acquired and now is in constant use as a meeting-place for Y clubs and classes.

Edmonton Y.W.C.A. workers now are raising $250,000 for renovating and redecorating their quarters. At Calgary, construction will start on a new pool and gymnasium as soon as steel is available.

One of the newer associations, at Lethbridge, has turned two old residences into living quarters for young women.

The Ontario Y.W.C.A. has several new quarters. A new building housing joint Y.W.-Y.M.C.A. activities opened in Sarnia last fall. Port Hope has a thriving new Y with club activities extending into the nearby community of Cobourg.

Hotston-Zawadski Nuptials

Many from out of the city attended the wedding of Miss Hope Zawadski, Reg. N., to Mr. Kenneth James Hotston which took place Saturday afternoon in All Saints' Anglican Church. Canon J. D. Paterson of Toronto officiated, assisted by the Rev. M. P. Poole, rector.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nestor Zawadski of Smooth Rock Falls, and was given in marriage by her father. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hotston of Peterborough.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Margaret Hawkins of Toronto, matron of honor, Miss Stella Panagapka, Toronto, and Miss Ann Zawadski, sister of the bride, bridesmaids. Groomsman was Mr. Jack Redner and the ushers were the bride's brother William Zawadski of Bourlamaque, Quebec, and Robert Follis of Napanee.

White Chantilly lace and nylon net over satin fashioned the bride's gown, the very full nylon skirt featuring an inset band of ruching. The gown was topped with a fitted jacket of the lace made with long, tight sleeves and a stand-up collar. Her fingertip veil was of silk illusion enhanced with a border of Chantilly lace and adorned by a lace cap of Florence Nightingale style with a cluster of tiny orange blossoms at the back. She carried her prayer book showered with streamers and an orchid.

The matron of honor wore blue nylon taffeta and the bridesmaids wore similar gowns of figured yellow and mauve organza, each with a headdress of flowered tulle and small flowers to match. They carried nosegays of roses and variegated sweet peas.

The bride's mother was gowned in rosewood sheer crepe and had accessories to match and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses. The groom's mother chose French blue crepe with lace and a matching hat and wore pink sweetheart roses in a shoulder corsage.

The church was decorated with gladioli and ferns and the wedding music was played by organist Miss Margaret Flowers. Mrs. V. Beard was soloist and sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because."

Guests were received at the home of the groom's parents, 299 King George St., and they were present from Toronto, Cortland, N. Y., Detroit, Barrie, Stoney Creek, Napanee, Smooth Rock Falls, Bourlamaque, Que., Kitchener and Peterborough.

Later the couple left on their wedding trip to points east. The bride was wearing a suit of dusty rose gabardine with navy accessories and had a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Hotston will live in their new home at 297 King George St.

Original Flower Decorations Take Little Time Or Effort

By MATILDA ROGERS

Once you become a flower arranger, you will find it as much fun to create charming designs with weeds as you do with garden or florist flowers.

A short stroll in most country places will lead to an open field where weeds grow profusely. And if the field doesn't produce a spike and a round flower, the combination ordinarily necessary for a good design, don't worry about it. Do the next best thing: combine two colors.

In this arrangement, the white of the Queen Anne's lace and the dark red of the Bee Balm go very well together. It takes just a few minutes to cut the stems varying lengths and to place the flowers on a needlepoint holder. For best results, the holder should be anchored to your dish with three small gobs of oily clay.

EXQUISITE PATTERN

Incidentally, have you ever noticed the exquisite pattern of the Queen Anne's lace? How many cultivated flowers can boast of an equally beautiful design as this weed.

The Bee Balm sometimes is purple; sometimes, a rich crimson. It has a delightful fragrance.

Flower arrangement is, after all, the art of creating a still-life picture with live plant material. Part of the fun in doing it with weeds is the fact that it doesn't cost any-

"FLOWERS" shown in arrangement here are white Queen Anne's Lace and dark red Bee Balm. These flowers grow wild, make excellent practice material for beginners as thing and also that when the flowers are faded and have to be discarded, it is no problem at all to replace them.

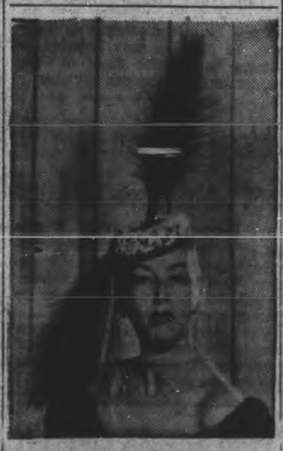
All you need do is go for a walk and take your scissors along. That is one of the charms of living, visiting or vacationing in the country.

I have spent several summers at children's camps, teaching youngsters the art of flower arranging. It was gratifying to see the joy campers found in their exciting discovery that they could create designs with practically anything and everything they could cut.

While they soon learned to look for things with pattern and form, they also found that some weeds, like buttercups and butter-and-eggs and similar fragile-stemmed flowers were not worth the picking, since they did not last long enough to be made into arrangements.

They also learned not to tear weeds, but to cut them when they went "flower picking." They agreed that many weeds were just about the prettiest flowers they had seen. Each tree-identification walk and each excursion into the fields led them to new beauty.

VARIOUS VARIETIES



The things they did cut for flower arrangement included white daisies, black-eyed susans, goldenrod, Queen Anne's lace, Bee Balm, wild phlox, false dragonhead, turtlehead and even sumac. To cut sumac, you'll need pruning scissors.

Just as their dining rooms and social halls took on a feeling of warmth and the campers enjoyed having "flowers" around all the time, so you can brighten your home with field weeds.

Most beginners in flower arrangement make the mistake of thinking that unless they can use something elaborate, there's no point in bothering. This, of course, is a mistake.

Weeds make practice truly inexpensive. Besides, any simple arrangement you do yourself gives much more satisfaction than the most intricate prize-winner you see.

In the country, where life is more social, it might prove relaxation and fun, when friends drop in, to have a flower arrangement party instead of the usual bridge game. If you are fortunate enough to have an open field of flowers near you, it makes entertaining simple and takes no preliminary planning.

Italian Designers Introduce Beautiful Inexpensive Styles

By PEGGY MASSIN

FLORENCE, Italy (Reuters)—"Good—and cheap" is the opinion of the world's fashion experts, here to view joint showings of leading Italian couturiers.

Fine workmanship, beautiful fabrics and a price range to fit every purse are the main attractions. Embroideries and handwork are cheaper here than anywhere else.

While designers perhaps lack the originality of the French, the collections have been acclaimed for the good classic clothes and evening gowns.

Italian hemlines are down—as low as 13 inches from the floor—and accented by full dirndl or bias-cut skirts.

Fabrics are emphasized, with new-textured and surface-interest weaves. Bold plaids, stripes and patterns are stressed in the cut of the silhouette.

Ensembles are stronger than suits, though the loose jacket suit with its own blouse is featured, together with the easy-to-wear shirt-waist dress with matching coat. Coats are often reversible—plain on one side, a bright plaid on the other.

One of the newest and brightest stars of the Italian fashion scene is 21-year-old Capucci, who shows a definite flair for high-style suits, coats and extravagant evening clothes.

He often recalls the styles of the 1920's—popular in Paris for the last two seasons—with lowered waistlines and loose-blouse styles.

Other high-style houses, including Ferdinandi, Vanna and Polinober, establish a Grecian trend for evening.

Draped chiffons, jerseys and glamorous metallic sheaths are popular with buyers, who claim that only here in Italy can they find embroideries at such a price.

For less sophisticated tastes, there are the gala ball gowns, using an enormous quantity of material.

Models start at $80 to $125 for custom-made day wear. The latter figure may even include fur trimmings. Formal clothes range from about $250 up to $500.

One of the most fabulous gowns, named after Britain's Queen Elizabeth, is Vanna's masterpiece. This heavily-embroidered dress, employing yards of pale pink tulle, features a removable apron skirt which converts into an evening cape.

Chrysalis Colors For Night Mark Newest U.K. Fashions

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—A butterfly escaping from its chrysalis is suggested by the contrast between dun-colored daytime woollens and glistening evening gowns shown in the fall fashions of Britain's top designers.

Earthy browns shot with black, bottle greens undertone with darker blues, and batwing grey touched with black rather than white, are typical examples of the muted toning of winter coats, suits and dresses.

Dark daytime outfits depending on exquisite tailoring for their sales appeal, make an effective foil for such dream dresses as Norman Hartnell's "champagne toast," a staff tawny net crinoline with strapless, jewelled top covered by a long-sleeved chiffon bolero.

A regal touch is given by a matching coronet cap of jewelled satin with tawny swan's wings stretching backwards from either side.

EVENING SATINS

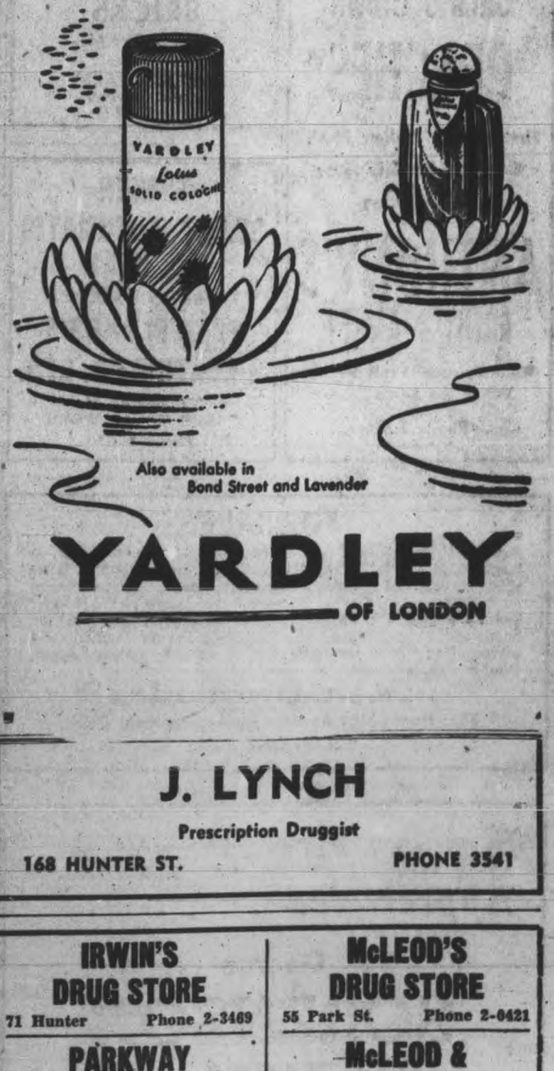
For cocktails and theatre wear there is a lime gold brocade satin gown with full, short skirt gleaming under a top layer of black chiffon, its plain round neckline trimmed with black braid. This is one of several short evening styles featured by Victor Stiebel who designs clothes for Princess Margaret.

Hardy Amies, noted for his contribution to the Queen's Canadian tour wardrobe, introduces an under-the-bust waistline that gives a standout, waterfall effect to the front of a tulle gown. This is effectively seen in a red and pink rayon tulle ball gown with the stand-out skirt cut shorter in front than at back.

A simple crinoline gown in peacock velvet is one of many short Victorian numbers. The plain, full skirt has a deep, gathered frill that matches the frilled foot to a shoulder-cape of wild mink. The rounded neckline is outlined in beading.

A slinky, fireside effect by Victor Stiebel is achieved by a floor-length gown with leopard-printed satin skirt and high-necked black velvet top with narrow sleeves and low, cut-out back neckline.

All designers feature crinoline gowns—a favorite choice of the royal family—in either cocktail or evening dresses, or both. A typical regal example is Norman Hartnell's "fan fare," a white net with embroidered ostrich feathers trimming the skirt and forming a fan and coronet head-peace.



AN ORIGINAL CANADIANA featuring wool with novelty motives on leather belt. Can be worn with sweaters or blouses. The dress is being exhibited by the Canadian Government in Rockefeller Centre Arcade in New York City.

DOROTHY DIX

Overcritical Friend Can Mean Well

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a woman friend who criticizes me incessantly. Over a period of time she has taken me apart from head to toe, voluntarily offering suggestions on the sort of hat I should wear and with what dresses it looks best, how I should have my hair cut, how I should apply my lipstick, what height heel I should have on my shoes. She fusses with my collars, putting them over my coat and re-arranging any clothing that happens to displease her. Now, I am certainly not a slovenly person; in fact I am considered a perfectionist and "crazy clean."

Finally I became too irked at her attentions, spurted out my objections to her gratuitous opinions and informed her she was downright rude.

I am open to constructive criticism—yes. However, her uncalled-for opinions were more than I could take. I do not consider her the epitome of fashion nor a connoisseur of style. She countered with the accusation that I am oversensitive, and claims her suggestions were offered in good faith. She added that if she must watch everything she says in the future, it might be better if we didn't see each other again. What is your opinion?

LORNA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: One of the essentials of friendship is that we accept our friends complete with virtues and faults, making the most of the former and minimizing the latter. If, on the whole, a friend's virtues outweigh her faults, if her compatibility as a companion is offset by minor vagaries, the lesser flaws must be ignored in favor of the greater merits.

HER NUMBER IS LEGION

Your friend definitely is not in a class by hefself; her number is legion. Everyone at one time or another has experienced similar reconstruction from a pal. We all know the friend who comes to the house, then proceeds to redecorate it for you. Or the one who corrects your system of bringing up children, or suggests methods of improving your cooking. Now, on the whole, such criticism is good. At the moment we may not like it, but on reviewing the lecture we often can find points of justification that can be used for self-improvement. No one is perfect enough to be beyond the pale of criticism or correction. However, when the passion for reform becomes almost a crusade, as it has with your particular friend, none but the most patient soul can bear up under it.

Sometimes the incessant reproofs can be stopped with a quiet, "Well, I like to wear my hat this way, so I think I'll continue to do so." Or, "My hair style suits me, I won't bother to change it right now." A change of subject might also be in order as at least a temporary cure.

If, however, the critic simply will not be stayed in her campaign of improvement, and her unwarranted suggestions become too great a strain on your patience, the only cure is to see less of her. Cultivate, instead, friends who are more tolerant of your individuality.

An inferiority complex is usually the dictator behind a personality such as your friend possesses, and if you can do anything to change her own point of view you will be doing both her and yourself a great favor.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a teenager with a mother problem rather different from what most youngsters my age have. My mother is a wonderful housekeeper and a marvellous wife and mother. However, she is running around with two men and, as a result, I don't dare bring my friends to the house for fear the men friends will be there.

ANNABELLE.

ANSWER: Are you sure you aren't letting an adolescent imagination run away with you? It seems a trifle incredible that a mother would bring men friends to the house where they would meet her children, if there was anything more than casual freindship involved.

If the situation is serious, it is beyond the scope of a youngster your age to handle. It is also something that should not be taken outside the boundaries of your home, except to a very trustworthy and understanding adult. Indiscriminate confidence, in a case like this, could lead to very serious trouble for your entire family. Your minister would be the most logical person for your confidence.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I go with an 18-year-old girl and I have to bring her home by 10 o'clock. She doesn't get off from work on Saturday until 8:30 so it seems the 10 o'clock curfew is rather unreasonable.

ROY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I agree with you thoroughly. An 18-year-old girl who is earning her own living is certainly entitled to more liberal hours than this. Eleven o'clock, or even twelve on week-ends, would not be amiss.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Good Vegetable Cooks Rare How To Retain Green Color

If you give it much thought you realize that vegetables form the bulk of our food. Yet cooks abuse them.

Some of us rest on our laurels if we can make good pies and cakes and roast meat, but in a restaurant or a home where you are served beautifully cooked vegetables you know there is a master cook at the helm.

Let's discuss keeping green vegetables bright green for a minute—not olive green, after they are cooked. Chlorophyll is the pigment in vegetables which is responsible for their green coloring. When this is subjected to heat for any length of time it readily turns brown. Another factor causing brownness is the presence in the vegetables of acid.

To make this story short and to the point: To retain the green color in green vegetables cook them as short a time as possible—actually undercook them. Start trying them for doneness when they are half finished—then try them every 2 minutes. Cook only in water to barely cover but cook them uncovered. You do this for two reasons: to allow acid to escape in steam and to dilute acid in water. You sacrifice some nutrients in water but well-informed cooks conserve vegetable waters by using them in gravies and soups.

All of the above points apply to the commonest vegetables we eat; green beans, cabbage, peas, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, asparagus, green peppers. Spinach requires no more water than clings to the leaves from washing. Spinach should be turned over twice during a 6-minute cooking period, uncovered.

MEAT-STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS

Select 6 large green peppers with flat bottoms. Cut off tops and remove seeds and ribs; wash, dredge with salt and turn upside down to drain. Mix together 1 lb. ground beef or hamburg, 2 tablespoons grated onion, ¼ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1 cup soft breadcrumbs and 1 beaten egg, and ½ can condensed tomato or cream of mushroom soup and this well and use as stuffing for peppers. Place in flat-bottomed pot so that they can stand up. Add 1½ inches boiling water and boil uncovered for 35 minutes or bake in 1 inch of water for 45 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr. Heat remaining half can condensed tomato or cream of mushromo soup and serve as sauce over peppers. A pretty platter may be made up by piling fluffy cooked rice in centre and making a border of the baked stuffed peppers.

SPICED SHOESTRING BEETS

Wash and pare raw beets, shred on medium shredder until you have 3½ cups. To them add 1 tablespoon vinegar, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, ⅛ teaspoon nutmeg and 3 tablespoons butter or margarine or salad oil and 1 cup hot water. These may be simmered, covered for 50 minutes or cooked in covered double boiler 70 minutes or baked covered in oven of 350 deg. Fahr. for 60 minutes.

FRESH LIMA AND CORN CASSEROLE

This is good too if all fresh corn is used to replace the limas.

One quarter cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup flour, 1½ cups milk, ¼ cup grated old cheese, ¾ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup cut up canned pimiento (or fresh if available), 2 cups small fresh (or frozen) limas, 2 cups fresh kernel corn just cut from cobs, ½ cup green small onion tops or chives, 2 cups soft breadcrumbs, 3 tablespoons melted butter. Make a white sauce by melting the ¼ cup butter, blending in flour and stirring in milk until thick. Add cheese, salt, pepper and pimientoes and gently simmer 2 minutes. Mix this sauce with beans and corn and onion tops. Pour into buttered baking dish, sprinkle top with crumbs, dot with the melted butter and bake 30 minutes at 375 deg. Fahr. or until limas are tender. If top is not brown in that time raise it in oven and brown under broiler. To make this a main supper dish one cup ground leftover meat such as ham or pork or chicken or veal may be added without changing other proportions.

What's Right?

You eat at a resort hotel where you are staying for a week—and are served by the same waiter each day.

WRONG: Feel it isn't necessary to tip the waiter.

RIGHT: At the end of your last meal, give the waiter a tip to take care of the entire week.

PARAFFIN HELPS

When bureau drawers become balky, try rubbing the runners with a bit of paraffin. This provides a smooth, hard surface on which the drawers can glide.

One especially pretty jewelry trick is to clasp an eye-catching jeweled clip to the sleeve-edge of a sleeveless blouse or dress.

Woman Linotype Operator Opens Comp. Room Eyes

CALGARY (CP)—The boys in the composing room of the Calgary Albertan were wide-eyed with astonishment when they reported for work one day to find a pretty, 23-year-old brunette seated at the keyboard of a one-ton linotype machine.

This invasion into a domain the threshold of which few women ever crossed was the work of Colleen Bowd, formerly of Saskatoon, who foresook a nursing career because she is more interested in feeding presses than patients.

After the initial incongruity wore off, the Albertan printers accepted Miss Bowd as "one of the gang."

There is no doubt about Colleen's qualifications to sit alongside the men in a newspaper composing room. She is one of only three women in Canada who hold cards entitling them to receive the prevailing wage in a union shop. And it happened more or less by accident.

STARTED AS NURSE

When she graduated from high school in Saskatoon, Colleen went to Regina to train as a nurse. Her application was set aside temporarily because she was under the required age.

While waiting for her acceptance, Colleen took a job in a small print shop. By the time her application was accepted at the hospital she was already serving a printer's apprenticeship at the Regina Leader-Post.

After six years in which she mastered the printer's craft Colleen received the prized journeyman's card, and subsequently moved to Calgary.

She gives nothing away to the men in the performance of daily tasks, including hefting the 50-pound "pigs" of lead which feed metal into the linotypes to be set into news type.

Do the men resent her as an intruder? Not a bit. They say she has "pepped up" the shop.

What copy does she like to set? Sports. And what does she dislike most? Women's page copy.

6—In Memoriam

JAMES—In loving memory of Lewis Boyd James, who passed away Aug. 12, 1949.
Time speeds one, three years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there's none to fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain
For up in heaven we will meet again.
—Lovingly remembered by Mother and Father, sisters and brothers.

ROWLAND—In loving memory of Helen Margaret Rowland, who passed away August 12, 1950.

Beautiful memories she left behind.
—Ever remembered by Mother, Dad, Ruth and Bert, Ralph and Lorraine.

YORK—In loving memory of a dear father, Pte. Wilfred York, killed in action in France, Aug. 4, 1944.

Police Smarter Than Driver

CHICAGO (AP)—When Titus Werner, 39, rolled up his windows and locked himself in his car, he thought he had stumped two policemen who wanted to question him about an alleged traffic violation.

The policemen had Werner's car hauled in to the police station yesterday.

They had stopped Werner at an intersection. They said he couldn't produce a driver's licence, so they wanted to bring him for further questioning.

At the station, Werner was charged with resisting arrest, drunken driving, failure to have a driver's licence and with ignoring a stop-light. His son, Ronald, 17, a passenger, was charged with disorderly conduct.

Both were freed on bond, pending a court appearance Sept. 10.

Deny Carlsen Hurt In Crash

ROTTERDAM (AP)—Capt. Kurt Carlsen arrived in Rotterdam today to rejoin his ship, the Flying Enterprise II. Police in Flensburg, Germany, reported he suffered a broken collarbone in a motorcycle accident last night but a spokesman for the Isbrandtsen line here said it wasn't so.

The Flensburg report said Carlsen's motorcycle skidded and turned over, and that he was taken to hospital and fitted with a plaster cast.

The Isbrandtsen spokesman said Carlsen had left his motorcycle in Copenhagen and arrived here by train "safe and sound."

Canadian Arrested In Gold Smuggling

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Michael Bell, 36, was held in jail today on a charge of selling smuggled gold in Detroit in 1950.

Bell, taken into custody when he tried to enter the United States last Sunday from his home in Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., was arraigned yesterday. No plea was taken and he was ordered held in lieu of $10,000 bail.

Charles P. Wylie, a Detroit customs agent, testified that Bell sold 42 ounces of smuggled gold in April, 1950, to a Detroit jeweler for $1,286.

Foreign Army Attaches Make Kingston Visit

KINGSTON (CP)—A group of foreign military attaches and Commonwealth army advisers is scheduled to arrive in Kingston today from Ottawa and begin a four-day visit of military installations and industries.

The tour will centre around Kingston. However, the group will travel to Picton thursday to visit the Royal Canadian School of Artillery (AA), as well as a canning factory and fish hatchery.

Report Troops Corner Philippine Outlaw

MANILA (AP) — Government troops reported today they have cornered Datu Kamlon, Moro outlaw chief, and his followers on the southeast end of Jolo Island in the southern Philippines.

Kamlon three weeks ago formally agreed to end his banditry in the Sulu archipelago. Later he reneged.

Five bandits were slain today, the army reported. The remaining force was under heavy pressure from the ground and air.

Portugal Sending Macao Reinforcements

NEW DELHI (AP)—Reinforcements for Portugal's tiny colony of Macao are en route from Portuguese forces there, authentic reports reaching here said.

These reports said part of the Portuguese garrison at Goa were transferred to Macao and the Portuguese motorship India now is en route to Macao loaded with extra supplies and equipment for the colony on the southeast coast of China.

7,000 Chickens, Grain Burned

VIEWLAKE.—A double barn on the farm of Laverne Suggitt burned to the ground Saturday night.

Lost in the fire were nearly 7,000 chickens, 1,500 bushels of grain, 4,000 bales of hay, eight pigs, a calf and six tanks of propane gas.

The gas tanks, used for heating the henhouse in cold weather, exploded at intervals with blasts that could be heard throughout the district.

Mr. Suggitt said everything was insured, but not to full value. Oldtimers of the district recalled that 55 years ago the buildings on this same farm were destroyed in a similar fire.

The Suggitt farm is about three miles southwest of Viewlake, on the east shore of Lake Scugog.

Woman Finds Missing Family

WATERLOO (CP)—A 40-year hunt for missing relatives paid off the other day when a Brockville milkman helped Mrs. Charles Nahrgang locate her brother and sister.

Next week she will meet three more sisters at a family get-together.

As a child of five Mrs. Nahrgang was placed in a Brockville orphanage. Two years later she was taken to Kitchener-Waterloo orphanage. She was adopted by a family at St. Agatha where she lived until she married and went to waterloo.

Through the years she has tried to trace members of her family whose name was Perrin.

Last week while visiting at Brockville a milkman was able to tell Mrs. Nahrgang where there were some Perrins.

At nearby Spencerville she found her oldest sister, Mrs. James Lawrence, 70, and her only remaining brother, Clarence. She was told four brothers were killed in the First World War.

Three other sisters in Montreal, Ottawa and Watertown, N.Y., will visit Mrs. Nahrgang next week.

Ask Tourist Facilities Improved By Dept.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) —What was termed "apparent apathy" by the Ontario Department of Highways in providing facilities through this district was criticized by city council last night.

Aldermen said the department showed a lack of interest in developing the areas reached by highway 17 north and east of the Sault. Better sanitary and park facilities should be provided, they said.

Council has already written Highway Minister Doucett asking for better facilities. He replied that large park areas had already been provided, and "normal facilities are in place."

Say Dethronement Triumph For Britain

LONDON (AP) — The Russians say the dethronement of Jordan's King Talal is a British triumph over the United States in the "imperialist struggle for control of Jordan."

Moscow radio today broadcast a message of Tass, the official Russian news agency, from Beirut saying Britain had the skids under Talal by the beginning of June, "when a regency council was formed under the pretext that Talal cannot rule because of his nervous complaint."

The Soviet broadcast called Talal a supporter of "American imperialism" and said that in contrast, the new King Hussein was educated in Britain.

U.K. Labor Executive Endorses Rearmament

LONDON (Reuters)—The executive of the Labor party yesterday endorsed a program of all-out rearmament "within the limits of our power to find the means."

The statement was issued in advance of the party's annual convention next month, at which the rate of rearmament is expected to provoke lively argument and possibly a clash over leadership.

French Lose Post Near Big Airfield

SAIGON, Indo-China, (AP)—The French high command announced today the loss of Phuoc Hoa, a post seven miles southwest of the big French air base Tourane in Annam, to a Communist-led Vietminh battalion.

The announcement said the French suffered 25 killed, 25 wounded and 10 missing in the bitter hand - to - hand fighting Sunday. Vietminh losses were estimated at 500 dead, wounded or captured.

Just two weeks ago four French battalions finished a big mop-up drive in the same sector.

28,000 Greek Children Abducted By Bulgars

MONTREAL (CP)—Michel A. Pesmazoglu, former Greek secretary of state, said in an interview yesterday that more than 28,000 Greek children had been abducted by Balkan Communists and only 500 returned to their homes—"one of the blackest crimes that has cursed civilization."

"It is now four years since a resolution was passed by the International Red Cross urging return of these children," he said. "The purpose undoubtedly is to educate and train these children in Communism."

Mr. Pesmazoglu was chief Greek delegate at the recent meetings in Toronto of the International Red Cross. He is en route home.

Turns Down $120,000 For Postage Stamp

VIENNA (Reuters)—Newspapers reported today that an Austrian woman who claims to have the oldest postage stamp in the world has turned down an offer of $120,000 for it because it was not enough.

The newspaper Neues Oesterreich said she now is dickering around a figure of $155,000 with Swiss and Austrian dealers.

The woman refuses to disclose her name or how she got the stamp.

Experts who examined the stamp claim it is authentic, issued in the year 1830—10 years before the British "penny black," hithero acclaimed as the first official government-backed postage stamp.

Annul Marriage Of 13-Year-Olds

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Two 13-year-old girls faced indignant parents and marriage annulments today and their youthful husbands of one day faced possible criminal action as the aftermath of a joint week-end elopement.

In Nogales, Ariz., the justice of the peace who married them said he "told the kids they didn't look old enough."

Judge Fred Allen said the couples signed sworn affidavits that they were over the state legal minimum of 16 and 18.

For the girls, their return was an unhappy one. One sobbed as her 17-year-old husband was arrained on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

All four sets of parents said the double marriage would be annulled immediately. But the girls' parents signed criminal complaints against the boys, one a sailor.

The publications carry instructions on concrete methods of struggle under the military policy of the Communist party, the news agency said. The peaceful-sounding titles are meant to confuse the police.

The Canadian sportsmen, many of them accompanied by their wives, were entertained at numerous official functions during their tour. Now the bulk of the party is visiting Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland and France. Of these, the majority will leave for Canada on the liner Empress of Scotland Aug. 26, with the others travelling in small groups by ship and air.

Rules Ambulances Can Ignore Red Light

MONTREAL (CP)—Mr. Justice George S. Challies, in a Superior Court judgment yesterday, ruled that an ambulance on an emergency mission was justified in going through a red traffic light.

His lordship granted the claim of Alexandra hospital for $1,373.61 damages to its ambulance as the result of a collision with a truck.

Medical evidence showed a three-month-old child, patient in Children's Memorial hospital, was in need of oxygen treatment and the child's transfer to Alexandra hospital for this purpose had to be made as fast as possible.

His lordship ruled that the ambulance was on a life-saving mission and ordinary traffic regulations were suspended.

Agincourt Band Vocalist Named Miss Canada Of 1952

HAMILTON (CP)—An 18-year-old blonde band vocalist was named Miss Canada 1952 last night.

Marilyn Dolores Reddick of Agincourt, near Toronto, was one of 13 entrants—12 of them from Ontario—judged on appearance, poise, talent and intelligence.

While a panel of eight judges, including a Hollywood actor and actress, dramatists and producers, and a former beauty queen, pondered for almost three hours the young ladies posed—in evening gowns—sang, danced and went through an intelligence test.

$1,900 SCHOLARSHIP

Miss Canada this year receives a $1,000 scholarship, a trip to Atlantic City, N.J., to represent Canada in the Miss America contest and a trip to London for the coronation next June.

On hand to crown Miss Reddick was Marjorie Kelly, last year's winner from Courtland, Ont.

Miss Reddick's figure—bust 34, waist 24, hips 36—was judged best in a private afternoon exhibition for the judges. The contestants appeared in shorts and sun suits.

A bit of a flurry was created when one of the judges, Leighton Brill, Toronto musical comedy producer, withdrew from the panel upon learning the girls would not appear in bathing suits. He was promptly deluged with "a flood of telegrams and phone-calls." Mr. Brill said: "Only one of them called me a dirty-minded old man."

Miss Reddick, whose father, Harvard Reddick, is a member of a Toronto musical group known as the Commodores, said she has not decided what to do with the $1,000 scholarship but she would like to continue with her singing and modelling. Her next engagement is at the Hotel Frontenac in Quebec with Norman Harris' band.

VANCOUVER ENTRY

Only entrant in the contest from outside Ontario was Olga Romanik, 25, of Vancouver. She failed to place amongst the five finalists.

The talent test, one facet of the contest sponsored by S. Radcliffe Weaver, Hamilton hairdresser, included a rendition of the song "I'm too old to cut the mustard any more" by Dexell Ann Kingston, 18, of Chatham.

He drew criticism from his opposition whenever he tried modifying American education reforms, from the government party when Communist students rioted, and from students when police inspected university grounds.

Canada's Court Of Last Resort

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—By late this year or early next year, the Supreme Court of Canada will become "supreme" in fact as well as in name.

By that time, the judicial committee of the Privy Council in London will probably have disposed of all the remaining appeals from Canada. The court at Ottawa, whose members are little known to the general public, will be Canada's court of last resort.

Appeals to the judicial committee in criminal cases were dropped some years ago, and other appeals were abolished by act of parliament proclaimed at Ottawa Dec. 22, 1949. That act however provided that any cases in Canada courts prior to the date of proclamation could still be appealed to the Privy Council.

CLEAN UP BACKLOG

The Privy Council now is dealing with the backlog of Canadian appeals, and should complete this work possibly by December, or ... next March at the latest. The schedule might be interrupted if some cases long in provincial courts here should be appealed to the Supreme Court and thence to the judicial committee.

When the Privy Council concludes its work, decisions of Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret of Canada and his eight puisne justices will be final. The justices are Patrick Kerwin, Robert Taschereau, Ivan Rand, Roy L. Kellock, James W. Estey, Charles H. Locke, John R. Cartwright and Gerald Fauteux.

Members of the court, appointed by the government to serve during "good behaviour," are compulsorily retired at 75. Chief Justice Rinfret now is 73. He receives a salary of $25,000 as chief justice, and other members of the court receive $20,000.

The court hears civil, criminal and constitutional cases, many of them appeals from lower tribunals.

CONDITIONS OF APEAL

It hears civil cases if they have first gone through the highest appeal court in the province and one of the parties is still dissatisfied. Unless special circumstances warrant an exception being made, the amount involved in civil cases heard by the court must be not less than $2,000.

In criminal cases, the court hears appeals based only on questions of law. The appeals are heard if there are indications that the trial judge erred in his charge to the jury or in the admission of evidence.

In constitutional cases, the court hears matters referred to it directly by the federal government or cases appealed from provincial courts. The court has the power to decide whether laws passed are within the jurisdiction of parliament or provincial legislatures.

All nine justices hear important cases. Membership may be reduced to seven or even five for other cases. This enables judges not sitting to write judgments on earlier cases or to hear in chambers applications for leave to appeal to the court.

INFORMAL ATMOSPHERE

The hearings are conducted with an informality surprising to the casual visitor to the court. Lawyers address the bench in conversational tone, never bursting into the oratory employed to sway juries. A lawyer's carefully prepared written argument may become useless as a result of a brief comment from one of the justices that it has no bearing on the case.

The justices do not hestitate to interrupt the lawyers to ask questions or to give advice. No effort is made to rush proceedings.

When the argument is concluded, the court usually reserves its decision. The justices confer later and argue the merits of the case and express their own points of view.

These conferences disclose whether there will be a unanimous judgment or whether there will be majority and minority decisions. A uneven number of justices hear cases to eliminate the possibility of ties.

FROM ALL PARTS

All parts of Canada are represented in the court's membership. Chief Justice Rinfret is a native of Montreal. Mr. Justice Taschereau, 56, is a native of Quebec, and Mr. Justice Fauteux, 52, comes from St. Hyacinthe, Que.

Mr. Justice Kerwin, 63, was born in Sarnia, Ont. Mr. Justice Kellock, 59, in Perth, Ont., and Mr. Justice Cartwright, 57, in Toronto.

Mr. Justice Rand, 68, is a native of Moncton, N.B., and is a former attorney-general of New Brunswick Mr. Justice Estey, 63, was born at Keswick Ridge, N.B., but moved to Western Canada and once served as attorney-general for Saskatchewan. Mr. Justice Locke, 65, is a native of Morden, Man.

OPTICAL ILLUSION? — No, the crowds staring at the hydro lamp standard which rests drunkenly against the sign outside a drug store in Montreal are not seeing an optical illusion. The lamp standard was pushed over at a 45-degree angle by a crane carried on a truck which turned a corner too sharply.

Marine Railway At Yellowknife River

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP)—Volunteers from this mining community 700 miles north of Edmonton are building a marine railway on the Yellowknife River.

The tiny railroad 11 miles north of here is designed to help prospectors and tourists, facilitating a 425-foot portage into the Prelude, Prosperous and Bluefish lakes. Besides attracting anglers, the lakes are lined by many prospectors' claims.

The railway is being built parallel to rapids in the Yellowknife River so that boatsmen will be able to push their craft easily, atop a small wooden cart, into the lakes beyond the portage.

Following several upsets this summer during attempts to shoot the rapids, a small group of citizens decided to start the project.

Two mines offered support and donated rails and the push cart.

Sabotage Livestock In Germ Warfare

REGINA (CP)—Dr. E. E. Carlson of the health of animals branch of the federal agriculture department has predicted that bacteriological sabotage of livestock is an almost certain threat in the event of war.

Dr. Carlson told a Saskatchewan civil defence school here that saboteurs could contaminate stockyard eed-company elevators, hatcheries, pharmaceutical factories and other sources with a number of diseases.

Foot-and-mouth disease would be only one of the menaces that might be faced, he said. Among other livestock killers which could be equally dangerous he listed rinderpest, brucellosis, antbrax, blackleg, tuberculosis, hog cholera, fowl plague and newcastle disease, and infectious hog paralysis.

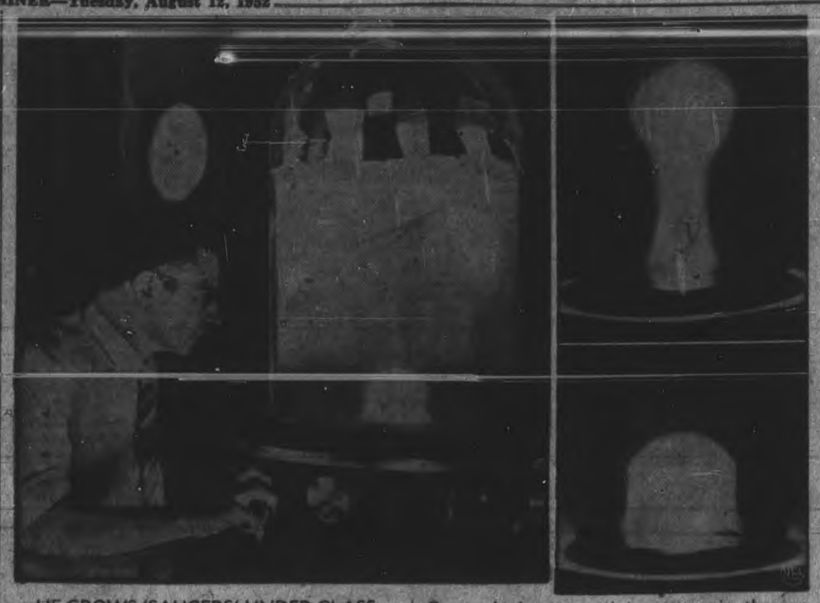
Cancer Differs In Different Parts Of World

WASHINGTON (AP). — The prevalence of cancer varies in different countries and under different conditions, the 17th international geographical congress was told today.

For example, the delegates were told, cancer of the lung does not exist in Iceland or Korea; stomach cancer is not as common in England as on the continent of Europe; primary cancer of the liver is relatively more common in Africa, Indo-China, India, Malaya, Indonesia and the Philippine Islands than elsewhere in the world; and cancer of the base of the tongue is relatively frequent in certain communities in India.

HIGHLIGHT REPORT

The cancer facts were a highlight of the first report of the "commission on medical geography" of the International Geographical Union—a commission making a world-wide study of the possible relationships between the distribution of diseases and the environments in which they develop.



Dr. Jacques May of New York director of medical studies of the American Geographical Society, said the commission's first aim is to "map" the distribution of all diseases throughout the world.

He said that once such information is pinned down on a world-wide basis it may be possible to determine why one person becomes afflicted and another does not.

Predict 1952 Will Be Safe Year From Polio

TORONTO (CP)—Health Minister Phillips of Ontario last night predicted this would be a comparatively safe polio year for the province. Incidence of polio is less than one-quarter as high as last year.

There have been roughly one-sixth as many cases resulting in paralysis and only one-ninth as many deaths, Dr. Phillips said.

HE GROWS 'SAUCERS' UNDER GLASS—Physicist Noel W. Scott may have discovered the explanation for some of the flying saucer stories. At left, he watches the growth of a "flying saucer" within a bell jar at the Army engineer's research and development laboratory, at Fort Belvoir, Va. By producing a partial vacuum in the jar, Scott reproduces conditions believed to exist in the stratosphere. He then introduces minute quantities of ionized air, and many of the weird lights seen in recent weeks, and reported as flying saucers, result. At right are two of the "saucer" effects produced during the experiments

Plan Hearing On Water Levels

WASHINGTON (AP)—The International Joint Commission is planning a public hearing Sept. 4 at Watertown, N.Y., on the issue of Lake Ontario water levels.

J. B. Ellis, commission secretary said the hearing will cover the whole issue of the lake level which has been in dispute between the United States and Canada in recent months.

A final hearing on the issue is to be held at a later date in Washington. Ellis said the date has not yet been set. Other hearings have already been held in Rochester and Toronto.

The commission also has scheduled a hearing for Sept. 2 at Albany on the St. Lawrence power project.

Additional public hearings are to be held in Canada on the lake level and power issues, but the time and place have not been set, Ellis said.

Judge Refuses Extradite Veteran

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Federal Judge John Knight Monday refused to order Carl G. Lo Dolce extradited to Italy to face a murder charge in the cloak-and-dagger slaying of a major in the Office of Strategic Services Second World War U.S. military intelligence organization.

Italy had asked extradition of the 30-year-old former army sergeant in the killing of Maj. William V. Holohan, his commanding officer in the O.S.S.

Holohan was slain during a secret mission behind German lines in northern Italy in December, 1944.

Judge Knight ruled that the treaty of 1868 providing for extradition was not effective inasmuch as the place where the crime was committed was occupied then by German armies.

Also accused of being involved was former Lieut. Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh, a third O.S.S. man on the mission. Italy has made no move to extradite Icardi since a move in federal court in Pittsburgh was dismissed in early April. Both Icardi and Lo Dolce say they are innocent.

Send Planes Against Chieftain

MANILA (AP)—Philippines' planes and artillery Monday sent rockets and explosives crashing into the Jolo Island strongholds of Datu Kamlon, Moro renegade chieftain who welched on his unconditional surrender.

Some 1,500 Filipino troops with tanks and man-hunting dogs drove through vine-laced undergrowth toward the defence points of Kamlon and his 300 followers.

Less than three weeks ago Kamlon surrendered and told Defence Minister Ramon Magsaysay he would help the army in its campaign to collect firearms from Moros on the jungle island in the Sulu archipelago of the southern Philippines. He apparently changed his mind and now President Elpidio Quirino has given the signal for the all-out drive on the Moros.

Drought, Flood Strike Bihar State Together

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — The twin disasters of drought and flood have hit Bihar state, northeast India, at the same time, affecting 13,000,000 people in an area of 19,000 square miles, it was reported in Parliament today.

While the Kosi River has overflowed, "seriously affecting" 500,000 people in north Bihar, widespread drought has affected 12,500,000 in the south.

It is too early to estimate total damage but there is no doubt fall crops have been seriously damaged in the flood-stricken areas, M.V. Krishnappa, parliamentary secretary to the food minister, said.

Interrupts Operation Drunken Orderly Fined

TORONTO (CP)—A hospital orderly who stumbled drunkenly into an operating room and tried to eject doctors who were performing an operation was fined $10 yesterday. He also lost his job.

Doctors testified that Vacys Andrrulsis, 34-year-old orderly at East General Hospital, burst into the room and ordered every one to get out. Two doctors and a nurse forced him out.

Police told the court that the orderly was in a drunken condition and fighting with doctors who were in the midst of an operation.

Andrrulsis pleaded guilty.

Visit To Churchill Mistake For Bear

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—Civilization proved fatal to the fully-grown polar bear that wandered into this Hudson Bay port last Friday.

While crossing the railway tracks it met a young woman. With marked unsociability, she scrambled to the top of the nearest box-car.

The bear ambled toward the whaling station on the bank of the Churchill River. A group of youngsters gave chase—at a distance—and bruin began to run. Then it met Aginook and his rifle.

The Eskimo and his family now are enjoying polar bear steak.

Sees Canada Near Point Where Consription Needed

GENEVA PARK, Lake Couchiching, Ont. (CP)—Edgar McInnis, president of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, said last night Canada is coming close to the point at which conscription will have to be more seriously considered.

The issue of compulsory military service was introduced from the floor during a panel discussion of Canadian foreign policy at the annual conference of the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs.

Mr. McInnis said he had an emotional objection to conscription but "we can't set our faces against it as a principle."

THREE IN PANEL

Max Freedman, Ottawa correspondent of the Winnipeg Free Press, Dorothy Steeves, former C.C.F. member of the British Columbia Legislature, and Pierre Trudeau, Montreal lawyer who recently returned from a visit to Russia made up the panel.

Mr. Freedman said one compelling reason, apart from the political realities, why he felt conscription now would be a mistake, was because it would leave Canada without reserves when the real challenge came.

Mr. Trudeau told the group that "Canada needs conscription of money and ideas, not of men."

Mrs. Steeves opposed conscription because it would "further plant this military chip on us."

NEAR EDGE OF MARGIN

Earlier Hector McNeil, former British minister of state, told the conference, that Britain is "near the edge of the safety margin" in the matter of living standards despite a reduced rearmament program.

"There is no use in giving people an increased standard of living for 12 months if, in the following two months, some get death and the rest economic servitude," he said. "There must be frankness on the part of all governments in telling their people the whole story."

Dressing Room Indicates Star's Greatness

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In the movie business, a star isn't judged by the size of his roles or salary. It's how big and elaborate the dressing room is.

When unknown players are signed at a studio, they have virtually no place to hang their hats. If they succeed in becoming featured players, they are assigned rooms in a building with their colleagues. If they make the climb to stardom, they are moved into a swank building with other stars and given fancy suites.

Dressing rooms at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star factory are the particular headache of Miss Eli Benneche.

She said the economy wave in Hollywood has cut down the lavishness of stars' dressing rooms. "In the old days, we might re-do a star's room every two or three years," she said. "That doesn't happen any more."

She looked back rather wistfully to the days when the M-G-M queens vied for supremacy. Top gal was Norma Shearer, Montreal-born actress who had a suite in expensive modern design. Joan Crawford had an elaborate English 18th Century affair. Marion Davies held court in her own building, a two-storey Spanish house. When she got mad at the studio and left, she moved the building off the lot.

HEDY A HEADACHE

Hedy Lamarr was a headache, Miss Benneche said. Hedy was overly particular and also wanted to change things. The designer almost gave up on Judy Garland, who wanted black and white decor.

"Katharine Hepburn's room was terrible," the decorator exclaimed. "Why, she wouldn't allow anything but striped mattress ticking on the bed. She had some ratty curtains on the window and droopy cartoons hung on the walls. She didn't want anything fancier."

M-G-M stars are elegant but restrained.

Dressing rooms for present trained. Greer Garson leans to turquoise with dark green and white. Lana Turner's room is mostly white with pale pink and blue. Elizabeth Taylor's is peach and white. Esther Williams has early American design with blue and red predominating.

Shortage Of Nurses Easing Phillips Says

TORONTO (CP)—Increased popularity of the nursing profession is overcoming the shortage of nurses in Ontario, Health Minister Phillips said in a departmental report this week.

A check showed that three qualified candidates are applying for every two openings in nursing training schools.

Dr. Phillips attributed the interest to improved conditions under which nurses-in-training now work.

Norwood Terms "Childish" Attitude Of Asphodel

A "childish" attitude on the part of Asphodel township council is condemned in a statement today released by Norwood village council.

The reference is to the township's reply to a request for payment for fire-fighting by the village in the township. The particular fire was the one which destroyed the cedar post yard beyond the eastern limit of Norwood.

Billed by Norwood for the cost of fighting the fire, the Asphodel council replied "that (Norwood council) should send the bill to those who lost so much in the fire, or to those who sent in the call."

CANNOT LEAVE VILLAGE

As a result, Norwood intends to enforce a bylaw passed some years ago which would forbid fire equipment going out of the village without proper assurance of payment.

The statement says that this action must be taken "much against the wishes" of Norwood council. It points out that Asphodel had never definitely accepted a low-cost scheme advanced by Norwood to provide fire protection for a section of the township near the village.

Citing the costs of the cedar post yard fire, the statement lists $4,000 worth of equipment used for more than four hours, an estimated $300 for compensation to an injured fireman, $50 for wages, $100 worth of hose burned, and other amounts not determined.

In other years, the township collected 50 cents a year from properties adjoining the village, and turned over about $15 to $20 to the village. This was found to be insufficient to cover even the cost of chimney fires.

The rate was later raised to $1 per property on a voluntary basis. Results from this plan were so small, says the statement, that the idea was discontinued.

MUST ASSURE PAYMENT

It was then that a resolution was passed prohibiting the equipment from being taken outside village limits until payment was assured by some responsible person. "This was never enforced for the simple reason that our people simply will not stand by and see their neighbors suffer without doing their utmost to help," the statement goes on.

It is this resolution that Norwood council now intends to enforce, reluctantly.

In 1949 a "fire zone" was proposed with a tentative boundary being defined as "that part of the township of Asphodel comprising Union School Section 8." The plan was left with township officials for completion, but nothing has been done.

The statement concludes:

"The population and assessment of the townships in question is much larger than that of the village of Norwood and it is not to be expected that the taxpayers of the village should purchase and maintain fire fighting equipment and staff to work for, and do their best to protect, the properties of those who show so little appreciation."

Israeli Parliament Defeats Proposal

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel's parliament, defeating a proposal by Premier David Ben-Gurion, last night designated the World Zionist Organization the "representative organization of all the Jewish people."

The measure, adopted by a vote of 31 to 27, provides that the Zionist organization "shall continue to work for the development and colonization of the country (Israel)."

Ben-Gurion had proposed that the Zionist body be recognized only as the "authorized agency" for developing the country.

Social Credit Gains Another Alberta Seat

EDMONTON (AP)—Social Credit gained another seat in the Alberta Legislature last night with the re-election of Peter Chaba on the third count of ballots in the Redwater riding. It was the first time a third count was necessary in the Aug. 5 election anywhere except in Edmonton and Calgary.

The re-election of Mr. Chaba left the standing of the 61-seat Legislature: Social Credit 50; Liberals 4; C.C.F. 2; Progressive Conservative 2; Independent-Social Credit 1; doubtful 2.

House Burns

KINCARDINE (CP) — Loss of $10,000 was caused by fire of unknown origin at the home of Clifford Munro in Kincardine Township yesterday. Mr. Munro only recently completed construction of the building. He and his wife were working in the fields when the fire started.

600 To 800 Claims

REGINA (CP)—Some 600 to 800 claims were registered with possibly another 200 yet to come in when northwestern Saskatchewan's big uranium staking rush ended its first week yesterday. Government officials said one or two new uranium mines may result from the rush, centred in the Beaverlodge area on Lake Athabaska.

Fine Pair $200 For Smuggling

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Fines of $200 each were levied yesterday on two men who pleaded guilty to conspiracy in what authorities said was an attempt to smuggle aliens into the United States from Canada.

They are Vito Montalbano, 43, of Elizabeth, N.J., and George C. Steele, 46, of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Federal Judge John Knight levied the fines. The two pleaded guilty July 29.

The men were arrested by federal officials who said they found two Italian nationals in Steele's automobile as Steele was crossing the Rainbow Bridge to enter the United States at Niagara Falls May 7.

Visa Racketeer Tries Bribe Police Sergeant

DR. JIRI MARES AND HIS WIFE shake hands happily in front of a new trailer, while their three children Margaret, 10, Anna, 8, and Helen, 16, look on. Dr. Mares, resigned Monday as Czechoslovakian consul-general in Montreal and has been granted temporary asylum in Canada. On Tuesday, the family came to Peterborough to pick up a trailer Dr. Mares ordered two months ago. Dr. Mares found a job as well; he will travel for the H. B. McGinnes trailer company in Western Canada.—(Parks Studio Photo).

Ex-Czechoslovak Diplomat Takes Job With City Firm

Dr. Jiri Georges Mares, Czechoslovakian consul-general in Montreal, who quit his post Monday and was granted temporary asylum in Canada, came to Peterborough Tuesday to pick up a trailer he ordered two months ago. Dr. Mares' trailer wasn't ready, but plant owner Harry McGinness had something better to offer—a job selling trailers. The former consul-general has accepted the offer, and intends to move to western Canada. Happy to be relieved of the tension he has been under almost since he came to Canada, Dr. Mares talked cheerfully of this country and of the good way of life it held out to him. He hopes eventually to become a Canadian citizen. "You cannot imagine the pressure that has been upon me and my family for so long now," he said. "Yesterday morning (Monday) when we were driving to Ottawa, we were very nervous."

There were many reasons for resigning the post he held in Montreal since 1948, said Dr. Mares. Mostly, it was for the sake of his children. He wanted them educated in Canadian schools.

Certainly, there were other reasons, which he spoke of only generally. His disagreement with the methods of the Cominform, and with their principals. "It is not a moral kind of government," he said.

NO HOME LIFE

In Czechoslovakia, there was no home life for his family. He could not come home from work and settle down for an evening with his wife and three daughters.

"I held a political job, and after my working day was over, there was a political course for me to take, and after that course was over in the evening, there was a political meeting. When I would get home, my wife would have gone through the same sort of day, and . . . well, we had no family life; we were not happy," Dr. Mares said.

Child 10, Rip Van Winkle But Sleep Will Save Life

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Ten-year-old Kathryn Slater is a modern Rip Van Winkle—but physicians believe her drug-induced sleep will save her life. Kathryn is afflicted with tetanus. Her doctor put her to sleep 32 days ago, and has kept her asleep while her body fights the disease. If she wakes up, he said, she would have convulsions that in all probability would kill her.

The physician described the treatment as "routine."

CUT HER FOOT

Kathryn cut her foot while playing and picked up the germs.

Her physician said the tetanus germ produced a poison which spreads to the nerves through the blood stream, causing frequent muscle spasms.

The shock causes high temperatures and prevents proper ventilation of the lungs, affecting the heart. The patient finds it difficult to breathe and swallow.

When her physician decides the girl is over the convulsion stage, he said he will slowly reduce the anesthetic to awaken her.

While sleeping, Kathryn is fed through a tube inserted through her nose and entering her stomach.

6,000 Workers Storm Factory

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP)—One policeman was killed last night when some 6,000 employees of a giant textile plant near here stormed and attempted to fire factory buildings in protest against wages and working conditions.

Eight policemen and two workers were injured. The demonstrators attacked with sticks and stones.

The workers demanded pay increases to bring their daily wages up to 20 piasters (72 cents). At present, they claimed, they receive 16 to 18 piasters (45 to 52 cents).

Elias Andrawos, one of abdicated King Farouk's intimates who has been arrested by Egypt's reform government, is listed as managing director of the concern.

Workers set fire to one of the buildings and prevented police and firemen from extinguishing the blaze. The trouble ended shortly afterward, however, when an army detachment arrived from Alexandria, 12 miles away, and rounded up several hundred demonstrators.

Gov't Butter Cheaper Next Winter

Expect Supply Enough To Eliminate Need For Imports

OTTAWA (CP) — Government butter will be cheaper next winter than it was a year ago and there likely will be enough of it—along with commercial stockpiles—to eliminate the need for butter imports, agricultural officials said yesterday.

They based this estimate on current production trends, the government stockpile that is being built up under federal price-support and the lower price the government is offering to the producer, down to 58 cents a pound wholesale from 63 cents last year.

Government butter retailed at about 70 cents a pound last winter. It may run to about 65 cents during the next cold spell, officials said.

GETS MORE BUTTER

Though it's offering less money to the producer, the government is getting a lot more butter under the 58-cent price support program than it did in 1951, though how much it's getting is a secret.

Last year it got so little butter and commercial supplies were so skimpy that the government, armed with legislation which virtually gave it a monopoly on butter imports, brought in 12,500,000 pounds from New Zealand and European sources. The trade shipped in 4,500,000 pounds before the government slipped the noose on imports.

That made for a total of 17,000,000 pounds imported. Some of this was sold on the domestic market, but the government didn't get rid of all its imports, ending up with a surplus of about 8,500,000 pounds when the new production season opened last spring. Butter still is under import control.

Meanwhile, with the market for Canadian dairy cows cut by the U.S. embargo on Canadian cattle and meats, more cows are being milked in Canada this summer and butter production is being built up.

Creamery butter production during the first seven months of 1952 climbed to 159,230,000 pounds up 12,711,000 from 146,519,000 in the same period last year. Output during July increased seven per cent to 39,000,000 pounds from 36,339,000 in July, 1951.

Consumption ranged a little higher, but officials felt that when retail prices stiffen up a little in the fall, consumption may be down slightly.

Drop Predicted In UK Living Cost

LONDON (Reuters)—The government yesterday forecast a possible drop in Britain's high-riding mcost of living, if wages stay at present levels.

Cheaper materials might bring a fall in prices of clothing and manufactured household goods. These items account for 20 per cent of wage earners' pay packets.

The treasury experts also said the prices should at least remain stable and might even drop on a wide range of goods from coal to vegetables and from beer to tobacco.

But the experts say if wages go up, their predictions about the cost of living must go out the window.

And wage increases are likely. Nearly 9,000,000 workers have claims in for pay boosts. The pressure on the government's wage-restraint policy is increasing.

Reds Free 3 Fliers After 20 Months

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Three haggard Australian fliers, freed after 20 months imprisonment in south China, today denied Chinese Communists allegations that they were opium smugglers.

The men—Ross Bohm, Dick Richmond and William James—were the crew of a British flying boat forced down Dec. 15, 1950, 40 miles southwest of Hong Kong and seized by a Chinese patrol boat.

They staggered in across the Hong Kong border from the Canton train late yesterday.

A sick British soldier in a neighboring cell was still imprisoned, they said.

Three Killed By Train

ST. THOMAS—(CP) — Three persons were killed today when a freight train struck the car in which they were riding at the main street crossing of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway in the village of West Lorne, 30 miles west of St. Thomas. One of the victims died while trapped inside the wreckage of the car which was impaled on the front of the engine. Identity of the accident victims is not yet certain, but they are believed to be two sisters named Pascu, aged 21, and 25, and their grandfather about 70, who resides on an Aldborough township farm in the rural community of Gerndale, northwest of West Lorne.

Shift In Wind Saves Village From Flames

BURNS LAKE, B.C. (CP)—British Columbia's biggest forest fire of the year burned uncontrolled today over a 12-mile front, but a sudden shift in the wind stemmed its march on the tiny village of Tintagel.

Tintagel, eight miles east of here on the Prince George-Prince Rupert highway, was in the path of the fire until a southwesterly wind switched and sent the fire north, away from the town and main road.

The force battling the fire has grown to more than 200 firefighters, many of them "rounded up" by R.C.M.P. officers combing the streets of Burns Lake for able-bodied men.

The fire is burning between the Endako River and Taltapin Lake in a timber tract described by forestry men as being "as dry as a bone."

Meanwhile, reinforcements were ordered to a mountainside fire which doubled in size overnight in the Boston Bar area, 130 miles east of Vancouver.

Firefighting equipment is being flown to a lake near the fire while firefighters reach the scene by truck, boat and then on foot.

The Forestry Department estimates some 150 fires are burning throughout the province, most of them minor.

Belgium Will Cut Army Draft Service

BRUSSELS, Belgium (Reuters)—Belgium gave in to widespread pressure from organized labor and other quarters today and reduced the draft service term from two years to 21 months.

The Belgian move follows point-blank refusal at a conference last night from the other West European countries to increase their draft terms to equal Belgium's. The scheme was backed by the U.S. and Britain.

The decision was made at a six-hour cabinet meeting today.

$1.50 Increase For Anthracite

TORONTO (CP)—The price of anthracite coal here will be increased "at least $1.50 across the board" over the spring price of $24.25, E.R. Lockyer, president of the Canadian Retail Coal Association, said today.

Mr. Lockyer said the increase will be made necessary by: the 20 cents a ton freight-increase recently granted the railroads; the probability that labor costs will climb after United States coal industry contract negotiations next month; the coal industry's intention of taking back a $1 reduction allowed in the spring to encourage summer sales.

He said about 30 per cent of the coal, the smaller sizes, may be of $2.25 over the May price.

Packers Give Union 7-Cent Raise

Predict Meat Price Will Go Up Following Increase

TORONTO (CP)—An agreement has been reached between the United Packinghouse Workers of America C.I.O.-C.C.L. and the big three of the industry which is expected to set a pattern for the industry.

The agreement, announced last night, between the union and Canada Packers, Swifts and Burns and Company affects 10,000 workers. The proposed contract now goes before the union membership for ratification.

Some 200 production workers at Canada Packers plant in Peterborough are among those affected by the new contract. Alfred Barber, president of Local 210, U.P.W.A., was one of the 23-man policy committee that did the negotiating with the company.

The agreement provides for a seven-cent hourly wage increase retroactive to Aug. 1. This increase—five per cent—brings the starting rate to about $1.33 an hour and the average rate to $1.57. The agreement also provides for 1½ cents an hour in other benefits.

WORK WEEK REDUCED

The work week is reduced from 42 to 40 hours. Previously only Swifts had a 40-hour week. The cost-of-living formula has been abandoned by the union on the basis of a two-year agreement, which can be reopened Aug. 1, 1953.

W.R. Carroll, general superintendent of Canada Packers, said the increase would add more than $1,000,000 to the company's wage bill. This, he said, would have to be included in the price of meat to the public.

The agreement was reached without aid of conciliation services. The 12-day negotiation session brought top officials of the three companies and members of the union policy committee here from all parts of the country.

The union met separately with each company.

Queen Enjoys Grouse-Shooting

INVERNESS, Scotland (Reuters) The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh were up among the wind-swept moors of Scotland yesterday for the grouse-shooting season.

The royal couple head the list of Britons who brought their guns to Scotland for this important event of society life. House parties have been planned on Scotland's principal estates for several days, with guests arriving by automobile, train and plane.

The Queen rented three grouse moors on Invercauld estate, not far from her Balmoral Castle.

Offered $25-Fee To Clear Ex-Nazi Woman

WINDSOR—(CP)—Crown Attorney Bruce J. S. MacDonald said today the Windsor police department is investigating an attempt by a "well-known visa racketeer" to bribe a police sergeant over the telephone. He said in an interview that the man offered the sergeant $25 to issue a police clearance for a woman, a well-known Nazi collaborator, who was attempting to obtain a visa to enter the United States. The sergeant refused. A clear police record is necessary in order to obtain a visa. Apparently the racketeer realized he had been connected with the wrong man, the Crown Attorney continued. He told the sergeant that another officer had been issuing the clearances regularly.

It was not possible to issue a warrant in the case because the conversation took place over the telephone.

COMMENTS ON STORY

Asked to comment on a newspage story carried yesterday by the Detroit Times which told of a Canadian convict obtaining a U.S. visa four days after his release from prison, Mr. MacDonald said: "If convicts, especially those from this area are obtaining visas they must be getting clearances from our police department."

This would not happen in the future because the Windsor department had changed its system of issuing police clearances. It would be simple henceforth to identify an officer who issues a clearance.

Mr. MacDonald said further he has received numerous complaints from Windsor residents who said that "visa agents" charged them as much as $750 for action in connection with visa applications.

NO LIMIT TO CHARGE

The agents were meticulously careful to point out to clients that their fees are for services rendered he said. The law placed no limit on the amount an individual might charge for services.

Attorney - General James P. McGranery said Friday in Washington that some 100 Canadian residents have crossed the U. S. border on visas obtained by fraudulent means.

Dollar Highest In 18 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—The Canadian dollar climbed to an 18-year high today, trading at $1.04¼ in U.S. currency in foreign exchange dealings here.

This means it took one U.S. dollar plus a premium of 4¼ cents to buy one Canadian dollar.

Today's quotation was the highest for the Canadian dollar since November, 1933, when it rose to $1.05½. Traders said the current advance resulted from continued heavy demand for Canadian currency for investment in Canadian securities and purchases of Canadian grain.

Find 6 Boulders On Track As Flyer Due

NEW LISKEARD (CP)—Finding of six heavy boulders on the Ontario Northland Railway tracks near here late last night, a short time before passenger train No. 50 was scheduled to pass has prompted a full scale police investigation, it was announced today.

The boulders weighed as much as 60 lbs.

According to Constable M. Hancock, of the O.N.R. police, last night's incident was not the first of its type. Last Sunday night, a diesel-hauled train struck a number of similar stones.

CRACK FLYER

Police believed the placing of the boulders on the track last night was designed to wreck the passenger train, the line's crack "Northland."

The boulders were seen by a nearby resident, and a section crew was able to reach the scene and remove them a short time before the train passed.

Eden To Wed On Thursday

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, 55, and Clarissa Spencer-Churchill, 32, orphaned niece of the Prime Minister, will marry in a registrar's office Thursday after a three-day engagement.

Eden, who described himself as the "happiest man in London," got an extra-cost special marriage licence yesterday to speed things up. Ordinarily, a three-week waiting period is required.

Registrar James Doomsday Holliday will unite the couple in formalities which usually take only five minutes. Later, the couple will fly to Portugal for a brief honeymoon.

Brighton Driver Puts Scarboro In Darkness

TORONTO (CP) — Sections of suburban Scarboro were plunged into darkness for more than an hour early today when a truck snapped a hydro pole.

Allen Warren Brown of Brighton, described by police as the driver, was taken to hospital with slight injuries.

Col. McNaughton Announces:

Will Wait Year To Decide About $250,000

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (AP)—Lt. Col. Edward Murray Dalziel McNaughton said today he doesn't "like the idea of changing my name" but will wait until next year before deciding whether to do so to collect a $250,000 fortune.

The will of Mrs. James Norman Stuart Leslie, who died in May, said she is his aunt and left him $250,000 and her home in Kingston, Ont., on condition he adopt the name of Leslie.

McNaughton, 32, a bachelor and commander of the 1st Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, said in an interview:

UNDECIDED ABOUT CHANGE

"I haven't the least idea what Im going to do. I'm quite comfortably off as it is and I don't particularly need the money. Naturally, I don't like the idea of changing my name. My father, (Gen. A.G.L. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission) is very well known and I am quite happy with it.

"There's the question of taxes and things like that. If Doug Abbot (Canadian minister of finance) takes too big a chunk of it, I don't see any inducement in the legacy itself."

He said the will came as no surprise and explained that it's quite a custom in Canada and England to ask the second son of a near relative to assume the name of a family without male heirs.

MAY CARRY ON NAME

He said the name of Leslie "is a respected name. My uncle and great uncle commanded this regiment in the name of Leslie. My uncle and aunt had no children and since I have an older brother who carries on my father's name, my aunt asked me to carry on her name."

"If the old girl sincerely wanted me to continue the family name, it very possibly will be a matter of personal honor for me."

McNaughton's home is Ottawa. He served in the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery in the Middle East and Europe during the second World War in the Canadian Army commanded by his father.

Six months ago, Col. McNaughton brought his regiment over to Korea as supporting artillery for the 25th brigade.

The will says that if McNaughton refuses to change his last name children of any future marriage are to be given a similar opportunity.

Not Marking Sites POW's Endangered

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The United Nations today accused the Communists of endangering the lives of U.N. soldiers in North Korean prison camps by failing to pin-point camp sites. The U.N. asked the Communists to furnish the information "without further delay." The request was in a letter from Maj.-Gen. William K. Harrison, chief U.N. truce delegate, handed to North Korean Gen. Nom Il, top Red negotiator, at a liaison officers' meeting this afternoon at Panmunjom. The main delegations are in recess until Tuesday.

Col. Charles W. McCarthy, chief U.N. liaison officer, today handed the Reds two other letters answering their protests that U.N. artillery shells landed in the Panmunjom neutral circle on Aug. 3 and that Allied planes flew over the zone on Aug. 4, 10 and 11.

McCarthy said an investigation showed allied guns were firing south of the Panmunjom site on Aug. 3. He said "it is entirely possible" some fragments fell inside the zone.

McCarthy said investigation failed to show Allied planes went over Panmunjom on Aug. 4. But on Aug. 10 and 11, planes did fly over, the U.N. recognized the possibility they may have been U.N. aircraft, and regretted the incidents.

The Red liaison officer, Col. Chang Chun, accepted the letters and lodged a protest that U.N. planes flew over Panmunjom again yesterday.

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—William F. Rupp, Jr., 18-year-old ranchhand captured after a five-day hunt, was booked on suspicion of murder today in the sex killing of a 15-year-old baby sitter.

Sheriff's deputy Jess Buckles said the youth admitted shooting Ruby Ann Payne last Friday after she resisted him.

Rupp was employed as a beekeeper at the ranch of Harry Dyer of Yorba Linda, Calif., whose children Miss Payne was watching when fatally shot.

Buckles said Rupp denied raping the girl but admitted hitting her with a hammer and shooting when she ran from his advances.

New Gunsight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lieut. James F. Low, 26, the U.S. Air Force's 17th jet ace, yesterday attributed his score of six Russian-built MIG-15s destroyed to (1) luck and (2) an improved gunsight. Low told a press conference that all but one of his plane kills in Korea were scored with the new modified computing gunsight now installed in F-86s.

Familiar Face

When he returned to the bench in police court today after his summer vacation, Magistrate W. R. Philp saw a familiar face in the prisoner's docket. Ray Brown, no fixed address, who appears periodically on vagrancy charges was picked up Tuesday night again and mumbled a plea of guilty when the magistrate read the charge. Brown will be spending the next ten days in the county jail.

Reds Infiltrate U.S. Boy Scouts

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Communist scheme to infiltrate the United States Boy Scout movement and feed its youngster-members "communism with sugar coating" was described in sworn testimony made public today by Senate investigators.

The internal security sub-committee in a report to the Senate termed it part of a Moscow-inspired plan to warp generations of 'teenagers to the Kremlin's views, in the schools, colleges, churches and youth organizations.

The report includes sworn testimony given last March by Harvey M. Matusow of Dayton, O., a self-styled former Communist who now is an agent of the Ohio commission on un-American activities.

Matusow said the Communists, after a futile effort in the 1930s to undermine the Scout movement, switched to the infiltration plan, under which they hoped to mix secret Red agents among the Scouts.

Say Canadians May See Tests

LONDON (Reuters)—Canadian scientists will "quite possibly" participate in Britain's first atomic tests which are to take place in Australia, a usually-reliable source said today.

The source pointed out that British and Canadian atomic experts had co-operated closely since the middle of the Second World War.

If Canadian scientists do take part in the tests, on the Monte-Bello islands off Western Australia, it is understood they would come from the Canadian government's Chalk River atom plant.

(Earlier today in Canberra, Australia, Georges Carpentier, press attache at the Canadian High Commissioner's office, said there has been no indication that Canada would take part.)

Ex-Czechoslovak

Because of the continual hammering of communist dogma, life in Czechoslovakia was boring, and to Dr. Mares this seemed to be a teaching indictment of the system. There was nothing to stimulate an imaginative person's mind.

"Your mind was not free; in everything you did, the party had to come first. Nothing could be done without being connected to the communist party."

Dr. Mares (pronounced Mawresh) showed anything but an unhappy face Tuesday. He was happy about everything—the severing of old and unwanted ties, the new life that was waiting for him and his family, the way Canadians lived, and almost everything he said or heard or saw.

His split with the communists had been almost four years coming. He told a press conference Monday that he had been a communist when he came to Canada as consul-general in Montreal in 1948.

KOREAN WAR

Everything he saw from then helped to change his thinking, but the greatest single factor was the Korean War. Another major factor was the life he saw his daughters leading.

"They were being educated in Christian and democratic schools, and if they had returned to Czechosolvakia, all that would have been eradicated."

But it was still not an easy decision. Dr. Mares still has relatives in Czechoslovakia, and he was and is fearful for their welfare.

"I am a man who likes to have his decisions based on moral grounds," he declared. There are, he feels, sufficiently strong grounds for his decision.

Now he is in the third phase of his decision—the period after the decision. The first phase of doubtfulness was succeeded by a second, of decision and planning. Today, as he will smilingly tell you, he is "a private citizen."

Dr. Mares arrived in Peterborough with his family shortly before noon and went to the McGinness trailer office. Both his wife and his eldest daughter Helen, who is 16, went after lunch to the hairdresser's.

The two younger daughters, Margaret, 10, and Anna, 8, spent part of the afternoon gazing fascinated at trailers and asking which one was theirs. Then they were taken to the Lions Club swimming pool at Riverside, where they spent almost two hours.

Doug Smith, a salesman for the trailer firm, took them to the pool, and told Dr. Mares when he brought them back: "They're not girls, they're porpoises. I've never seen children swim like that."

Dr. Mares smiled and admitted they were good swimmers.

Just before the girls had returned, Mrs. Mares and Helen came back from the hairdresser's, but announced before they had been back five minutes that they wanted to visit a shoe store before the whole family was taken for a tour of the city.

They had their tour of the city, then drove back to Montreal with a trailer hitched to the rear bumper. The trailer was to be delivered to its owner in Montreal.

Dr. Mares stated his plans as definitely as he could. The family would go west—"we like the west very much"—and someplace out there would settled in a new home.

"We are very happy," said Dr. Mares.

G.E. Company Offers Raise To 200,000

NEW YORK (AP)—The General Electric Company today offered wage increases and insurance benefits to about 200,000 employees.

A spokesman estimated that under the wage offer a majority of the workers would receive total increase benefits ranging from 7½ to 13 cents an hour.

Lemuel R. Boulware, vice-president in charge of employee relations, said in announcing the offer that it would be effective Sept. 15, if various unions had accepted it by that time.

Basically, he said, the wage offer would grant a 2½-per cent increase with a 3½-cent-hourly minimum increase in addition to a raise based on increased cost of living.

Present average hourly earnings of General Electric employees have been estimated at $1.75.

NEGOTIATING WITH UNIONS

The company now is negotiating with several of the larger unions of its employees. The two largest are the Union of Electrical Workers (C.I.O.) claiming 70,000 workers in 60 G.E. plants; and the Independent United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, which claims 50,000 members in 40 plants.

The C.I.O. electrical workers union has been seeking wage boosts and other improvements which it estimates would cost the company 20 to 30 cents a man-hour. It also seeks a union shop.

The independent union has asked 15 cents an hour in straight wage increase and various other pension and welfare benefits.

I.U.E President James B. Carey said that the company's offer "substantially meets only two" of the union's specific wage demands. He said the "I.U.E. will continue to press for our original demands."

The U.E. declined immediate comment.

In Coma 14 Months Dies In Pennsylvania

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—A nine-year-old boy died last night after lying in a coma 14 months as a result of a mysterious street accident.

David Robert Morton was found unconscious on the street June 1, 1951, suffering from head injuries. Police said he may have been the victim of a hit-and-run driver.

He never regained consciousness. After months in hospital, he was taken home where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton J. Morton, maintained a 24-hour vigil at his bedside.

Doesn't Want Talks While U.K. In Suez

CAIRO (AP)—The chief of Egypt's Moslem Brotherhood today warned that his powerful political organization would oppose any defence talks with the west while Britain retains her hold on the neighboring Sudan and the Suez Canal zone. The brotherhood's "Supreme Guide," Hassan ed Hodeiby, announced this stand in an interview shortly after the Egyptian cabinet set up seven committees armed with sweeping powers to clean up public corruption dating as far back as 1939.

The latest government action was viewed by informed sources as the results of pressure for a swift crack-down from Egypt's military power, Gen. Mohammed Naguib, and the army. Premier Aly Maher had suggested that political parties be given time to purge their own ranks, but so far the powerful Wafd party—expected to be a chief target of the graft clean-up—has kicked out only six minor party members.

INCOME TAX RATES

The government also issued a decree setting progressive income tax rates that reach as high as 80 per cent on incomes of £50,000 Egyptian ($144,000). The new rates become effective next January on incomes earned during 1952.

Hodeiby indicated that the brotherhood, which claims millions of supporters and is reported to have a strong following among leaders of the army coup d'etat that ousted King Farouk, wants social reforms and the political clean-up given top priority among the country's problems.

The Moslem leader declared that even if Britain withdraws from the Canal Zone and the Sudan, "Egypt must be given a free choice on whether she wants to join the west or prefers to take a stand of complete neutrality."

Marine Guns Mow Down 750 Chinese

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — U.S. Marines and artillery today cut to ribbons 750 Chinese Communists assaulting Marines entrenched in prefabricated bunkers atop Bunker Hill on the Korean western front.

The battalion-sized attack—second major bid of the Chinese to recapture the height—was broken at dawn. Chinese losses were described as heavy.

The Marine commander, Maj.-Gen. John T. Selden, said the strategic ridge overlooking the Panmunjom truce site "is Marine territory now."

"We certainly are going to hang on to it."

RED ATTACK REPELLED

Marine foot soldiers, supported by flame-throwing tanks, captured the strongly-fortified height and nearby Siberia Hill early yesterday. The Reds counter-attacked at dusk yesterday but were thrown back with heavy losses.

In mid-afternoon today communist artillery and mortar fire was falling on Bunker Hill.

The U.S. navy said its carrier planes yesterday struck a heavy blow against major Red supply and troop concentrations south of Wonsan, east coast port city. The navy said 40 buildings, including barracks, were flattened with heavy casualties to Red troops. All carrier planes returned safely, the navy said.

A Marine spokesman estimated the Communists threw 6,000 rounds of artillery against Bunker Hill in today's four-hour attack. Marine gunners laid down a curtain of fire as Red soldiers darted through the darkness in a frantic charge.

"It was a hell of a fight but they never reached our positions," the spokesman said. "When the Chinese finally began retreating we really slugged them with artillery."

Report Prices Drop On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Prices dropped in early afternoon trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Only golds held firm.

Industrials fell more than two points on the exchange's index in the first three hours and western oils suffered more than a one-point loss. Base metals dipped nearly a point but golds advanced slightly.

Trading was moderate and volume for the first three hours totalled 1,109,000 shares.

Steels, manufacturing, papers and utilities led the industrial decline. Brazilian Traction traded more than 9,000 shares in the first three hours for a loss of half a point. Constructions, foods, retail stores and miscellaneous industrials were firm.

Speculative support for a number of secondary golds bolstered the gold index. Gunnar, a prospect, gained pennies on a turnover of more than 77,000 shares. East Malartic, a junior producer and Hugh Pam, a prospect, also gained in active trading. Senior golds were mixed.

Base metals continued the decline started Monday. Losses and gains were moderate. Western oil losses covered a wide list of leaders and lower-priced issues and ranged from one to 50 cents.

The exchange's 1 p.m. indices showed industrials down 2.02 at 330.52, golds up .50 at 94.49, base metals down .77 at 197.23 and western oils down 1.08 at 140.47

R.C.A.F. Officer Found Guilty On Driving Count

Springville's Fatality Hill, scene of two fatal accidents in the last year, figured in a careless driving charge against an Ottawa man heard by Magistrate R. B. Baxter Tuesday afternoon.

Wing Commander Dr. Eric O'Flynn Campbell, R.C.A.F. Medical Officer, was found guilty of careless driving the night of July 20 when his car was involved in a near head-on collision with a southbound car driven by Eric Gardner, of Oshawa.

He was fined $15 and $3 costs.

Gardner who was hastily summoned from his job in Oshawa and arrived in a provincial police cruiser said he was suddenly confronted with four headlights as he approached the brow of the dangerous hill on Highway 28, seven miles south of the city.

SCRAPED CHROME

He ditched his car on the west side of the road and the oncoming car scraped the chrome of his car as it skidded to a stop directly opposite him, Gardner said.

Campbell said he did not see a "No Passing" sign nearly 1,000 feet south of the scene of the accident and believed the white line was broken indicating it was all right to pass, when he started to pass the car ahead of him.

He said he saw headlights of an oncoming car about a third of a mile ahead of him but considered he had plenty of time to get back in line when he was suddenly confronted with "the flare of headlights from a car which had been down in the hollow" and he did not know it was there.

Trevor Clarke defended Campbell and urged the magistrate to take into consideration the fact that "the contour of the road of which the accused was ignorant was responsible for the accident."

Guilty as charged said Magistrate Baxter. The law requires that everyone must be sure they can make any manoeuvre in safety before doing so.

Man 91, Enjoys Plane Flight

LONDON (CP)—"What's all the fuss about?"

That was the reaction today of 91-year-old Tim Heal of Vancouver as he stepped off an airliner after an unaccompanied flight across the Atlantic from Montreal.

The spry, beaming old-timer told reporters he decided to make the trip on the spur of the moment to see his "baby" sister, 82-year-old Mrs. Pelitha Hardy of Portsmouth.

"I really enjoyed the trip," said Heal, "except that it was a bit noisy."

After 46 years in Canada, Heal still looks and talks like an English countryman. He plans to return to Canada late in October.

ST. LAWRENCE TOWNS NOT EXCITED OVER WATERWAY

ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY SCENES—If the St. Lawrence seaway and power project ever become a reality, the swirling and dangerous Long Saulte rapids the two youngsters in the (TOP LEFT) photo are watching will disappear under the surface of a calm lake. A huge power dam and hydro plant will be built west of Cornwall that will submerge not only the rapids but the village of Iroquois (LOWER LEFT) as well. Ocean-going freighters will replace river freighters like the E. P. Murphy (TOP RIGHT) which is about the largest ship that can pass through the international rapids section of the river today. The main power plant to be erected at the location shown in this photo will supply 1,100,000 horsepower of electricity for Canadian homes and industries. A model display, prepared by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission (CENTRE RIGHT) shows how the section of the river near Cornwall will look when the seaway is completed. Dam and power plant will flank Barnhart Island five miles west of Cornwall. The model shows the new navigation canals on the United States side, in this view looking west. The canals will be built on the Canadian side if Canada proceeds with the development alone. Typical of residents of doomed communities in the area, two old-timers (LOWER RIGHT), Bill Reid (left) and Bill Coir show no excitement in renewed interest in the project talked about for years, but always postponed "for another year." Their attitude is summed up by Bill Coir's "It'll take a big dam to stop that river," and Bill Reid's comment, "I'll believe it when it happens but I don't expect to live to see it happen."—Photos by Malak.

Thinks Towns Missing Opportunity By Not Creating Better Impression

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The curiosity of travellers is insatiable.

What leads to this comment is an editorial in The Financial Post, to which all travellers will likely say "amen." The editorial says:

"You can fly from Montreal to Vancouver and, except at intermediae stop you may not have the foggiest notion where you are during the entire trip. What's that town? that lake? Where does that railroad run?

MISSING AN OPPORTUNITY

"Some of these towns and cities which hope to grow bigger are missing an opportunity. . .They might at least have the name of the place laid out on some hillside where it can be seen and identified a mile or so up. . .

"Overhead, who knows, some representative of a company may be looking for a place to build a new plant."

This is comment which every community might take to heart. For, it has been the observation of this writer in a few years of business writing, that more things are decided on the basis of good impressions than is realized.

EXTRAS HELP

This doesn't mean that a new industry will locate in your town because it likes the color of your grass. But, given a fair amount of natural advantages for that industry, the appeal of the little extras are very potent.

This writer has certainly seen industries go to centres which didn't even know they were under consideration.

So one wonders why this town or that doesn't try to make a better impression on the passer-by. It doesn't require great effort to do it. The traveller doesn't expect too much of, say, the railway-station area. But, not expecting much, he is terrificially impressed with the community which makes an effort to tidy up a bit and put on "company manners."

Stanley Barracks To Be Torn Down Soon

TORONTO (CP)—Stanley Barracks, historic lake shore landmark will soon be torn down, with the exception of a central building, to make way for a parking lot for the Canadian National Exhibition.

The building to be left was formerly the officers' quarters. The military establishment, built in 1840, has not been used since the Second World War.

Dies In Hospital After Trailer Fire

RIVIERE DU LOUP, Que. (CP)—Alfred Cusson, about 30, of Hamilton, died in hospital here yesterday from burns suffered when his truck-trailer caught fire.

En route to New Brunswick, the furniture-laden trailer caught fire while passing through here and Mr. Cusson was unaware of the fact. A passing motorist warned him, but the driver suffered facial and body burns before he could leave the vehicle.

Funeral service for Robert B. Barr, Toronto salesman who drowned Saturday evening in Lake Katchewanooka, was held on Tuesday at the Hendren Funeral Home, Lakefield. The Rev. W. B. Walker of Lakefield Baptist Church officiated and eight pallbearers, all business associates, were Albert Dewdney, John Scott, Edward Clarke, S. and S. G. Norrich, M. J. Cavanagh, A. V. Sainsbury and Don Hewitt. Flowerbearers were Jack Henthorn, Babe Fontaine, Mart Young and James McKerchar. Scottish funeral airs were played after the service and at the graveside by C.G.E. Piper James Wilson. Burial was at Lakefield cemetery.

Lamport Disappointed At Care Of Jail Farms

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Lamport said yesterday he was disappointed at the care the province of Ontario gave city-owned jail farms it has occupied for the last 12 years.

Can't Agree

PARIS (AP)—Representatives of the six European army nations announced yesterday they have not been able to agree on how long soldiers should serve in the proposed one-uniform force. France and Italy have an 18-month period of service, Belgium 24, Luxembourg 12, and the Netherlands 24 months for officers and specialists and 20 months for others.

Truman's Pal Loses At Polls

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Governor Sid McMath, of Arkansas, a political pal of President Truman, was defeated for a third-term nomination yesterday by a one-time college classmate, Judge Francis Cherry.

Unofficial reports from 2,040 of the state's 2,286 polls today gave Cherry 190,542 votes to 110,675 for McMath.

McMath was the second Truman-backed Democrat to be defeated in two weeks. Last week J.E. (Buck) Taylor, the President's choice for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator from Missouri, was beaten by Stuart Symington.

Democratic nomination—such as Cherry obtained yesterday—always has meant election in Arkansas.

Let's Not Be Nasty About The Surpluses

The numerous critics of Finance Minister Abbott and the Ottawa Government's flow of large annual surpluses may be pleased to learn that the budgetary surplus for the fiscal year 1951-52 was a hundred million dollars less than Mr. Abbott had estimated last April. Instead of a surplus of $356,000,0000 we really had a surplus of only $248,000,000. By the extent to which the surplus has been reduced, therefore, criticism of Mr. Abbott's surpluses should be reduced. We take a contrary view to this. We regret that the surplus is a hundred million dollars less than Mr. Abbott's department thought it would be when receipts and expenditures for the year ending March 31st 1952, had their April assessment.

* * *

There are three reasons why we are disgruntled by the disappearance of a hundred million dollars of expected surplus. The first is that it has disappeared. When $100,000,000 vanishes, should there not be shock and surprise, rather than praise and placidity? True, the hundred millions did not really exist, except in the mind of Mr. Abbott and the guesses of his expert advisers poring over their accounts. But they could have existed, and, according to some figuring, should have. Now $100,000,000 of people's money has disappeared.

* * *

The second reason for our chagrin at the reduced surplus, is that it diminishes what confidence we had in Mr. Abbott and the experts of the Department of Finance. Either they are bad guessers or poor accountants. Another disturbing explanation is possible. Perhaps government departments, eyeing the $356,000,000 announced surplus in April (and hearing the critics) feverishly began to spend it, and did it so prodigally that they reduced the surplus to $248,000,000 in a twinkling.

* * *

A really disturbing implication of the reduced surplus is this: if $100,000,000 can go up the bookkeeping spout between April, when the year's books are theoretically closed, and August, what can happen to an estimated surplus of only nine million dollars between April 1952 and March, 1953? The surplus provided for in the current budget is only nine million dollars. It can very quickly be changed into a deficit and a very large deficit, judging from the way a hundred millions of last year's surplus were whittled off. Out of what side of their mouths will the critics of Mr. Abbott's surplus talk if, next April, Mr. Abbott has a deficit?

* * *

Admittedly the criticism of the Abbott surpluses has been directed chiefly at their uncharted nature; they have been bigger than the budget called for. But if we are to have to choose between an unbudgeted surplus and an unbudgeted deficit, we certainly choose the surplus. We want no return to the depressing Depression and war-time annual deficits, which piled up debts and interest charges and have imposed a perpetual burden on taxpayers.

The Thrill Of Discovery

We walked across the fields to a promontory overlooking Rice Lake, stirring the insects in the dry grass with our footsteps. We were greeted by a fair bearded young man with studious look and gentle manners. Within the barbed wire enclosure the excavators were crouched around the trenches busy with grape-fruit knife and brush. Engrossed in their delicate tasks they looked like a group of eccentric prisoners of war in their compound. We were taken to a nearby cottage to inspect some broken pottery and other fragments of a long-forgotten settlement. One of the archaeologists ran up excitedly—a skull had been discovered.

The thrill of these moments of discovery is ample compensation for the painful boredom of digging and sifting. We are gradually getting to know a little more of the shadowy past of this land which now is ours. These poor relics bring home to us more forcibly than any books the fact that men have lived and died here long before Champlain, Adam Scott, Peter Robinson and the rest. Their culture was rude and elementary; they could not even read and write. They were probably too occupied with the struggle for survival to have time for the luxury of self-pity. Yet we feel a strange kinship with these people who long ago trod the same earth and experienced joy and sorrow as we do now. As excavations progress we expect to learn more about this mysterious race.

Handwriting And Character

The crucial point of many an important legal case rests on the identification of handwriting. Who forged the cheque? Who wrote the anonymous confession? Handwriting experts are called in, and it is their evidence that is usually accepted. The expert uses the enlarged photograph, the document microscope, the colour microscope, designed for recording the tints and shades of ink and delicate scales for determining line-width and similar details. There are many other ways in which the handwriting expert can disbover not only such things as erasures but also determine which line was written first. Thus the identification of handwriting can be called an exact science.

There are some, however, who claim to be able to read the character of persons from their handwriting, and though the handwriting expert interested in the identification of hands may have little patience with the claims of these graphologists, as they are called, there is evidence of increased popular interest. Graphologists may overstate their claims, but in our opinion they are on a different level from the astrologists, palmists and soothsayers that impose on the credulous even to this day. It is a matter of common observation that the tidy and methodical person has a tidy and methodical handwriting, and many other characteristics can be inferred. Even the layman can usually estimate the age of the writer. The hand of the young is relatively unformed, while that of the aged is subject to tremors and uncertainties.

Some claim to be able to determine the sex of the writer, but the results are ambiguous, as "sex" in writing may well be the outcome of social factors. This is less likely to be the case in a country where co-education is the rule; hence there is less difference between the handwriting of the Canadian male and female than there is in other countries where the sexes are more segregated.

There is a further aspect of handwriting in medicine. Extensive claims have been made concerning the possibility of using various graphic signs in the diagnosis of stomach, liver, heart and gastro-intestinal diseases. Be that as it may, handwriting may reveal organic or neural diseases or mental disorders. These considerations may modify the conclusions of graphologists. For example a large handwriting may indicate an ambitious person, but it may well indicate a loss of motor control. Similarly a very small handwriting may be a sign of myopia rather than a pedantic nature.

We mistrust those who claim to interpret the character of well-known public figures from their handwriting, as they are bound to know a good deal about them already. It is, however, a harmless and amusing occupation to speculate on the character of the writers of letters to one, especially if one is due to meet them in a short while for the first time. If one is mistaken there is no harm done; if one is proved correct it is a pleasing sensation, for once, to be right.

Changing Times

We live in a rapidly changing world; the old constraints that bound us in years past have loosened. Public opinion, once so formidable a force, has grown less effective. In no field is this truer than in that of marital relations. Divorce, though sanctioned by law, was held in abhorrence by the majority of citizens, and even the "innocent party" was branded as an outcast from society. When Queen Victoria banned divorced persons from her court she was only echoing the accepted views of millions of her dutiful subjects.

The First World War witnessed a partial relaxation of the conventions of Society. The influence of Freud, Havelock Ellis and others led to a franker acceptance of human frailty, though the half-baked excuses for anti-social behaviour sheltering under the name of psycho-analysis owed little to Freud and his colleagues. The modification of the old taboos did not still extend to public life. It was still political suicide to become involved in a divorce suit.

It is a sign of changing times that Mr. Anthony Eden's divorce created so little stir in 1950. His engagement has been announced to a niece of Winston Churchill. From a purely practical standpoint it is a fortunate accident that he no longer has to choose between love and duty. Our business is to interpret things as they are rather than as we would like them to be, but we cannot refrain from wishing bride and bridegroom every success.

Kremlin Sounds New Note

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

THE MESSAGE which Signor Nenni, the Italian Socialist leader, has brought back from his recent visit to Moscow is of great general interest. It sounds for the first time a new theme in Russian diplomacy, and though it is for the moment only one instrument on which this new theme is, almost tentatively and soto voce, suggested, it may well soon be taken up by the whole orchestra of Russian propaganda.

Signor Nenni said he was convinced that the last thing Russia wanted was war. All Russia wanted—and at this point the tune branches off from the familiar into the new—was to safeguard the position she had attained after the last war. Once that position was loyally recognised, "together with the revolution in China," the basis for a compromise with the West could be found. To begin with, Italy might recognise that position by concluding a Treaty of non-aggression with Russia.

✧ ✧ ✧

HERE IS THE OUTLINE of the new Russian policy: the offer to end the cold war by a political settlement, based, apparently, on the existing military and political division of Europe. What if this offer, now only non-committally voiced through the medium of a prominent Italian fellow-traveller, were to harden into a definite Russian diplomatic move? It does not look as if the West is well-prepared to meet such a contingency with a clear, thought-out and united policy of its own.

Obviously, what the Kremlin told Signor Nenni need not be the whole truth about its plans and airs. If Signor Nenni got the impression that Russia does not want war, this is no conclusive proof that Russia really does not want war. The enormous Russian armament effort remains a fact. The memories of expansive and aggressive Russian policies—the fostering of civil war in Greece, the Berlin blockade, the subversive use made of the Communist Parties in France and Italy—are still fresh. Even if Russian foreign policy should at the moment really think in terms of diplomacy, negotiations and settlements rather than in terms of aggression and war, that does not exclude the possibility that tomorrow the line might change again.

✧ ✧ ✧

STILL, for the moment Signor Nenni's assertions have a ring of plausibility. The balance of military power in Europe has during the last eighteen months been slowly changing in Russia's disfavour and promises to go on doing so in the next eighteen months, even with the recent slowing up in the pace of Western rearmament. If Russia wanted to make aggressive war, the best time for her to do so would have been in 1951 or 1952, when her military superiority was still far more marked than it is likely to be in 1953 or 1954. The fact that Russia has made no aggressive move this summer suggests that she has really given up hopes of further forcible expansion in Europe for the immediate future. If so, it would be natural for her to concentrate on the next-best dim: namely, to consolidate what she has gained, get these gains internationally recognised, and bring Western rearmament and the movement towards Western unity to a stop through a peace settlement which induced a feeling of security in the West. This is exactly what Signor Nenni indicates.

✧ ✧ ✧

A NEGOTIATED PEACEFUL settlement of the Second World War is, of course, also the aim of the West. The question is: On what terms can such a settlement be concluded? Hitherto, neither Russia nor the West have been explicit about their terms. Now Russia gives, for the first time, an indication of the terms on which she might be prepared to settle: "recognition of the position she has attained". In other words, she wants the present de facto position in Europe turned into the legally accepted status quo; the temporary military demarcation lines agreed at Yalta turned into permanent political frontiers; and her domination of Eastern and Central Europe legalised.

If this proposition should take on more definite forms, it will force the West to formulate its own conditions of peace, too. At the moment, it would be very hard to say what exactly these conditions are. Nor is it likely that the existing conceptions of a possible settlement are the same in every country of the West.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS GENERALLY believed that American ideas of a European settlement are based on a restoration of the political independence of the countries of Eastern and Central Europe which are at present Russian satellites. And one aspect of the Western rearmament programme is, indeed, the hope that the building up of superior strength in the West would make a Russian retreat from Eastern and Central Europe for the sake of a peaceful settlement appear advisable to Russia herself.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT THIS AIM has never been made explicit, and it is not clear to what extent it is generally shared. Is France—for which the present division of Europe (and Germany) has certain attractions—or is even Britain prepared to insist on a Russian withdrawal from Eastern Europe when Russia refuses such a retreat, but offers an end to the cold war on the basis of the existing position?

Moreover, rearmament, as we are witnessing just now, is a painful effort. If the immediate danger of Russian aggression is seen to recede, will the electorates of the European democracies—or even those of the United States itself—be prepared to maintain that effort for the sake of greater diplomatic bargaining strength alone? If Russia offers peace on the basis of the present military lines in Europe, may she not split the Western alliance wide open between those who would accept such an offer and those who would refuse it and insist on the liberation of Eastern Europe?

✧ ✧ ✧

THE INTERESTS of the various member States of the Western alliances, considered separately on purely and narrowly national terms, appear by no means identical in this respect. It may be theoretically possible and necessary to view the question, not from any national point of view, but from that of "the West" as a whole. But the interests of "the West" as a whole have, so far, no organ and representation. Even the North Atlantic Treaty Council, as now composed, is only a clearing house of national governmental policies, not a super-Government. The danger is therefore unmistakable that a Russian diplomatic offensive on the lines indicated by Signor Nenni might show up the lack of any general "Western" policy and the divergence of individual interests among those nations which are today held together in the main only by a common fear of Russian aggression.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT HAS LONG BEEN argued by the present writer that as a mere coalition of sovereign Allies, the North Atlantic Treaty Powers are ill-equipped to wage successfully a "cold" war as opposed to a "hot" one—that is, to formulate policies and to conduct diplomacy in a protracted power-political struggle. To equip themselves for such a task they would have to become more than an alliance; they would have to become a Union with a common Government. Alternately, they will at every step have to try to harmonise and co-ordinate the interests and policies of fourteen or fifteen different Governments, each acting under the particular pressures of its own electorate; and they will be highly vulnerable to the diplomacy of an adversary who knows how to play on these divergent interests.

So far, the Russians have rather stupidly neglected to use their diplomacy to these ends. Signor Nenni's declaration suggests that the real testing-time for the cohesion of the Atlantic alliance may now have arrived.

The Coming Helicopter Age

By Marshal of The R.A.F. Lord Douglas of Kirtleside
(Chairman, British European Airways)

TWO WIDELY different methods of air transport are at this moment receiving the very close attention of those in the business. They are long-range express services by jetliner, and short-range hops by helicopter. And since, through the introduction on B.O.A.C. routes of the Comet jetliner, the popular imagination has been caught by dramatic accounts of jet speed, I welcome this opportunity to call attention to the helicopter, which under certain conditions can make more haste much more slowly.

The experiments just concluded at the South Bank are a pointer to the course of development of the helicopter as the fastest means of transport between cities up to 300 miles apart. For at the South Bank Londoners may one day see the first helicopter air station sited in the heart of a British city. The experimental flights have been made to discover the best method of bringing the helicopter down on to the site, and special instruments measured the noise it made.

We have reached a point when we can look forward with confidence to passenger services by large helicopters over the shorter domestic and international routes of British European Airways. It will be some years, however, before these services can be started; it will indeed be longer than some optimists have indicated.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE GREAT ADVANTAGE of the helicopter is obvious: it can land upon and take off from an open space of about one hundred and twenty yards diameter in the centre of cities, and so eliminate the time and tedium of journeys to and from airports. It means, in fact, direct travel from city centre to city centre. Thus, over distances ranging from about 50 to 300 miles, the helicopter is the fastest of all means of transport.

For instance, the scheduled time of flight of the B.E.A. Silver Wing service between London and Paris is one hour and 20 minutes; but the passenger spends about 40 minutes in a bus travelling from the centre of London to London Airport and another 30 minutes from Le Bourget Airport to the centre of Paris. The whole journey therefore takes a minimum of two and a half hours. With a helicopter, flying only at 150 m.p.h. from, say, the South Bank in London to Les Invalides in Paris, the journey would take only about one hour 30 minutes. Thus the helicopter will, for a journey between London and Paris, beat the fastest supersonic aircraft in the world today.

Moreover — and this is perhaps of even greater interest to British air travellers — one can visualise a network of helicopter bus centres connecting the large and medium-sized cities and towns of the British Isles, many of which are too close together for time-saving and economic fixed wing services. In time the familiar cross-country bus will be a helicopter, which will rise up from the market place instead of having to weave slowly through crowded streets. It will bring great benefits in quick, clean and simple travel to all.

B.E.A. have already flown a number of experimental passenger helicopter services, notably between London and Birmingham and between Liverpool and Cardiff. Valuable lessons were learnt, but only small helicopters capable of carrying three passengers, and unsuitable for flight over cities, were available. These small machines could not be used profitably for passenger carrying. In fact, all extant helicopters are too small for the job. What is needed are larger helicopters, carrying 35-40 passengers. This, we calculate, is the smallest size which could really pay.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS ALSO NECESSARY, if helicopters are going to go into the centre of large cities, that they should have at least two engines, so that in case of one engine failing, the helicopter can get safely to the outskirts of the city, and not come down in a built-up area. A large helicopter of this type is theoretically feasible and many brains are at work on the problem. B.E.A. have already issued a specification for a large 35-40 seater twin-engined helicopter, which is engaging the attention of several British manufacturers.

I have recently returned from a trip to the United States, where I took the opportunity of visiting all the American helicopter manufacturers. Several of them, including Piasecki, Sikorsky and Bell, are now engaged in the design and construction of prototypes of large helicopters of approximately the size I have described. Indeed, American designers are at present somewhat ahead of ours, chiefly because the successful use of helicopters in the Korean war has stimulated work on design. The flight by stages across the Atlantic of two United States Air Force helicopters is an example of American keenness in this field, though it has little direct bearing on the future practical use of helicopters.

It must be remembered that helicopter design is still at a comparatively early and experimental stage. The first true helicopter flew only in 1939, so that development has been going on for only about twelve years, as compared with forty-odd years for fixed-wing aircraft. One result is that basic ideas are still fluid, and the designs of the new big helicopters, both here and in America, differ widely.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOME DESIGNERS BELIEVE in a single big rotor, others in twin rotors. Some are planning to use a mechanical drive for their rotors, whereas others favour driving the rotors by jets in the tips of the rotor blades. Some favour small wings in addition to the rotors to help the speed; others do not. Some believe that additional speed and performance can be had by adding tractor propellers to the helicopter; others consider this an unnecessary complication.

It will be most interesting to see which of these various developments turns out the best. But—as I said before—all this development will take time. It is doubtful if an efficient, safe, economic helicopter of sufficient size will be ready for use on passenger services before 1958, possibly not until 1960. So beware of the over-optimism of the enthusiasts!

In the meantime it is important that the Ministry of Civil Aviation and local authorities should get on with the selection of the sites for air-stops in the centre of our large cities, and that we should start the construction of these airstops in good time for the helicopter era which is bound to come. For Britain, with its many great cities and closely packed population, has a great incentive to be the first in the world to put the helicopter bus into operation, so emulating the Comet by being first in the field.

Letters To The Editor

HONOUR DUE

Sir: While my memory takes me back for a number of years to several sad events such as the collapse of the Turnbull building, the drownings, fires, and other misfortunes of our citizens, I come to the very sad catastrophe, the fire which burned the Zacks Block and took the lives of four courageous citizens.

Also pictured very vividly on my memory while not forgetting there were many others who contributed in various ways toward helping at the time of these events and to the distress afterward, we should show our appreciation to the group that no matter when or where they are always found doing a work without any thought of recompense; this is the Salvation Army.

I remember the good work done by Norman Graham at the fire and appreciate his drawing the attention to the Public in a late issue of the Examiner—the memorial has at this late date never been unveiled. I believe the citizens and this would include Mr. Graham, it would be a pleasure to ask the Salvation Army to have the honor of unveiling the Memorial. Honor would be given where Honor is due to the group who never fail to work with prayers, tears, or smiles as the occasion demands.

MAURICE E. KETCHESON

WORKERS IN PARK

Sir: I wish to commend the fine work of the various clubs in the city — Re: Lions, Kiwanis, etc. I was particularly taken up with the efficient work of life guards at Riverside Park this summer. The attention they give to the small tots and grown-ups alike. I noticed Betty, Dorothy, Carol and others of the staff at work and mothers can be assured that their children are in good hands. Parents in general should fully appreciate the grand work these girls do as representatives of a grand organization—in this case, "The Lions Club."

Yours truly,
H. GILBERT

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I will stand upon my watch, and set me upon the tower, and will watch to see what he will say unto me, and what I shall answer when I am reproved.

And the Lord answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it. For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it shall speak, and not lie: though it tarry, wait for it; because it will surely come, it will not tarry . . .

For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea. (Hab. 2: 1-3, 14.)

Middle East Commies Winning Cold War In Moslem World While West Slumbers

BY LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS — (NEA) — U. S. and western diplomats are becoming painfully aware that while their diplomacy is slumbering, Middle East Cominform agents are winning the hot-cold war throughout the Moslem world.

Few Arabs shed tears over the abdication of Egypt's King Farouk —as corrupt and dissolute a monarch as ever ruled this area of abject misery, religious fanaticism and revolutionary fervor. But much more underlies the present political upheavals in Egypt, Iran, Tunisia, Morocco and other Arab countries.

As the Paris Humanite, the Cominforms' chief mouthpiece in the West, said: "From Tunisia to Teheran the revolutionary movement for independence is growing."

According to U.S. intelligence reports, the Russians have recently intensified their campaign of penetration in the Middle East.

Cominform agents feverishly seek to exploit the "Arab awakening"—the developing ferment of political self-consciouness among the Arab people. Throughout the Moslem world they plot subversion and civil strife with comparative freedom.

EXPERT HAND SEEN

Though Gen. Mohammed Naguib Bey, who ousted Farouk, is certainly not a Communist, the Cominform's expert hand is now clearly seen behind the army's coup d'etat in Egypt.

Strong Communist cells have long been known to exist among Egypt's students and young army officers. The Cominform has been especially successful in infiltrating the extremely pro-nationalist Wafd party and the fanatical Moslem Brotherhood who, together with the young army officers and students, plotted Farouk's overthrow.

It is to these groups that Gen. Naguib Bey will now have to look for support if he is to stay in power.

"HANDS AGAINST THE WEST are raised by 10,000 Communist-led demonstrators marching in Teheran, Iran, one of the Moslem nations where Reds are exploiting the "Arab awakening."

A number of well known Moscow-trained agents have recently returned from Russia to the Middle East, U.S. intelligence reports indicate. Led by Mullah Mustapha Barzani, religious chief of the Kurdish tribes in the Barzan region of Iraq, and Moustafa el Aris, Lebanese Communist trade union leader, they have established a Cominform net that extends from Casablanca to New Delhi.

Cominform cells are said to be springing up literally overnight in Iraq, Iran, Syria and Lebanon. Syria and Lebanon are the major centers of Cominform propaganda in the Middle East. The Arabic printing presses in Damascus and Beirut are printing most of the Communist propaganda that is circulated throughout the Arab world.

Transjordan and Saudi Arabia, with their more primitive economic and social structures, are for the present harder nuts for the Kremlin to crack. But there is little doubt that the Cominform's Tudeh party was chief instigator of the organized bloody riots in Iran which returned Premier Mohammed Mossadegh to power.

Mossadegh is outwardly at the height of his power. Actually he is a prisoner of the Communists. He owes his return to office to the newly revealed Communist power of the streets, which he can hardly hope to control.

Widespread hunger, disease and political corruption in the Middle East is the Cominform's greatest ally in this strategic and oil-producing area. Western dissension and failure on the part of the NATO powers to coordinate their policies in the entire Mediterranean area has given Russia the edge in the hot-cold war.

ARAB WORLD NOT LOST

The Arab world is not yet lost to the western camp. But now is the 11th hour for the West—especially the U.S., which still retains some prestige in the Middle East—to make basic policy decisions and take decisive action.

Such decisions must take into account the legitimate nationalist aspirations of the Arab people, whether in French North Africa or elsewhere, experts on Russia in the West believe.

In the event of war a successful thrust by Russia's southern-front armies might overrun the Middle East without much difficulty.

This would at once deprive the NATO powers of more than 20 per cent of their oil output flowing from Middle East wells, isolate the strategic Suez Canal and endanger the U.S. air bases in Cyprus.

Excepting Turkey, there is not a single government that is both stable and strong in the Middle East—not even Israel, which is energetic and progressive but still economically insecure.

"THIS IS THE BAT," Joe Lowrey (right) tells Don Pagett (left) and Coach Joe Stewart (centre) after Lowrey hit a four-run homer in the third to help the Petes beat Belleville 13-4 Tuesday night. Stewart's nine are now well out in front in the C.O.B.L., trailed by the Redmen. Pagett had a good night at bat with a two for four record.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Petes Keep Out In Front Waltz Through Belleville

Joe Stewart's Petes seniors waltzed to an easy 13-4 C.O.B.L. victory over Belleville Redmen Tuesday night in Riverside park as they hammered three Belleville pitchers for 14 hits, including a four-run homer by Joe Lowrey in the third inning. That homer sent the Petes ahead 7-2 and seemed to take the drive out of the Redmen who never threatened after. All in all, the game was quite different from Belleville's last appearance, also won by the Petes, 5-4. That game was a pitcher's duel, but Tuesday's tilt was the batters' turn for revenge. They pounded out no less than 29 hits. The win put the Petes further out in front of Belleville in second and Kingston in third.

Ed "Gunner" Whitehill, Petes' veteran started off poorly but strengthened until he had to quit in the fifth in favor of Bill "Lefty" Dadson. Dadson, although giving up seven hits, was never in serious trouble.

Meanwhile the Petes' batters came through with hits in bunches sending Art Wright to the showers in the third after a seven-run rally. Reliefer Russ Mowat went well until the fifth but caved in, allowing another five-run burst. Bill Strachan, an 18-year-old, took the mound for the Redmen in the sixth, but the damage was done.

Joe Lowrey's third inning homer was about the season's best. With the bases loaded, Lowrey hit the ball over the right field fence, about 310 feet. It landed in the river.

The Redmen started well. Pat Gilmour singled to start the first, followed by Earl Bush's double to right. Tony Pettit singled scoring Gilmour and Bush. Whitehill with a curve and slow ball easily retired the side, forcing the Redmen to ground out.

The Redmen still were in charge in the second, but couldn't push a run across with two aboard. Again in the third they worked a runner to third but couldn't score.

The Redmen didn't score again until the eighth when Al Kelleher singled to left, scooted to third on Bill Strachan's single to second, and scored on Pat Gilmour's single to centre.

Again in the ninth they scored a single. Bunton started the rally with a double, scoring on Fitzpatrick's single to left.

The Petes' big inning was the third when they scored seven runs. Wright's support was weak and two errors, mixed with a single by Fred Garvey, provided three runs to start with. The Petes for a second time loaded the bases on an error, a walk and a double by Bryan Young. Lowrey's bat then hit the homer.

Wright's successor Mowat ran into trouble in the fifth. He hit Young with a pitched ball, allowed Pagett to single and then loaded the bases when he walked Lowrey. He walked in the first run, then had four others scored on singles by Bill Edger and Al Menzies.

Dadson opened the eighth with a single to centre and scored when Strachan walked Lowrey and Garvey and hit Bill Edger to end the scoring.

Belleville will be without catcher Tony Pettitt for a few games. Pettitt received a broken finger early in the game when nicked by a foul ball.

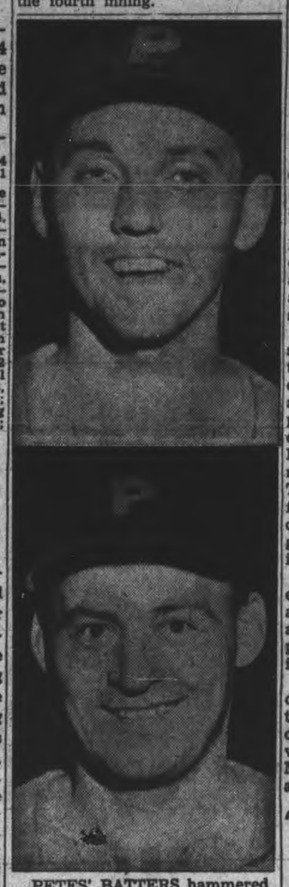
Ottawa Dumps Mighty Royals In 6-4 Triumph

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lowly Ottawa is kicking up a late-season fuss at the expense of the lofty Montreal Royals in the International League.

Charlie Bishop pitched the Athletics to their second straight win over the league-leaders last night, 6-4 while all the other clubs divided two decisions. Springfield finished up a Sunday suspended game with a 5-3 win over Toronto and then absorbed an 8-0 defeat as Johnny Hetki shut them out with seven hits.



Toronto's Lew Morton ripped into Al Lary and Al Ihde for a homer, tripple, double and single in five trips to lead the Leafs' attack. Ed Stevens and Bill Jennings also homered for the winners.

ROCHESTER HANGS ON

Rochester clung to second place, one-half game ahead of Syracuse, by splitting two with Buffalo. Bisons took the opener 6-5 with a three-run rally in the seventh. Rochester came back to win the second, 12-7, as Don Richmond drove home five runs with a homer, double and two singles.

Syracuse romped home in the second game, 7-1, after Baltimore took the opener 4-1. Bobo Holloman won his 11th for Syracuse in the second.

Jocko Thompson, down from the Phillies, pitched a one-hitter in the seven-inning opener. The only hit was a homer by Johnny Welaj in the fourth inning.

PETES' BATTERS hammered out 14 hits Tuesday night to defeat Belleville easily 13-4. Al Menzies (top) Petes' catcher, hit two for five, scoring twice, while second baseman Fred Garvey (bottom) hit three for four, scoring twice. —(Examiner Staff Photos).

Port Hope Beavers Take Second Straight

PORT HOPE—Port Hope Legion Beavers took a substantial lead in the round robin series for the championship of the Lakeshore juvenile baseball league when they whipped Cobourg Maroons 8-0 here last night. The loss was the second for Cobourg and gave the Port Hope club its second win as against no losses. The third team in the set, Bowmanville, has one win and one loss.

As in the previous win, left-hander Roger Lee was the key figure, hurling a four-hitter. He received tremendous support from second baseman Bob McDerment who rapped out three singles for a perfect night at bat.

Stu Linngard started on the mound for Cobourg, but retired in the third when Port Hope went bunt-crazy and laid down seven hits for a like number of runs. He was relieved by McIvor who held the winners in check for the balance of the contest.

UNLUCKY 13 FOR TOTS—Peterborough's All-Star softball team edged out the Chicago Hottentots, who claim to be world's colored softball champions, 6-5 Tuesday night before 1,500 at the Bowl. Petes All Stars Win 6-5 Hots Lose 13th Of Season In Torrid Game

Chicago Hottentots faced an all-star Peterborough softball squad at East City Bowl Tuesday night and tasted a 6-5 defeat before the largest crowd in four years in a star-studded display of sparkling ball that kept the crowd in a lather of excitement from start to finish.

Hottentots came to Peterborough with a record of 75 wins against only 12 defeats for the season; but suffered loss number 13 as the local stars under Harold Dormer and Pat Calladine, played inspired ball to nip the clever and fast Negro crew, in as close and hectic a game as has been seen here in many a moon.

Lefty Doris, crack Seabrooke southpaw, started on the hill for the all-stars and limited the powerful exhibitionists to three hits and two runs for three innings of play. Meanwhile, his mates combed the offerings of speedy Sam Means for three bingles and as many runs as the bats of Neil Thompson (who had three hits for four trips), Jake Wade and colorful Red Sullivan rang out to give Peterborough a precious edge in the early stages.

Howie Dalton, seasoned veteran, who opposed Hots a decade ago, next toed the rubber for the all-tars and whizzed his fast ball past the men of Davis to hold the invaders to one run on two hits.

Buck Legrow, popular skipper of the league-leading U.E.W. team, delivered the dramatic payoff wallop in the sixth inning when he caught hold of one of Means' down-the-alley pitches, and belted it over the fence with pal Jack White on the runways, to give Petes a 5-3 edge and bring the crowd to it sfeet. Hots came back in the seventh to score two off Seabrooke's star twirler Terry Woods. But Peterborough was not to be denied, and after Thompson beat out his second bunt, Lakefield's sturdy veteran, Joe Blewett, smote a long single to right to score the blond flash with what turned out to be the winning run.

The veteran Woods, fittingly climaxed an epic struggle by uncorking stuff seldom seen in the final two frames, to baffle and subdue the starry travellers completely.

It was a thrilling show, replete with sparkling plays of every description as close and hard-fought as the score indicates. The all-stars won on their merits and were praised unstintingly by Hottentots after the game.

"A great bunch of ball players," remarked the colored boys. "We can't believe it."

Fielding features were supplied by Leether, Sullivan and Rocky Smith, while the fielding of Jim Davis for the visitors was a treat to watch.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By DON GRANT

Let's talk tennis today. Don't turn away just because you think you're not interested in this sport. If you're a sportsman, you're interested in all sports especially one which could do with a little help.

Several tennis enthusiasts who have recently moved to Peterborough have drawn my attention to the Ontario senior and junior tournaments, pointing out that Peterborough is not represented in either bracket.

Then they have pointed out that in spite of two clubs, the Kawartha and Quaker, both filled with seniors, there are no juniors; that is in large numbers. And there aren't enough good hard-surfaced courts to fill the needs of all seniors who want to play.

Under Toronto Parks Department

Apparently Toronto has an ideal tennis program, thanks to its parks department. The city through the parks department has built a network of tennis courts.

There the city provided the land, put in large hard-surfaced courts (usually asphalt) and built wire backstops. At each park, about six in Toronto, there has been built eight to 10 courts, costing about $1,000 each.

These tennis players explain that with the hard-surfaced courts, "supervision and upkeep costs are kept to a minimum." Here in Peterborough both club courts are of clay; the courts need attention every day, cutting down on playing time and causing extra cost.

Community Clubs Were Organized

In Toronto once the courts were made, community clubs were formed; these groups in their constitutions agree to encourage tennis, particularly among the juniors. The clubs also provide cash for any upkeep such as nets and painted lines which the club members paint once a year.

Out-of-towners suggest that as a start perhaps Peterborough could build three courts, situated centrally, possibly at Riverside Park. If those are successful, expand to the districts.

The reason for three courts is to provide room for all. In case of matches the events can be operated on one court while the club membership plays on the other two courts.

Tourney Offered But Turned Down

The courts and club could provide juniors with a place to play tennis as well as having instructors from the senior group. The junior division could do with a little boost in Peterborough.

This year the district junior tennis tournament was offered to Peterborough. But instead of attracting these junior youngsters to the city and also promoting the sport, the tourney was turned down because there was no interest, because there were no Peterborough juniors to enter.

On the city playgrounds this summer the children from nine years up are finding paddle tennis, a variation of tennis quite interesting. On the six courts the children use plywood bats and tennis balls conforming to regular tennis rules.

"All the children want to play," said Alex Sinclair, recreation director, "but that's as far as they can go; there's no place for them to learn to play tennis. There's a definite need for more courts where they can be taught the game properly."

Until Canada begins to develop junior players from an early age, its national team might beat Mexico and Cuba, but it will never be closer to the coveted tennis prize, the Davis Cup.

Miller Makes Grade To Help Cardinals Dump Cubs 1-0

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Stu Miller's sensational debut with St. Louis Cardinals recalls the "good old days" when pitchers such as Bill Hallahan, Dizzy and Paul Dean, Howie Pollet and Harry Brecheen used to pop out of the Card farm system each fall. Since the war, talent has come in dribs and drabs. More and more the Card managers have had to lean on the old standbys of other years.

But Miller, a 24-year-old right-hander with an 11-5 record at Columbus, stood Chicago Cubs on their ears with a six-hit, 1-0 shutout last night.

SENSE OF HUMOR

Miller's first quotes would indicate he has a sense of humor as well as "a fast ball, a slow one and another slow one that's slower than the other."

"I felt better after the first inning," he said. "And I knew that Hank Sauer couldn't hit my fast ball. . .because I didn't throw any fast balls when he was up."

Miller's shutout was the first by a Cardinal pitcher since Al Brazle, 37-year-old lefty, blanked Pittsburgh July 5.

Just to prove he had it in the clutch, Miller breezed a 3-2 pitch past Bill Serna for a called strike in the ninth with men on first and third and two out.

Hal Rice's first-inning single scored Red Schoendienst with the game's only run, handing Bob Rush his 11th loss.

GIANTS, DODGERS IDLE

New York Giants didn't start any little miracle this Aug. 12. Their scheduled night game at Brooklyn was rained out on the anniversary of the start of their 1951 push.

Brooklyn leads New York by nine games and St. Louis by 11.

The Boston-Philadelphia game in the National was washed out and Pittsburgh and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

Rain kept both New York Yankees and runner-up Cleveland idle in the American.

Boston lost a chance to gain on the leaders by dropping a 13-inning game to Philadelphia Athletics, who now trail the Yanks by only 7½ lengths. Billy Hitchcock's single scored Gus Zernial in the 13th to top the Red Sox, 4-3, after Clyde Vollmer's two-run homer tied the score in the eighth.

Jimmy Dyck took matters into his own hands to power St. Louis Browns to a 3-2 win over Chicago White Sox in 12 innings. Dyck's first homer tied the score in the eighth and his second won the game for Gene Bearden in the 12th.

MUST RETURN TO U.S.

Richard Gonzales, 26-year-old United States football player, was placed on suspended sentence at Toronto yesterday for housebreaking with the proviso that he return to the U.S. immediately.

Gonzales, who came here to try out with Toronto Argos of the Big Four football union, pleaded guilty, saying he had been drinking.

Unknown Nearly Eliminates Marlene

By JIM PEACOCK

EDMONTON (CP)—Few of the most ardent golf followers were optimistic enough today to attempt to pick a winner from the 16 survivors in the Canadian women's open golf championship at the Edmonton Mayfair.

A comparatively unknown golfer all but eliminated defending champion Marlene Stewart yesterday and a young competitor extended a one-handicap player to 26 holes before losing out. The rest of the field went almost according to form.

Mrs. D. MacDougall of Saskatoon grabbed a strangle-hold on the first three holes and didn't lose her grip until the 19th when champion Marlene from Fonthill, Ont., dropped a birdie four to win.

GO TO 26 HOLES

Daintry Chisholm of Montreal and Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, Md., came up with the outstanding marathon of the opening round when they went to the 26th hole before Mrs. Glick won out. Their medal scores topped the field too, when Mrs. Glick parred in 103 and Miss Chisholm took 194 for 26 holes.

The two top qualifiers—Mary Gay of Kitchener, and Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont.—blazed through without difficulty. Miss Gay whipped the lone Edmonton qualifier Mrs. T. S. A. Sutherland, 6 and 4, and Miss Anderson won 5 and 3 over Mrs. J. Dagenais of Laval-sur-le-Lac, Que.

Rae Milligan, 18, of Jasper, Alta., was not extended in winning 5 and 4 over Mrs. W. D. Edey of Winnipeg.

MARLENE OFF GAME

Eighteen-year-old Miss Stewart was off her game, putting badly after poor seconds and approaches. Mrs. MacDougall was steady all the way, going two up at the third. They were even at the turn but Mrs. MacDougall was two up after 11. Miss Stewart came even with a par three on the 17th and the 18th was halved.

Miss Chisholm was one up at the turn over Mrs. Glick and held a lead until the 18th when the American evened it. They halved to the 26th where Miss Chisholm was one putt short.

The seven American entries came through the first round but two will fall today when Grace Lenczyk, 1947 and 1948 winner, and her sister Lorraine of Hartford, Conn., meet Marie Polk of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Polly Martin of St. Clairsville, Ohio, respectively.

MINOR UPSET

Lorraine Lenczyk pulled a minor upset when she defeated Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Montreal 3 and 1 and Grace won by default when Mrs. R. S. Rideout of Regina sprained an ankle.

Miss Stewart meets Mrs. G. E. Wilcox, Jr., of Miami, who won 2 and 1 over Shirley Fry of Vancouver, B.C., and Miss Anderson runs against Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, who defeated Mrs. C. Shuttleworth of Toronto, one up.

Miss Milligan meets Mrs. Glick and Miss Gay goes against Anne Sharp of Fonthill, a 2 and 1 winner over Joanne Goulet of Regina.

Starting Fund To Help Sailor Sharkey

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sailor Tom Sharkey, once a gloved terror of the ring now is fighting a serious and possibly final battle in hospital.

His opponents are old age, feebleness and loneliness.

He is penniless and a committee has undertaken to collect a fund for his needs. In his peak days he had a fortune of $250,000.

Sailor Tom Sharkey is of an era of 50 years ago. Never a champion himself, he boxed the best. He is the only man alive today who exchanged punches with the first four heavyweight champions under the Marquis of Queensbury rules: John L. Sullivan, James J. Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons and James J. Jeffries.

Born in Dundalk, Ireland, Nov. 26, 1873, he was a barrel-chested strongman, standing five feet 8½ inches. His fighting weight ranged from 180 to 185 pounds.

In 1896, Sharkey boxed a four-round draw with Corbett, a three-round no-decision contest with Sullivan, won on an eighth-round foul from Fitzsimmons.

He lost a close 20-round decision to the champion, Jeffries, in 1898 and won from Corbett on a ninth-round foul in the same year. It led to a title match with Jeffries in Coney Island, Nov. 3, 1899.

Sailor Tom lost the 25-round decision and suffered three broken ribs, but never was floored.

West Raids Balmy Beach For His Galloping Ghosts

The old saying, Go West, Young Man, now reads Go EAST, Young Man, as Art West, who was disposed as Balmy Beach coach in mid-season last year, has been raiding his old team to build up his new one. West, now coach of Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts, recently invaded Toronto and captured the Beaches' quarterback, Mel Taylor, fullback Red Alexander and lineman Tony Horvath. Alexander and Horvath played with the Beaches last year, coming up from Parkdale intermediates the year before.

"Mel seemed to think he wouldn't get much chance to play," explained Tuttle, "but I told him he was the first Canadian I'd seen with Beaches who looked capable of handling the quarterback job. That seemed to make a difference, but he didn't turn out again.

"I wouldn't mind about it so much if they'd come to me and told me they were going. Even after I heard, I talked to Red (Alexander) and he seemed to be all right, but he went to Cobourg.

"I'm not going to go after them," said Tuttle. "Their future is up to them."

"We certainly won't go after them," verified Beach president Sam Shefsky. "If they want to come back, that could be different. One thing sure, we want to go with as many Canadians as possible."

That's why Ralph Pulley won't be with the Beaches again. The Negro fullback, cut by Argos, was willing to play for the Beach, but Shefsky told him, regretfully, that signing him would be against club policy.

"We're going to try to go with two Americans, although we could go as high as four," Shefsky pointed out. "But we want them for certain positions. We've contacted a good college player—a tackle, goes about 235 or 240. He's good enough for a B'g Four club."

Lindsay Rink Enters Trophy Finals

TORONTO (CP)—A single bowl and a tape measure sent F. Scott of Toronto into today's final for the Eaton Gold Trophy, top award at the 18th annual provincial lawn bowling tournament.

It took the last bowl in the final end of yesterday's semi-final match to defeat the Hamilton rink, skipped by R. Bell, and a tape measure to decide the winner.

The loss smashed Bell's hopes of recapturing the gold cup he won in 1948 or even the runner-up position he held last year.

Scott, who in 1948 won the Rice Trophy, top provincial singles award, will lead his rink against L. Rogers' Lindsay crew in today's final. Rogers moved into the finals by defeating E. J. Adgey of Toronto, 22-13.

Yesterday's results included:

Eaton Gold Cup—fifth round:

Toronto, F. Scott, 16; Oshawa, W. J. Brownlee, 9

Lindsay, L. Rogers 15; Cleveland, I. Craig, 14

Semi-Final:

Lindsay, L. Rogers, 22; Toronto, E. J. Adgey, 13

Eaton consolation—first round:

Toronto, J. E. Eastwood, 17; Oshawa, W. J. Brownlee, 8

Robert Simpson Trophy—Fourth round:

Toronto, H. J. Taylor, 15; Cornwall, J. E. U. Rouleau, 6

Fourth round:

London, A. A. McLeish, 22; Kingston, E. T. Dennison, 8

PROTESTS DECISION

Jake Mintz, co-manager of former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles, said yesterday at Pittsburgh he has asked the National Boxing Association to reverse the decision which gave Rex Layne of Utah a win over the Cincinnati negro.

Mintz bitterly assailed Referee Jack Dempsey's decision after the 10-round bout last Friday night at Ogden, Utah. No judges were provided for the bout.

There is no boxing commission in Utah and the state is not affiliated with the National Boxing Association.

At Paterson, N.J., Greene said the N.B.A. would "not intrude on any state jurisdiction."

B.C. Sergeant Wins Rifle Assoc. Match

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont. (CP)—A sergeant from the British Columbia Dragoons yesterday won the City of Ottawa match at the 84th annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association prize meet.

Sgt. Walter A. Cousins of Penticton, B.C. posted a score of 99 of a possible 100 from the 200 and 900-yard ranges to place ahead of some 600 other competitors.

It was the first time that Cousins has competed at a D.C.R.A. meet and for that reason he is classed as a tyro, a member of the association who name has not appeared in the first 150 in the grand and all-comers aggregate at any prize meeting conducted by the association subsequent to the Second World War.

10 BULLS AT 900

Cousins dropped to an inner four on only one shot. That was on his third shot from the 200-yard range. He scored 10 perfect bulls from the 900-yard range.

Eleven other marksmen tied for second, including: Gnr. S. H. Thompson, Parhill, Ont.; Officer Cadet H. Bracken, Brockville; and Lt.-Cmdr. E. Ryan, Kingston, Ont.

In the other featured match—the Bankers'—WO. 2. E. L. Warner of Sherbrooke, Que., scored 10 bulls-eyes from each of the 300 and 600-yard ranges to score a possible 100. It was the only perfect shot in the match.

Sgt. R. S. French, 65, of Enfield, Eng., a member of the British rifle team, scored a heart-breaking one off the possible.

Sgt. French is a former winner of the King's Prize at Bisley and last week won the Lieutenant-Governor's match at the Ontario Rifle Association shoot.

Twelve marskmen tied for third place with scores of 98, including: S. Sgt. F. Eveleigh, Regina, and Maj. J. W. Houlden, Winnipeg.

WINS JUNIOR HONORS

Cadet Corporal Malcolm Dean of the 14-member British cadet team, won the Gooding junior silver medal for posting the highest combined score in three matches—the Tyro, Macdougall and Bankers' matches, scoring 245 of a possible 250.

The four-member Winnipeg Light Infantry team won the Aylmer-Gard trophy for posting the highest team scores in the Bankers match, carding 384 of a possible 400.

They beat out teams from the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, B.C., in second spot with 380 and the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, Montreal, third with 379.

The winning team and their individual scores: Maj. J. W. Houlden 98; Maj. B. E. Besteck 96; Capt. D. O. White 96, and Sgt. A. W. Park 94.

Several matches are scheduled today including the Tilton match from 300 yards and the featured Queen's Medal.

Colborne Downs Port Hope 6-4

COBOURG—Colborne Dodgers got the jump on Port Hope Ontarios in their best-in-seven Lakeshore Intermediate B. playoffs Monday night, winning 6-4. The opening game of the semi-final round was sparked by the brilliant relief pitching of Bill Ball, the Colborne fastball hurler. Ball went to the relief of Kard Higgenbotham, Colborne's American Negro star, in the first frame and from there on held the losers to two hits while striking out 16. The losers got all their runs off Higgenbotham on three straight walks, two Colborne errors and a lone hit by Keeler.

Irwin Post and Higgenbotham weighed in with triples in the winners' attack and Chuck Hall came up with two for four in their eight-hit total off Jim Hart and John Holman.

The game was marred by the Port Hope club's protest of the Colborne lights and the use of Dave Hill, a Cobourg player, released this years to Colborne. The protest will be heard at Thursday night's Lakeshore League meeting. The series resumes Wednesday in Port Hope.

Port Hope .. 400 000 000—4 3 3

DAILY PHENOMENON

A twice-daily phenomenon at Moncton, N.B., is the tide on the Petitcodiac River, often reaching a height of five feet.

English Woman Making Debut

By CECIL SMITH

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont. (CP)—A slim, tanned English woman is making an impressive debut at the 84th annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association prize shoot on these ranges near Ottawa.

She is Marjorie E. Foster, the only woman ever to win the King's Prize at Bisley, Eng., and a member of the crack 14-member British rifle team. Miss Foster is the first woman to make the trip to Canada with the British team.

In the opening two days, she proved that she can keep step with any of the 600 competitors.

POSTS HIGH SCORES

In the opening day's Macdougall match she posted a score of 98 of a possible 100. Yesterday, she scored two off the possible 200 in the Banker's match.

"I like it very much here," she said. "The ranges are good and the weather has been ideal."

"This is the fourth time since 1939 that I have been a member of England's Bisley team touring the Commonwealth and next year I will tour South Africa as vice-captain of the team."

Canada's Labor Congresses Press For Increased Wages Controls On Cost-Of-Living

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Wages and the cost of living are expected to hold most of the attention at the conventions of Canada's two big labor congresses in August and September.

With both congresses having pretty well cleaned up their internal problem with communists, the labor spokesman likely will buckle down to the more immediately practical matters of the pay envelope and what its contents will buy.

Demands for the resumption of controls in some form are expected to emanate from both the 500,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the 350,000-member Canadian Congress of Labor.

CURRENT NEGOTIATIONS

Many of the big unions now are in the midst of protracted negotiations. These include the C.C.L.'s basic steel workers, often regarded as the pace-setter in wages, and the 125,000 members of the non-operating railway unions belonging to both congresses.

Winnipeg will be the scene of the T.L.C. sessions during the week of Aug. 18. The C.C.L. will meet in Toronto Sept. 22.

Besides the wage and living-cost issues, both conventions will devote considerable attention to the question of social security. Emphasis may be on a comprehensive health insurance plan, regarded as the next step in Canada's social-security program.

The housing problem will stir up debate at both conventions, and there likely will be demands for government-subsidized low-rental construction.

IMMIGRATION PROBLEM

Both conventions normally concern themselves with immigration. Recently, the federal government moved to some extent in the direction of labor's wishes on this subject by ordering curtailment in the winter immigration of workers. It may be asked to go further in regulating the intake of immigrants.

Expectations are that this year will not see much activity towards closer co-operation among the main bodies of Canadian labor. The T.L.C. last year pulled out of a co-operative set-up with other groups. The C.C.L. would like to see that restored—and in fact wants full organic unity of all labor—but nothing positive is likely to develop this year.

On the Red front, communist activity in the congress unions has been largely choked off in the last few years, and this year action around that issue is likely to be secondary.

However, possible repercussions are in prospect as the result of a recent red cleanup in the T.L.C.'s textile group, as Canadian head of the rival organization.

Baron was one of the storm centres of a turbulent C.C.L. convention last year. He was knocked off the C.C.L. executive as part of an involved fight led to the resignation of Pat Conroy, C.C.L. secretary-treasurer, and Alex MacAuslane, a vice-president.

That fight may stir up further echoes at the coming C.C.L. session. At all event, the issues underlying it—a tug-of-war for power between various factions, will exert some influence on the congress' deliberations.

THE ESCORT CARRIER CAMPANIS, carrying equipment for the British atomic tests which are scheduled to be carried out within a matter of days in the Monte Bello Islands, arrives at Freemantle harbor, Australia. The British Admiralty has announced that an area 200 to 300 miles around the coral reef and wind-blown sand banks that make up the Monte Bello group will be dangerous to shipping and aircraft during the atomic tests. Immediately the escort carrier arrived in Freemantle, she was placed under a close security guard.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Passenger service on the Trans-Canada Air Lines has experienced a steady growth of 21 per cent in the last five years, T.C.A. President Gordon R. McGregor says. He added "we have just started nibbling at the edges."

Canadian Officer Critical Of Army's Regiment System

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A defence headquarters officer has found serious fault with one of the army's sacred cows—the regimental system as it now stands and has stood for years.

In effect Capt. J. L. Hunter says the army has too many regiments for its own good and that the time has come for complete examination and re-organization of this regimental system which is the foundation of the whole army structure.

His views, described as his own and "not necessarily those of army headquarters," are published in the latest issue of the official Canadian Army Journal. Officials said today there is no move on foot to do what he proposes.

69 REGIMENTS

Capt. Hunter, whose own parent unit is one of Canada's proudest regiments, the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, says the army has no less than 69 named infantry regiments plus six hybrid units now in Germany with the 27th Brigade compared to 87 in the much-larger British army.

(The 48th Highlanders, the Loyal Edmonton Regiment, the Regina Rifles all are regiments. When they mobilize to fight, however, the units which take the field are called battalions. This is the British system under which the parent regiment—say the Black Watch—may have a half-dozen battalions on active service. Canadian regiments seldom had more than one until recently when the three permanent force regiments—the P.P.C.L.I., Royal 22nd and Royal Canadian Regiments—each was authorized to raise three battalions. They are called the first, second and third battalions of their parent regiments.)

TWO SERIOUS FAULTS

Capt. Hunter says there are too many regiments. And there is no connection, no "kinship" between the permanent force regiments and the reserve regiments.

Two wars proved that not nearly all the regiments can field active battalions "and they couldn't be adequately reinforced from their home areas" if they were mobilized.

Formation of the 27th Brigade to go to Germany represents "a partial breakdown of the regimental system." Its units were made up of sub-units representing wide variety of reserve force regiments, resulting in battalions with "no past of their own and no firm base on which to build a unit tradition and esprit de corps."

UNIQUE ARRANGEMENT

(The 1st Highland Battalion of the 27th Brigade, for instance, is connected with no Canadian regiment in itself. But its sub-units, its companies, each are connected with a different parent regiment, such as the North Nova Scotia Highlanders. It is a unique arrangement.)

Capt. Hunter's proposal is to create from four to seven regional regiments for the whole army, reserve and active together—the Royal East Canada Regiment and the Royal West Canada Regiment for example. Each regiment would have no more than 15 battalions which would bear the traditional regimental names.

In war some of the units of each regiment would be mobilized but not all. But men enlisting in any region would feel a link with one regiment and not be threatened with anonymity "in the soulless mass of the Royal Canadian Infantry corps."

There would be four parent regiments or seven if the Quebec, Ontario and Western regions were divided in two.

A SUDDEN COLLAPSE of street and sidewalk along a main traffic artery in Philadelphia created this gaping, 35-foot crater, swallowed up two vehicles (right foreground) and forced hundreds to flee homes lining the cave-in. The cavern-like opening is Mill Street sewer, which is blamed for the collapse. The two cars were unoccupied and no one was reported injured in the weekend mishap.

Rabbits Uncover Roman Site

LONDON (CP)—Burrowing rabbits in the River Gray region of Bexley, Kent, recently uncovered fragments of pottery which have led to the discovery of other relics believed to date back to the first and second century.

Since the pottery remains were found a party of archaeologists has started excavations on the site which historical records indicate once was a Roman settlement.

Until the rabbits got busy the actual location of the settlement was unknown. But now pieces of roman tile and other finds have disclosed the presence of a large farmstead and a village of flimsy huts.

A discovery of particular interest is a small kiln used either for firing pottery or roasting corn.

Ask Sculptors Submit Designs

LONDON (CP)—An invitation has been addressed to British sculptors to submit designs for a memorial to the men of the Royal Armored Corps who fell in the Second World War.

A site in London's Hyde Park, near Stanhope Gate, has been set aside for the memorial by the ministry of works. Final choice of design will rest with a committee of eight judges.

Maj.-Gen. Sir Percy Hobart, a member of the committee and commander of the #79th armored division until 1945, said the theme of the shrine will be "comradeship." Its purpose was not to glorify any particular weapon or instrument of war, but to pay tribute to the tank crews and men of other armored units who died in the service of their country.

"The main feature should not represent a tank or other armored fighting vehicles," General Hobart said, "but should express the spirit animated tank crews in the war—comradeship, interdependence and trust in one another."

RECOGNIZE "EVIL EYE"

In early Rome the "evil eye" was so well recognized that special laws were enacted against injury to crops by fascination.

2 Republics Top Production Plans

MOSCOW (AP)—The production plans of the Soviet Union's two biggest republics were fulfilled by 103 per cent or more for the second quarter of this year.

The figures, as announced by their statistical boards were: R.F.S.F.R.—(which includes Moscow, Leningrad and a large part of Siberia)—103 per cent; The Ukraine—103.6.

Figures for the individual ministries show that in the R.F.S.F.R., 11 ministries hit or exceeded their production quotas, while three did not meet the plan.

In the Ukraine, 32 ministries made or exceeded their programs; seven fell short.

Day Nuseries Supervised In Denmark By Red Cross

TORONTO (CP)—Supervision of day nurseries is one of the duties of the Danish Red Cros says Karen Margrethe Ahlmann Ohlson one of Denmark's three delegates to the 18th International Red Cross conference.

"We see to such welfare services as are needed," said Miss Ohlson. "Then as soon as the government or municipality is ready to take over a service, we step out of the picture."

This is the type of work done by the Danish Red Cross in a country which has no need for Red Cross outpost hospitals such as are found in Canada.

On the other hand, a blood bank project similar to that of the Canadien Red Cross, rapidly is becoming an important part of activities of the Danish society.

Miss Ohlson, who has a full-time job with the Danish society, said that the first 'efficient' blood bank was opened last year in Copenhagen.

Since the war the Danish Red Cross has opened chapters in Greenland, and in the Faroe Islands, another Danish colony north of Scoiland.

Clothing materials and other supplies have been shipped to the Greenland chapter and the Red Cross will open a children's home there soon.

MP Raps Report On Scots Trade

LONDON (CP)—Hector Hughes, member of parliament for Aberdeen North, was highly critical of a 1951 government report on industry and employment in Scotland, tabbed in the Commons. He particularly deplored its lack of information on exchange of trade between Canada and Scotland.

Hughes' theme was that this omission of facts and figures on trade between Canada and Scotland, compared with the fulsome 1950 report, was the result of lack of ministerial direction. It was most difficult to understand, he said, in days when trade meant so much to the United Kingdom.

The member for Aberdeen North said Canadian trade is and would be beneficial to Scotland, not to mention the strong ties engendered by the emigration of so many Scots to the new land.

He felt the wealth of population Scotland had contributed to Canada could be of great help economically to both countries.

Hughes expects to visit Canada later this summer as a member of a British parliamentary delegation to Commonwealth the parliamentary convention in Ottawa.

Marks Centenary

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. A.M. Farewell celebrated her 100th birthday by planting a tree on the site of a new United Church. Among many dignitaries attending the ceremony, Mayor Michael Starr congratulated her on behalf of the city council.

WHAT THE ANTENNA PICKS UP in its sweep of the skies is plotted on the radar screen, housed in the weather bureau. David Sussan, (sitting) McGill honors student in mathematics and physics, watches the screen, with Mr. Stevens supervising the observations. When anything interesting develops, it is recorded photographically.

Too Early Yet To Decide Flogging Needed

LONDON — (CP) — Although alarmed by the increase of crime in the United Kingdom within recent years, Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, believes it is too early to assess the results of the abolition of flogging.

Addressing the annual meeting of the national association of prison visitors, Sir David said the number of indictable offences had risen by 14 per cent last year. And at the beginning of June this year there were more than 24,000 persons in British prisons and correction institutions, the highest figures since 1877.

"The public are naturally disturbed and are raising questions about defences against crimes," Sir David said.

"Voices have been raised for the restoration of flogging. I believe that having taken steps to abolish flogging, it is too soon to assess the results. Sufficient time should be given to see whether or not it is having an effect."

The minister deplored the present-day over-crowding of penal institutions and suggested at least seven new prisons were needed to accommodate properly the country's population of law-breakers.

Britain May Tax Payments Made For F-M Compensation

GLASGOW (CP)—Farmers who receive compensation cheques for foot-and-mouth slaughterings may have an income tax shock in store, the agricultural editor of the Glasgow Herald sals.

If their financial year ends before stock replacements are purchased, compensation is liable to rank as profit and be taxed accordingly—with little chance of recovery once the slaughtered herd is rebuilt.

The Herald's editor observes the income tax outcome could be particularly unfortunate for owners of pedigree stock for which large sums in compensation have been paid by the government.

Compensation payments have already reached the record of £2,500,000 since the current epidemic began last November.

Joseph Allison, C.A., auditor of the National Farmers' Union of Scotland, says, "it is unfortunate that revenue should be in a position to make. . .a profit out of the farmers' calamity."

He says animals represent trading stock, their purchase and sale, individually or collectively, having the effect of creating a profit or loss.

Peron Unpopular In Latin America

From J. HALCRO FERGUSON

MONTEVIDEO (ONS) — The Peron government of Argentina is spending a remarkable amount of money on trying to win friends and influence people — particularly in Latin America. But, particularly in Latin America, its efforts are meeting with so little success that they might be termed boomerangs.

Argentina and its citizens never were particularly popular with their neighbours. Uruguayans next door put up with them because, in the days when the Argentina peso was worth something, Argentina tourists brought more than bad manners with them. But not now.

Brazil, a tolerant country, has never felt very tolerant about the Argentines. Partly this has been because a Republic, which, like Brazil, prides itself on its mixed blood, cannot but feel irritated with a nation which, like Argentina, makes an implicit claim to White supremacy. More important perhaps, is the fact that Argentines tend to fear (and to express their fear) that their much larger neighbour has imperialistic ambitions against them.

To Brazilians, who have a population about equal to that of Britain in an area greater than that of the United States, this sounds like nonsense—or an excuse for invasion by Argentina, which, despite its much smaller size and population (16,000,000 people to Brazil's estimated 50,000,000) has a larger navy, a larger air force and an almost comparable army.

Other Latin American nations, in what is now known as the the A.P. era ("Antes De Peron" or Before Peron) had no particular feelings about Argentina one way or the other, excepting those which had been liberated from Spain by an Argentine army under Argentina's General Jose De San Martin. Such countries naturally had a sentimental affection for the land of the gaucho but Peron's propaganda has changed all that. Today, oustide correctly official circles, nobody loves Argentina—and they make very little distinction between the country and its government.

The first serious manifestation I found of this feeling was in Mexico, when President Peron proposed a Latin American Federation, with the implication that it would be under Argentine leadership. Mexican newspapers gave the story about one inch on their inside pages, and individual Mexicans laughed at the idea of continental leadership by a country which (in their view) was inhabited by near-naked savages when Mexico had long been an organised civilization.

Feelings in Peru, also a country with a long historical background, are even more definite. In Bolivia, after the recent bloody revolution, the arrival of a team of glamorous but incapable Argentine nurses under the auspices of the "Fundacion Eva Peron" provoked hilarity rather than gratitude. In Chile, President Peron blotted his copybook by alleging that there was a "factory of rumors: and grumbles" in Chile's capital of Santiago, expressly set up to sow seeds of discontent in Argentina.

To Chileans, who regard the right to grumble and pass on rumors as practically part of their heritage, this was the laugh of the week, but, though Peron's statement was obviously made for internal Argentine consumption, Chile's President Gonzalez Videla took time off in an election year to answer it.

He denied that any such "rumor factory" was operating on Chilean soil, and added that even the Chilean press which was perfectly free to say what it liked, had never shown any particular "animadversion" against Argentina. He sounded slightly surprised about that. Next day a chain of Chilean radio stations came out with the statement that if they were so keen on non-interference in other people's affairs, perhaps the Argentines would be good enough to stop jamming their broadcasts, which they had been doing consistently for the last six months.

Oddly enough, one of the things which most irritates other Latin Americans is what they regard as the Argentine's lack of humor. The late Senora Peron's book, "La Razon De Mi Vida" ("The Reason Of My Life") which is almost a Bible in Argentina, and implicitly compares Peron to Christ, is received with a mixture of disbelief and uproarious laughter in other countries of the continent.

Many serious Argentines realise that, whatever good he may or may not be doing in other ways, Peron is ruining the reputation of his country abroad, and a group of exiles has recently approached the United Nations to ask that he be severely censured. But it is a little late, and it will take a long time for Argentina to regain the respect, let alone the affection, of her neighbors.

Since governments must perforce get on with one another, and since diplomats, Argentine and otherwise, must keep their jobs, these statements of sad fact are bound to bring protests, but they will be recognised as true by 95 per cent of the ordinary men and women of Latin America.

Vatican Versus Tito Many Priests Jailed

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL

BELGRADE (OFNS) — Tito's Yugoslavia today does not strike the casual observer as a police regime. Most of the political prisoners arrested after the war are still held, but the labour camps were dissolved last November—except for one new camp for "Cominformists," active supporters of the Moscow line.

New political arrests and trials hardly occur now. Yet there is one exception, apart from the odd few cases of genuine spies without political significance—the arrests of Catholic priests accused of actively fighting the regime. Probably several dozen of them have been arrested in recent months, mostly in Slovenia.

The violence of the official Press campaign against the Vatican and the Catholic hierarchy—again chiefly in Slovenia—is remarkable. It is not directed against the Catholic faith as such, though there is now and then a reminder that toleration of religion does not apply inside the party. The churches are full and worshippers unmolested; the struggle, as always in such cases, is largely being fought for the influence of the young generation.

The Church says that the purpose of the Press campaign and of the arrests of militant priests is to intimidate people so that they will not dare send their children to religious instruction, and the countercampaign of the bishops accordingly concentrates on the duty of every believer to profess his faith even at a risk.

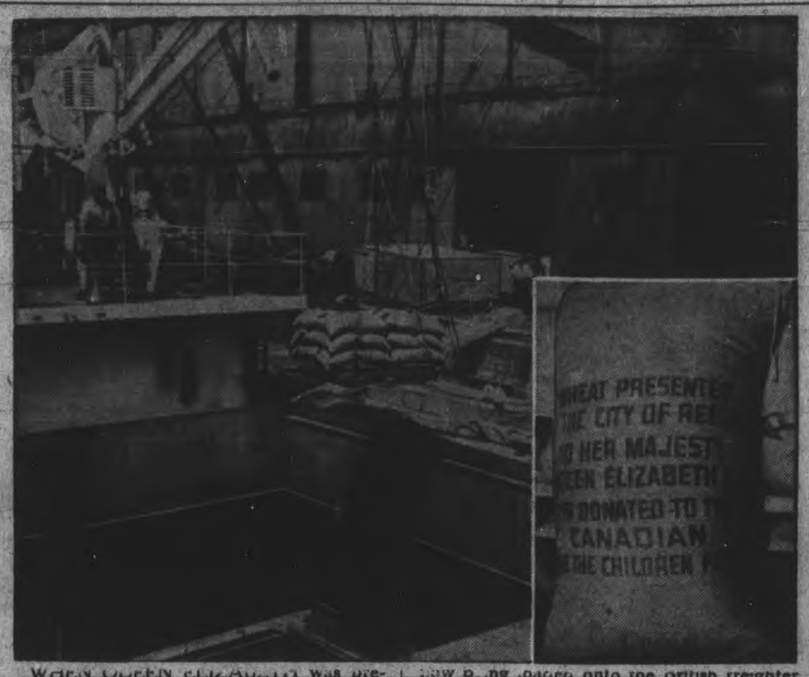
CHARGES POLITICAL

But the official Press charges against the Church are more directly political: the hierarchy is accused of working, under the orders of the Vatican, to break up the Yugoslav State—to the advantage of Italy in the border regions, to the advantage of a new Catholic Danubian federation, possibly under the Hapsburgs, in the rest of Slovenia.

Yugoslav officials usually explain that the campaign has become necessary by the recent heightening of tension at Trieste, and by the actively pro-Italian stand taken by the Trieste bishop, Santini, who still maintains many links with priests inside Yugoslavia. Yet it is demonstrable that the campaign started considerably before the latest Trieste crisis, and likely that its real origin was in spring of last year, when tension between the Government and the peasants was at its height for economic reasons.

At that time, the newly-appointed Slovene bishops toured their dioceses, and in several cases were greeted by processions of peasants, carrying national flags from which the red star had been removed. In a critical situation, the Church thus proved the one potential rallying point for the peasant opposition—and the regime was correspondingly alarmed. Since then, economic relations between the Government and the peasants have much improved, and it is arguable that the anti-Vatican campaign merely serves to maintain an opposition mood which might otherwise fade.

NOT ALL FICTION



But there is another side to the picture: the Government's charges are by no means all fictitious. The Vatican, over a period of years, has shown a militancy towards Tito's regime contrasting with the diplomatic flexibility evinced in its dealings with some of the Eastern bloc countries: It may be feeling that here it has an isolated opponent on whom Western pressure might successfully be brought to bear. The feeling that the Vatican neither recognizes the regime nor the State frontiers is strengthened by the attitude of the acting Papal Nuncio, Monsignore Oddi.

There is some justification, if not for charging the hierarchy with treasonable plotting, at least for seeing in the Vatican's uncompromising attitude proof both of sympathy with Italian irredentist demands and of hopes for an early overthrow of the Tito regime. As the Church is the only organized factor capable of opposition in the one-party State, and as the geographical and historical nature of its influence inevitably tends to make it a factor of division, it is natural that the regime takes this attitude seriously.

That fact, as much as any Governmental pressure, seems also to be the reason why half the Slovene priesthood have joined a league which advocates "loyal cooperation with the Government." They take the line that intimidation would cease and the right not only to preach but to teach the faith could be safeguarded if only the hierarchy showed its willingness to accept the Tito Government as legal and permanent and to come to terms with it on that basis. A continuation of the present struggle certainly seems to offer little advantage for either side.—Copyright.

Cause of Collision

WASHINGTON (AP)—A naval court of inquiry announced yesterday that the "sole cause" of mid-Atlantic collision between the carrier Wasp and the destroyer-minesweeper Hobson April 26 was an "unexplained left turn" made by the smaller vessel. A total of 176 crew members died in the sinking of the Hobson.

WHEN QUEEN ELIZABETH was presented with 500 bushels of wheat by the city of Regina while on her Canadian tour last year, she requested that the wheat be turned over to the "Save the Children Fund." It is now being loaded onto the British freighter S.S. Montcalm which is due to sail for Athens, Greece, next week where it will help to supplement other donations of food for needy Greek children.

Queen Mother Sends Message Of Sympathy

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. George McCullagh, widow of publisher George McCullagh, who died Aug. 5, yesterday received a message of sympathy from the Queen Mother.

In her cable to Mrs. McCullagh, the Queen Mother recalled the day in 1939 when her late husband, King George VI, presented the King's Guineas to Mr. McCullagh after his horse Archworth won the King's Plate.

The royal message reads: "I am very grieved to hear of your husband's death and send my deep sympathy. I like to remember the happy day when your husband won the King's cup."

Bishop's Widow Dies

TORONTO (CP) — Georgina Wibby Gray, 67, widow of the late Right Rev. Henry Allen Gray, former Anglican Bishop of Edmonton, died yesterday. She was born in Toronto.

Praise Canada's Use Of Forests

OTTAWA (CP)—Other Commonwealth countries can learn a lesson from Canada's use of her forest resources, Lord Robinson, chairman of the British Forestry Commission, said yesterday.

Lord Robinson, vice-chairman of the sixth Commonwealth forestry conference in session here, said in an interview that more thought and energy is put into utilization of wood and wood products in Canada than in any other part of the Commonwealth.

The value of the forestry conference, he said, is that the lessons learned from visits to Canadian forestry operations may be applied by other parts of the Commonwealth.

Delegates from 18 Commonwealth countries are exchanging statistical information outlining the part played by forestry in their economies. Thursday the conference will adjourn and delegates will go on a two-weeks tour of Quebec and Ontario forests. They will resume sessions Sept. 2.

Fire Sweeps Cheese Factory Stopped Before All Lost

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A fire which started in a boiler room and spread quickly through the upper portion of the stone building badly damaged the Woodland cheese factory on No. 30 Highway, six miles north of this town Tuesday evening.

The factory is a well known landmark in the district, and for the past two years has been operated by a Swiss cheese maker, Walter Joss and his family. It is the only cheese factory in Canada specializing in various kinds of Swiss cheese, and the products of the factory are known far and wide.

The fire was first noticed at 8 p.m. when Joss noticed flames licking out from the boiler room at the rear of the building. He called for help from neighbors and told his wife to call the Campbellford fire department.

Marshall Longmuir, who operates a service station across the road from the factory, and who lost his station in a fire a few years ago, grabbed an extinguisher and rushed over to the burning building.

HELPED BY MOTORISTS

With the help of motorists and neighbors, the men battled the flames with pails of water and fire extinguishers in the boiler room, and had the fire there under control. The flames, however, had spread from the boiler room and had gained headway through the partitions and soon the upper portion of the building was ablaze, with dense clouds of smoke billowing from the metal roof.

The Campbellford fire department received the alarm at 8:10 p.m. and were at the scene a few minutes later. By the time they arrived, the entire upper portion of the factory was ablaze and the smoke from the fire could be seen for many miles.

The firemen stationed their pumper at a small creek about one hundred yards to the rear of the building, and soon had a line of hose in action. Despite the headway the flames had gained, the firefighters had the blaze under control within a half hour.

The southern portion of the upstairs of the building had been converted into sleeping quarters, and it was in this section that the firemen had most difficulty in subduing the flames.

A hole had to be chopped in the roof in order that a line of hose could be brought into play in the burning room. The flames were confined to the upper portion of the building, and after these had been brought under control, the firemen were able to enter the ground floor and fight the fire effectively from there.

MACHINERY SAVED

Volunteers succeeded in carrying out most of the lighter machinery and equipment, but the larger pieces had to be left in the building. These were little damaged, however, except for some water damage.

The building is about 30 by 60 feet, and is built of stone. A house, occupied by the Joss family adjacent to the building, was unharmed in the fire.

Mrs. Joss, together with her three children, Eric 5, Rudy 7 and Rosemary 10, stood in the doorway of her hoome weeping at the sight of the fire. "I'll never forget that sight when I looked out of the window and saw those flames," she repeated over and over.

No official estimate of the damage has yet been made, but it is feared that the insurance carried on the building will not by any means cover the loss. Just how long it will be before the factory is back in production is hard to say. Farmers at the scene on Tuesday night were lamenting the fact that their milk outlet had been destroyed.

A crowd of four or five hundred people lined the highway at the height of the blaze, and automobiles were parked along both sides of the roadway for nearly a quarter of a mile.

It is considered that much of the cheese which has been waxed, will still be alright, but some of the cheese stored in the upper portion of the building will be ruined. "We had lots and lots of cheese in there," said Mrs. Joss.

Joss, who is 35, paid great tribute to the Campbelford fire department, and onlookers were loud in their praise of the work of the firemen and of the pumper. Without the pumper, the entire building would have been doomed.

FIREMEN STOPPED a fire from completely destroying the cheese factory of Walter Joss, six miles north of Campbellford, Tuesday evening, but not before the upper storey from which smoke is seen billowing had been heavily damaged. Some machinery was carried out by motorists and other pieces were damaged by water. —(W. W. Reid Photo)

Grain Growers Tackle Own Storage Problem

WINNIPEG (CP)—There's a new sound in Western Canada's wheat belt this year as farmers wait for late summer sun to ripen an expected bumper crop.

Hammers and saws are busy as a rash of new granaries spring up throughout the west.

Prairie grain growers are tackling their own storage problem this year in the face of estimates setting the 1952 harvest at a record high.

Preliminary crop estimates say total grain yields this year will be 1,263,000,000 bushels — 136,000,000 bushels more than in 1951.

The problem is where to store the golden deluge in elevators still crammed with last year's carryover. Country elevator stocks at July 31 were 143,000,000 bushels compared with only 105,000,000 last year at the same time.

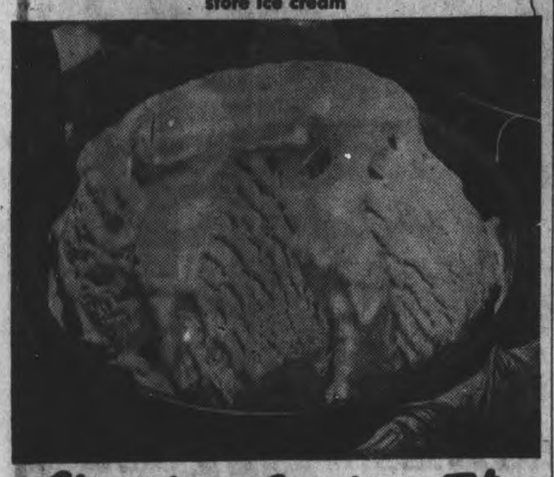
A frozen 1950 crop and another big crop in 1951, harvested damp, created an unprecedented transportation and storage problem.

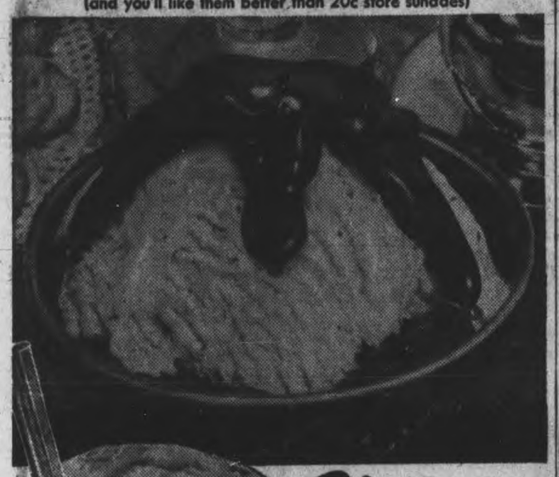
Dealers report material sales for new farm granaries and repairs to old for temporary storage this fall are definitely increased.

Elevator company spokesmen estimate that western storage capacity will be increased 10,000,000 bushels this season by the "emergency" storage measures.

Peiping Says 1,000 Killed During Raid

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio last night said early reports of the bombing of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, by United States bombers last Sunday indicated that more than 1,000 civilians were killed or wounded and 676 houses and cave shelters destroyed.





The Red propaganda broadcast, heard in Tokyo, said more than 500 bombs were dropped.

In Tokyo, Far East Air Forces headquarters announced Sunday that B-29 Superforts had bombed military vehicles and supply concentrations in Pyongyang Saturday night. It said warnings to evacuate civilians from military installations were repeated ahead of the raid.

By The Canadian Press

Heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott is really shadow boxing these days—working out for a fight that doesn't yet exist.

His manager, Felix Bocchicchio, said at Camden City, N.J., that Walcott was going to do road work and woodchopping for one of three prospective fights. The 38-year-old champion will either fight Rocky Marciano, unbeaten Brockton, Mass., heavyweight; Rex Layne of Salt Lake City, Utah, or Johnny Williams, British Empire heavyweight king, in London.

The International Boxing Club has made no progressive move in the negotiations for a Walcott-Marciano bout next month. The two camps still are at odds over the percentage of the take for each fighter.

OLYMPIC DECISION

Bruce Humber, coach of Canada's Olympic track team, says Canada must decide whether she is to be a competitor in the Olympic Games or enter "just for the sake of sportsmanship."

Back home in Victoria from the 15th Olympiad, Humber said: "I'm proud of every member of our team, but under the circumstances they simply were not prepared for the tremendous competition they ran into at Helsinki.

"It certainly was not their fault that Canada made the showing she did in point competition."

RECORD PROFIT

When Tottenham Hotspur finished second last season in the English Football League's first division, the club made a record profit for any British club of £73,725.

They also tucked away an additional £2,000 for players' benefits.

The old bogy of taxation came into the picture, however, and it was estimated £49,000 went to the government. When other allowances were made, the net figure totalled £23,625.

Three years ago Arsenal established a profit record with £59,000.

Joseph Preegent, 18, of Trenton, considered among the most promising golfers in the Bay of Quinte district, died of poliomyelitis in hospital at Kingston Monday night. He was stricken Sunday.

MITE MARVEL ON MOUND—Tiny Bobby Shantz, first major leaguer to win twenty games this season. Here's the five-seven, 140-pounder toiling when he copped No. 20 by beating the Red Sox for the Philly A's. He's a small package but the biggest gate draw in the American League.

Out At The Kawartha

Starting at 8.30 a.m. this Saturday, August 16, will be the first of what is expected to be the annual Kawartha Ladies' Tournament. Everything points to this being a most successful day for the lady golfers. A very encouraging number of entries has been received with several clubs yet to be heard from, so the girls tell us. The greens are in good condition and indeed, the course has never looked lovelier.

The course will be closed to the men during the tournament. However, it is expected that the lads will be able to get their games in starting sometime in the afternoon, should they wish to play.

A special note to the men: The Glover-Dobbin Trophy will be played for this weekend. Games will be played on Saturday starting at 1.00 p.m. sharp at the Peterborough Club and again at 1.00 p.m. sharp on Sunday at the Kawartha Club.

So much for the tournament. Rumors are flying thick and also fast, that before long the lads will be playing their return match with the lassies of the B.G.'s.

Other happenings around the club: The men's senior event is coming along nicely. Charlie Orr has moved forward again by downing Dave Menzies and "Mac" McKenzie took Hughie Siddall to the dry cleaners.

In the club championship play, Stan Whiddon played Freddy Todd to a very close finish, with Stan coming out on top. Fraser Dunfield and Jack Condon also took to the fairways with Fraser putting the extra nick in his club handle. We note that E. Hanbidge is to play the winner of the Mel Akers-Dootch Vitarelli game.

Kawartha Cup: Father Maskey came out the winner over Freddy Welford in their game.

President's Cup: In the fourth round, M. Vermette is matched against E. Hanbidge, H. Woodcox against J. Raine and D. Chamberlain against E. Reynolds.

Semi-Final Dates Given For Junior Lacrosse Teams

TORONTO (CP)— The Ontario Lacrosse Association today announced dates of play for semi-final games of the junior league. Dates of play of semi-final Canadian junior championships in Winnipeg and for finals in Vancouver were also announced.

Four Ontario junior clubs will play off in two sets each set playing a best three games out of five series. The Mimico Mountaineers are matched with Brampton Excelsiors in Brampton Aug. 16 and Aug. 23 and in Mimico Aug. 19. Fourth and fifth games if necessary will be played in Mimico Aug. 25 and in Brampton Aug. 27

St. Catharines Athletics meet Peterborough Filter Queens in St. Catharines Aug. 15 and Aug. 21 and in Peterborough Aug 19. Fourth and fifth games, if necessary, will be played Aug 23 in Peterborough and Aug. 27 in St. Catharines.

Dates of games in the Ontario finals have not been announced but the round will again be a best-of-five affair. The finals here must be completed by Sept. 5 to give the winning team time to get to Winnipeg for the Canadian semi-finals in which the winning Ontario team plays the Manitoba champs.

The Winnipeg games will be a best-of-three series to be played Sept. 8, 10 and Sept. 11, if necessary.

The team winning at Winnipeg moves on to Vancouver to play the British Columbia champions in a best-of-five series for the Canadian junior championship and Minto up.

Games will be played in Vancouver Sept. 15, 17, 19 and, if necessary, Sept. 20 and 22.

Any games called because of rain will be played the following night in the place originally scheduled.

Leonard Decides To Give Up Big-Time Golf

VANCOUVER (CP)—Golfer Stan Leonard has always been an outspoken believer in the tonic of tough practice sessions.

The veteran Vancouver professional once said, disdainfully: "The average golfer, when practicing, will take a few lusty swipes at the ball and call it a day. His mind will be on the office. . .or maybe on the girl he left behind."

Leonard never took that attitude himself. But now, he says, even gruelling practice sessions don't hone his play to its old sharpness.

So, he announced yesterday on his return from Chicago's Tam O'Shanter tournament, that he's through with big-time golf.

SOMETHING MISSING

"There is just something missing in my game," said the 37-year-old Canadian professional champion of 1940, 1941 and 1951.

He added: "I'm afraid I've had it in top tournaments at least. I've practiced four hours every day. I thought perhaps if I could get in the groove, and practice would do it, I would give it the business. That didn't work, either."

Leonard finished just one stroke out of the money when he three-putted the last green of the $90,000 Chicago tournament.

But Leonard isn't complaining. The sport has been good to him since he was first bitten by the golf bug at the age of 11.

He travelled the "gold trail" of big-time golf in the late 1940s with considerable success and was regarded as Canada's top competitive golfer.

No Word From Canada

CANBERRA (Reuters)—Georges Carpentier, press attache at the Canadian high commissioner's office here, said today there has been no indication in Canberra or from Ottawa that Canada would take part in Britain's atomic weapons tests on Montebello Islands.

Asks Appeal On Highway Law

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan state public service commission yesterday asked Attorney General Frank G. Millard to appeal a court of claims decision granting a Canadian trucking company the right to use Michigan highways without paying any fees.

The court held that the Mason Cartage Co., Limited, could bring grapes from St. Catharines to Lawton, Mich., entering the state at Detroit, without obtaining a Michigan license or paying fees.

Commissioner John M. Veale in a letter to Millard said that the company operated 51 truck-trailers around the clock during last year's grape harvest.

Veale added that Michigan motor carriers are not permitted to make hauls of this type in Ontario at all.

"The court's opinion," he said, "if not appealed, will permit the unlimited, free use of Michigan highways in operations of this type."

Says Canada Has Weathered Greatest Dislocation Period

GENEVA PARK, Lake Couchiching, Ont. (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said last night Canada appears to have weathered the period of greatest dislocation and readjustment.

Speaking at the Couchiching conference, sponsored jointly by the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs and the CBC, he warned that this is no time for Canadians to relax. He saw reason for cautious optimism in that Canada is in a much more stable situation today than at the beginning of the defence build-up or for several months thereafter.

"Despite the fact that the situation is somewhat easier today," Mr. Abbott said, "I do not mean to imply that the demands of our defence efforts are by any means at an end.

WON FIRST ROUND

"To a very considerable extent, however, we have inserted the new demands of defence and have avoided drastic inflation. We have won the first round of what may turn out to be a 15-round bout. But this is no time to let our guard down."

He emphasized that there is no room for an expansion in the flow of goods and services for consumer purposes and added that an attempt by consumers to get more would serve only to renew the threat of inflation.

At an evening session, Mr. Abbott said handouts of food and other commodities will do little good for European economy.

"If the European economies, six years after the end of the war and with the aid they have received are not able to make their economy viable, we can't do it for them. We can't expect them to be pensioners of Canada."

KEENLEYSIDE SPEAKS

H. L. Keenleyside, director-general, technical assistance administration, United Nations, said chief area of disagreement between Canada and the United States lies in the far east.

"One thing which should afford satisfaction to all Canadians," he said, "is that despite many temptations over the past 150 years to alter the relations between the two countries, those temptations have not been acceded to in any way to inflame opinion in the smaller country."

24 KILLED

RIO DE JANEIRO (Reuters)—All 20 passengers and four crew members of a twi-engined DC-3 airliner died when the machine crashed and caught fire at Palmeiras yesterday, according to reports reaching here.

Teachers Say Reading Becoming a Lost Art

OTTAWA. — Competition from other recreational media, such as radio and television and from a school curriculum "that is far too crowded with extraneous subjects," accounts for the fact that reading is fast becoming a lost art.

This was the view of an interim report on recreational reading under study by the executive of the Federation of Catholic Parent-Teacher Associations of Ontario.

The crowded curriculum, according to the report drawn up by a special P.T.A. committee, prevented creation of "appreciative reading and lovers of literature."

In that situation the teacher, librarian and parents could do much to guide, using these suggestions:

1. Adolescent interest is mainly in fiction but fiction can be used to stimulate interest in history, biography and travel.

2. Plays of real literary value are helpful when young people act them instead of reading them.

3. Learning poetry by heart instills a sense of language.

4. Parents are much more effective than teachers in keeping young people from reading books of a doubtful or bad moral content.

5. The old-fashioned custom of reading aloud would offset the fatal passivity of listening to tre radio.

The report also suggested parents take an interest in nature, books, trees and flowers, all of which are sources of hours of interest.

If parents deserved credit for the success in life of their child, it was because they were never too busy or too occupied to answer his or her questions, stimulating important concepts when he or she was most impressionable.

The Ontario Federation has a membership of 9,000 organized in 140 units.

Members of the executive include: Past president, J. T. Kerr, Ottawa; president, Hugh Gadbois, Ottawa; vice-president, Mrs. M. O'Brien, Peterborough; secretary, Mrs. Edward Turner, Ottawa; treasurer, Patrick McManus, Windsor; parent-counsellors, W. Marshall, Sudbury; Mrs. D. Morris, Alexandria; T. J. Villemaire, Timmins; E. Lanigan, Kingston; Mrs. H Leckie, Renfrew; teacher - counsellors, Mother Mary Ruth, O.S.U., Toronto; Miss M. Flynn, Hamilton; Miss M. MacMartin, Westport; Miss A. Martin, Windsor; Miss D. Price, Sudbury.

Discover Body 1,500 Yrs. Old

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont. (CP)—The bones of a Point Peninsula Indian—believed to be 1,500 years old—have been uncovered on the rugged north shore of Georgian Bay, a few miles east of here.

The bones, found by field workers of the Museum of Anthropology of the University of Michigan, were in an excellent state of preservation, due to the action of copper salts formed by copper ornaments buried with the body.

Dr. Emerson F. Greenman, in charge of the expedition, said the Indian was apparently a prince of his people. Parts of a beaver robe, four six-inch spear points, four copper axes and hundreds of copper beads were found beside the body.

The discovery was made seven miles from an ancient campsite, claimed to be 17,000 years old and the oldest site of human habitation east of the Rockies, which was uncovered in 1938 by Dr Greenman. The find was made in the bottom of a root cellar owned by John Delamorandiere.

The Point Peninsula Indians, ancestors of the Ojibways, Ottawas and Pottawantomies, are believed to have reached the highest form of Indian culture and are credited with inventing the birchbark canoe.

Asks Special Board To Help Ease Tension

LONDON (Reuters)—A former U.S. diplomat, a former British cabinet minister and a Conservative member of parliament today called for the establishment of a special board to ease tension between American servicemen and British civilians.

Herbert Agar, former special assistant to the American ambassador here, Patrick Gordon-Walker, secretary for commonwealth relations in the Labor government, and Douglas Dodds-Parker, M.P., made the suggestion in a letter to the Liberal News Chronicle. They were commenting on a recent article in the News Chronicle dealing with relations between the 50,000 or so U.S. airmen in Britain and British civilians.

Controller Contradicts Pension Plan Evidence

WINDSOR (CP)—Controller W. Ernest Atkinson yesterday contradicted testimony given earlier at an inquiry into management of the 350-bed East Windsor hospital for incurables about a pension plan for the institution's employees.

The controller, who is vice-chairman of the hospital's board, told the Ontario government commission investigating the hospital's affairs that the plan is identical with a pension plan in effect for city of Windsor employees.

H. N. Phillips of the Sun Life Assurance Company—which is providing the plan—said earlier the hospital plan is much more liberal than the city of Windsor plan.

Scuffle In Strike

WATERLOO (CP)—A scuffle at the strike-bound Sunshine Waterloo plant here today resulted in charges of common assault and besetting against 14 pickets. The fracas started when six company foremen attempted to enter the plant.

Mayor Wants Strike To End

LEAMINGTON (CP) — Mayor Grace McFarland appealed yesterday to the H. J. Heinz Company of Canada and to its 1,100 employees to end a strike which began Friday, in connection with a contract dispute.

In letters to the company and to the United Packinghouse Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), she offered the services of her office in ending the strike which involves 1,000 persons here and 100 at Wallaceburg near Chatham.

The union is asking a 21-cent increase on the hourly basic rate of 99 cents. The company has offered 11 cents.

Ministers Visit Canadian Troops

OTTAWA (CP)—Led by the Canadian army's chief Protestant chaplain, four leaders of the principal Protestant denominations in Canada have arrived at the Sennelager training base of the 27th Infantry Brigade in Germany for an eight-day visit.

Leading the party is Colonel the Rev. C. G. F. Stone, director of Protestant chaplain services for the army. Others are Most Rev. W. F. Barfoot, Anglican Primate of Canada and Archbishop of Edmonton; Rt. Rev. C. M. Nicholson, moderator of the United Church; Rev. D. W. Canadian Cadet Gives General Special Award

NEW YORK (CP)—A Canadian air cadet last night represented 111 air cadets from 15 countries at the presentation of an award to a United States general.

Cadet Warrant Officer Richard Glinski of St. Catharines, made the presentation address when General Curtis E. Lemay, commanding general of strategic air command, United States Air Force, received the "airmen of the year" award.

The ceremonies wound up the U.S. tour of the cadets who have been in this country since July 28 as guests of the U.S. Civil Air Patrol.

In his presentation speech, Cadet Glinski said that General Lemay's election as award recipient was based on his contribution to world peace for having built up the strategic air force of the U.S. as the greatest possible deterrent to any would-be aggressors.

Earlier, the cadets toured the United Nations headquarters here.

The cadets were to leave for home today aboard U.S.A.F. planes. Canada's 25 cadets will fly first to Montreal for a special dinner tomorrow night before returning to their home towns.

Maj.-Gen. Lucal V. Beau, C.A.P. national commander, told the cadets that as future air leaders of their respective countries, they would do much to insure understanding and peace among nations.

St. Thomas Pioneer Dies At Age 100

TORONTO (CP)—Freeman Hoskin, formerly of St. Thomas, who celebrated his 100th birthday March 8, died here today. He was a pioneer business man in St. Thomas, where for many years he was a carriage maker. He retired 30 years ago.

He was to have been Mr. Centennial at the centenary recently observed in St. Thomas, but illness prevented him from attending. For several years he had been a resident in a nursing home here.

Believes Polynesians Descendants Of Indians

LONDON (CP)—There's a book, just out which says the Polynesians of the Pacific are direct descendants of North American Indians.

Thor Heyerdahl, the Norwegian scientist who headed the famous Kon-Tiki expedition and then wrote a best-seller about it, outlines the theory in a second book entitled "American Indians in the Pacific," published yesterday. (Allen and Unwin).

Heyerdahl claims that some nine centuries ago members of Indian tribes from British Columbia took to the ocean in canoes and eventually wound up in Hawaii and other Pacific islands. Until recently the accepted theory has been that the Pacific islanders came from Java or Malaya.

Says Decline In Religion Boosts Divorce

LONDON (CP)—A psychiatrist attached to the famous Guy's hospital here, Mrs. Moya Woodside, has told the royal commission on marriage and divorce that a new outlook by modern couples and a decline in religious views makes divorce by consent a necessary reform.

Young working-class people marrying today are no longer content with the pattern of the past, she said. They are better educated and their general standards are higher, while new worlds of experience are presented to them through the moving pictures, radio and television.

"Men and women now see marriage as a partnership and a sharing of aims and activities," Mrs. Woodside submitted. "If they are disappointed they are less willing to go on with a hopeless or even unsatisfactory partnership than were their parents.

"Another factor is the decline of religion and the growth of a more tolerant public attitude to divorce."

She suggested introduction under suitable safeguards, of divorce by consent would be a reform bringing the law more in accord with the social realities and scientific knowledge of today.

Find Baby Raccoon In House Chimney

BEAVERTON, Ont. (CP) A baby raccoon found in the chimney of a deserted house has become a pet on the farm of Merrill Dukelow in this district 70 miles north of Toronto.

Dukelow and his wife named the raccoon "Bobby" and raised him on the bottle, but now he's on a steady diet of milk, bread and sardines. The coon plays with Dukelows police dog and a kitten around the house.

The raccoon spends most of the day in the fields with Dukelow, riding on the tractor. He usually sleeps in a tree handy to the kitchen door, where the handouts come from.

15 Arctic Radio Stations Provisioned Once A Year

OTTAWA (CP)—The army reports that its string of signals stations in the Arctic now has chicken dinners stored away and a lot more food besides.

This was one way of reporting that the job of provisioning the 15 stations of the Northwest Territories and Yukon radio system with rations to last until June, 1953, has been completed for another year, thanks to a combination of aircraft, trucks, trains, boats and barges which took the food as far as 2,000 miles.

The job was handled by the western army command supplies and transport office and the service corps supply depot in Edmonton.

MUST ORDER EARLY

Cooks at stations in Aklavik, Fort Smith, Good Hope, Hay River, Norman, Norman Wells, Providence, Radium, Reliance, Simpson, Wrigley and Yellowknife in the Northwest Territories, McMurray and Chipewyan in northern Alberta must order their groceries early in the year to get them before river navigation closes in the fall.

During May and June, 80 tons of food and supplies valued at $28,000 were sent into the northern detachments to feed 104 men.

From Edmonton, giant semi-trailer trucks, some refrigerated to carry perishables, sped north on the Mackenzie Highway to Hay River on Great Slave Lake. Here the stores trans-shipped to river boats for the long haul up the Mackenzie River over the Arctic Circle to Aklavik.

More supplies were moved by rail to waterways on the Clearwater where they were packed again on to river boats for the trip down the Athabaska to Lake Athabaska and along the Slave River to Great Slave Lake.

Supplies must be specially packed at the Edmonton supply depot. In charge of the depot is 2nd lieut. H. A. Anderson of Saskatoon who supervises packing and shipping.

"We pack most stores in the wire-strapped trade cartons stuffed with shredded paper and corrugated cardboard," said Lieut. Anderson. "Glass jars are our chief headache. They have to be individually wrapped and padded. Anything that can be damaged by water, dry cereals, peas, beans, flour, tea and sugar has to be waterproofed by dipping their cartons in wax."

Successor Being Sought For Ailing Schumacher

By IAN FRASER

BONN, Germany (Reuters)—A successor is being sought for ailing Dr. Kurt Schumacher, a violent anti-Communist who is just as fanatically opposed to allying West Germany with the free world and with European defence plans.

Schumacher, whose health was broken by First World War wounds and later by rigors of Hitler's concentration camps, suffered a stroke last Christmas and since then has not left his villa overlooking this West German capital.

He was due to be back in Parliament in April. Now his supporters say he will be on hand in late September for a rally of the Free Democrat party which he heads.

UNITED GERMANY AIM

A re-united Germany and her rise as a great power in the western comity of nations is Schumacher's main political aim. For him, unity must come before Germany's alliance with the west. Although never ceasing to emphasize that the western style of political life is the only one for him, Schumacher says that a western tie-up now will make the two Germanys drift farther apart.

If West Germany joins the west now, he says, East Germany will complete her transformation into a "People's Republic" and the chance of negotiating unity with the Soviet Union will disappear.

He has always been an outspoken opponent of Communism, even in pre-Nazi days. But for him there can be no compromise. Either the western powers give West Germany the status of an equal, or Schumacher says they will sow the seeds of future trouble, just as, he says, the Treaty of Versailles helped bring Hitler to power.

Child Killed

TORONTO (CP)—Larry Saracini, 5, was killed yesterday when crushed beneath the wheels of an ice truck a few doors from his home. Police said he had been standing on the back step of the truck. His death and the death two hours earlier of George Martin, 34, injured in another accident brought Toronto's traffic toll this year to 30.

Weak League Blamed For World War

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Rev. R. G. Newman, M.A., told Rotarians here on Monday that Japan was the last democratic bulwark of the United Nations in the Far East. "Since the defeat of Japan, the military trend in government has been greatly modified and the nation has become much more democratic," he said. "The people wish peace, and under the new regime it is to be hoped that they will be able to follow that path. It is essential to the democratic world that Japan be friendly to us in view of the Red menace in the West."

Mr. Newman was a missionary in Japan from 1931 to 1937, and he explained his talk would not bring one up to date since there have been many changes through the past decade. "Ten years ago we were at war with Japan, with China as our ally. Today we are at war with China and Japan is our friend," he said.

In 1931 when the speaker went to the Far East, Japan was a highly nationalistic world power.

Military pressure forced the seizure by the Japs of Manchuria. This event having been carried out with impunity, and the weakness of the League of Nations proven, a series of such outrages were successfully carried out by the Italians in Ethiopia and the Germans in the Ruhr. Had the League stopped the Japanese, there might not have been a Second World War.

RICH IN TRADITION

Japan is a country rich in tradition. Their history under an unbroken line of emperors is said to extend over 2,500 years. It is a land of lavish expenditures on Buddhist temples and images, and on regal splendor. Many of the farms have been in the same family for a thousand years. Mingled with the old culture are modern factories equipped with modern machinery. Being expert in imitation, the Japanese people have captured world markets in many fields, notably in pottery.

MODES OF TRANSPORTATION

In Tokio, the third largest city in the world, one is struck by the many forms of transportation. There are the American made taxis with a driver and a man to solicit the fares. There are literally millions of bicycles with and without trailers and also a few motorcycles, Chinese rickshaws, handcarts and ox carts. The stores display their wares largely on the sidewalks, the entire fronts being open by day and boarded up at night.

The Japanese people are fine, clean, self-respecting and industrious. They are humble in speaking of themselves and very polite when speaking to others.

The people are 98 per cent literate, despite the fact that they must learn 3,000 characters to be able to read the newspaper. Christianity has not made much progress, only one half of one per cent of the population having become Christians.

The speaker was introduced by past president Franklin Linton and thanked by Rotarian Roy Ford.

Criticizes Twp. Board For Refusing School

ST. CATHARINES (CP)Lorne—Shantz of Kitchener, president of the Ontario Public School Trustees' Association, said last night he learned with regret that the Trafalgar township public school board had decided against allowing Sunday School classes to be held in the school.

Here on a business trip, he expressed concern that if school boards denied the use of school premises for Sunday schools, churches in turn might decide to refuse use of a church for school classes in centres where school construction had not caught up with enlarged demand.

U.S. Conventions Amazing To Foreigners

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How do United States political conventions look to foreigners?

Through television, some 60,000,000 Americans this year got to see what goes on at presidential nominating conventions. It was an eye-opener to many citizens, but even more so to those not familiar with U.S. political traditions.

One of these is Richard Burton, young British actor who was imported to play opposite Olivia de Havilland in "My Cousin Rachel."

EYE-OPENER

"It was quite an eye-opener to me," he said. "I guess I expected some very solemn men in dark suits to sit around and discuss important issues on a very lofty plane instead, I saw a hullabaloo with people running around wildly. It was an amazing show.

"The oratory, I thought, was old-fashioned. Most of the speakers shouted at the audience and pounded their fists. It was refreshing when a young lawyer got up in the Republican convention and merely conversed with the audience. Suddenly everybody started listening to his speech.

"I would think there would be a change in the demonstrations for the candidates. Nearly all of them were obviously staged."

Burton remarked that there is nothing in the English political scene that matches the hoopla of the national conventions.

"The two major parties have their meetings," he said. "But they are rather quiet affairs."

The actor added that television has not made much impact on British politics.

"Not enough people have sets," he explained

Bishop Urges Prayers For Newspaper People

LONDON (Reuters)—An Anglican bishop urged radio listeners here yesterday to pray "for the men and women responsible for your newspaper day by day."

Dr. F. A. Cockin, bishop of Bristol, said in aBBC broadcast: "spend a few moments now and then thinking about the people who are responsible for the paper you read. Ask yourself whether you care enough about their work and what it means in the life of our ecuntry."

The bishop said journalism is "not an easy life, especially in the early stages—ask any young reporter."

Turn Back Power Proposal For Further Consideration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Court action has turned back to the federal power commission for further consideration a proposal of the New York state power authority for St. Lawrence River power development.

In announcing the action by the court of appeals for the District of Columbia, the power commission omitted any mention of future procedure. An official told a reporter he understood it now was largely up to the state agency to take the initiative in seeking further action.

The New York agency had appealed to the court from the F.P.C. order in December, 1950, denying its application for a licence for the development.

JOINT ACTION

Last month the F.P.C. and the state authority filed a joint motion asking the court to remand the proceedings to the F.P.C. for further consideration in view of changed circumstances since 1950.

The 1950 order denying the state proposal recommended to Congress that the United States itself develop the water resources in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence both for navigation and power at the earliest possible date.

The petition noted that Congress adjourned without enacting legislation on the matter, that Canada now plans to develop alone the navigation phase of the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway, and that Canada and the United States have asked the International Joint Commission to approve a joint power project by the two countries in the International Rapids section.

Under the New York state proposal the power portion of the project on the United States side of the International Rapids would be constructed by the state and the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario would build the Canadian part.

Stevenson's Visit With Truman May Have Hurt Campaign Cause

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson's visit with President Truman may have both helped and hurt his presidential cause.

It probably solved some campaign worries—such as Truman's agreement to take orders in the battle ahead—but it gave Dwight D. Eisenhower ammunition which the Republican candidate promptly fired at his Democratic opponent.

Stevenson made a flying visit to Washington yesterday for talks with the President, his cabinet and top military leaders, and returned to Springfield, Ill., with a firmer grip on his campaign command.

From now on, it is up to Stevenson to decide what Truman will do in the campaign—and when.

IKE BLASTS ADMINISTRATION

Eisenhower, in a statement issued in Denver, said the White House visit shows the Truman administration is determined to continue its policies through a hand-picked successor. He said these "implications" were raised:

1. That the President is thinking of using federal government resources to influence voters in the election.

2. An implied decision to involve non-political military and national-security personnel in a political campaign "in which they have no part."

3. That the Democratic party would not change its policies if given another four years "to control our destinies."

Tourists Crowd Highway Up To Alaska

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Still another wilderness is falling before the modern motor vehicle. The Canadian government reports that traffic over the 1,520-mile Alaska Highway is at least double that for 1951. The tourist is beginning to crowd the wolf and ptarmigan for room.

A lasting monument to the genius of the American army engineers who built it in record time, the "Alcan", as they called it then, winds through some of the finest fish and game country of North America. It traverses the Peace River farming plains, skirts blue lakes and majestic mountain ranges, visits picturesque Indian villages and crosses swift streams of purest water, the National Geographic Society observes.

The Canadian terminus of the part gravel, part macadam, 26-foot-wide roadway is at Dawson Creek, the American at Fairbanks, Alaska. Best way to reach the Dawson Creek jumping-off-place by car is from Prince George, B.C., over a new highway. The old trail was a substandard road from Edmonton, Alberta.

The United States maintained the entire Highway until 1946, when Canada took over administration of its 1,200-mile share. Until 1948, the Canadians refrained from issuing travel permits indiscriminately, fearful lest some come to grief miles from help.

Now wooden fills over quaking muskeg have been replaced with steel and concrete. New bridges are constantly being built. Filling stations and hostelries plentifully dot the route. Highway patrols prowl constantly.

No longer is a travel permit required, and a motor trip to Alaska is a safe, simple possibility for anyone with a good car and a respectable vacation budget.

Before the gold rush of 1898, Alaska was populated largely by Indians and Aleuts. Visitors from the outside were fur trappers, hunters and fishermen. When Secretary of State William H. Seward bought the territory from Russia in 1867 for $7,200,000, many Americans thought the price too high and called the new possession "Seward's Folly", or "500,000 square miles of icebergs and polar bears".

Since those days, the value of the gold, silver, tin, copper, platinum, timber, furs, and salmon taken out of Alaska has amounted to many times the purchase price. Vast riches still remain to be developed in a country lying one-third within the Arctic Circle, yet possessed of such a temperate climate in its southern portions that cities in the Deep South of the United States have colder days than Sitka ever has experienced.

Alaskans believe that the highway, built as a military necessity in the Second World War, may become the long-awaited means of entry for settlers they stand ready to welcome.

Italian Official Sees Mossadegh About Oil

TEHRAN (AP)—Count Ettore Della Zonca, head of an Italian oil company, conferred with Premier Mohammed Mossadegh yesterday and was reported to have discussed the purchase of Iranian oil which this near-bankrupt country is anxious to sell.

Tehran newspapers said two representatives of a French oil company had also arrived to begin similar negotiations with Mossadegh, newly equipped with virtual dictator's powers to ease Iran's economic plight.

Reporter Dies As Red Prisoner

HONG KONG (AP)—Shanghai sources today reported that August Klingenberg, 27, widely-known newspaper man who was arrested by Chinese Communists in 1950 on spy charges, died June 5.

The reports received by friends said Klingenberg died in poverty and was buried in a vacant lot near Kiangwan airfield. The body later was exhumed and cremated.

Samuel Berglof, 34, former editor in the Shanghai Associated Press bureau, was reported seriously ill in a Shanghai hospital. He was arrested at the same time as Klingenberg.

For several years Klingenberg wrote an aviation column for several Shanghai newspapers. After the Reds closed them down, he and Berglof issued a mimeographed news sheet.

Boy 3, Stabbed Holding Mother

NEW YORK (AP)—John Papkowich returned from work last night to find his son, Johnny, 3, torn and bleeding on the couch.

"Mummy gave me some orange juice, grabbed a big knife and killed me twice, here," the youngster told police, pointing to his chest.

In the kitchen Papkowich found his wife, Mary, 33, her wrists cut.

"I wanted to end everything and take my little boy with me," she was quoted as saying later.

Mrs. Papkowich's wounds were minor, but hospital officials said Johnny's condition was poor.

Police said Mrs. Papkowich stabbed the child, carried him to a couch and turned on the television for him, then slashed her own wrists.

Mrs. Papkowich was booked on a felonious assault charge.

Military Orders Affecting Steel Comeback

NEW YORK (AP)—The impact of high-priority military orders on the post-strike steel supply is beginning to be felt, the Iron Age said today.

"With November set as the curfew for catching up on military and atomic-energy orders, jammed mill schedules are being kept fluid by new directives," the metalworking weekly said.

"Steel companies are still striving for orderly production schedules which improve efficiency and cut costs. But there is little chance they will achieve this goal in the next few months."

Steel mills are required to set aside a certain percentage of their production for military needs, but these percentages are not expected to be big enough to cover high-priority orders, the weekly said.

"In the weeks ahead the military may take more than 30 per cent of mill shipments," the Iron Age added. "The mills are more than three months behind on some civilian orders now.

Two Men Bidding On Burns' Song For Same Object

LONDON (CP)—Spirited bidding for an old scrap of paper bearng the original draft of "Auld Lang Syne," was brought to a sudden halt at £1,500 by the whisper of a stranger in Sotheby's London sales rooms.

Only two men were left bidding for the torn manuscript on which in 1788 Scotland's great bard, Robert Burns, scribbled his rougn notes.

The men had never met before and as the price mounted under their competitive bidding, they were unaware that both were trying to purchase the manuscript for the same purpose.

STRANGER'S TIP

Capt. Charles A. Hepburn, a Glasgow collector, was prepared to go to £3,000 until a stranger standing next to him whispered: "Excuse me sir, but from a purely charitable point of view do you know that the gentleman over there is trying to get the manuscript for the Burns memorial?"

So was Capt. Hepburn and at the next call of the auctioneer he dropped from the bidding.

Later, Col. T. C. Dunlop, secretary of the Burns memorial at Alloway, Ayreshire, signed a cheque for £1,500 which took the relic.

Jet Aircraft Be Seen C.N.E.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians attending the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto will get a look at the latest in jet and naval aircraft.

Part of the armed forces display at the exhibition, Aug. 22 to Sept. 6, will be flights over the Toronto lakefront with 12 Sabre jets, a CF-100 and a T-33 jet trainer by the R.C.A.F. Avenger and Sea Fury aircraft of the Royal Canadian Navy will attack a target representing a submarine offshore in Lake Ontario.

The army is considering a drop of paratroopers into the lake near the shore. A para-jump training display, popular at previous exhibitions, will be a feature of the army's display inside the C.N.E. grounds.

The armed forces plan to set up a wide range of models and equipment on public display. They include a 40-foot model of the Tribal class destroyer, such as those taking part in the Korean campaign, a new Centurion tank and an F-86% Sabre jet.

SERVICE DISPLAYS

Surrounding these displays will be an exhibit of the part each service plays in home defence and abroad. Captured uniforms and weapons of Chinese Communist and North Korean troops will be in a special section. The Canadian role in the United Nations command also will be depicted.

To add a touch of realism to the Bailey bridge spanning the main area and the para-jump training section, battle signs and road markets used in the Korean theatre will be posted.

FLORAL NOTE

Not so many Heavenly Blue morning glories this season. They are not easy to grow as the varicolored namesakes that have been twining around the old cabin door since the earliest settlers. But, its wealth of bloom, matching the August sky, repay the extra attention it appears to need.

STILL UNCONSCIOUS

Unconscious for 19 days, since he was injured in a head-on collision on the Springville Hill July 25, Clare Keown, 23, of Woodville is still on the critical list at Civic Hospital. Two women, Miss Marion Clark, 22, of Port Perry and Mrs. John D. McDonald, 21, of Toronto, were killed in the crash and three others besides Keown were seriously injured.

A SOLICITOUS CALL

Harry Beatty was probably lonesome for his associates of the Utilities service Tuesday. He called them from St. Joseph's Hospital for a short chat. In the conversation he said: "If anything goes wrong down there, be sure and call me." His condition is improving from the serious injuries suffered in a recent traffic accident, but it is likely to be a considerable time yet before he is able to work again.

William Dunn, conciliation officer from the department of labor, on Tuesday will try and settle the contract dispute between Fanning's Launderers and Dry Cleaners and Local 1112, Textile Workers Union of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) City Sells Bonds Below Par, Finance School, City Hall

City council Tuesday afternoon accepted a bid from Bell, Gouinlock and Co. Ltd., associated with McLeod, Young, Weir and Co. Ltd., for a debenture of $645,000. Their bid of 97.74 per cent was the highest of nine opened by city council at a special meeting Tuesday. The debentures are $250,000 over a 20-year period at an interest rate of 4¼ per cent. and $395,000 over a 30-year period also at 4¼ per cent. The $250,000 is to cover the cost of building the new nine-room public school on McFarlane St. in Ashburnham, and the $395,000 is to wipe out the final items of expenditure on the new city hall that cost $1,012,000.

PLEASED WITH BID

Aldermen said they were pleased with the price they received for the debentures, particularly the $395,000 which will be paid off over the long term of 30 years. They also felt that it was satisfactory because of the low interest rate (4¼ per cent) and the fact that the money market is crowded at this time of year with municipal debentures.

Last April the city sold $872,832 in debentures at a price of $107.-077 for each $100 debenture. However the interest rate the city had to pay over the 20-year period was 4½ per cent.

The money then was required for the Utilities Commission ($600,000) and the rest was for paving, schools, sewers and other civic improvements.

Other bidders on the $645,000 issue Tuesday were Harrison and Co., Anderson and Co., and Midland Securities 97.21 per cent; Bank of Montreal and Mills, Spence and Co., 96.77 per cent; Deacon, Findley, Coyne Ltd., Fry and Co., and McConnell and Co., 96.406 per cent; Bankers Bond Corporation, J. L. Graham and Co., and Equitable Securities Ltd., 96.077; Nesbitt, Thompson and Co., Dominion Bank, Imperial Bank, and W. C. Harris and Co., 96.04 per cent; Dominion Securities Corporation, A. E. Ames and Co., and Canadian Bank of Commerce, 96.04 per cent; R. A. Daly Co., Burns Bros. and Denton Ltd., W. C. Pitfield and Co., Bartlett, Cayley and Co., and Dawson Hannaford Ltd., 95.93 per cent; and Wood, Gundy and Co., Gairdner and Co., and Royal Bank, 95.10.

Jobs Still Scare In District, 1,160 On Claim

Jobs are scarce in Peterborough at present, with employers seeking mostly skilled workmen and stenographers.

Only 51 vacancies were reported to the National Employment Service during July. At the same time, 1,160 claims were entered, compared to 566 during July of 1951.

W. H. Mellis, N.E.S. manager, said that the unemployment picture was a harsh one across the country. Only a few construction firms were seeking men, and the only large demand for labor within 100 miles of Peterborough came from Oshawa.

MUST PASS TESTS

There, 400 unskilled laborers are wanted by General Motors. Stiff medical and physical qualifications will eliminate many applicants—for instance men must weigh 174 pounds and be at least five feet, seven inches in height.

Only other large request for workers is from British Columbia, where 60 experienced rock drillers are wanted. Any accepted will be flown to the job at Kitimat, where the huge aluminum smelters are being built.

Total of unplaced applicants in July was 708, an appreciable increase over the 576 listed in July, 1951.

The unemployment picture for Peterborough is well reflected in a comparison for the number of claims received at the employment service for the first seven months of this year and the first seven of 1951.

Total to date is 10,501, compared to 6,868 in 1951. In no month this year has the number of claims dropped below 1,000, the smallest number being in July. April, June and July, 1951, all were below 1,000: 971, 591, and 566 respectively.

Layoffs in the Peterborough district are centred mostly at Campbellford, where a number of plants are working a short week. Textile firms there are not busy.

Price Of Coal Likely To Go Up At Least $1 A Ton

Peterborough coal dealers expressed no surprise today at the announcement by E. R. Lockeyer, president of the Canadian Retail Coal Dealers Association, that the price of anthracite coal would be increased by at least $1.50 a ton.

"The fall price will be up a dollar a ton on what it is right now, anyway," said H. L. Bamforth of J. E. A. Fitzgerald Fuels. "And then there's still Mr. John L. Lewis to be heard from."

DROP IN SPRING

Mr. Bamforth said that as an inducement for consumers to buy their coal early in the year, coal dealers automatically drop their price a dollar a ton. In the fall the cut in price is restored to normal.

At present anthracite coal in Peterborough is retailing at $26.50 a ton. In September it is expected to jump to $27.50 at least, when the cut is restored.

McCarthy and Johnston confirm this dollar increase as the normal business practice.

Harold Rehill of Rehill Co. Ltd. said that the "trade is expecting an increase of anywhere up to a dollar a ton" as a result of John L. Lewis' negotiations on behalf of the mineworkers. As yet the amount the men will get is only conjecture but they are almost sure to come up with an increase; and this means extra cost to the consumer.

Two Families Reunited As 3 Arrive from Hong Kong

By JEAN STENTON

A happy group of people greeted their friends at the Paris Cafe Tuesday as two families celebrated the end of many years of separation with the arrival of three people from China. Mrs. Henry Hum, wife of Henry Hum of the Paris Cafe, her two-year-old son, Hum Kuan (the youngest person to come to Peterborough from China), and Mah Chung gee, 23, daughter of Sih Shammac, manager of the cafe, are looking forward to building a new life in Canada.

Six months ago Miss Mah escaped from behind the Bamboo Curtain in Red China and waited in Hong Kong to join her father whom she hasn't seen for 19 years. Her brother, Mah Chu fon arrived in Peterborough in January of this year.

Miss Mah was allowed to come to Canada on a special permit. She was alone at home, her mother having died years ago. Not only was her father anxious to hold the family circle together, but he feared more and more for her safety in the old land.

WAITED TWO YEARS

Attractive Mrs. Hum has been waiting in Hong Kong for a permit to come to Canada for more than two years. Ever since her husband visited China again about 3½ years ago, official wheels have been turning to procure the necessary papers. Her oldest son Paul came to Peterborough in April, 1951.

Hong Kong is not the attractive city it used to be to these people, although it looks wonderful as a haven of safety to those lucky enough to escape. The city is very crowded and expenses high For room and board, stripped to bare essentials, it amounts to $350 Hong Kong dollars a month.—a high rate in the Orient.

When Mah Chung gee left home, half the houses in the village were padlocked—either because their owners had fallen foul of the new regime or because the land tax was so heavy they couldn't afford to stay there. Some have doubled up with relatives; others have fled to Hong Kong or the Canton area.

"It is surprising the number of people who have managed to get to Hong Kong in spite of the close watch kept by the Reds," Mrs. Hum said.

Travel restrictions in the past few months have been tightened. To go from any village just to the city of Canton it is necesary to get a passport. Officials study carefully the reason for application. It is even harder to get to the British colony. Another passport has to be obtained at Canton and it has a strict time limit. With more important people, someone at home is frequently held hostage as a means to ensure their return.

MUST REGISTER

In South China towns and villages, Chinese citizens with relatives overseas in Canada and the United States have to register with a special Overseas League. They are forced to pay so much a year and are closely watched by authorities.

In Toi San, Chung gee's village, the worst oppression was the matter of food. There is no first class food available and although the villagers are allowed to grow a little for immediate use by themselves, the rest is seized by the occupation authorities.

She said that anyone owning more than a sliver of land was immediately bracketed in the landlord class and terrible heavy taxes imposed. Those who cannot pay either lose their property or are punished in other ways.

Newspaper stories from Hong Kong Tuesday made the new arrivals fear things will go hard with their people at home. In all villages police bureaus are being set up, to cover the village, and in the schools and factories.

The newcomers have taken quickly to Canada and are looking forward to living here. Coming over on the boat to San Francisco, they became accustomed to and liked American-style food. They left Hong Kong on July 11 and on arrival in San Francisco were met by an interpreter who saw them on their train to Vancouver. They came by train from Vancouver to Toronto.

The women had two items on the agenda when they arrived One was to go on a shopping spree in Toronto stores and the other was to see Niagara Falls. Friends in the Ontario capital drove them to Niagara and they were delighted with the scenery.

Shortly before his wife's arrival, Hum bought a home on Division St. and the whole family is quite looking forward to living there as a family again. The Mah family will be under one roof again in their Stewart St. home.

These newest Canadians think Peterborough and Canada are going to be a wonderful place. .

Jewels Missing After War? Army Keeps Mum

TOKYO (AP)—United States Army authorities today had no comment on a parliamentary committee report that millions of dollars worth of government-owned jewels and precious metals disappeared in the Second World War and during the occupation.

They said records of Allied custodianship were sent to Washington at the end of the occupation earlier this year. They added that all or nearly all Allied personnel connected with custody of the gems and metals had returned to the U.S.

An 80-page report of a special committee of the House of Representatives said it had confirmed that the treasure—including a diamond-studded crown donated by the Empress, Nagako in wartime, was missing.

It said it had receipts from occupation authorities for some of the missing treasure, but that the jewels and metals signed for had not yet been returned.

The committee made no estimate of the value of the missing treasure. Japanese newspapers put the figure at $10,000,000 but admitted they were guessing.

Rumor Price Of Gold To Be Increased

PARIS (Reuters)—Reports that the International Monetary Fund might increase the official price of gold and advocate free convertibility of currencies sent gold and dollar prices soaring here today.

Gold ingot jumped from 516,000 francs (about $1,445) to 525,000 francs (about $1,470) while the dollar was worth 420 francs, instead of yesterday's 409.

The International Monetary Fund will meet in Mexico City next month to discuss the new moves.

New Chief Clerk Began In City

Ernest F. L. Christopher, formerly of the Peterborough office of Canadian Pacific Telegraphs, has been appointed city manager for the C.P.R. in Guelph, succeeding the late W. C Tully who died there June 17.

Mr. Christopher began with the company in Peterborough July 11, 1918, and on May 23, 1928, he was transferred to the Guelph office as chief clerk.

For almost 30 years of his 34 years service with C. P. Telegraphs he was associated with the late Mr. Tully. They were both from Peterborough, entering the employment of the company through its local office.

When Mr. Christopher started as a youth with the C.P.R. in Peterborough, under the late James Skinner, the chief clerk was Mr. Tully. In Guelph a somewhat similar relationship was resumed, as Mr. Christopher acted as chief clerk under Mr. Tully for the last 24 years.

The Guelph Mercury says that the promotion of Ernest Christopher has been greeted with acclaim by his many business and personal acquaintances.

Predict New England Apple Crop Small

BOSTON (AP) — The smallest New England apple crop since 1946 is expected this year, the New England crop reporting service said today.

The agency, a United States Department of Agriculture division, said the Aug. 1 estimate of 5,044,-000 bushels shows a decline of 13 per cent from the July 1 estimate.

Dry, hot weather, continuation of June drop, scab, wind, and hail damage all were factors causing the decline.

The production forecast this year is 41 per cent less than the 1951 production of 8,501,000 bushels, and 22 per cent less than the 10-year average.

Coroner Suffocated In Bedroom Blaze

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Charles S. Dunning, coroner in suburban North York township for 23 years, was suffocated early today in a fire in his home in Lansing on the northern outskirts of Toronto.

Investigators said a cigaret dropped from the doctor's hand as he dozed and started a fire in his bedroom. Before he collapsed, he tried vainly to throw the smouldering bedding through the window.

Man Badly Hurt In Truck Car Crash

STRATFORD (CP)—Orvilla Boehler, 26, of New Hamburg, injured in a car-truck collision two miles east of Shakespeare Tuesday, still is reported in serious condition in Stratford General hospital, although he had what was termed a satisfactory night.

Boehler suffered a broken right ankle, broken right wrist and fractured jaw when his car was in collision with a truck police said was driven by Clarence Lightfoot of Ailsa Craig.

Man, 77, Stumbles Breaks Bone In Neck

George Smithdale, 77, R.R. 3, Peterborough, stumbled and fell, breaking a bone in his neck, Tuesday afternoon, while walking down a hill near his home on Sherbrooke St. west. He managed to pick himself up and get to his home a short distance away but complained of a pain at the base of his skull. He was taken to Civic Hospital where X-rays revealed the fractured bone. His condition is said to be satisfactory today.

Left Foot Amputated By Mower Blade

OWEN SOUND (CP)—A mower blade yesterday amputated the front part of an 11-year-old girl's left foot and one toe on the right foot. The girl, Irene Lindsay, of Owen Sound, was taken to hospital and her condition today is good.

She was watching a farmer cutting hay when the accident occurred.

Top UK Safecracker Escapes From Prison

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — John Ramensky, top British cracksman who was hired by the British Army during the Second World War and parachuted behind German lines to open safes containing secret Nazi documents, was recaptured last night after escaping from Peterhead prison.

Ramensky's escape Monday was his second from Peterhead. His first, while serving another sentence, was in 1934, and he was free for 30 hours.

He is serving a five-year sentence for robbing a post office.

Move Four Wartime Houses From Hatton Property To Air Station At Clinton

Other Houses May Be Dismantled, Sent To R.C.A.F. Stations In Transfer From Central Mortgage

Four of the wartime houses on the Hatton property will be dismantled in the next few weeks and moved to the R.C.A.F. station at Clinton, 35 miles north of London. Central Mortgage and Housing officials declined to say definitely whether more of the houses will be moved there, but admitted it was possible. Plans for disposal of the houses are not yet complete. Removal of the houses from the Peterborough area was made necessary when council passed a resolution upholding an agreement made during the war with C.M.H.C. This agreement provided for the removal of the houses from the Hatton property by June of 1953.

The agreement was extended a year from its original date of June, 1952, when it became apparent after the war that the housing shortage would be acute.

Because the houses do not come up to township building standards, almost all the townships surrounding the city have passed resolutions or bylaws forbidding the wartime houses to be erected within their boundaries.

MADE PROTESTS

There has been more than a flurry of protest over the proposed removal of the houses. The Peterborough Labor Council petitioned city council to further extend the time limit.

Some residents of the houses have complained of the difficulty of finding suitable housing, and have asked why the city will not permit them to put foundations under the houses and bring them up to city building bylaw standards.

The city's reply has been that the zoning bylaw provides for the erection of first class homes in that district and council has pointed out that all residents of the Hatton houses were aware of the agreement with the crown housing corporation.

In other wartime housing settlements, tenants have been permitted to purchase the homes and remain in them provided they had foundations built beneath them.

Record Number Entries Expected In "Glad" Show

A record number of entries is anticipated tonight at the 10th annual show of the Peterborough Gladiolus Society. For the first time in Peterborough it will be a provincial show with prize blooms from all over southern Ontario being exhibited.

A sellout crowd is expected in the Market Hall for the two-day show.

Flower fanciers will find nearly 3,000 blooms and competition in 78 classes.

Among the entries are those from Barrie, Hamilton, Toronto, Burleigh Falls, Keene, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Whitby, Indian River and the immediate district.

80 JUNIOR ENTRIES

The Peterborough Gladiolus Society is particularly proud of the junior entries. There are more than 80, the largest in any junior section in Canada. Any variety of flower can be exhibited and there are special prizes and trophies for the juniors.

Another feature will be a display of table decorating by two accomplished artists, Mrs. Chris. Plunkett and Mary Johns. George Clarke and Fred Storey will demonstrate floral arrangements in a basket.

New varieties of cactus, obtained in the United States, will be displayed by George Clarke and Herbert Cardwell of Wallace Point.

The two-day show will be officially opened at 8 p.m. tonight by Mayor Hugh Waddell. Also attending will be D. H. MacMillan, president of the Canadian Gladiolus Society.

Variety will be lent to the program, promises James Weyer, master of ceremonies. A barbershop quartet, the "Kawartha Four" will harmonize for a few selections. And there are eight door prizes.

Woman Killed In Accident, Son To Face Trial

Elwood Godfrey, 22, of Lakefield was committed for trial on a dangerous driving charge by Magistrate R. B. Baxter at a preliminary hearing Tuesday afternoon. Bail was fixed at $500.

The charge was laid as the result of an accident a mile south of Lakefield on Highway 28, July 18, in which Godfrey's mother, Mrs. Margaret Godfrey, 56, was instantly killed.

Godfrey was at the wheel of the old model Ford sedan which went out of control during a heavy rainstorm. It went off the highway and through a ditch, ending up on its side in a clump of cedar trees.

CAR SLID

Joseph Corby of Lakefield said he was driving toward Lakefield about 35 or 40 miles an hour when a car behind him turned out to pass his car. He said the back end of it "seemed to slide a bit" as it was drawing abreast of his car and the car (driven by Elwood Godfrey) went across the highway and into the ditch.

Harry Wilson, R.R. 4 Peterborough who was bending over the motor of a car, parked just off the east side of the road a short distance north of the scene of the fatal accident said he looked up when he heard cars approaching. He said he saw two cars heading north and just then, a third car shot out from behind the one car and went right across the road into the ditch.

O.P.P. Constable Jim Healey who investigated said the car travelled a distance of 105 feet after it left the west side of the highway, before it came to rest on its side in the ditch. He also said the right rear tire was flat and that the radius rods at the front of the car were hanging down.

Lakefield garage operator Ken Reid said there was a two inch split in the tube where it "presses against the rim." He said the tire could have split apart and gone flat either before or after the accident. However, if it went flat just as Godfrey was passing the Corby car "it would definitely throw the car out of control," he told W. B. Gordon who is defending Godfrey.

Arguing that the crown had failed to establish that Godfrey was guilty "of any conduct of such a degree or character to support such a charge," Mr. Gordon asked that it be dismissed.

Acting crown attorney Walter Howell submitted that the fact the car travelled 105 feet after it left the road was evidence enough to require an explanation from Godfrey.

Constable Plays Nursemaid To Kitten

Being nursemaid to a sick kitten was a new role for Constable Ed Patterson Tuesday evening. Since Humane Society Inspector Bruce Menzies resigned several weeks ago, policemen have been handling routine calls about dogs running loose, skunks in backyards and other animal antics. When a Reid St. woman phoned to say her young kitten refused to take a pet shop prescription for an undisclosed ailment, Constable Patterson was promptly dispatched to render assistance. It was all in the line of duty was his philosophical comment after he returned from helping the lady give the pussy a dose of the pet potion.

Pontecorvo Remains A-Plant Mystery Man

By DOUGLAS HOW

CHAL RIVER, Ont. (CP)—It's several years since he went away but handsome Bruno Pontecorvo remains the big man of mystery at Canada's Chalk River atomic plant.

Not that his name is often mentioned now. One senior scientist recently called Pontecorvo a forgotten man at Chalk River.

But the men who worked with him here for several years and liked and trusted him still find it hard to believe that he is working on Russian production of the atom and possibly the hydrogen bomb, hard to believe that he stands with Nunn, May and Fuchs as a tragic trinity of traitors against the west. But they know, too, that it must be true.

SAID KEY MAN

Some news dispatches have credited the dashing 42-year-old Italian physicist with being the key man in Russia's drive to produce an H-bomb. But the same stories also credited Pontecorvo with being the chief designer of Chalk River's own unique heavy-water atom-splitting reactor and that's wrong, so the people here don't know what to believe.

It's accepted now, though, that he is in Russia and that he must be working on the Soviet's atomic program. Why he went there, whether he was a secret Communist while here from roughly 1945 to 1948, whether he was feeding the Russians secrets in Canada—all these things are part of the Pontecorvo mystery.

In Ottawa, authorities say that nothing in the 1946 investigation of Russian espionage in Canada pointed a finger at Pontecorvo.

NOT SENIOR MAN

Scientists here say they can't imagine him as the driving force behind any H-bomb program. He was a first-class physicist and one of 20 who helped develop the Chalk River reactor, but he wasn't the senior one by any means.

He came with a British scientific team about the end of the war. He was working on cosmic rays and all he seemed to want to do was to get back into his laboratory and work on cosmic rays.

He didn't show any special interest in the reactor. He didn't work at anything that would equip him particularly for work on an H-bomb.

GAY AND POPULAR

Off work here, he was gay, pleasant, popular. He liked parties and was an excellent tennis player. He didn't seem to have a clue about politics, certainly never championed communism even though some of his family were Communists in Italy.

When he left he was offered a permanent job here but turned it down because he said he had promised to go back to the British atomic project. He went and in 1950 and he and his family went to Italy on holiday and then vanished.

One guess here is that when Pontecorvo got among Communist relatives in Italy pressure was brought to bear in some unknown way which forced him to do the bidding of the Reds. It's only a guess. Nobody really knows what made Bruno Pontecorvo do what he did.

BUILDS BETTER FLY-TRAP—William Simunek, 65, got downright annoyed at the swarms of flies that infested the area around his Cleveland, Ohio, home. So he built himself a king-sized fly trap. The pile of dead flies on the paper at left and a three-inch layer of dead flies in the trap represent a five-day "catch."

Money In Cauldron

STAFFORD, England (AP)—A Staffordshire smelter worker stared yesterday at the cauldron of molten lead he was stirring—wads of money were rising up through the bubbles. The astonished worker snatched 52 pound notes from the seething cauldron. The money apparently had been hidden in a bag of lead scrap.

Born 17 Miles Apart

DEUX, France (AP)—The wife of a Deux factory worker gave birth to twins today—17 miles apart. The older of the twins, a boy, was born here. The doctor, fearing complications, had the mother moved to a clinic at Niort, 17 miles away. The second child, a girl was born there.

Find Most of Dimes

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—The silver vein under the city's streets was about played out today. It was worth $5.80. Of an estimated 6,000 dimes spilled down a sewer grate Monday, workmen had fished out all but 58. The silver spilled when two employees carrying a bag containing 10,000 dimes to the bank, accidentally snagged it and ripped it open.

B.C. Legislature Clerk Expert Wood Carver

VICTORIA, B.C. (CP)—Edwin Keary DeBeck, says he is just a whittler at heart. He teaches the neighborhood children the finer points of woodwork, and his basement often takes on the busy atmosphere of a technical training school class.

Mr. DeBeck, who was appointed clerk of the British Columbia Legislature in 1949, is happiest when bringing out the hidden beauty in wood. From gnarled pieces of raw material he has fashioned artistic vases and dainty goblets, fancy buttons and plates, wooden tumblers so delicately made they are translucent.

In his workshop is a large section of fine black walnut, from a tree planted by his father 85 years ago.

Sinks Red Tank

WITH U.S. 10th CORPS, Korea (AP)—Lieut. James F. Reed has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for sinking a Communist tank. The 10th corps said today Reed, pilot of an army observation plane, last December directed artillery fire on a Communist tank crossing a frozen river. Three artillery rounds bracketed the tank, broke the ice, and caused it to sink.

Passion Play Casualty

BAZA, Spain (Reuters)—Youngsters performing their own passion play after watching a professional interpretation treated the seven-year-old "Christus" too realistically. The boy, Emilio Tapia, was scourged and then tied to a vertical cross on which he lost consciousness. Doctors massaged the badly-bruised Emilion for half an hour before he recovered.

Human Barricade

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Truck drivers accustomed to using Powell Avenue found the street blocked yesterday by a human barricade of women and children. The residents took matter in their own hands after officials failed to act on their complaint that the vehicles were tracking dust and mud along the avenue. The trucks took a detour.

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Mrs. Dorothy Knowles, sentenced yesterday to a year on charges of swindling, told court she wanted to be out of jail by next January to greet her husband who will then be released from Kingston penitentiary. Expect C.I.O. To Endorse Stevenson For President

By ROWLAND EVANS, JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The C.I.O. high command today opened a three-day political session with all signs pointing to endorsement of Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for President.

Headed by Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, and Jack Kroll, director of the organizations' political action committee, some 500 C.I.O. leaders streamed into town to talk candidates, money and strategy.

The national C.I.O. has never gone beyond an endorsement of presidential and vice-presidential candidates. State and district councils handle the organization's political drives on the state and local level.

MOVE TOMORROW

Official C.I.O. backing for Stevenson seems a foregone conclusion, but the timing is still a bit uncertain. Best bet is that the executive board, a 48-man body which includes a top official from each of 35 C.I.O. unions plus 11 national officers, will get officially behind Stevenson tomorrow.

The A.F.L., older and larger labor federation, has not given its official blessing to a presidential candidate since 1924, although individual unions and officers often campaign for one candidate or another. This year, too, the A.F.L. is expected to keep national hands off the presidential race.

New Purge of Chinese Reds

By O. M. GREEN

LONDON (OFNS) — Reports from Peking suggest that the headquarters of the Chinese Communist party are much disturbed about the party's composition and working and that a second wholesale purge is to be enforced.

A few months after the inauguration of the Communist Government in October, 1949, the membership of the Communist party in China had risen to six million. It was found that large numbers were by no means authentic Communists but had only climbed on the Red band wagon for personal advantage. Mao Tse-tung thereupon ordered what was politely called "a large-scale working-style remoulding movement," which reduced the party to four million. Now, again, it is found that the party is infected with "capitalist ideology" and other taints.

The situation was trenchantly described in a recent broadcast by An Tzu-wen, director of the Organization Department of the Central Committee of the Communist Party.

"PASSIVE AND LISTLESS"

Some members, he says, think that with the Communists' conquest of China achieved, the revolution is completed: "They do not desire to continue struggling, become passive and listless in their work, desire rest and pleasure, and even become degraded, losing the spirit and valour of Communist members in a bitter struggle."

Other, influenced by "capitalist ideology," "expand their own individualism, become very bureaucratic, have seriously veered away from the masses." Worst of all are those who "support Communism by their sayings but follow capitalism in their deeds"; they "invest in various private enterprises or carry out other kinds of exploitation to become rich capitalists."

An Tzu-wen enumerates the eight standards required of every member of the party to ensure his clear understanding of its dictates and the implicit obedience he must give to them. Those persons who have erred through misunderstanding must be re-educated. The "intractables, renegades of the working class," who have surrendered to the capitalsit class and other undesirables "must be ruthlessly expelled from the party." Their future lot is not likely to be enviable.

GRAFT AND WASTE

Also worth noting are the stringent orders recently issued by the State Administrative Council in Peking that all local taxation of the peasants, which is known to have reached enormous heights, must be abolished, that only the taxes due to the Central Government must be collected, and that local governments, under pain of Peking's severe displeasure, must obey the Finance Ministry's rules for rural taxation, in order to plug loopholes by which graft and waste creep in.

More than one report from Peking this year has indicated that Communist cadres have taken advantage of their responsibility for introducing land reform to put money in their pockets.

Another recent report by the Central and South China Bureau (which is in charge of rural work from the Yangtze southwards) censures the favouritism prevailing among managers of cadres—many, the Bureau finds, are retained even if their work is inadequate, while promotion of new cadres is limited to a smal favoured circle.

NEW MEMBERS NEEDED

At the same time, as the party is purged, An Tzu-wen emphasises that it must be enlarged. "We must direct attention to the fact that the party has come to hold the reins of administration," he says; "conditions have made it necessary that admission of new members should be conducted with greater activity."

The Central and South China Bureau strikes the same note, and exhorts "experienced cadres" to send in lists of persons eligible for membership. These persons will be screened and educated to understand "the solemn political significance of the Communist party's construction." "Without a cadre forces of sufficient numbers and quality," the Bureau says, "we cannot guarantee completion of the great work of reconstruction."

All of which adds up to two obvious conclusions—that a party of four million is far too small to inculcate the herd mind demanded by Communism in 450,000,000 Chinese; and that even Marxism cannot obliterate the age-old instinct in China that to hold an official position is a legitimate means of self-enrichment.—OFNS Copyright.

DISCUSS PACIFIC SECURITY—New Zealand Foreign Minister T. Clifton Webb (left), U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson (centre) and Australian Minister for External Affairs Richard G. Casey leave their conference site in Honolulu, Hawaii, after launching the first formal peacetime system of military co-operation among the three nations.

French Farmers Threaten To Defy Gov't

PARIS — French wheat farmers have suggested defying the government by feeding their cattle on the wheat crop rather than sell the wheat at the government's fixed price of 3,600 francs per quintal (just over $10 per 220 pounds).

At a meeting here Tuesday of the General Association of Wheat Producers, they declared "no confidence" in Agriculture Minister Camille Laurens.

The farmers also recommended that they should pay only 85 per cent of their taxes, and should withdraw from joint committees of consultation with the Ministry of Agriculture.

The government, rejecting producers' claims based on higher labor costs and increased cost of materials, stressed that a bumper harvest this year offered a prospect of bigger incomes for farmers. But it provided that if basic costs continued to rise, an increase of not more than 150 francs (about 40 cents per quintal) might be permitted later.

Emigration Painted "Blacker" Than Fact

TORONTO (CP) — The annual emigration of Canadian professional workers to the United States is usually painted "blacker than it really is," said G. M. Morrison, chief of the executive and professional division of the National Employment Service.

In an article in the current issue of Saturday Night, Toronto weekly, Mr. Morrison says that only about 2,700 of the 10,000 Canadians who annually emigrate to the U.S. can be said to come from the professional group.

After studying the official border crossing figures for the six years following July, 1945, he concluded that 23,136 Canadians are admitted to the United States on a permanent visa each year. More than 50 per cent of these are dependents and when the number of Canadians who return to Canada is considered, the Dominion loses only 9,409 of its trained citizens in an average year.

Of this figure, only 2,747 have occupations in the professional class. Authors, artists, college professors, musicians, teachers, librarians and social workers constitute 32 per cent of the emigrants; nurses, 23 per cent; engineers, eight per cent; religious workers, dancers, chorus girls, showmen and professional athletes, 15 per cent; doctors, dentists, lawyers, and clergy men, 15 per cent.

Old Canadian Army School Becoming Military College

ST. JOHNS, Que. (CP)—This quiet town on the Richelieu Rver, about 25 miles south of Montreal, is being transformed into a college town.

Plasterers, electricians and construction men are rushing to change the old Canadian army training school here into a college equal in rank to the famed Royal Roads College at Victoria.

It will be Canada's first French-language tri-service school to open in September as College Militaire Royale de St. Jean.

It will be the second military effort for St. Johns. The R.C.A.F. has a manning depot here, established last year, for airmen and women.

GOOD RESPONSE

The tentative plan for the new college, announced recently by Defence Minister Claxton, provides a one-year, senior-matriculation course for students who want to enter the Royal Military College at Kingston. If there is a big enough response, the course will be extended to two, and possibly three, years.

One week of advertisements for recruits produced nearly 700 inquiries and it is expected a two-year course will be provided.

Lt.-Col. Marcellin Louis Lahaie, 39, named commandant of the school, outlined the general aims and prospectus of the school in an interview.

"Our first aim is to meet the needs of the French-speaking student," he said. The services want French-speaking officers in proportion to Canada's French-speaking population.

TWO LANGUAGES

"At the same time, the school is not limited to French-speakng students. Each student will be taught in his native language, but he will also be taught to speak the other of Canada's two official languages.

"One of the reasons for this emphasis on French-speaking officers is the number of French recruits the services are getting. We just haven't got the officers for them."

The school will serve two types of cadets—regular and reserve service.

"Generally speaking, Royal Military College and Royal Roads turn out military leaders, not just officers," Col. Lahaie said. "We intend that this school will be a part of that tradition."

Shoot At Train

SHENANDOAH JUNCTION, W.VA. (AP)—Mysterious shots and rocks hurtled out of the darkness as a Norfolk and Western passenger train pulled out of town last night. The engineer and a brakeman said rifle fire zinged by close to them. A rock broke a window in a passenger car. None of the passengers was injured. Railroad officials knew of no reason for the attack.

SMUGGLED SWEETHEART — Loboria Sarraolandia, 30-year-old Spanish sailor, and Rita Cappelloni, his 25-year-old Italian sweetheart whom he smuggled aboard a Greek freighter in a duffelbag, will be deported from Canada, according to immigration officials at Vancouver. She was concealed for 52 days in Third Engineer Sarraolandia's cabin on the freighter Panagoiotis Coumantaros. He had to reveal the stowaway's presence when he could no longer smuggle food to her.

W-C Gordon Goes To Air College

TRENTON (Special). — Wing Commander Stephen L. Balke, 33, of Halifax, N.S., for the past several years Chief Telecommunications Officer, Training Command Headquarters, Trenton, has been transferred to R.C.A.F. Station, St. Hubert, P.Q.

He enlisted in the R.C.A.F. as a wireless mechanic in 1937 and received his commission in 1940 as a signals officer while serving on the east coast. After a tour of duty at No. 2 Wireless School at Winnipeg, Manitoba, and No. 1 Radio School, Clinton, Ontario, he held the position of Chief Signals Officer at Eastern Air Command in Halifax, N.S.

GOES TO AIR WAR COLLEGE

The transfer of Wing Commander R. A. Gordon, 34, of Trenton, from Training Command Headquarters to Headquarters Air University Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama, where he will attend a 10-month course at the Air War College, was announced yesterday by Air Force Headquarters.

Born in Bobcaygeon, and educated at Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N.J, Wing Com. Gordon joined the R.C.A.F. in the early days of the late war, and was appointed a provisional pilot officer in January of 1940.

During the period 1944 to 1945, he was Commanding Officer of R.C.A.F. Dakota 436 Squadron flying Dakota aircraft and supplying Allied troops in South East Asia.

In 1947 he went to Washington as an exchange officer with the U.S.A.F. and in 1948 he was appointed Deputy-Director of Manning at Air Defence Headquarters.

Wing Com. Gordon has been a Staff Officer for Ground Training at Trenton for the past two years.

Mrs. Gordon and their two children, who at present reside in Trenton, will be accompanying Wing Com. Gordon to Alabama.

Find Regal Magnificence Keynotes London's Styles

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The simple adjective "royal" probably describes most fittingly the fall fashions presented by London's Top Ten in the designing field.

There may be the Swan Look, the Gaucho Look, the Elizabethan and Victorian Looks, but the difference in cut and style takes nothing from the general effect of regal magnificence, that is the keynote of every big collection.

A young Queen with a fashion-minded sister will be crowned June next, and Britain's fashion forum is not going to let us forget it.

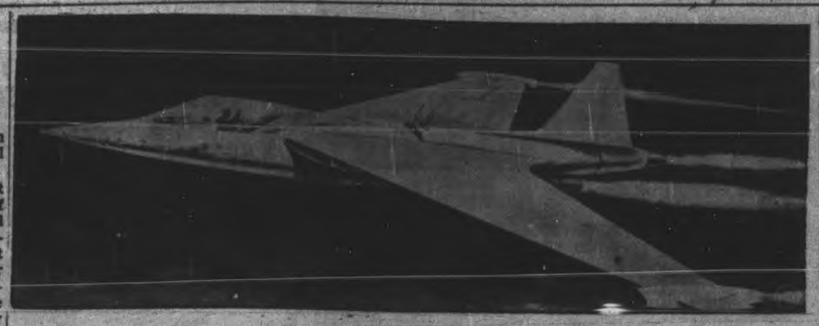
ROYAL THOUGHTS

In other words it will be a winter for royal thoughts fairy—princess gowns, the brocades, furs and satins that suggest champagne sparkling in crystal glasses against gilt-and-mirrored walls, red plush and polished wood.

Crinoline cocktail and evening dresses have a sumptuous width that cries out for the accommodating interiors of the horse-drawn carriages of earlier years. Even in day clothes there is a definite regal flavor.

The royal ladies' love of velvet is stressed in the billowing skirts of neatly-waisted coats with rounded shoulders and stand collars. Princess Margaret, who has bought more than one outfit from Victor Stiebel, might have been the inspiration for his wide-skirted turquoise velvet coat with immense grey fur cuffs and tiny matching hat, little bigger than a half-hat.

FIT FOR PRINCESS



The princess could certainly wear with sophisticated distinction, the white nylon dress with short, accordian-pleated skirt billowing over a crinoline foundation, the diaphanous shawl collar pleated to cup the bra-line. With low, square neck, the tight bodice beaded in silver from bra to waist and the waist caught by a narrow silver kid belt, it is a type of gown the princess favors often.

Royal preference would no doubt incline to all-round pleated day dresses in light-weight wools and heavy silks, worn with tight-waisted jackets, rather than the big-shouldered gaucho suits with waistless jackets over knee-tight skirts.

VARIED STYLES

The varied styles of box jackets, from loose, waist-length to tight-hipped, half-belted efects, will, however, be the best-seller for smart business girls with modest bankrolls. The voluminous knife-pleated skirts cannot possibly sell at competitive prices.

Dull though they are, the winter woollens achieve an under-color richness suggestive of royal brocades in the Elizabethan era. Take, for instance, the latest thing in "poodle" cloths, under dark bubble surfaces of black, grey or bottle green, glow rich reds, deep blues and clear royal purples. The outstanding winter color is green in every shade from true grass to the darkest peacock shot with blue and tawny gold.

SOME CLASS TO THIS—Prime problem of designers of supersonic-speed jet planes is to find a metal that will not melt under the searing friction developed by ultra-high-speed flight. Thomas E. Piper, process engineering director for Northrop Aircraft, has suggested that "conceivably the airplane of the future could have glass wings, ailerons, stabilizer and fuselage." Above is an artist's conception of such a plane, which would employ a type of glass fibre laminate for friction-sensitive parts.

Presbyterian Choir Touring Britain

MONTREAL.—Smartly clad in grey skirts, blue blazers with "Canada" flashes on their shoulders and the Presbyterian crest, and grey hats, 35 young ladies, members of the Fairbank Presbyterian Girls Choir, Toronto, sailed from Quebec today aboard the Cunard liner Samaria for a month's tour of England and Scotland.

Highlight of this tour will be their presentation to Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II, at the Braemar Games near Edinburgh Sept. 4 at which time they will perform for Her Majesty. Another event in their itinerary will be their rendition of several Canadian songs at the opening of the Edinburgh Festival.

The young ladies, whose average is 12, have been trained for the past two years by Mrs. Marion Patterson, their organizer and choir leader. Two conductors will take charge of the group although many of the children's parents will travel with them.

The choir will begin its tour with a concert in Canada House, London. From there they will perform in Cambridge, York and Durham, arriving in Edinburgh for the opening of the festival.

TREAT FOR SHEEP

CAPETOWN (CP)—By growing more lupins, sheep farmers near here are increasing the size of their flocks. Some farmers estimated their herds tripled in size since lupins and lupin seeds were scattered among the green areas.

40-Hour Week Attacked By New Zealand Industry

By G.S. ROYDHOUSE

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (Reuters)—The five-day 40-hour week, introduced by New Zealand's first Labor government after it came into office in 1935, and since the Second World War almost general throughout industry, has been under repeated attack here in recent months.

The first big gun to open fire was William Cable, head of a Wellington engineering firm, which had labor directed to it from all over New Zealand for its big wartime production schedule. Cable wanted a 44-hour week with the extra hours at ordinary, not overtime rates, in the interests of higher production.

The New Zealand federation of labor, representing 196,000 of the 220,000 trade unionists in the country, said it was interested in higher production too, but that it was more worried about people who were not working at all and should be. It was still determined to fight for the 40-hour week.

The next shots came from A.R. Kaiser, accounting head of Sears Roebuck and Co. of Chicago, who came to New Zealand earlier this year.

His criticisms of the restricted working hours, which he held were injurious to a young and developing country, drew lively retorts from several trade unionists.

Undaunted, Kaiser fired another salvo before leaving. "It may be that the 40-hour work week would not be disastrous to the economy if all the people who work—gave an honest 40 hours of work in the week," he said. "I believe, however, that a new country like this needs the 44-hour week."

"Any system," Kaiser said, "that makes it possible for anyone to work four hours on Friday, eight hours on Saturday, and eight hours on Sunday, and for the two and a half days be paid for 42 hours is working toward the destruction of the Dominion. No man can produce as much in 20 hours as he should in 40."

The secretary of the Federation of Labor, K. McL. Baxter, said he was too busy preparing the federation's claim for a general wage increase of almost $7 a week to reply to this statement, but his organization's views remained unchanged.

The labor department replied, however, that the most a man could be paid for working 20 hours overtime under the industrial provisions was the amount payable at the ordinary rate for 37 hours. In most New Zealand industries overtime rates are half again as much for the first three hours and double time after that.

In industries where shift work is done, however, there is only a small extra premium for night shifts.

On public holidays, pay for eight hours must be given, and if workers are required, double rates must be paid in addition.

With some 20,000 vacancies in industry listed with the labor department and probably a large number more not listed, and with less than 20 on the unemployed register, labor shortage has been blamed for many delays in industry.

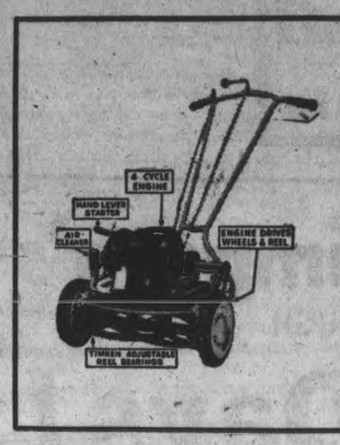
Yes, it's control that counts, in baseball as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.



This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

CELEBRATING OUR "100th ANNIVERSARY"

Churchill Makes Desperate Stand

By CHARLES R. HARGROVE

LONDON — (NEA) — "We shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills, we shall never surrender . . ."

That classic of defiance Winston Churchill threw at the triumphant German armies June 4, 1940, just after they had overrun Western Europe, forced the English out of Dunkirk, and were poised for what looked like an invasion of crippled, faltering England itself.

That was 12 years and a world war ago. Since then England surely has suffered and continues to suffer almost as much as if she had been forced to fight the Germans on her beaches and in her streets.

The other day the same Winston Churchill, again prime minister, still tough and doughty at times, but now 77 years old, made a characteristic battling speech about the perils besetting England from within and without.

To which a middle-class woman shopper replied: "So he's after 'fighting on the beaches' again. Well, we don't want any more of that." And comment in his own party as well as the Labor Party was hardly more flattering.

• • •

HIS LAST BEACH

Some think this may well be Churchill's last beach.

STILL TOUGH AND DOUGHTY at times—but also visibly getting old—this is how Winston Churchill looks today in closeup and as Londoners see him, less frequently now, on the streets.

The point here is one that will come as a shock to many Canadians — the old fighter who led Britain to military victory in the greatest peril she ever faced is by no means the peacetime hero he was in war.

Britain is burdened by many ills at the moment and if Churchill has not caused them, which of course he hasn't, he and his Conservative government have done little to alleviate them in the less than a year they have been in power.

One simple fact is that Churchill is getting old and he shows it. He doesn't hear well anymore, he is forced to rest more and work less, he can't concentrate for long periods the way he used to. Londoners don't see the familiar hunched figure on the streets much anymore.

He was never long on economics and during World War II could dodge their tedium in the interest of getting the military job done, never mind the cost. But money and goods—or rather, the lack of them—are England's great problem today and many feel for this reason Churchill is not the man for the job.

• • •

PRESSURE TO RETIRE

There is even pressure now, both from elements of his own Conservative Party as well as from the Laborites, that he either retire or turn over some of the important reins of government to younger men.

But what to do with an old hero is by no means the most serious of England's problems. There are several, and they are involved, but probably the most important is figuring out how to keep from going, literally, bankrupt.

In a desperate effort to make ends meet, Britain has increased her exports to other countries by 74 per cent. over the pre-war level. At the same time her imports are only about 26 per cent. higher.

Her plight becomes further apparent when it is realized that, with 550 people per square mile as compared with 50 in the United States, Britain grows no cotton, rubber, or jute, produces no oil, imports nearly all its copper, four-fifths of its wool and softwoods, and half its food and iron ore.

And the experts say that with the one exception of coal, Britain has little hope of producing more food or raw materials.

World War II cost England about one-quarter of its total wealth. To pay her way in the early days of World War II, before lend-lease, and when she defended the entire world alone, she was forced to liquidate her saleable overseas assets, including $4 billion in American securities. But the then mighty Churchill, at his best in war, was there to lead them and his spirit raised the spirits of the people.

Translated into simple terms, Britain's situation amounts to this: before the war the rest of the world owed every man, woman and child in Britain 100 pounds. Today it's almost vice versa — every person in England owes the world nearly 100 pounds.

British currency became erratic a few years ago and had to be put in a straightjacket, more and more of what Britain produced had to be sold for export to pay the bills, and as a result the standard of living at home became from the United States—and they're cutting down on imports generally.

Controls of all kinds are many and varied. They cover the prices of all essential goods and their distribution, especially raw materials.

They cover imports and exports of both goods and money, and even the movements of the British people. For no one can take more than 25 British pounds a year out of the country for any except strictly business purposes. You can't travel far on that.

The controls cover even the distribution of profits by companies—they are allowed to pay only moderate dividends.

All this is tough for all but the lower income groups. And even Churchillian rhetoric can't make it less so.

COST OF LIVING

An index by Churchill's government shows the cost of living rose six per cent. in the first nine months of its current administration. Wages rose, too, but not enough to stem a tide of workers' demands for more money.

And still higher prices are in sight. The government has announced it will cut its subsidies of certain foods by about one-half and cut down on the supplies of foods it does not subsidize. That means higher prices to the consumer.

Automobile manufacturers soon will deliver to the home market only one car where they delivered two before. And it's to be much the same for bicycles, radios, washing machines, and similar items.

2 Presidential Candidates Expenditures Small To Win Party Convention

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It will be "Ike against Adlai" when the contenders for presidency of the United States swing into high gear around Labor Day.

"Adlai," is Governor Adlai Ewing Stevenson of Illinois, 52, a Lincoln-esque type of intellectual but not a product of the backwoods.

He was drafted by the Democratic party at their hectic and strife-torn convention in Chicago last week and it was a real case of the office seeking the man.

ALOOF AND RELUCTANT

Probably Stevenson's friends spent no more than the price of a modest home in an effort to interest the delegates in him as a candidate. He remained aloof and reluctant until called to the convention floor to accept, saying that to reject would be "to repay honor with dishonor."

"Ike" is Gen. Dwight David Eisenhower, one of the greatest and most popular war heroes of modern times, 62 next October and possessor of most of the attributes that make for popularity and public trust.

He too was drafted, in a sense, as the Republican hope to lead that party out of 20 years in political wilderness, but he accepted the draft nearly two months before the convention and really went after the nomination in a dignified and comparatively modest manner.

SMAL EXPENDITURE

Total cost of the Eisenhower movement and its successful completion probably would total enough to set up a sizeable family in perpetual wealth and security.

In a sense the main battle will be fought by political amateurs and the voters need not expect fireworks and no-holds-barred oratory from the two leaders.

That sort of thing, if it is necessary and politicians apparently believe it is, will be provided by their vice-presidential running mates, Senator John Sparkman, 52-year-old Democratic senator from Alabama with Adlai, and 39-year-old, red-hunting Senator Richard M. Nixon from California, the general's choice.

President Truman has promised to do a typical, whistle-stop campaign for Stevenson, the kind of campaign that snatched for him a Democratic victory in 1948 when virtually none of the forecasters gave him a chance against Governor Dewey of New York.

It is possible Eisenhower will have support in the hustings from Senator Robert Taft of Ohio who suffered a bitter defeat at the Republican convention when his party decided on the first ballot that Eisenhower was most likely to win them the White House.

ADLAI "THE JUST"

Stevenson was named for his paternal grandfather. "Adlai" is from the Old Testament and means "The Just."

The Democrats' candidate says it should be pronounced "Ad-lay" so far as he knows, but many of the speakers at the convention pronounced it "Ad-lie."

Eisenhower got "Ike" when he was quite young because a child in the family had difficulty with "Dwight" and made it sound like "Ike."

The general came from comparatively poor parents but all his family did well and he is a product of West Point. Stevenson was born to comparative wealth in a family of lawyers and he is one himself. His grandfather was vice-president under Grover Cleveland.

Eisenhower was born in Texas and is, in that sense, a southerner, but most of his young life was spent in Kansas. His running mate is from California and so the ticket can hardly be said to have any deep south appeal.

YOUNG RUNNING MATE

Because it is a common saying that only a heart-beat separates a vice-president from the presidency itself—a fact so tragically exposed in April, 1945, when Roosevelt died suddenly and thrust Harry Truman into the White House—the youth of Eisenhower's running mate may operate against success.

Stevenson is a mid-westerner but an internationalist and liberal in his public views—rather a moderate liberal. His running mate comes from the deep south and is fairly popular there, but not so popular with the northeastern liberal Democrats who would like to see racial equality enforced on the south by federal action. That is a policy which caused a split at the convention recently as it did to a far more serious degree in 1948.

Bulk of the voting members of the Negro population—about 13,000,000 are in the northern states. Negroes have great difficulty in getting to the polls in the deep south. That may be one reason why northern Democrats attach so much importance to their civil rights policy.

DEMOCRATS CHANGE

It would seem that the Democratic team might be the most favorably situated for success next Nov. 4. But their party has been in power 20 years and the mounting instances of petty wrong-doing in high places, favoritism and dipping into the public funds by trusted public servants, high taxation and business controls, may swing the people toward a change.

Obviously the change can come only through a few million people who have voted Democratic in the past five presidential elections, swinging over to the Republican ticket.

Thus the issue will largely swing on the success of two men of outstanding brilliance and proved integrity in selling themselves to the people.

Radio and television have brought to the people in a remarwably intimate degree, the weaknesses and strengths, the personalities and mannerisms of their public heroes.

NEED NEW TACTICS

The day is gone when a candidate can have a few set speeches and a few appealing sets of mannerisms and peddle them throughout the county.

What the candidate does and says in New York will be instantly known in Chicago and San Francisco and seen on television by perhaps 60,000,000 people.

Ike and Adlai are words that will be on the lips of the United States people in a steady drum-fire from now until election day and how the people react will be of interest throughout the word on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

But whichever takes over in Washington next January it seems unlikely there will be any great change in the relations of the United States to the world outside it.

Bird Calls Are Recorded To Introduce Radio Hour

TORONTO (CP)—For the first time on Canadian radio, actual bird calls recorded in the forests are being heard as an introduction to an outdoors series from CFRB in Toronto.

The program heard at 10:30 p.m. on Tuesdays known as "Outdoors with Pete McGillen," is heralded by the cry of the white-throated sparrow with a whippoorwill in the background, and then the whippoorwill's call comes in strongly and melodiously.

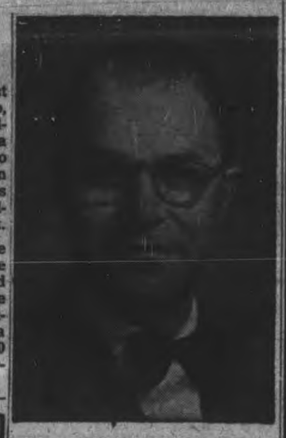
The bird calls were recorded in Algonquin Park by Dr. William Gunn, secretary of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, and the tape-recording of the songs was obtained by Pete, outdoors editor of the Toronto Telegram.

EXCITING TIME

McGillen recounts how Dr. Gunn had an exciting time getting the bird calls on tape. While setting up his microphone Dr. Gunn had to keep his eye on three bears feeding in a garbage dump, which happened to be a singing post for the whipporwill.

The bird call was not coming in strong enough at first, so Dr. Gunn planted an amplifier and played back some calls to the whipporwill to get it started. The bird co-operated perfectly by flying down to the ground near the mike and letting loose with its oft-repeated call.

In the meantime, the bears were busy with their rummaging in the dump and did not interfere with the operations.



Besides bringing a familiar sound to country dwellers, the broadcast bird call is bringing thrills to city dwellers, especially shut-ins and elderly folk who may have come from the farm or village many years ago.

FIDDLERS TAKE SPOTLIGHT

Old-time fiddlers from many parts of Canada and the United States competing for the Canadian old-time fiddling championship will be heard on a CBC variety show originating Saturday night, Aug. 9, in Shelburne, Ont.

The fiddling contest began last year as an Ontario championship, the CBC co-operating with the Shelburne Rotary club in staging a show and a broadcast. It was so successful that the contest has been extended on a national basis this year, and the program was scheduled for the CBC Trans-Canada net.

The winners of the first three fiddling prizes are heard on the broadcast along with singers and entertainers, but all entrants take part in the show before the broadcast at the new community arena in Shelburne, a village of 1,200 persons 40 miles northwest of Toronto.

HUGH L. KENNEDY, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Kennedy, has been appointed a director of the L. E. Waterman C., Ltd., the makers of fountain pens. Mr. Kennedy has been sales manager of this company since 1948. His father was for six years managing editor of the Examiner.

Find New Uses For Seaweed

HALIFAX (CP)—Seaweed, long regarded hereabouts as a mere fertilizer, now is being investigated by the new Maritime Regional Laboratory for commercial and industrial possibilities.

Seaweed extracts have been found to possess qualities useful in many industries, from the preparation of food products to the manufacture of textiles. Several countries have built sizable industries through the abundant seaweed growth on their shores.

Dr. Gordon Young, director of the Maritime Regional Laboratory, says: "There is no reason why the Maritimes can not do as well as Scotland in this industry if our investigations bring favorable results."

Its fronds thick with little gas bladders that pop when squashed, the humble rockweed has gone unsuspected of any particular activity for many years.

Science now has discovered that this plant is an energetic producer of a substance known as alginic acid, Dr. Young stated.

COHESIVE QUALITY

Among the qualities which make this substance so useful is its cohesion, and it can be spread over kippers to make an airtight film and protect the food from decay.

Another use is that of holding solids in suspension. Most chocolate milk mixtures contain some of this substance, a tiny amount being sufficient to keep the chocolate from settling to the bottom. Other uses of the chemical are in inks, adhesives, boiler compounds, detergents and cleaning compounds.

Now that this same substance has been found in Maritime seaweed, the only problem is whether it can be extracted in commercial quantities.

Alginic acid is not the only valuable chemical produced. Irish moss, found in great quantities off the Prince Edward Island coast, is rich with a substance called carrageen mucilage. This sticky stuff can be processed and has the same wide industrial use as alginic acid. This, too, is being investigated.

LONDON (CP)—Between Cobham and Esher, on the Portsmouth Road, is a mysterious stretch of highway known as "Missile Mile."

Within the last 12 months 30 automobile windshields, one side-window and one side side-door have been shattered by someone or something.

No one knows who or what is to blame and the mystery has reached the level of the ministry of transport.

Police experts have checked every clue with no results. Guards have been stationed to observe but no one has been detected nor any phenomena noticed.

People driving along have suddenly been brought to a halt when sprayed with glass from their shattered windshield. No bullets can be found. There have been reports of people slinking in underbrush near the road but no one has been caught.

Two Rival Atomic Sub Plants Being Built By United States

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has two "rival" atomic submarine power plants under construction.

Theoretically one could be smaller than its competitor while producing equal energy. It also could be more hazardous to operate, stopping just short of being a potential atomic bomb.

This device is to be called the submarine intermediate reactor. It is now under construction by the General Electric Co. at an A.E.C.-owned site in West Milton, N.Y.

Its "rival," farther advanced because work was started on it sooner, is to be called the "submarine thermal reactor." It is being built by the Westinghouse Electric Co. at A.E.C.'s reactor testing station in Arco, Idaho.

The navy already has laid the keel of the U.S.S. Nautilus, the submarine which will house an atomic power plant of the "S.T.R." type. It has authorized construction of another sub which eventually will be equipped with an "S.I.R." model.

The fact that construction plans are already settled—even before land-based models of the power plants have been tested—is a strong indication that the navy and the A.E.C. figure both types of power plant will work. But neither agency has given a tip-off on whether it considers one type more promising than the other.

The two projected power plants differ in certain atomic characteristics—specifically in the type of neutrons or atomic particles, which will be employed to generate power.

Neutrons given off by atomic splitting are mostly "fast" neutrons, travelling many thousands of miles a minute. They can be "slowed down," but the "slowest" neutron still travels 6,000 miles a minute.

The proposed submarine intermediate reactor will employ neutrons of "intermediate" speed—that is, intermediate between the "fast" neutrons of an atomic bomb and the "slow" neutrons most generally used in so-called "controlled" atomic energy devices.

The rival submarine thermal reactor will employ "slow" neutrons.

The slower neutrons travel, the better are the chances of sustaining a "controlled" reaction, but the "slow neutron" power plant has to be much bigger than one operating with faster particles.

British Housewife Urged To Protest Shoddy Goods

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—"Why do you put up with it?" This question is asked almost daily of the British housewife.

An increasing number of women's page articles and editorials seek to arouse British shoppers into realizing it is no longer necessary to accept shoddy goods and shoddy service quietly.

Articles emphasize that now, when there are few shortages except in rationed foods, customers are putting up with the same off-hand treatment endured without complaint in wartime. British women it is claimed, have forgotten how to act as discriminating customers—and the younger generation has not had the chance to learn.

"The shopper is no longer compelled to woo the shopkeeper," said one editorial. "It is the other way round—but how many shoppers realize it."

CRITICAL VISITOR

More than one writer observed that overseas visitors, those who stay long enough to find out that home-market shopping varies much from the export departments open to visitors, speak with dismay of things that Britons now accept without question.

One writer quotes a north American visitor who said Americans would refuse to buy any goods labelled "frustrated exports." She forgets, however, the sales-appeal to the British buyers of such "frustrated exports." They include the first decorated china seen in the shops since the end of the Second World War that can be purchased on the home market.

Criticism has also been expressed over the "do not touch" notices common in china shops and other stores, as well as the warning that goods cannot be delivered due to shortage of packers and packing materials. The French, who drive a hard shopping bargain, are quoted as saying they dislike it.

Appeals have been made to shopkeepers to "put the fun back into shopping." Too many shops today are without the particular goods a customer wants. For instance, a dress may not be available in the right size, or the right size is not the color desired. And few shops will re-order. They would rather advise the customer to try elsewhere.

TARDY WORKMEN

The faults are not in the stores alone. Workmen scheduled for house decoration and repair turn up days late with a curt: "Sorry lady, couldn't manage sooner." Not only that, most customers complain of "slovenly work" while the decorator sits back grumbling that too many people are doing their own decorating.

One writer takes the question even deeper. He suggests that such old-time notices as: "A customer is not someone to argue or match wits with," or "nobody ever won an argument with a customer," should be placed in the workrooms, factories and offices dealing with export goods—as well as home stores.

"Napoleon called us a nation of shopkeepers," he added. "The phrase is truer than ever today. All Britain is a shop. We live by selling our goods to the nations of the world—and heaven help us if we fail to satisfy the customers."

GENERAL MUD TAKES OVER—Plagued by abnormally heavy summer rains, UN troops in Korea battle thick, clinging mud as well as the Communist enemy. It bogs down supply movements, hampers communications and turns front-line foxholes into mud baths. Typical conditions troops face are shown above, where Army engineers aided by Korean laborers dig drainage trenches alongside roads so rain water will seep away from the supply highway.

Moncton Girl Soprano Makes London Debut

LONDON (CP) — Tall, dark-haired singer, Dorothy Allen of Moncton, N.B., has realized two long-cherished ambitions. She made her first London recital at the international music club, July 14, and attended a Buckingham Palace garden party three days later.

The white nylon dress with big shawl collar, in which she faced her first London audience, gave service for both occasions.

Miss Allen sng old English music by Purcell and French songs by Scarlatti, to a discriminating audience including Sir Shuldham Redfern, secretary to the governor-general of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Associaton.

The Canadian soprano, who won a New York scholarship to the Julliard school of music in 1940 is returning to a teaching job at the University of New Brunswick. She left Canada in the summer of 1950 to accept a French government research scholarship.

TUNNEL OF TOMORROW—MAYBE — English and French committees are discussing plans for a tunnel under the English Channel from Folkestone, England, to Cap Gris-Nez, France. The miniature model pictured above gives an idea of how it may look. Two railway sections and two motor vehicle roads will take up most of the space. Such a tunnel was proposed in 1880, but opposition by the British War Office stymied the project.

Notorious Confidence Man Swindled His Best Friends

WINNIPEG (CP)—Seventy-eight years ago a notorious international confidence man and swindler committed suicide in the tiny settlement of Headingley, five miles west of here, rather than face justice.

In the space of six years before he died, Aug. 1, 1874, he swindled trusted friends on two continents of untold thousands and precipitated an international situation that threatened to become as stormy as his own brief career.

His identity remains a mystery. But as far as history is concerned, he was Lord Gordon Robert, possibly a Canadian.

His exploits have become a favorite topic among historians. The latest account is published in a pamphlet covering three papers recently read before the Historical and Scientific Society of Manitoba. The article was written by J. L. Johnston.

STARTED IN 1868

Ostensibly a polished English gentleman, Lord Gordon as he was known here, first appeared at Glenisla, Scotland, in 1868. As the "Hon. Mr. Hamilton" he let it be known he was heir to the dormant earldom of Glencairn and to a vast fortune held in chancery.

Two years later he vanished with a small fortune bilked from friends and leaving unpaid accounts.

In the summer of 1871, he turned up at an hotel at Minneapolis, Minn., where letters were received addressed to "Lord Gordon Gordon."

Twenty-thousand dollars were deposited in a Minneapolis bank and overnight Lord Gordon became a local celebrity. He mixed pleasure with talk of transporting "poor" folk from his British estates to settle in Minnesota.

NATURAL LURE

Lord Gordon and his talk of settlers was a natural lure to railway agents. He was courted and entertained.

Colonel J. Loomis, land commissioner of the Northern Pacific Railway, "spent $45,000 of railway money but told his directors the noble lord would spend $5,000,000 with them."

Lord Gordon left for New York after leading Minneapolis to believe he would return with 100 of his Scottish families. No one has ever calculated how much Minnesota money went with him.

Lord Gordon achieved his greatest success in New York and made his first blunder. Railway officials again were his prey after he produced excellent credentials.

He barely escaped after trying to swindle Jay Gould, U.S. railway magnate, of valuable stocks and $200,000. The money was returned and Lord Gordon arrested for felony. He fled to Canada when friends posted $37,000 bail.

WHISKED TO BORDER

Later he came to Manitoba and lived at a boarding house in Headingley. Two American detectives, armed with a doubtful warrant, followed him. Lord Gordon was seized and whisked to the U.S. border at Pembina.

The detectives were brought back to Winnipeg—then Fort Garry—and charged with kidnapping. Powerful protests from both sides of the border stopped when the men pleaded guilty and received a 24-hour jail sentence. Sir John A. Macdonald, then prime minister helped gain their release. Gordon, for the moment was free.

When British investigators caught up with him at Headingley he shot himself through the head.

Record of his life on this side of the ocean, including hotel bills, have been preserved, but his correct name has never been discovered.

One article published 53 years ago says his parents were cultured and well-travelled. But it adds they were leaders in a group engaged in international smuggling from the island of Jersey.

Dentless Fenders, Slow-Growing Lawns

By MAURICE F. CRASS, Jr.,

WASHINGTON (NEA). — Your automobile of the future may be equipped with dent-proof fenders which are lighter than metal and tough as leather.

Your next lawn may require a minimum of mowing through the development of a new chemical compound which slows the growth of grass.

CHEMICAL FUTURE: No more dents like the ones above, less work behind the lawn-mower (right) with controlled growth of grass.

These developments are among thousands America's rapidly-expanding chemical industry hopes to perfect by pushing back the frontiers of science and technology by research in the laboratories.

American industry is spending $1,100,000,000 a year in the search for something new under the sun. Research on new chemical products and processes accounts for as much as a third of the total.

Testing effectiveness of new chemicals is one of the cost builders. Such seemingly simple undertakings as finding a new bug-killer may take as much as $250,000 in research.

$6,000,000 ON NYLONS

It cost more than $500,000 to bring out the first can of frozen orange juice, $6,000,000 to bring the first pair of nylons to market, and hundreds of thousands of dollars to wrap the first package of cigarettes in cellophane.

To advance the frontiers of science and technology, America's chemical industry is on the hunt for tens of thousands of scientific pioneers to help develop new processes and new products that will bring new hope to a war-weary world.

These college-trained scientists are urgently needed to man the research laboratories and production lines for both military security and improved civilian living standards.

Thousands of trained men are needed annually to help develop the endless possibilities of chemistry, which have already made United Nations defences more powerful by making us less dependent on foreign imports, created new materials from new sources and new sources for old materials, contributed life-saving drugs, better food, and other health benefits for the nation.

Creating new materials that have no counterpart in nature began with rayon, got its big impetus with the need for synthetic rubber and has blossomed out in the new miracle fibres.

A large portion of the new miracle drugs have been similarly fashioned by taking apart and recombining chemical molecules to give desired properties.

Chemists have so much know-how as a result of these commercial successes that they are ready to embark on experiments that will open many an unknown door.

Here are a few new things that have passed the lab tests with flying colors, along with those dent-proof fenders and stunted grass:

Composition materials that will give leathers durability without scuffing or cracking

Finishing on cooking utensils that nothing can stick to.

Fabrics that can outlast natural fibres and can be cleaned in a jiffy.

Paints and finishes that give a virtual armor plate against the attacks of sun and weather.

Lubricants that stand up for the life of machinery without replacement.

CHEMICALS FROM PETROLEUM

One of the fastest growing elements in the expanding chemical industry is the development of chemicals from petroleum. New research on chemicals from coal promises equally sensational developments for a host of cheaper, more abundant chemical fibres, plastics and fertilizers.

To take care of military demands and consumer and industrial requirements since Korea, the industry is in the middle of an expansion program which will add plants and facilities valued at six and one-half billion dollars.

It is not generally known that almost every product of the chemical industry is funnelled into the defence effort. It has been estimated that 200 different chemicals are required to outfit an infantry platoon and 1,500 to launch a battleship.

One of the major problems confronting the chemical industry today is to produce stronger, faster, tougher, light-weight weapons for our military as well as to maintain research for the betterment of civilian goods.

Working indeepndently or with companies, large or small, the men of chemistry are searching for secrets locked in nature. They are working to perfect low-cost uniform chemicals to extend blood plasma for use on the battlefield and in civilian defence.

They are concocting materials with hitherto unobtainable properties which may one day replace familiar metals in the production of automobiles and other heavy industry equipment.

Almost every day sees new horizons in science and technology. Looking back at us, historians of some future age may well conclude that the world of 1952 was just emerging from the Dark Ages of Science.

Montreal Woman Controls Air Traffic At Dorval

MONTREAL (CP) Frances Oneson is one woman who has to make up her mind quickly—many times a day.

As airport control officer at the big Dorval International Airport, it's her job to see that the 400 planes landing and taking off every day come in and go out without mishap.

That means watching wind speeds and weather conditions, height and flight directions of all aircraft near the field. Particular capabilities of each plane must be taken into consideration.

She started at the airport as an assistant control officer in 1945. She says her chief worry is maintaining order in the clouds, where several planes are sometimes converging while others have just taken off.

"Timing," says Frances. "That's the important factor."

"NO-WRINKLE" SKIRT

NEW YORK—A designer new on the New York scene is Mme. Louise Brune who launched her first wholesale collection here this season. Though well-known in Washington, where she has dressed many of the leading women, this designer makes news here with her patented "no-wrinkle" skirt which she uses with equal elegance in slim and bouffant models.

Escapes Revolution, 'Quake Injured By Simple Fall

LONDON (CP)—A bright-eyed 75-year-old woman now is nursing injuries suffered when she tripped over baby-carriage near her home in Brixton. What made it noteworthy was that she had escaped injury in two revolutions, an earthquake, bombing raids and a shipwreck.

Mrs. Mabel Evans earned the nickname "Lucky Mabel" for such exploits as a near-miss from a bullet during a revolution in Brazil, and for being smuggled to safety in a later uprising after friends were killed. She was the only uninjured survivor on deck after a ship on which she was stewardess sank after a collision.

Later "Lucky Mabel" missed an earthquake that wrecked half of Yokohama by staying on board another ship instead of going ashore. During the war she was three times driven from her London home by bomb blast.

Now she's tied to her top-floor flat and can only hobble painfully on crutches.

TEXTURE TELLS the story in coat fabrics this fall. Here, we show three fabrics getting top fashion emphasis. A brushed fleece (left) is used for this vertically stitched loose coat. High mandarin collar stresses the simple, vertical lines. Sleek, polished zibeline with high lustre is cut (centre) into a double-breasted coat. Sleeves are convertible, can be worn pushed up. High-textured worsted boucle makes a town coat with natural lynx collar (right). Lines of the skirt are soft, are accented by stitched, hip-arching pleats.

Styling Top Talking Point Fall Coats In New Fabrics

Sleek and lustrous or shaggy and whiskery, the fabric in your fall coat will have character. For fashion tells a coat fabric story with many variations this year.

The new shaggy and loopy fabrics are a natural outgrowth of last year's poodle fabric. And while they have a thick look, they're actually lightweight, lending themselves readily to the new coat designs.

Many of the long-haired fabrics look like fur and, in some instances, can fill the bill of fur in a wardrobe where the dollars won't stretch to cover a fur coat or jacket.

For college and career girls, the hairy fabric takes the form of alpaca to make coats that have a rich, deep pile. These are done in many jewel and fur colors and are given a new and sophisticated styling.

Paradoxically, many of the new hairy, furry fabrics have a high lustre. They take naturally to the cut of short, wrappy coats that can see wear right up to the really cold weather where the fur coat takes over.

Sometimes, these short coats are termed "suitcoats" and are paired with skirts in thick fabrics to make the new and much-talked-of winter suits. In such cases, the coats often get a simple cardigan closing.

Magnificence of Collections To Vanishing Luxury World

By ALISON SETTLE

Paris couturiers realize that the world of luxury is shrinking with the fall of one or another monarchy. They have never made more superb collections to demonstrate the belief in the almost fairy-tale world of "grande luxe."

The collection of Jean Desses, the couturier who has dressed Egypt's court ladies, showed hundreds of rich models and had at least a hundred fresh ideas. It was seen at a disadvantage by its audience, however, for only seven hours earlier they had made a journey of fifty miles back to Paris from Jacqques Fath's fete at the Chateau of Corbeville after attending the most brilliant entertainment that the world of couture has yet offered visiting buyers.

This fete was given in honor of Brazil which has invited Mr. Fath, one of the heroes of the Paris couture, as the guest of Brazil to style for their cotton interests.

It was a "Fete de Rio" and romantically gay cottons were worn by the audience as well as by the hundred Brazilians who entered the chateau gardens on horseback to entertain under the trees with dance, song and pageant.

The ideas which the sleepy-eyed audience tried to digest next morning included the luxurious use of sunray shirring of silk, crepes, wool georgette and chiffon to mould the beltless midriffs of Desses' slender dresses, also contrastingly coloured corselets in corsetry shapes dividing the bustline and hip-line of softly falling dresses. High-draped halter collars from shoulder to shoulder hid half the face on coats, and fur rings, equally high, put on and taken off over the head formed a new note.

There was a wealth of goring in nearly straight coats. Scarf drapery on cocktail and dinner dresses is, at Desses' as elsewhere, the note of the season. Here were echoed the dominant color schemes of the season: pomegranate red combined for evening with dregs of wine and ashes of roses in rich though sombre color schemes; olive green combined with garnet red. Yet the greatest applause went to a slender ink-black evening model, which might be named "Mourning Becomes Electra" with long scarf ends covering the throat-line and falling to the ground behind.

Black this year is treated with the utmost respect and is left unrelieved by color touches. For ordinary wear it is replaced by dark anthracite grey.

Jeanne La Faurie shows dresses wholly in line with the new Dior line which is figure-moulding. Some of her scarves form parts of boleros for evening in magnificent copper silks, rose satins and gauzes. Here shawls are freely used as in other collections, some in knitting-wools, others in jewelled satins and tulles.

One dress in La Faurie's collection will surely add to street-traffic dangers: a tall umbrella is carried in a tube made by a fold in the skirt fabric straight from hip-top to hem.

What's Right?

You call your child to do something when he is playing with several children.

WRONG: Speak sharply, making your words an order.

RIGHT: Instead of embarrassing the child by ordering him around in front of his friends, make your voice pleasant as you request, rather than order, him to do what you want.

Before putting a glass utensil over the direct heat, be careful to have the outside dry. Always set a hot pan on a dry surface and use dry pot holders.

Small Pattern Blouses Shown For Collegiate

NEW YORK — Small-patterned blouses, tailored to perfection, are slated to become a number one hit on the campus fashion parade come September.

Washable, wearable, versatile—they can be laundered with little more energy than that expended on a hanky, can serve as foil for a handsome belt, a bit of jewelry at the throat.

The tailored look combines eye-catching fabric with quiet detailing—small, unobtrusive buttons, well-fitting collars, firm all-over stitching on collars and cuffs.

Short sleeves are always in demand for their comfort qualities, but devotees of the long-sleeved model will look for French cuffs to give the dressy touch.

Novelty weaves give a lift to these practical, fashion-wise toppers which can be used as suit blouses, or worn casually, to complement the skirt of your choice. Let the skirt be slim or full—but cinch your waistline with a simple belt, highlighted with a spot of gold (or silver) for glamor.

Fall Fabrics Are Interesting

LOS ANGELES—Fabrics in all [illegible] interesting and included both textured and smooth surface materials. Jerseys were shown in so many varying weaves and weights that they were a fabric story all by themselves. Some were in herringbone patterns or tweed effects. Others were shot with metallic colored lurex stripes, or were woven to have a hand-knit look. Many of these had such an unusual appearance that it was only by touching the material that one could believe it was really jersey.

Another old friend in new dress was corduroy, shown in patterned designs as bold checks, as well as in solid colors. Crepes were a popular material for expressing the softer look.

Must Act To Stem Male Bureaucracy

OTTAWA (CP)—Men are undermining women's rights, says a report on the legal and economic status of women prepared by a committee of the Canadian Federation of University Women.

The report, to be presented by Mrs. W. H. Clarke of Toronto during the federation's triennial meeting here next week, says women must act together to stem this trend.

The report says two highly significant examples of "male bureaucracy at its worst in the past year" were the blue-pencilling of expenditures by the United Nations [illegible] the status of women commission and for the women's affairs section of the high commissioner in Germany.

Fashion Flashes

A TIP TOP seller atop the pretties heads is the shell, which is coming back for fall and is here for late summer selling. This shape is very pretty in felt, one model appliqued all over with tiny French knots to give a textured interest.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVENING PARTNERS, in the form of new separates, go in for much black and black with white. A pleated nylon skirt over taffeta and a sleeveless blouse with deep, scalloped neckline in velvet, adds up to a charming all black yet youthful outfit.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE SPOTS still intact, leopard returns to favor especially for daytime coats. New and beautiul is a full length coat of Somal leopard in a shirred-back, cardigan coat style that the designed says is borrowed from an old-fashioned night shirt.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE SHEEN of pure silk satin is one of the delights of a bridal gown. It is used for a new and beautiful wedding dress made with a snug bodice that dips to a point at the waist, and that is trimmed with three pointed fan inserts of pearl studded lace, also used as collar banding. At the hip is pointed cartridge pleating for side fulness.

Can Man Make Proposal Without Love?

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a 25-year-old divorcee with two young children. I am in love with a man two years my senior, whom I have known for almost twelve years. He seems to care a lot for my sons, and has asked me to marry him. That seems like an ideal situation—yet, I am undecided. He has also been married before and I think he still cares for his ex-wife, who lives in another state. He hasn't seen her for three years, but I know she is a beautiful girl, and I am quite plain. He never kisses me goodnight and has never told me he loves me.

Of course, until last year our friendship was strictly platonic. When he asked me to marry him then I said no, because I couldn't imagine being his wife. During the past year I have learned to care for him. Recently he renewed his proposal and again I asked for more time. He is not demonstrative by nature, I know, but is considerate, kind and understanding. However I don't want to accept a proposal when I'm not sure of having my love returned.

CONFUSED SALLY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly even an undemonstrative man who has asked a girl to marry him should show some signs of affection, even the most elementary one of kissing her goodnight after a date. Since he has proposed, you are entirely within the bounds of propriety to ask if he loves you, should he continue to withhold the information. When he brings up the subject of marriage again, tell him frankly that you care for him and would like to marry him but are too unsure of his feelings towards you. A frank discussion of the problem will clarify many, if not all, of its puzzling aspects.

MAY STILL LOVE WIFE

It is highly probable that he still loves his wife to some extent, though you are worrying needlessly over her superiority in the pulchritude department. Many beautiful girls, simply because of their physical endowments, make very poor wives. They have a tendency to believe that because they have beauty, they are also entitled to eternal homage from all males. Husbands easily tire of kneeling at the feet of an idol and wander off to find the sympathy, understanding and comfort they are denied at home. You probably know the cause of their divorce, and from that can judge how much your friend's feelings are still involved. Most assuredly, if you think he has emotional ties to his ex-wife, stay clear of marriage to him.

You aren't demanding much when you want love from the man who asks to marry you, and I wouldn't advise you to settle for less. Any hurt you sustain now will be small indeed compared to what may follow a marriage with love on one side only.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widower of 49 with a very responsible position and good income. I have been keeping company with a widow, aged 48, for the past three years. She is quite attractive, but likes to flirt and also is too fond of drinking. She says she isn't ready for marriage yet, but wants to continue going with me. Do you think I should continue seeing her without engagement? W.D.R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You would be very foolish to continue going with her—with or without an engagement. First of all, she certainly has no real affection for you, or she wouldn't want to wait; she has no respect for you, or she wouldn't hold you up to ridicule, as her actions undoubtedly must do. A man of your business acumen should have enough experience with people to judge the true from the spurious, and your lady hasn't one bit of genuine womanhood. She is out for a "last fling" before middle age overtakes her, and you'll be welcome to what's left. It won't be much, I assure you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I would like to know where to go to see about adopting a baby.

B.M.R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You have a long, hard pull ahead of you. Adoption is an involved procedure, which, for the good of parents and child, is a long series of legal technicalities. So the sooner you get busy, the better. See the foundling home in your city or an orphanage. They will direct you to the proper central agency.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Pork Chops On Special-Purpose Menu

If you or your family think your cooking is in a rut here's your chance to climb out of it. I'm particularly pleased with the Pilaf and the Apple Squares and think you will want to add them to your files.

Pan Braised Breaded Pork Chops
Turkish Pilaf
Quick-cooked Spinach chopped with butter and lemon
Tossed Green Garden Salad with Garlic French Dressing
Apple Squares with Baumert Coffee

Directions:

PAN BRAISED BREADED PORK CHOPS

Ask the butcher to cut you 1-inch thick sirloin pork chops—1 for each person to be served. (These may be stuffed by making a pocket by slitting lengthwise through fat edge to depth of 2 inches.) Sprinkle with salt and pepper and light breadcrumbs, pressing the crumbs into the moist surface. Dip into beaten egg to which 1 tablespoon water has been added. Dip chops in fine crumbs again. Let stand 20 minutes turning over a few times. Fry slowly, in 1 tablespoon fat to start them, on both sides. Lift out and place on trivet, add ¼ cup boiling water, cover tightly and cook 30 minutes, adding a little more water if needed. Test for tenderness; if not tender in 30 minutes cook them 15 minutes longer.

TURKISH PILAF
(Rice with Vegetables)

In a heavy sauce pan melt ¼ cup shortening, and add to it ½ cup cut up green peppers, 1 cup cut up peeled tomatoes, 1 finely chopped clove garlic, 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms, and gently cook these together for 5 minutes. Wash 1½ cups long grain rice under running cold water in sieve, drain well and add it and 2 cups hot water or clear meat stock. Cover, let come quickly to boil over high heat, add 2 teaspoons salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper, cover; reduce heat in ½ minute to as low as possible. (If electric stove is used turn off heat for 4 minutes.) Cook as slowly as possible for 35 minutes without lifting lid or increasing heat. Do not stir. Rice grains will stick to bottom when this is served, but do not try hard to scrape them off—merely add ¼-inch water to pan after serving, let stand until meal is over and rice will scrape free. Use it for soup.

These are a cross between a pie and a cake and something I am sure you will be glad to add to your desert repertory.

Crust: Into mixing bowl sift 1½ cups sifted bread flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt. Sift these 3 times. Cut into them ¼ cup each butter and shortening and when this is like fine meal slowly stir in ⅓ cup cold milk. Knead on covered board for a few minutes then chill for 15 minutes. A square pan 7 x 7 x 1 inch is ideal. Roll out 2/3 of the dough to fit the bottom and sides. Sprinkle bottom of crust with fine bread crumbs—about 2 tablespoons. Pour in the filling (below) and roll out top crust to make it fit. Moisten edges of botom crust and seal top crust on. Brush it with milk, prick it with fork and bake at 425 deg. Fahr. about 40 minutes. Allow to cool in pan on cake rack. When cold cover with icing made of ¾ cup icing sugar, ¼ teaspoon vanilla and 1 tablespoon hot milk. Let set until cold. To serve, with saw-edged knife cut into squares and serve with cube of Baumert cheese.

Filling: 1½ pounds apples cut into slices as for pie; add these to a syrup of ½ cup each hot water and sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt, brought to boiling point. Cover and cook slowly 15 minutes. Skim out apples. To syrup add 2 tablespoons lemon juice and stir in a paste made of 1 tablespoon cornstarch and 2 tablespoons cold water, until thick. Gently stir in the apples. Let stand until cold, then use as filling for crust. Strew over them 1 tablespoon raisins and 2 tablespoons broken walnuts or pecans and put on top. See above instructions for finishing.

Drunk Driver Jailed 7 Days

James Barry, 52, R.R. 1 Indian River, was sentenced to seven days in jail for drunk driving when he pleaded guilty to the charge in police court today.

He also pleaded guilty to having liquor in a place other than his residence and was fined $15 and $2.50 costs or one month on the liquor charge.

John F. Corkery represented Barry and said his client "considered it in the best interests of everyone that he should plead guilty."

O.P.P. Constable Thomas Fitzpatrick said he was despatched to Highway 7 on August 5 to investigate complaints about a drunk driver. He said he followed a car for about a mile or two which he observed weaving from side to side on the highway. Constable Fitzpatrick said he stopped the car and that the driver, Barry, staggered when he got out of the car, that his speech was thick and that his eyes were bleary.

Constable Fitzpatrick said he found an open case of beer on the front seat of the car.

Troops Pressing Bandit Leader

MANILA (AP)—Filipino troops today seized a hill overlooking Datu Kamlon's forest redoubt in savage hand-to-hand combat with Moro bandits wielding two-foot long Barong knives.

Kamlon and his 300 hardy followers have reneged on a promise to stop thieving raids on Jolo Island in the southern Philippines.

The fierce Filipino Mohammedan bandits, screaming for Christian blood, dropped out of trees and darted from thick undergrowth in the east Jolo jungles to close with government troops.

Twenty of the tribesmen were killed, raising to 27 the number of Kamlon's followers reported killed in the campaign. The army said an undetermined number were wounded.

Government forces said the tribesmen killed three soldiers and wounded six.

Police said a canoe capsized after one of the Indians stood up in it. Bert Lavielle, a third occupant, swam to shore. Neither of the victims could swim.

Reports of the drownings reached this town 125 miles northwest of Sudbury today.

Kimber Succeeds McCullagh As President

TORONTO (CP)—Harry G. Kimber, assistant publisher of the Globe and Mail for several years, today succeeded the late George McCullagh as president of that newspaper and of the Toronto Telegram which Mr. McCullagh also owned.

Mr. Kimber also becomes publisher of the Globe and Mail and acting publisher of the Telegram, also in succession to Mr. McCullagh who died Aug. 5 of a heart attack at his home in suburban Thornhill.

Announcement of Mr. Kimber's new appointment at the Globe and Mail was made only in the newspaper's masthead. Until this morning he was listed there as assistant publisher. Today he is listed as president and publisher.

The masthead also contains announcement that editor-in-chief Oakley Dalgleish has been appointed assistant publisher.

The Telegram, announcing Mr. Kimber's new posts with that paper, said Henry E. Langford, general manager of Chartered Trust Company, has become a new Telegram director.

Chartered Trust is one of the executors of Mr. McCullagh's estate. Other executors are Mr. Kimber, J. Maitland Macintosh, Q.C., Mr. McCullagh's counsel in respect to the Globe and Mail; and John S.D. Tory, Q.C., his counsel in respect to the Telegram.

Yesterday the executors announced application for probate of the McCullagh will "will be made in due course." Their statement gave no indication of the amount of the estate or its disposition.

Officials Proud Of Convict Joe

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—A convict named Joe has pierced the walls that do his prison make, and officials are proud of him.

Joe otherwise unidentified — has built a television set, mainly from salvaged parts and scrap metal from the machine shop at Connecticut state prison. Some parts he bought from his prison pay of $4.65 a month.

Deputy warden George A. Cummings says Joe's set works perfectly.

But prison officials are more pleased with how Joe has rehabilitated himself by working on his window on the world.

From a "Kansas tough guy" three years ago, he became a "model prisoner," Cummings said.

Joe will be up for a parole shortly. His plans for the outside? "I'm getting into television," he says. "There's a great future in it."

Desperate Burglar Decides To Run

LONDON (AP)—"I am a desperate criminal," said the burglar, surprised as Kenneth Munro entered his dining room early today.

"You don't look like one," said Munro. "What do you want?"

"I want money," was the reply.

Then followed this colloquy:

"If you can find any here you are welcome to it. But be quiet about it. I can't have you wakening my wife."

"Oh, I wouldn't dream of doing so."

"You are a fool to break into people's houses."

"You won't tell anyone, will you?

"I'm afraid I must," said Munro and he started for the phone.

"In that case goodbye, and thanks very much," said the burglar.

And out he skipped through an open window.

Cerebral Palsy Workshop Now Teaching Handicrafts

TORONTO (CP) — Thirty-five cerebral palsied adults attend their own organization here every Friday morning.

For one morning a week they get out of homes where many have lived in seclusion all their lives and gather at the adult cerebral palsy workshop. A service club provides transportation to Yorkminster Baptist Church where four Toronto branches of international fraternities provide the personnel for the organization.

In addition to regular physiotherapy treatments and speech therapy for those who need it, the Workshop members learn and practise all kinds of handicrafts. Ceramics, wearing, crochet, woodcarving, felt and leather work help them to earn a little precious independence.

FIRST FOR ADULTS

Clinics and play centres for palsied children have been operation for years in several centres in Canada. This two-year-old organization has pioneered work with adult "cp's."

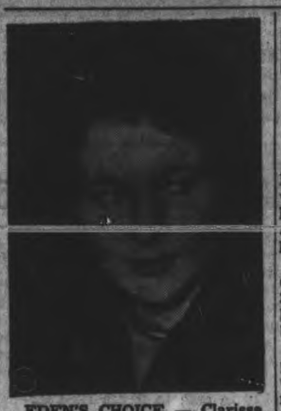
Every phase of activity has shown progress in the two years. Mrs. K. V. Heyland directs the workshop. Dr. Harold Cranfield is volunteer medical director. The paid staff consists of two physiotherapists, one occupational therapist and one speech therapist, while about 50 volunteer workers complete the staff.

Enthusiasm and co-operation are morale builders for the group. Patients never miss a chance to help another more seriously crippled. Morning recreation period will catch the entire group engaged in a lively dance, as participants in wheel chairs or on crutches are pushed or helped by those who can walk.

Scarboro Summer Theatre Closes, Lacks Audiences

TORONTO (CP)—At least one "straw-hat" theatre group has had to close down because it wasn't getting the audiences.

The Scarboro summer theatre which bravely started out to give the suburban Scarboro district top entertainment, had a first-rate auditorium and its troupe was one of the best. Producer Don Glen, who has had previous summer theatre work at Niagara Falls and Peterborough, said its closing was "not defeat, but a withdrawal in order to make our plans for next year."



Since June 30 the group gave the suburban area a sparkling bill of theatre fare. But for the most part it played to many empty seats.

"How can you get the people out?" asked business manager Cal Whitehead, formerly of Vancouver. Some thought it might have been because the players were pioneering in a district that never before had a resident stage company.

Others said the troupe was too far out to draw the Toronto crowds. It takes a trip by bus and streetcar to cover the 15 miles to the theatre from the centre of the city.

Whatever the cause, the company recently put on a superb production of Lesley Storm's family tragedy "Black Chiffon" to such a small audience that the applause made little noise in Scarboro Collegiate's big auditorium.

Company director Robert Christie starred in "Black Chiffon," and another experienced player is Christine Thomas, formerly of the London, Ont., Little Theatre.

Hoping Gov't Will Step In

MONTREAL (CP)—Officials of the National Metal Trades Federation (C.C.C.L.) said today they hope either the provincial or the federal government will step in to head off a threatened strike at the shipyards of the Canadian Vickers, Ltd. About 2,000 workers are involved.

Officials said a unanimous strike vote has been taken following the report of an arbitration board which recommended a pay increase of seven cents an hour. The workers sought 25 cents.

G.T. Payne, union organizer, said federal authorities may intervene because government contracts for shipbuilding are involved. Also, he said, government work at Vickers is on a cost-plus basis.

Another 2,000 shipyard workers at Lauzon, Que., affiliated with the same union, voted in favor of a strike 10 days ago and are awaiting further word from union officials.

Remand Buchner In Assault Case

STRATFORD (CP)—Melville J. Buchner, 33, today was remanded without plea for two weeks when he appeared in court on a charge of assaulting his wife and causing her actual bodily harm.

The charge arose from an incident July 27 when Mrs. Buchner, 28, is said to have fallen from her husband's car and been run over by a car.

Mrs. Buchner has been in hospital since the accident. Last Saturday she underwent an operation for the most serious of several spine fractures. Her condition is satisfactory.

Nurse Attempts To Take Life

WETUMPKA, Ala. (AP) — A middle-aged nurse accused of poisoning her two small nieces injured herself by slashing her wrist with a razor blade last night only a few hours before she was to go on trial on murder charges.

Police said Mrs. Earle Dennison, 54, slipped a piece of razor blade under the covers of her bed at nearby Tutwiler prison for women where she has been held since her arrest three months ago.

She lost about a pint of blood before the incident was discovered.

Mrs. Dennison was to face trial today for the arsenic poisoning of two-year-old Shirley Dianne Weldon who died last May 1. She also is charged with poisoning Shirley's two-year-old sister, Polly Anne, more than two years ago.

The sheriff said the trial probably will be postponed, at least for a day.

Hit Car Ahead In Lineup, Fined On Charge

Being unable to stop in time to avoid hitting the rear of a car which stops suddenly without warning, in a line of traffic constitutes careless driving, Magistrate W. R. Philp ruled in police court today.

Although two drivers involved in a four-car chain reaction collision on the Lakefield Highway the night of June 21 said they were not surprised at what happened, Magistrate Philp convicted John F. Cross, 335 McGill St. of careless driving and fined him $10 and $9.75 costs.

When W. J. Arthur Fair, defending Cross argued it was a case of civil liability at the most, Magistrate Philp disagreed and and said he considered it one of "minor careless driving." He refused Mr. Fair's motion for non suit and after Cross had testified that he was travelling about nine feet behind a car ahead, had no warning and was unable to stop before hitting the rear of it, the magistrate said it was "quite clear how the accident occurred" and that the accident occurred within the careless driving section of the Highway Traffic Act.

Fines for careless driving convictions are usually $10, the minimum and costs, and rarely exceed $15 and costs. Magistrate R. B. Baxter pointed out Tuesday, the really serious penalty is immediate suspension of a convicted man's driving privileges.

John Martell, 715 St. Mary St. said he was driving south from the Drive-in theatre in a line of traffic when a car ahead of him stopped to make a left hand turn and gave no signal or warning. He stopped his truck he said, but his brother, Robert Martell, travelling behind collided with the rear of his truck.

Robert Martell said Cross struck his car in the rear and drove him into his brother's truck stopped ahead of him.

While they were waiting for police, a fourth car driven by Martin C. Johnston came up from behind, and rammed into the rear of the Cross car, causing more damage to all the vehicles than the first collision.

Johnston had already pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge.

Cross said he was travelling close behind the Martell car. He said he saw the truck ahead of the car but had no warning when the Martell car stopped suddenly. He insisted he was keeping a proper look-out and applied his brakes but could not stop in time.

Say Magnusson Top Labor Man

MOSCOW (CP)—Trud, the Soviet trade union newspaper, rates Bruce Magnusson of Port Arthur as top man in Canadian labor.

Magnusson, head of the leftist Canadian Woodworkers Union, is heading a Canadian union delegation visiting Moscow.

Commenting on the visit today, Trud refers to Magnusson as "the leading figure of the Canadian trade union movement."

The paper says the visitors are seeing the sights of Moscow. Yesterday, it said, they met with Russian trade union members and officials.

Magnusson was expelled last year for pro-Communist activity from a post in the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Egyptians Hoping Reforms To Bring Era Of Prosperity

By L.S. CHAKALES

CAIRO (AP)—The ancient land of the great stone cat-face sphinx at Giza has a real new enigma. Can a reform government move feudal Egypt into a modern era of prosperity?

The seizure of power by Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Naguib and the abdication and flight July 26 of playboy King Farouk, may lead to an era of reform and prosperity for Egypt's sweating millions.

On the other hand, Naguib's regime might degenerate into a meaningless political upheaval such as have plagued the land of the pharaohs for 5,000 years.

This country of 20,000,000 persons living on 386,000 square miles of northeast African soil—most of it untillable and burned day after day by a sub-tropic sun—has long labored for an all-powerful king and ruling pasha class.

Naguib has abolished both and seized the king's properties valued at up to $2,000,000,000.

"Inshallah"—by God's will, say the people, confident that the new, almost unknown leader, acting with his hand-picked Premier Aly Maher, will bring about far-reaching social reforms topped by a purge of corruption in the government.

HEARTY AMEN

Foreigners in Egypt add a hearty amen, hoping that such a program will settle popular unrest and give the government confidence to reach a settlement with Britain on the issue of the Suez Canal and control o fthe British-Egyptian Sudan.

This, in turn, could lead to Egyptian membership in a Middle East defence command aimed at preventing the spread of Communism in this cradle of western civilization.

Non-Egyptian inhabitants are already feeling a breath of fresh air. Censorship has been greatly modified; U.S. magazines and papers are admitted, and the new regime repealed a 1949 low limiting foreign investment to 49 per cent of an Egyptian company thereby tacitly asking foreign capital to come back; the British ambassador has been in long and frequent consultation with Maher.

Maher has appointed two purge commissions to check corruption among government employees and officials. He is reported planning a greater distribution of wealth which will raise the standard of living but which will not introduce the Socialist premise of state ownership.

Officials say there is plenty of room for private ownership.

MOSLEM'S BACKING

The military movement led by Naguib and a core of patriotic young senior officers want this program, the people want it and even the powerful Wafd party has joined in the approving chorus.

The powerful Moslem Brotherhood is strongly behind the army movement because it exemplifies its own puritanical demands on public and private behavior.

Among the most popular reforms already accomplished has been the abolishment of Egypt's Gestapo—the dreaded special branch of the police which Farouk and his friends used as a political tool.

Another is the promised reopening of the Palestine war arms scandal which shocked the disgusted Egyptians as few other events have.

Former Prosecutor General Mohammed Azmi, appointed to look into it, says Farouk intervened directly to prevent a thorough airing of charges that palace cronies made fortunes by selling defective arms to the government during the war.

Neither Maher nor Naguib has yet made any major new comment on the British-Egyptian issue or on the possibility of a mid-eastern command. Some sources say they are more interested in getting their internal reform program under way than in getting into these stalemated disputes at present.

Soldier Pays 6-Year-Old Debt

For some unknown reason, a report of honesty in a person is surprising enough to be of news interest. Such an incident was revealed at Army Headquarters this week.

A Toronto man reported to the Adjutant of the Administrative Unit at Army Headquarters with $33.36 in cash to pay a six-year-old debt on his Second World War pay account.

The veteran was discharged from the Army in 1946 on completion of his war service. Early in 1947, he received a letter from the Army's directorate of pay services advising him that he owed $33.36.

When he reported to Army headquarters, five years later, he announced that due to financial difficulties he regretted that he had not been able to clear the debt at the time. Now he had overcome his difficulties and wished to pay up.

Now the Army has its $33.36 and the officers concerned are still open-mouthed.

Fisherman Harpoons 300-Pound Turtle

TERRENCE BAY, N.S. (CP)—Mahlon Slaunwhite sailed out of this village near Halifax to fish for cod, but returned with a giant turtle—believed the largest ever taken in Nova Scotian waters.

Slaunwhite, a fisherman for 30 years, hurled a harpoon into a "strange object" four miles offshore. The water boiled, the harpoon line tightened and the object revealed itself as an enraged 300-pound turtle.

Other fishermen helped Slaunwhite after the turtle, showing no signs of tiring, towed his 33-foot boat almost a mile. A rope was fastened to the reptiles, and it was dragged ashore by two boats.

New Scottish Nationalist Group Formed

EDINBURGH — A new nationalist organization dedicated to the cause of freedom of "English domination," has annouced its formation.

It takes its name, "The 100 Men," from a Scottish declaration made in 1320—400 years before England and Scotland were united under the London Parliament.

The announcement quoted the ancient declaration:

"So long as 100 of us are left alive, we will yield in no way to English domination."

Last night's statement added that judging from recent trends, "Scotland will not achieve independence by political methods."

Chief organization of Scottish nationalists is the Covenant, a society which has long campaigned for an independent government. Several Covenant members have refused to take the rival organization seriously.

When Winston Churchill's Conservative government took over last year, it tried to appease nationalist feeling by giving Scotland extra representation in the Cabinet.

Canada Giving UK $320,000,000 In Aid Program

OTTAWA (CP) — Production Minister Howe announced yesterday a $320,000,000 program to aid the United Kingdom through defence-equipment gifts, purchases and capital assistance. He also denied Canada lacks sympathy for Britain's financial problems.

"The Canadian government is prepared to do more for the U.K. than for any other country in the world," Mr. Howe said in an interview. He said Canada this year will send about $150,000,000 worth of armaments to Britain as a gift under mutual aid, purchase about $100,000,000 worth of defence equipment from British factories and provide some $70,000,000 in capital assistance to help establish some key U.K. defence plants in Canada.

Meanwhile the British Board of Trade announced in London some success in that country's drive to sell more goods to the dollar markets of North America.

Britain's imports last month were still higher than exports—by £69,100,000. But her July exports to North America, estimated at £25,400,000, were 15 per cent above average for the second quarter of the year. Exports to Canada, at £13,400,000, were a third above average to account for most of the increase.

The three-way program announced yesterday will come out of Canada's three-year $5,000,000,000 defence program which began April 1, 1951.

The original defence plan, Mr. Howe said, was to place defence orders in Canada and the United States because of the two countries' standardization program. Canada is trying, however, to place defence orders in the U.K. "Wherever possible outside the Canada-U.S. standardization program."

RATHER SPEND POUNDS

If given an even break on price and a promise of speedy delivery of goods, Canada would "rather spend pounds than dollars."

The Manchester Guardian in a recent editorial criticized Canada

Britain Praises Canada For New Aid

OTTAWA (CP) — Official Britain today heaped praise on Canada for her arms contributions to that financially-hit country.

James Thomson, acting High Commissioner for the United Kingdom, said Canada is taking an "absolutely fine step" in strengthening the defences of a North Atlantic partner.

He was commenting on a statement by Production Minister Howe yesterday that Canada will make a gift of about $150,000,000 worth of arms to Britain this year.

FIRST CLASS GESTURE

"That's absolutely first class," Mr. Thomson said. "Of course, we must remember that not all of the $150,000,000 worth of arms will reach Britain this year. Shipments likely will be spread over a number of years.

"There also is the need for Canada to place even more defence orders in Britain. And don't forget that the Canadian defence orders placed in Britain are helping Canada's own defences.

"Britain has trucks and diesel engines to sell, for example. The $100,000,000 worth of orders placed in Britain is a very nice step in the right direction, but Canada should try to spend even more dollars in Britain."

Lightning Hits Youth 5 Times

SEATTLE (AP)—A young mountain-climber, struck five times by lightning atop Mount Stuart in the cascades, says he considers himself "the luckiest man there is, to be alive."

"After the third bolt, I thought I wanted to die," Alan Robert Grant, 19, said yesterday.

Grant's companion, Paul Brikoff, 20, was killed in the storm that struck just after they reached the summit of the 9,470-foot peak last Sunday.

Grant spent three days on the mountain waiting rescue. He was removed by helicopter yesterday.

Hospital attendants here said the youth suffered third-degree burns on his back and second degree burns on his right leg and thigh.

Deny Japan Attempting Regain Naval Power

TOKYO (Reuters)—Press reports that the government is planning the first moves towards Japan regaining her position as a leading naval power were described today as "premature" by the transport ministry.

According to the reports, which the government would neither confirm nor deny, the new National Security Board has asked shipbuilders for bids on destroyers up to 2,000 tons with a maximum speed of 30 knots. The stories also said the government plans to open a staff college for a new Japanese navy and army which would give cadet officers four years' training.

The reports were published as the country was awaiting the outcome of a Socialist party suit against the government, charging that the 1946 constitution renouncing war has been violated by budget provisions earmarking the equivalent of $510,000,000 for rearmament.

The court battle began three months ago when the Socialist party, led by Mosaburo Suzuki, its general-secretary, charged that the Japanese people should not be taxed for parts of the current budget covering the rearmament funds.

Order Death Penalty For Egyptian Rioters

CAIRO (CP)—Egypt's strong-arm reform government ordered the death penalty last night for riot agitators after announcing seven persons had been killed in labor demonstrations outside Alexandria.

Premier Aly Maher hustled a military inquiry court to Alexandria to seek out the riot-rousing elements and punish them with extreme measures.

Two workers died in a hospital last night, raising the toll from Tuesday's riot to seven: Two army soldiers, one policeman and four workers.

The government said 25 others were injured.

Marines Beat Back Two Red Attacks

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—United States Marines beat back two fierce Communist attacks Wednesday night and today to retain their newly-won hold on Bunker Hill in western Korea.

The battalion-sized Red assaults were the third and fourth futile attempts to recapture territory seized early Tuesday by the Marines.

A United Nations briefing officer said Communist casualties were heavy. By mid-day, he said, dead enemy soldiers lay sprawled in groups on the scarred slope of the hill, only four miles east of Panmonjum, the truce-talks site.

Red machine-gunners early today infiltrated the crest of nearby Siberia Hill—also captured Tuesday by the Marines. But Allied troops silenced the guns in 15 minutes.

The Communists preceded their Wednesday-night assault on Bunker Hill with a three-hour artillery barrage.

Canadian Veterans Returning To Dieppe

MONTREAL (C:) — Representatives of every unit that took part in the Dieppe landing in France 10 years ago Tuesday assembled in Royal Montreal Regiment armory today preparatory to leaving by air for Paris and the annual memorial service at the little French seaside resort.

Col. W.D. Dick, chief of staff of Quebec Command and in charge of the party, briefed the 36 officers and men.

There were 16 from Central Command units, with the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry represented by Col. Dick, highest-ranking officer to make the trip, and Cpl. W.A. King, one of four corporals, lowest rank going to the ceremonies.

Iran's Peasants Getting Share Of Produce

TEHRAN (AP)—Iran's Downtrodden peasants looked forward today to a "new deal"—an extra 10-per-cent cut from the giant-sized landlord's share of what they produce.

The decree ordering a better break for the poverty-stricken farmers was issued yesterday by Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

It also specified that landlords must deposit another 10 per cent of the income from their estates in special rural banks to aid needy farmers.

ANTI-RED MOVE

The first decree is expected to take some of the wind out of Communist propaganda blasts for land and agricultural reforms. Most of Iran's arable land is owned by a comparative handful of large landholders.

Until now, Iranian peasants have received only a tiny share of what they produced.

Mossadegh also was reported ready to levy a two-per-cent tax on landlords to meet the near-bankrupt government's bills.

Iran has been suffering financially since it nationalized Iranian properties of the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company last year and Britain retaliated with a blockade of Iranian oil.

Crack Air Cadets Of Canada Inspect City, C.G.E. Plant

Forty-eight crack air cadets—a select group from every province in Canada—arrived today from Trenton air station to inspect the Peterborough works of the Canadian General Electric Co. Smartly dressed in their summer uniforms, the cadets debarked from two blue R.C.A.F. buses and began their conducted tour of the plant. Guides and demonstrators were given an exacting barrage of questions by the technically-minded cadets who were determined to learn the electrical manufacturing business in a single day.

They only paused long enough for a hearty lunch in the cafeteria as guests of the company.

The cadets were greeted as their buses pulled into the Park St. gate by Robert M. Hardie, personnel supervisor, and Ben Smith and Maurice Coderre, also of personnel. Pausing long enough for a few shots by press photographers they then lined up quickly, broke up into small groups of six or eight, and began their plant-wide inspection.

They were in charge of Sqdn. Ldr. A. W. Green, C. O. of 13 Air Cadet Squadron, Windsor, and director of athletics at Kennedy Collegiate there. Also Sqdn. Ldr. Arthur Ireland, O. C. of the cadets' training course and liaison officer with the Peterborough Squadron 534.

Army Of 1,000 Firefighters Trying To Halt Forest Blazes

VANCOUVER (CP)—Flaming Forests today pinned down an army 1,000 strong in British Columbia. Altogether some 150 fires were burning throughout the province. The forest service described the fire situation as "the worst it's been this year."

No rain has fallen in B.C. for three weeks.

The three biggest fires, all out of control, have raced through an estimated 7,500 acres of timberland in the Okanagan, Cariboo and Bella Coola valleys.

CARIBOO BLAZE WORST

At Kelowna, hundreds of persons thronged the beaches of Okanagan Lake last night to watch flames devour 1,500 acres of forest on Blue Grouse Mountain, eight miles away.

A 5,000-acre fire near Burns Lake in the Cariboo was reported penetrating deeper into rich timber stands, advancing about two miles an hour under a steady wind.

A 1,000-acre fire, meanwhile, continued to sweep ahead at Mosher Creek in the Bella Coola valley, inland about mid-way between Vancouver and Prince Rupert.

Dynamite Blast Kills Worker

PERTH (CP) — Myles Vanalstine, 45, of Sharbot Lake, was fatally injured yesterday by a dynamite blast on a road under construction near Sharbot Lake, 25 miles west of here and 45 miles north of Kingston.

With two other men, he was caught in the blast from a stick of dynamite which failed to detonate with several others.

David Crawford is in hospital here suffering from cuts from flying rock and shock. The third worker, Stanley Asseltine, was shaken by the blast but was able to walk a quarter-mile through the bush to a neighboring farm for aid.

BULLETIN

A tender of $1,344,447 by A. M. Sullivan and Sons Ltd., of Arnprior was the lowest of five tenders received by the Department of Public Works for the new Public Federal Building to be erected on Charlotte St. Tenders closed on Wednesday and it will be about three weeks before a definite decision on the letting of the tender will be made by on Order in Council, Robert Fourtier, executive assistant to works minister Alphonse Fourier said today in making the announcement. The second tender was for $1,347,000 but the name of the company was not disclosed.

Keenleyside Sounds Warning

Army Defence, Aid To Hungry Inseparable

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP)—Dr. H.L. Keenleyside of the United Nations says he sees "disaster" in treating western military defence and aid to impoverished countries as separate problems.

This separation, "a very real mistake," is a prelude "to sure and imminent disaster," he said last night at the Couchiching conference sponsored by the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs and the C. B. C.

Little time remains for the free world to rectify its mistake, warned Dr. Keenleyside, director-general of the technical assistance administration of the U. N.

The problems of Communist imperialism and the active revolt of two-thirds of the people of the world against their sufferings must be tackled as one "for they are two facets of the same flawed stone."

"We cannot defeat the totalitarian threat," said Dr. Keenleyside, "if we lose two-thirds of humanity to the totalitarian philosophy. . . The two causes are inseparably united. If we lose on one front we lose on both."

CRITICAL OF ABBOTT

He was critical of Finance Minister Abbott's view that as far as Canada was concerned the present division of approximately $100 for direct defence to $1 for technical and economic aid was about right.

Such a distribution of democratic resources was "dangerously unrealistic." While it was probably true that Canadians were not prepared to make the additional financial sacrifices necessary to provide both kinds of protection, it was not necessarily the final word of the Canadian people on the subject.

"This is a time for leadership, not for simple compliance with existing opinion. Popularity is not the final test of governmental greatness."

WELFARE PROGRAM

Yesterday at nearby Geneva Park, R. E. G. Davis of Ottawa, executive director of the Canadian Welfare Council said the council has prepared a report recommending a general assistance program for employable and unemployable Canadians.

He spoke at a panel discussion on the adequacy of Canadian welfare programs. The report, to be issued shortly, would recommend that the assistance program be operated by provincial and municipal governments with the support of substantial federal grants.

R. A. Farquharson, editor of Toronto Saturday Night, said suburban municipalities are for the most part avoiding low-cost housing programs because of educational and other costs.

GUELPH (CP)—A 65-year-old woman and her two grandchildren were found dead early today after a fire swept through several downtown stores and filled apartments over them with dense smoke. Firemen found the bodies of Mrs. Eva McCullough, David Nichol, 7, and his sister, Bonnie Lee, 2, huddled in a second-floor bathtub. They had fallen through a burning floor. Until the bodies were found it was believed that all occupants of the building had escaped to safety down a fire escape after the blaze broke out around 10 p.m.

60 LEFT HOMELESS

The fire caused extensive damage to more than 20 apartments and left 60 persons homeless. Damage was estimated at $250,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Nichols, parents of the two children, live in nearby Eden Mills. They brought the youngsters to be cared for by Mrs. McCullough while they went out for the evening. They returned to find all three dead.

The blaze was fought by every available piece of fire-fighting equipment in Guelph, Kitchener, Rockwood and Acton. Dense clouds of smoke covered the downtown section after flames broke out in the Wolfond Auto Parts building on MacDonell Street and spread to adjoining clothing and hardware shops. From there it swept up into the Wolfond and Spegel apartments.

The fire was finally brought under control early today, more than two hours after its unexplained start.

The entire auto parts shop, reopened yesterday after being renovated, was burned out. Smoke and water damage to second and third-storey apartments was extensive.

BOY CALLED HELP

First to discover the fire at 9:30 last night was a Guelph boy, Ron Horn. He broke open the door of the auto parts shop and looked for a fire-extinguisher. Unsuccessful, he raced out again and called the fire department.

Firemen were on the scene quicly but were handicapped by a shortage of men. Civilian bystanders volunteered their services.

Union Membership Sets Canadian Record

OTTAWA (CP) — Labor union membership in Canada stands at a record high, the Labor Department said today.

It reported that the 41st annual survey of union membership showed that 1,146,121 Canadians now belong to unions and that a higher proportion of workers now are unionized than ever before.

Topping the list is the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada which claims the allegiance of 522,965 workers or nearly half the over-all total.

The Canadian Congress of Labor has 330,778.

The increase over the over-all 1951 figure was 117,600 but the department said some of this was made up of 24,350 workers not included in last year's total because they were in independent units not surveyed then.

More than 30 per cent of the labor force belongs to unions, the department said. The jump of 117,600 was one of the largest in years.

There are 108 international and 62 national and regional organizations in the union field.

Belgium's Conscription Cut New Headache For Ridgway

WASHINGTON (AP)—Belgium's decision to cut down its military conscription period created new and unexpected troubles for Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's European army.

The Brussels government decided yesterday to knock three months off the 24-month service period for conscripts. It had failed the previous day to get neighboring countries to agree on a common two-year training program.

United States officials, testifying before Congress on foreign aid in March and April, predicted several recent European developments, including the economic troubles which evidently have cancelled plans to raise 50 divisions by the end of this year.

They said they wanted to increase the training of reserves throughout western Europe, as the key to the whole defence plan, and they said this would create difficult problems.

NO HINT OF CUT

But there was no hint they expected any European country to cut down on the length of conscript service.

Belgium is the only member of the European defence community with a two-year service period. Britain, not an E. D. C. member, has a two-year period.

Ridgway, supreme Allied commander, had told the E. D. C. representatives that two years' training was the minimum for the calibre of reserve troops needed. American officials in Europe say manpower is sufficient for a two-year period.

The most important effect of the Brussels action is apt to be psychological. If this movement spreads or the Communists succeed in capitalizing on it, the European build-up could be drastically affected.

Young Bandit, 13 Almost Escapes On Toronto Train

TORONTO (CP)—A tiny two-gun bandit on the loose here yesterday almost escaped by train.

The 13-year-old boy met his folly when he marched up to a ticket agent and asked for a ticket "to wherever the next train's going."

Suspicious of the boy, armed with two toy guns, the agent phoned police. The boy fled the station but was arrested later.

STOLE $25

Police said the lad had broken into an apartment and taken $25 and a wrist watch. Although he had little knowledge of operating a car, he took one from a parking lot but later abandoned it after hitting a post and a parked car.

Charged with housebreaking and car theft, he was lodged in a shelter.

World Cruise Ends In Jail

GUELPH (CP)—Lawrence Guy, 22, of Windsor yesterday ended a world cruise with a two year term in Guelph reformatory, the same prison from which he escaped almost two years ago.

The court was told Guy visited the United States, France, England, Belgium and the Belgian Congo during his 23 months of freedom. On the way he saw his wife and child in Ireland.

In England and Ireland Guy was charged with housebreaking. He once surrendered to the Canadian embassy in Paris, France. Finally he was arrested in Montreal and returned to Guelph for trial.

Guy fled the reformatory Sept. 21, 1950 with four others who were later recaptured in the United States and Canada.

Guy was sent back to the reformatory for two years when he pleaded guilty to breaking out of the institution. The sentence is concurrent with the 24 months which still remain of the original term he was serving.

Red Wings Sell Two Players

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Red Wings today announced the sale of right-wing Fred Glover and left-wing Enio Sclisizzi (Jim Enio) to Chicago Black Hawks for an undisclosed amount.

Both played a portion of the 1951-52 National Hockey League season for the Wings.

Glover, 24-year-old native of Toronto, last season played 54 games for the Wings, scoring nine goals and nine assists.

Sclisizzi, who plays under the name of Jim Enio, first joined the Wings during the 1947 Stanley Cup playoffs.

N. Carolina Fireman Swimming Channel

CAP GRIS NEZ, France (AP)—Bob Paysour, 24-year-old Gastonia, N.C., fireman plunged into the water from the French coast at noon GMT (8 a.m. EDT) today to attempt to swim the English Channel.

The weather was good. Experts of tides and other vagaries of the tough channel said Paysour had a good chance to make the crossing.

The straight-across distance to Britain is 21 miles, but swimmers often cover three times this distance battling the powerful channel currents.

Paysour, who specialized in long distance swims in rivers in the United States, was trained by Britain's Sam Rocket, who swam the channel a year ago.

Head Of Bank Fakes 100 Statements

Helps Many People Get U.S. Visas Testimony Given

DETROIT (CP)—The story of how the faked bank statements were used to provide some 100 Canadians with United States visas was told at a deportation hearing here yesterday.

Roy H. F. McBride, former Windsor, Ont., bank manager, said he faked an asset statement for Everett E. Glassco, 25. He said he provided similar false papers for some 100 Canadians.

Glassco told the hearing he received a U. S. visa in January and entered the U. S. The hearing now is discussing his deportation.

McBride, manager of a branch of the Provincial Bank of Canada the asset statements on behalf of Mrs. Marguerite Prest, Windsor public accountant.

SAID BALANCE $3,461

The statement declared Glassco opened an account with the bank and that his balance at the time of the statement was $3,461.18. Actually his balance was $2.01, McBride said.

U. S. law requires that a visa be granted only to an applicant who can show a substantial bank balance or who is sponsored by a U.S. citizen who will guarantee that he will not become a public charge for five years.

McBride said Mrs. Prest paid him $5 for faking the statement for Glassco.

Glassco testified McBride gave him the bank statement when he gave McBride a sealed envelope from Mrs. Prest.

In Washington the attorney-general's office said no charges will be laid either against McBride or Mrs. Prest.

In Windsor Crown Attorney Bruce J.S. MacDonald had no comment on the Glassco hearing.

Cave Explorer Badly Injured

LICQ ATHERAY, France (Reuters)—A French cave-explorer suffering from "cavern disease"—acute depression caused by five days down the world's deepest known pot-hole—fell 130 feet while being hauled to the surface yesterday.

Fellow-members of the expedition exploring the 1,660-feet Pierre St. Martin cave found Marcel Loubens lying unconscious. They feared his back was broken.

They expected raising the injured man by electric winch and cable would be a tricky and dangerous operation.

Just before the accident, Loubens and his three companions discovered a new cave, joined by a passage to the vast "Elizabeth Casteret Grotto" which they were exploring. They reported that the two caverns were roughly the same size—900 feet long, 465 wide and about 300 feet high.

Canadian Team Will Watch U.K. Atom Tests

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is going to participate in the British atomic weapon tests of Australia this fall, it was indicated authoritatively yesterday.

A small team of scientists, possibly headed by Dr. O. M. Solandt, is expected to fly to Australia within a month to become the first Canadians to take an active role in a controlled nuclear explosion.

The last Canadian contact with an atomic blast came in the United States' Bikini tests of 1946 but the Canadians there were only observers. In Australia, they will actually participate.

This opportunity has been greeted warmly here because Canadian officials have for some years now been hoping for a chance to gain first-hand knowledge of by far the most lethal of all weapons. They have been blocked off from U.S. tests by tough American security barriers.

This is Britain's first test and arrangements for Canada to participate fit into traditional pattern.

15 Per Cent Increase Granted To Union

JAMESTOWN (CP)—A 15-per-cent hourly wage increase was the major clause in a working agreement approved yesterday by members of local 3933, United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) employed at the Helen Mine and plant. The mine is owned by Algoma Ore Properties, a subsidiary of Algoma Steel Corporation.

The wage increase means a minimum of 20 cents an hour extra for the local's 353 members. Basic wage at the Helen Mine under the old contract was $1.20.

The agreement is retroactive to Feb. 1.

Jamestown is 175 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie.

60 Homeless

Among them was 37-year-old Norman Mayot of Brantford, who poured water on the blaze for nearly two hours. He is working here temporarily.

The flames spread quickly to the upstairs apartments and one mother came onto a balcony with her child in her arms. Persons in the crowd below urged her to throw the baby down but she was persuaded by firemen to step back. She was guided down the fire-escape.

ORDER INQUIRY

The Fire Marshal's office has ordered an investigation into the cause of the fire, still smouldering today.

Firemen wrapped the bodies of the children and the grandmother in a single blanket and lowered them from the building nearly six hours after the fire broke out.

The auto parts store, a department-store, a plumbing and tinsmith shop, a furniture store and a feed-mill, were destroyed. Smoke and water damage was heavy to the apartments above the stores although many residents were able to save clothing and furniture.

The 77-year-old brick buildings were owned by Joseph Wolfond, who operated the auto parts shop.

Test Pattern For Toronto TV

TORONTO (CP)—Regular transmissions of test pattern over Toronto's television station, CBLT, channel 9, start tomorrow.

They will be on the air from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. daily until Aug. 22. Music will accompany the showing of the station's call letters during the evening transmission, while a steady tone will be broadcast with the afternoon transmission.

Fergus Mutrie, CBC TV director for Toronto, said the test pattern is intended to enable engineers to check equipment and to provide viewers and television dealers with a chance to check set reception on channel 9 prior to the start of test programs Aug. 22. Official opening of the station is scheduled for Sept. 8.

Flash transmissions of the test pattern last week brought favorable reception reports from as far away as Cobourg, Kitchener and London.

nical Training Course at Trenton.

The air cadet membership in Canada is about 26,000. From this total enrolment, 160 names were submitted for the new course; 48 of them—16 years of age or over and with at least two years' air cadet experience—were selected to go to Trenton.

All 10 provinces are represented: four from British Columbia, four from Alberta, five from Saskatchewan, three from Manitoba, 16 from Ontario, eight from Quebec, four from Nova Scotia, two from New Brunswick, one from Prince Edward Island, and one from Newfoundland.

No Peterborough boys were eligible because the squadron here has been in operation only one year.

"It's an experiment and it's working out well," was the verdict of Sqdn. Ldr. Ireland. "The cadets were specially picked and have a 306-hour syllabus. Eighty-four hours are on technical work —taking apart and assembling an Outboard Marine "ironhorse" motor. This teaches them something about carburation and the general principle of an internal combustion engine.

LECTURES

"They also get lectures in Air Force law, career opportunities in the R.C.A.F., discipline and deportment, service customs and dress, sanitation and hygiene, 45 hours of drill, 45 hours of sport, 25 hours for an effective speaking course.

"The cadets not only get instruction during their course but they are trained to get up and deliver an effective lecture on what they have learned. In that way they'll be of use to the others in their home squadrons when they return.

"We also teach citizenship," said Sqdn. Ldr. Ireland, "Cadets from British Columbia work beside others from Nova Scotia or others from inland provinces. In that way they get to know and respect their fellow Canadians.

"Our aim is to acquaint them with Air Force life in this seven-weeks course and send them back better cadets."

GET TROPHY

On August 21 the boys will have a graduation ceremony and the President's Trophy —donated this year by Harold L. Garner of Peterborough, president of the Air Cadet League of Canada — will go to the cadet showing greatest all-round proficiency.

They have also visited a Kingston factory and inspected the Royal Military College there. Several three-hour cross-country flights have been arranged for them and each cadet has been at the controls of the aircraft for at least 10 minutes.

Their inspection of the C.G.E. plant is just another part of their technical education. But before they get their Air Force bus to go back to Trenton they'll have an hour or so of spare time.

"That's generally long enough for most of them to jot down the address of one or two girls they happen to meet," remarked Sqdn. Ldr. Green.

Sounds like the same old Air Force.

for maintaining an "Olympian detachment" toward Britain's financial plight.

"We hold no Olympian detachment toward Britain," the minister said. "We are sympathetic to her financial problems . . . in fact, the Canadian government is prepared to do more for the U.K. than or any other country in the world. We would do almost anything to help balance U.K. trade."

The basic cure to British trade problems, however, would have to come from Britain herself.

"No one can really get a country out of financial difficulties unless it is that country herself. Britain must make more goods and sell more goods, particularly to the dollar countries of Canada and the United States."

Anthony Eden Married Quiet Ceremony

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today married his boss's niece, 32-year-old Clarissa Spencer-Churchill, in a brief civil ceremony.

Prime Minister Churchill was a witness as the daughter of his dead brother was united with his 55-year-old political heir apparent in London's Caxton Hall.

It was Eden's second marriage and his bride's first. Because of his divorce two years ago from the former Beatrice Beckett, today's ceremony could not be performed in the Church of England.

CROWD CHEERS

Eden drove to the hall with his elder brother, Sir Timothy Eden, through a crowd estimated at some 2,000. The bridegroom wore a blue lounge suit with a white carnation in his buttonhole. He waved and beamed as the spectators clapped and cheered.

Ten minutes later the bride arrived, accompanied by her brother John. She wore a lilac taffeta dress with a dark, close-fitting hat and veiling.

The 77-year-old prime minister arrived with his wife and walked slowly up the steps of the hall. Mrs. Churchill wore mauve.

NO ROYALTY

None of the Royal Family was present. British royalty doesn't attend the weddings of divorced persons.

The prime minister smiled approvingly as the bride and the handsome diplomat signed documents completing the civil marriage.

It was all over within five minutes.

Outside Caxton Hall the sun shone brilliantly and spectators created the biggest traffic jam since the marriage of movie stars Elizabeth Taylor and Michael Wilding in the same room a few months ago.

BRIDE DEMURE

Between lines of spectators rode mounted policemen. A hundred constables on foot joined hands to form a chain as Eden and his bride came down the red carpet to the front door a few minutes before noon.

The bride posed demurely beside her husband for dozens of photographers.

The foreign secretary carried an "Anthony Eden" homburg, designed especially for him.

Village Hampers Murder Inquiry

LURS, Frace (AP)—A conspiracy of silence among the people of this southern France mountain region has hamstrung the solving of the Drummond murder case, Police Commissioner Edmond Sebeille said today.

Sebeille's statement followed 10 days of fruitless searching for the killer who shot British food expert Sir Jack Drummond, Lady Drummond, and smashed in the skull of their 11-year-old daughter, Elizabeth.

"I'm convinced I know the assassin. I am almost certain to have questioned him, but I haven't been able to trip him up in his declarations," said Sebeille, adding:

"Everyone we question seems to be motivated by the same bad faith. They deliberately misinterpret our questions and are evasive."

The Drummonds were murdered as they camped beside the roadside here Aug. 5.

Reds In Peiping Arrest Chinese Dean

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Communist China has placed Prof. T.C. Chao, dean of the theological faculty University of Yen Ching, under house arrest, the World Council of Churches said today.

Dr. Willem Visser't Hooft of Holland, general secretary of the world council, told a press conference Chao was arrested because he believed Christian loyalty came before national and other loyalties and because he was a firm believer in world-wide Christian unity.

Dr. Visser't Hooft said the university, located near Peiping, was abolished.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

Baby Boy Killed In 14-Storey Fall

NEW YORK (CP)—A baby boy, toddling about a lower East Side apartment, fell 14 storeys from a window last night. He died five hours later.

The child was 17-month-old John Robinson, Jr. Escaping the notice of his mother, he crawled onto a small bench, then onto a radiator and toppled from the window.

Dies At Resort

PERTH (CP)—Ralph Diehl, 52, of Allantown, Pa., died last night at a summer resort 28 miles northwest of here. He is believed to have suffered a heart attack and fallen from a boat into Patterson Lake.

Rob Bank Manager

WARREN, O. (AP)—Three men masked with burlap sacks forced the car of a Warren bank official off the road today and robbed him of about $71,000 in cash.

The holdup was staged seven blocks from the main business section. Manager Charles Foley was taking the money from the Union Savings and Trust Company's main building to his branch.

Police quoted him as saying two of the men leaped out of the holdup car with a sawed-off shotgun and a revolver after cutting in front of him with their auto.

Ottawa Experts See Earthquake

OTTAWA (CP)—An earthquake shook some portion of the world today and Canadian scientists at the Dominion Observatory here "saw" it for the first time.

A new visible quake recorder which shows the tremors as a wiggly line on a piece of tape has just been installed at the observatory. Scientists didn't have to wait long for it to go to work.

At 12:23 p.m., the tape showed a relatively small tremor somewhere. The tremors are recorded on the observatory's seismograph which passes the impulses electrically to the visible recording tape.

Previously, quakes were recorded photographically in the dark chamber where the seismographs are kept. They were developed every 24 hours.

Today's quake was not a large one. Its direction and distance from Ottawa could not be determined.

Kept Girl's Body 8 Years Eccentric Technician Dies

ZEPHYR HILLS, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Karl Tanzler von Cosel, 83, who so loved a woman that he kept her body for eight years and serenaded her nightly with organ music, is dead.

The circumstances of his own passing were as dismal as his life with the corpse of beautiful Elena Mesa. His decomposing body was found in his house. Police said he had been dead three weeks.

The coroner said death resulted from natural causes for the eccentric x-ray technician.

BODY IN SHACK

Von Cosel received international publicity in 1940, when the body of Miss Mesa was found in the tumbledown shack where he lived in Key West.

While he was working in a hospital he met and fell in love with the 19-year-old girl who died of tuberculosis. He obtained permission from her family to build a vault for her in the city cemetery.

Eight years later, deputies found the girl's body in a canopied bed. It was dressed in a filmy negligee and adorned with jewels and there were fresh flowers in her hair. Von Cosel had a closet full of bridal finery in which he dressed his lost love.

CHARGED BUT RELEASED

He was charged with disturbing a grave and vandalism but the charges later were dismissed.

Von Cosel told officers he had taken the girl's body from the tomb. He claimed that she sometimes came to life and talked with him.

He built an organ to serenade her and said he preserved her with chemicals he mixed in a vat.

The present resting place of Miss Mesa never was disclosed by the family. All members of her immediate family have since died of

Beer Bottle Frightens Gunman Away

WINDSOR (CP)—A service station proprietor told today how a hurtling beer bottle and a shotgun blast routed a gunman who tried to hold up four persons shortly after midnight.

As Harold Donnelly was sitting with his wife and another couple in living quarters at the rear of Donnelly's Auto Service in Windsor's western outskirts, he said, a man thrust a revolver around an outer door and barked:

"This is a stickup. Stay where you are."

Mrs. Donnelly jumped to the door to push it against the gunman, her husband said.

Donnelly grabbed a beer bottle and hurled it through a window at the top of the door.

Then he ran to the next room, got his loaded shotgun and fired a blast through the window.

"Between the beer bottle and the shotgun, I think the man was frightened away."

Official Sticks To Predictions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Price stabilizer Ellis Arnall today stuck to his prediction that the United States is in for another round of price increases that will send living costs zooming to a new high this fall.

The price chief, who plans to quit Sept. 1, told a reporter all signs point to increasing inflation in the next three months or so.

Arnall's associates in price policy-making, Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer and Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam, have discounted the likelihood of any big push in prices, but Arnall said he believes the steel price boost and rising wages in other industries will provide the spark to set off price increases.

"I still stick to my prediction that living costs of every family will go up at least $100 a year as a result of the price boost for steel," Arnall said. "I feel that is a conservative figure because of other factors involved. . ."

New Anti-Smoke Bylaw Passed At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A new anti-smoke bylaw was passed at the August meeting of the Campbellford town council when the members met in session this week. The new bylaw, introduced by Reeve R. J. Locke, limits to six minutes out of each hour, the time during which smoke may be discharged from chimneys of industrial plants or apartment houses, or other such establishments where the discharge of smoke is greater than normal heating requirements.

Councillor MacMillan in his report as chairman of the property committee, said that in view of of the condition of the grounds surrounding the cenotaph, the present caretaker, Mr. Clayton Hennessy be dismissed and a new man hired. Mr. Macmillan said that although Mr. Hennessy had discharged his duties well in some instances, especially in the upkeep of the cenotaph and the grounds immediately surrounding it, he had neglected the upkeep of two new lots that have been filled and seeded adjacent to the old grounds. The salary in 1951 for the season job was $150, and the 1952 salary was increased to $250, the extra $100 being for the additional work involved in keeping up the new lots. Mr. Hennessy said he had not understood there had been an extra $100 allowance for keeping up the new grounds, and said that he had put forth his best efforts in keeping up the grounds, and wanted council to recognize the fact. The matter was left with the property committee with power to act.

Permission was granted the Boy Scouts to hold their annual Apple Day on Saturday, Oct. 11. The lads were given the use of the council chambers as a headquarters.

A bylaw transferring the two lots on Market St. to the Brewer's Warehousing Company was passed, and the lots are now officially turned over to the company.

The property committee reported they were awaiting for more warfrain to use in killing rats at the town dump. The rats have eaten up all of this material that was on hand, and Councill MacMillan said he was anxious to feed them some more when a new shipment arrived.

After hearing an application from Constable W. E. Cargin for a raise in pay, council decided to grant both the chief and the night constable an equal amount. Each was given an additional $150 as of August 1.

Speech Clinic Helps Veterans

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The University of Michigan speech clinic today reported success in treatment of two war veterans who lost the power of speech because of head injuries suffered in combat.

Art Weberlein, 29, of Detroit, and Bill Fletcher, 28, of Galatia, Ill., now can speak easily and fluently.

Post-war medical treatment failed to restore their power of speech. Weberlein came to the speech clinic in 1949 and Fletcher in 1951.

Both went through courses in speech production and usage, reading, writing, business, arithmetic, spelling and current events. The studies were designed to train some other part of the brain to take over the job of controlling speech.

The clinic is a pioneer in the study of aphasia—technical designation of a brain injury case in which the use of language has been disturbed.

82,000 Tons Of Rubber Supplied Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The free countries supplied Russia and Communist China with about 82,000 tons of natural rubber in the first half of 1952, the United States commerce department reported today.

Great Britain was the chief supplier, shipping about 59,000 tons to Russia. American officials said this material undoubtedly could have been of some strategic value to Communists in Korea and elsewhere.

Planes and trucks and other equipment used by the Reds in Korea which require rubber have borne marks of manufacture in Russia.

Under a United Nations resolution of May, 1951, Communist China was branded an aggressor and an embargo was clamped on shipment of strategic goods to the Chinese.

Britain, Malaya and other countries have interpreted this embargo as against rubber, and they have stopped all shipments. But Ceylon, not a member of the U.N., was reported by the commerce department to have shipped almost all of China's imports this year.

Shipments to Russia do not violate directives of the U.S. or the U.N. A U.S. law says countries which ship strategic materials to Communists may be stricken from the U.S. foreign aid program. But this law does not list raw rubber as a strategic material.

Convert Ferry Slip For Oil Tankers' Use

COBOURG (ENS) — Work has started on the ob of converting the ferry slip pier for use by oil tankers during the period in which the centre pier is being repaired. The ferry slip has not been used since the car ferries went out of operation and in order to permit the oil tankers to unload here while their customary dock at the centre pier is being repaired it was decided to adapt the ferry slip for the tankers. The pipe lines leading to the storage tanks on shore have been re-routed along the ferry slip and a platform built where the connections are made.

George M. Stollery

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Funeral services were conducted at 2.30 p.m. this afternoon for 83-year-old George Martin Stollery, of R.R. 5, Campbellford, who died at the home of his nephew, Edgar Stollery, in Seymour East, on Tuesday.

Mr. Stollery was a farmer, but due to his age, had done little actual farming during the past few years. He was the son of John Stollery and Elizabeth Martin, both of whom are deceased. His wife, the former Elizabeth Anne Grills, died 25 years ago.

Mr. Stollery was born in the farm home in which he lived all his life. For the past five months he had resided with his nephew, Edgar Stollery.

He is survived by one brother, Fred Stollery, and a sister, Mrs. Edith Smith, both of Seymour. There are two half-brothers, Bert Mitchell, of Winnipeg, and Ernest Mitchell, of Seymour. He attended the Tabernacle United Church.

The Rev. Gordon Whitehorne, United Church circuit minister, conducted services at the Bennett funeral home on Thursday afternoon. Burial was in English Line cemetery.

An invitation to attend a joint meeting at Mount Pleasant on the 20th was accepted and a committee appointed to look after a program. The meeting was then handed over to the Mission Band president, Joan Mennie.

The Scripture was read by Lorne Hooton. Roll call by Dorothy Hall, with fourteen members present.

A duet was sung by Donald and Jim McBain and Ruth Grice read a story. Another duet by Dorothy Hooton and Ann Wilman.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in swimming and boat rides, with a picnic supper served on the lawn.

$235,835 Tender Wins Cobourg School Job

COBOURG (ENS) — Contract for the new east end public school has been awarded to Douglas Redpath, of Oshawa, former resident of Cobourg. The successful tender was for $235,835. Work will commence as soon as the contract has been approved by the Municipal Board and the Department of Education. The amount authorized by a vote of the people last December was not to exceed $280,000 and the total outlay will equal that figure.

Architect's fees amounted to $14,160; furniture, $20,000; land for the site, $10,000. Total, including contract price, $279,995. The new school will be ready for use by September of next year.

Clear Summer Work In Special Meeting

COBOURG (ENS) — Business accumulated during the summer vacation of town council was disposed of at a special meeting of council. Request was received from tax collector and assessor E. A. Hircock for a 30-day extension on the time in which he was to return the assessment roll because of time lost in collecting the sewage rental tax. Council decided to suggest that Mr. Hircock devote full time in getting the roll completed and that his assistant look after the other business of the office in the meantime.

A request from the parks commission for extra police in the park during the summer evenings was turned down by the council. Members of the council felt that the parks board had enough revenue to finance the cost themselves.

Fire Chief Ken Baird informed council that something should be done in regard to the rubbish that has accumulated in the town hall basement as it was a dangerous fire hazard.

"The council should make a tour of the basement and see all the wine bottles (empty ones) that are piled there," said Mayor Jack Burnet.

A letter from the C.G.E. plastics plant expressed satisfaction with the water supply now that the new 12-inch water main is in use.

Potatoes Stolen

He discovered someone had stolen a good share of his potatoes and carefully set the plants back in the ground to conceal the theft.

Two Billions In Six Months

In the first six months of this year Canada exported $2,100,000,000 worth of goods; a record. How stupendous this is should be realized from the fact that this figure for six months totals the annual Canadian export ten years ago, and is four times as great as Canada's export in 1932; in other words, on a yearly comparison, Canada is exporting this year at a rate eight times as great as twenty years ago.

One explanation of the higher export is of course the higher price of goods; yet this is by no means the major reason; in fact, exports for the first six months of this year were seventeen per cent. greater in volume than they were in the first half of 1951. The real reason for the phenomenal rise has been Canada's increased production, her shift from a primarily agricultural economy to manufacturing — and with this increase and change, accompanying advances in technical and manufacturing skills and exploitation of new markets. While the United States continues to be Canada's best customer (taking more than a billion dollars' worth of our production from January to June), British purchases increased to a peacetime peak of $395,000,000—despite her dollar difficulties—and shipments to Latin America almost doubled. It is these newer markets, in South America, Africa and Asia which are gravy to Canadian trade; an increasingly fat gravy. Our shipments to Latin America in the first six months of this year totalled $148,300,000 —double the value of Latin American purchases in the first half of 1951.

* * * *

There is a warning implicit in the expanding exports. Trade is a two-way street. Imports must come into some sort of balance with exports, otherwise how can the countries to which we export find Canadian money to pay for their purchases here? Gold provides an artificial balance, but of what use to us is gold except as a means of exchange? We cannot eat gold, clothe ourselves with it, use it in machinery or ride on it. Much better that the country buying our goods repays us in kind, and not in gold; that it give us something we can use, things to raise our own standard of living. Therefore, in our own interests, both to continue our export trade and to improve our standard of living, we must import from the countries to which we export. This means that we should favour policies of freer trade, and not put obstacles in the way of countries which want to sell us their goods.

* * *

To sustain export trade, that is, to ensure that buying countries have the means to continue their buying, we must import. To accept gold from them merely to bury it is sterile. To give them money so that they may keep on buying our goods is an expediency without good sense as a permanent policy, for it means, really, that we are merely giving away our excess products and getting nothing in return except artificially-created jobs, and perhaps thanks.

New Highway Link

Peterborough people should be pleased that a sixteen-mile highway diversion will be made shortly west of the city, to link Highway 7 and 28 five miles from the city limits, with Highway 35 south of Pontypool. This new piece of highway has, as its first purpose, to lessen the strain on Highway 2 to Toronto, allowing Peterborough and Ottawa traffic to and from the provincial capital to bypass Number 2 and debouch into the dual lane highway between Newcastle and Bowmanville (which will be opened by the time the link is completed). The distance will be a little less, and traffic on No. 28 and old Number 2 from Port Hope to Bowmanville can be diverted, and the way made easier (as the kinks on 7A can be avoided by trucks, buses and motorists now using this avenue to Toronto.)

Another value to Peterborough of the new road is this: it will provide another and good link between the 'outside' world and Peterborough. Peterborough is, for better or for worse, but certainly for richer, getting an ever-larger place on the map. This is necessary, and indeed unavoidable. The increasing industrialization of this part of southern Ontario consequent to the pipe line and the Seaway, and an ever thickening population, are certainties. Peterborough must be provided for in this development. The new link is exactly that: a link between Peterborough and through Peterborough to the centres and areas with which it has traffic and increasing commerce. Incidentally, it will provide our fourth highway route to and from Toronto.

Embattled Israel

The ancient history of the Chosen People is a chequered tale of bloody battles ,enemy occupation, genocide and treachery. Time and again Israel is saved from extermination by the miraculous appearance of a leader. The modern state of Israel is no longer surrounded by Hittites, Philistines, Midianites, and Amalekites, but by unfriendly Arab states technically still at war with them and watching for the first sign of weakness. Small wonder then that Israel is on a war footing. Austerity on the British model is practised on a scale undreamt of even in the country of its origin. Rations and controls are strictly enforced, but prices of unrationed commodities are sky-high. The policy of unrestricted immigration of Jews has resulted in serious over-crowding. Because of intensive cultivation with modern methods the land is producing many times more than it did in former days, but the soil is poor in many parts of this tiny country and the climate is very dry.

As if all these internal difficulties were not enough Israel now has to face the possibility in the not too distant future of a revitalized Egypt making another attempt at recovering what is also the Holy Land for the sons of Ishmael. The Egyptians felt their defeat keenly; they consider, rightly or wrongly, that they were defeated by mismanagement and corruption within their own camp. General Naguib, Egypt's new strong man, shares this view to some extent, and moreover is a veteran of this campaign. Israel has reason to feaf a new Arab military adventure. She already has two years' compulsory military service in force for both sexes. Now the period of conscription is to be raised to 2½ years for men, while remaining the same for women. These new measures will increase still further the economic strain on Israel. The most depressing fact for the leaders of Israel is that there is no apparent way out except through war, which creates fresh problems, or by agreement, which the Arab states are unlikely to concede. Even if they do concede agreement it is by no means certain that they would fulfill their pledges.

The withdrawal of British forces from Palestine has created a vacuum the extent of which the world is just beginning to realize. Can we doubt that a withdrawal from the Suez Canal would be equally disastrous.

Double Negatives

"If this be error, and upon me prov'd,
I never writ, nor no man ever lov'd".

So wrote Shakespeare in the Tudor age. Modern grammarians, however, frown on the double negative. If I say that I haven't seen nothing it is pointed out that if I have not seen nothing I must therefore have seen something, as the negatives cancel each other out. Yet the speech of the common man still follows the example of Shakespeare.

There is another type of concealed double negative typical of intellectuals who cannot quite make up their minds. They hedge their sentences with qualifications in order to leave a back-door open to them in case of contradiction. Instead of saying that something is usual they will say that it is not unusual or hardly unusual. It gives the appearance of being judicial and does not commit the writer quite so far as when he comes out with a direct statement. It is a trick that is quite popular (one might almost say not unpopular) with politicians who do not like to be pinned down to anything. Once the reader sees through the trick it might as well be discontinued. It can be quite awkward at times threading one's way through a labyrinth of negatives in an endeavour to find out whether the writer means Yes or No. Frantically the reader pairs off the negatives like couples at the end of a comedy: if there are none left over the sentence is affirmative. Words like hardly, scarcely and without, together with negative prefixes count as negatives.

We put our readers on guard against this pernicious habit that is creeping over the English language like paralysis. Writers and speakers should be prepared to make plain unambiguous statements —or else keep silent.

The Path of Wisdom

The supreme court of Moslem Law in the University of Cairo has decreed that women are unfit to vote or hold public office. They give a number of good reasons for their decision. Women, they say, are swayed by their feelings and affections in their judgements and are given to "straying from the path of wisdom." In addition they are biased and incompetent, in contrast with men, who are "balanced, impartial and self-controlled." If any woman should doubt this self-evident fact we would point out that notable figure in Middle East politics, Premier Mossadegh, whose impartiality, balance and self-control is unparalleled. Surely it could not be said that ex-King Farouk has strayed from the path of wisdom.

We hate to think of the reactions of Mayor Charlotte Whitton to this piece of news, as we fear that she would be too much "swayed in her feelings and affections!"

In The Street Of Browning

By PHILIP TOYNBEE
(In Asolo, Northern Italy)

"God's in His heaven—All's right with the world!"

FOR ENGLAND and for our own time Asolo began with the publication of Robert Browning's poem, "Pippa Passes" in 1841, a notable example of Italy's traditional influence on English poets. Pippa worked in the silk-mills here, and the whole of her singing journey can easily be mapped out today, for the houses are still standing in which evil was turned to good by the sound of her voice. In fact, of course, this little town was an inhabited area at least three thousand years before Browning was captivated by it. Spread across the first abrupt foothills of the Dolomites, Asolo is a natural fortress to guard and survey the forty-mile-wide plain which stretches to Venice and the sea.

✧ ✧ ✧

CERTAINLY the merchant-noblemen of Venice recognised the beauty and convenience of the site, and the whole area is decorated by the greatest masterpieces of Palladian architecture. Which is also to say that the area of Asolo contains the most beautiful houses ever built anywhere and at any time. The most famous of all is the Villa Maser, built by Palladio in 1560, and resembling the contemporary houses of England about as much, and in about the same way, as the homespun Piers Plowman resembles the polished couplets of Pope. It is a house of supreme and breath-taking elegance, tenderly classical, daringly but perfectly proportioned. And inside it are the sunny frescoes of Paolo Veronese, figures washed into the walls against some of the earliest pure landscapes ever to be painted in Western art. A hundred and fifty years passed before English architecture was seriously effected by the genius of Palladio, and the mansions and parks of eighteenth-century noblemen were liberally adorned with colonnades, staircases and temples in his manner.

✧ ✧ ✧

BROWNING DISCOVERED Asolo when he was a young man, and never forgot it later. After the death of his wife he came back to live here, and it is in his own house that these words are being written. In the street outside the words Via Roberto Browning have been kept proud and white—in a pleasing contrast to the half-effaced jowls of Mussolini and the exhortation "Viva il re! Viva il Duce!" But it does not seem here that there was ever any need of Fascism's brutal attempts to cure the Italians of laziness. There is nowhere any sign of that "southern sloth" which the idle English once invented to quieten their consciences as they lazed about the Mediterranean. Here there are pleasant noises of activity from early in the morning, when the single surviving silk-mill begins its rhythmical clatter, to late at night when the little white cows come tinkling along the street. The peasants of Asolo, clean, frugal, and well cared for, seem to work as hard and as naturally as the silkworms which they keep to feed their mill.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS A TOWN which has attracted famous men and women, at least since Browning invented it again for our own time. The delightful, preposterous museum is prouder of Eleonora Duse's (famous Italian actress, 1859-1924) empty scent-bottles and letters written in the arrogant, ornate hand of d'Annunzio (romantic and nationalist Italian poet 1863-1938) than it is of its ludicrous "Tintoretto," its dusty fragments of Roman pottery and the nineteenth-century sculptures after Canova. For Duse came to Asolo after her retirement from the stage, and lived all the last years of her life in a warm house at the far end of the town. And her plump passionate poet followed her here with the intention, one cannot help feeling, of creating an immortal legend of a great love.

✧ ✧ ✧

TODAY THERE IS a colony of English residents, living for the most part in houses which have not been occupied by Italian families for at least the last half-century. The best known of them, the most deeply established, is Miss Freya Stark (traveller and author and Middle-East authority). Her parents came to Asolo many years before she was born, and in the intervals of her Middle Eastern adventures, she has lived here ever since. She lives the life of a gentle, and studious queen, not unlike, one may suppose, that officially titled Lady of Asolo, Catherine Cornaro, who reigned here after Venice had stolen her kingdom of Cyprus in the sixteenth century. But Miss Stark has neither the manner nor the habits of an expatriate; her garden makes no concessions to the traditional severity of Italian taste, and nothing has been pleasanter here than to drink tea among the pergolas or dog-roses, looking across the blue plain to the distant towers of Castelfranco and Treviso.

It was Miss Stark who revived the last remaining silk-mill when she came back to Asolo after the war, and handsome fabrics of her own design are sold in the little shop beside her house.

✧ ✧ ✧

ASOLO IS NOT unspoiled, and it is hard to feel that a policy of self-conscious preservation would have done it good. 'Pen' Browning's absurd pagoda-like house, topped by a yellow campanile, dominates the town far more effectively than the rambling old building across the valley where his father lived and worked. The brutish clumsiness of a new children's home must give displeasure to aesthetics, but a pleasant result is that one seems to be living in a sea of well-behaved children.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE TOWN IS NOT a museum-piece, in spite of its winding, arcaded street, the little green piazza, the high-perched church and the great stone fortress on the hilltop. There is no self-conscious parading of its charms. In fact, the opposite is true, and one of the few shops in the town seems to be proudly and exclusively used for selling sewing-machines. Strangers are treated with ferocious curiosity still, although they have been a familiar sight for so long. They are not exploited, and the good red wine of the district costs the same shilling a bottle to us as it does to the peasants.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE ATMOSPHERE is strangely patriarchal with power equably divided between Miss Stark and the Monsignore. The people of Asolo vote as they are told to, and it is hard to feel that many of them chafe under this firm limitation of their democratic choice. This is not the apathy of poverty, but of contentment and self-sufficiency. It must be one of the few places left in the Western world where one can escape from politics, without the guilt so often inspired by their enforced absence. Speaking locally, within horizons bounded by the plain and the mountains, all seems to be right with the world.

"AS GOOD AS GOLD"

How Canada Got Decimal Coins

(MONTREAL STAR)

BETWEEN now and the Commonwealth conference in November Canada will receive more than one strong hint that its first duty is to leave the dollar bloc, and tie in its fortunes with the sterling area where all the Commonwealth members belong. This renders particularly timely an article in the Canadian Historical Review by Prof. D. C. Masters of Bishops which describes how Canada came to adopt the decimal currency.

Prime mover in the achievement was Francis Hincks, the able Minister of Finance in the province of Canada during most of the critical years from 1850 to 1858. His proposals met bitter opposition from the British Treasury, but his lucid, well-marshalled arguments, together with the steady support of the Governor General, Lord Elgin, eventually won the day.

We had, at that time, no local coinage. What we had was supplied in the form of British pounds, Spanish, Mexican and American dollars. Accounts were mainly kept in pounds, shillings and pence, though merchants and business men found it easier to do their figuring in decimals, translating the results into £. s. d. for the purposes of bookkeeping.

Hincks' first effort was to get a bill passed in Canada empowering the Government to cause silver coins to be struck for local purposes, but the bill said nothing of the decimal system. This bill was disallowed by the British, who said it infringed the Queen's prerogative. The British wanted to provide Canada with British currency since "it would facilitate the adjustment of trade with the Mother Country." Hincks pointed out that the bulk of Canadian trade was done across the border.

✧ ✧ ✧

NEXT YEAR, in 1851, he brought in a new currency bill. It avoided the legal points used in the previous year's disallowance order, but it provided that the public accounts should be kept in dollars and cents, and that coins representing dollars and cents should be struck. The Treasury, now ready to compromise, urged in 1852 that a distinctive Canadian coin, the pound currency should be struck. It was to be called a "Royal" and was to be the equivalent of four U. S. gold dollars. Hincks at first was prepared to accept this. But he suggested the "Royal" should be worth ten shillings, and should be divisible into ten other coins, to be called a "mark." This was rejected by his Canadian colleagues, though the latter all wanted the decimal system.

The result was another act, in which pound currency and dollar currency were to hold the field side by side. The denominations of money in this currency were to be pounds, dollars, shillings, pence, cents and mills. The public accounts were to be kept in dollars and cents. Obviously this mixed system would not last and in 1854 a broad public inquiry was held, in which the dollar was strongly supported by many Montreal worthies including William Sache, cashier of the Bank of Montreal, D. Davidson of the Bank of British North America, T. S. Brown, Benjamin Holmes of the Grand Trunk, D. Lorn MacDougall, a broker and John Dougall of the Montreal Witness.

✧ ✧ ✧

FINALLY in 1857 the Master of the Mint reported that the mint proposed to issue Canadian silver coins of five, ten and 20 cent denominations. Later it was proposed to issue a 50-cent piece and copper coins. The design was prepared by Wyon of the Royal Mint and promptly approved. In 1858 Sir A. T. Galt ordered the first copper coins.

Prof. Masters speculates that the British Treasury was at least right in one particular — its suggestion that the Canadian coin should have a distinctive name of its own:

"It seems unfortunate in the long run that the Canadian unit of currency, like the American, was called a dollar rather than a Royal or something else. It tended to create the impression that the two should normally be exchanged at par, and that, if the Canadian dollar is at a discount, it is, in some peculiar way, an indication that Canada is an inferior country to the United States. That is an attitude quite widely held in Canada among the unthinking. Whether it has exerted any effect on Canadian fiscal policy would be a question for speculation."

Not At The Tail End

(Summerside, P.E.I. Journal)

It looks as if the Maritime provinces are not going to have television for several years. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, using the money of the people of all Canada, has decided that this year only the people of Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa will be permitted to enjoy it, if that is the correct word to use.

It is about time we got the idea across that the Maritimes' normal position in everything that has to do with the Federal Government is not at the tail end.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God . . . And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth . . .

And of his fulness have all we received, and grace for grace. For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ. (John 1: 1, 14, 16, 17.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way? Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me. If ye had known me, ye should have known the Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and have seen him. Philip saith unto him, Lord, shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us.

Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father? Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works.

Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me: or else believe me for the very works' sake. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do, because I go unto my Father. (John 14: 5-12.)

Letter To The Editor

BUCKHORN ROAD DISGRACE

Sir: After spending a very pleasant holiday, splendid accommodation, best of hospitality, we have but one complaint and that is the disgraceful condition of the Buckhorn road over which we had to travel. Not only the ruts and pot holes but we had to swallow dust which was impossible almost to keep out of the car. We took a trip through Bobcaygeon and beyond and the roads were perfect, but the Buckhorn is a disgrace.

Sorry to have to beef about this road, but there is real need for complaint.

Hope to see the people of Peterborough and with better road.

Yours truly,
E. WESTEM.
Pennsylvania.

MAY BE LUCKY

A business man who owned a small sailing-boat invited a friend to go with him for a sail. A squall came up suddenly and the owner was pitched overboard. While he was struggling with the waves, his friend peered anxiously over the side of the boat and cried:

"I say, Simon, if you don't come up for the third time, may I have the boat?"

"Good idea asking your friend if we could help on his farm during the holidays, wasn't it?"

2 Unions Call GE Offer Unfair

NEW YORK (AP)—Two major unions yesterday called the General Electric company's wage and insurance offer to its 200,000 employees unsatisfactory.

The offer, would give most workers increases ranging from 7½ to 12 cents an hour. Present pay averages an estimated $1.75 an hour.

The two major unions involved are the International Union of Electrical Workers (C.I.O.) and the independent United Electrical Workers.

Early Indians Had Bad Teeth Experts Say

POINT PELEE NATIONAL PARK, Ont. (CP)—A University of Toronto anthropologist says the teeth of seven 1,000-year-old Indian skeletons found here in a common grave show signs of pyorrhea and decay.

Professor J. N. Emerson unearthed the skeletons in the course of his professional work. They were buried, he said, about 900 A.D. and therefore predate most other known Indian burials in Canada.

The teeth were well-preserved and showed signs that the Indians suffered from many of the tooth ailments from which men suffer today.

The skeletons were those of six men and one woman.

Case Of 64 Pickets Adjourned By Court

WATERLOO (CP)—The case of 64 workers charged with besetting in connection with picketing at the Sunshine Waterloo Company, Limited, was adjourned yesterday until Tuesday.

Defence Counsel E. B. Jolliffe, Toronto, asked for the adjournment on grounds that information in the summons was not sufficient to convey the full particulars.

Fourteen were charged yesterday after six company foremen attempted to cross picket lines.

The strike, called several weeks ago, is continuing.

Check Civil Service

VICTORIA (CP)—Premier W.A.C Bennett said yesterday a general scaling down of British Columbia's 10,000-person civil service is planned by the new Social Credit government. The premier said all departments of government are being surveyed in an effort to find which are under-staffed.

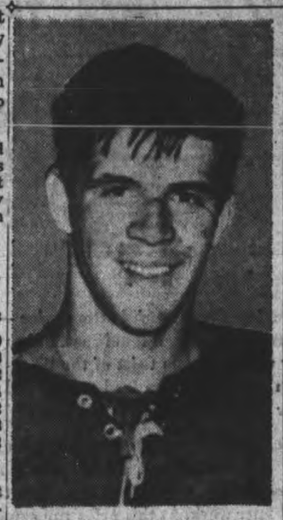
FUTURE LACROSSE SENIORS are working out daily at Miller Bowl under the direction of minor leagues' coach, Harry Wipper. More than 225 boys from four to 18 years are playing lacrosse in the leagues. In fact in some cases the sticks are larger than the boys, as in the case of five-year-old Jim Rankin, (above) with The Whip. The kids will sell lifesavers Saturday to raise proceeds for development of minor lacrosse.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Petes Floor St. Kitts 28-5 But Mimico Edges Tigers To Stay In Front By Game

If Peterborough's Timbermen want first place in the Senior "A" O.L.A., it looks like they'll have to take it away from Mimico Mounties by one game despite the fact the woodsmen pounded St. Catharines Athletics into the ground 28-5 Wednesday night at Miller Bowl. But at the same time Fred Sandford fired home six goals for the Mounties to turn back Hamilton Tigers 11-7 in Mimico, to keep the Mounties up on top. But Friday night will tell the tale for the Timbermen and Mounties meet at Miller Bowl. A win Friday against Mimico and a win Saturday here against Hamilton will put the Timbermen on top by a game.



What might have been a good game turned into a first class farce in the last minute of the first period when the Athletics really collapsed. The Timbermen then took a 7-0 lead in the first, 12-0 at the half, 22-3 at the third quarter, and outscored St. Kitts 6-2 in the final session.

CLA Standing

	W	L	F	A	Pts
Mimico	20	7	326	295	40
Peterborough	19	7	326	218	38
Toronto	16	12	338	315	32
Hamilton	12	14	252	245	24
Owen Sound	11	16	296	350	22
St. Kitts	9	17	300	337	18
Fergus	6	20	315	393	12

From the first period on the Timbermen emphasized scoring as they tried to fatten scoring averages before the season ends next week. Actually they seemed to forget the Athletics were even on the field. All the Timbermen scored but Bill Killingbeck and Lloyd "Moon" Wootton, the goalie.

The Timbermen couldn't do anything wrong. They grabbed loose balls and won the face-offs to control the play. They passed well, broke well and back-checked thoroughly to give the "Moon" the best possible protection.

DON ASHBEE had a field day Wednesday night scoring six goals as the Timbermen raced through St. Catharines Athletics 28-5. Teammate Bob Thorpe, team coach, assisted Ashbee on most of his goals, to total eight points on two goals and six assists.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Meanwhile the Athletics couldn't do anything right. They were outmatched by the older, more experienced Petes and that seemed to throw them off their shooting and passing which were particularly poor.

The Athletics must have left their defence in St. Catharines for goalie Bud Smith was continually at the mercy of the Timbermen's attack. On 21 of the goals he didn't have a chance.

Goalie Wootton, except for very brief intervals, was never called upon for too strenuous work. He did make brilliant saves on free throws, especially ones by Don Culp and Jim Bradshaw in the first half. On Ham Nelson's two goals, the Timbermen were concentrating on scoring rather than defensive work, leaving the Moon alone, unguarded.

Most of the 1,500 fans stayed until the final whistle and therefore didn't miss the excitement. Big Ham Nelson, the Athletics' six-foot defenceman, piled into shorty Russ Slater in the fourth. The two traded punches, then wrestled, throwing refree McDonald when he tried to separate them. Nelson earned a five-minute major and Slater a minor.

Tempers continued to fly as the Timbermen poured over the Athletics. In the final minutes Athletics' Doug Smith and Lou Nickle grappled, Nickle eventually pulling Smith's sweater off. They were separated before any damage was done.

Burtols Win First Game Of Provincial Playoffs From Oshawa Lasses 13-4

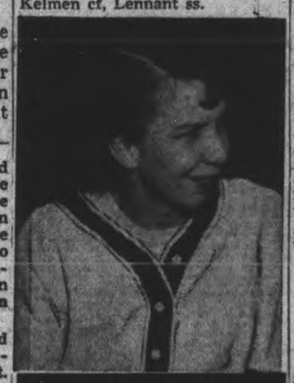
Phil Macks' Burtols took a one-game lead in the provincial women's softball series with Oshawa Wednesday night at the Bowl as his lasses combined seven hits with six Oshawa errors and numerous walks for a 13-4 victory. The teams will shift to Oshawa Saturday for the remaining games of the two-of-three series, the first to be played at 2:30 and the third game, if necessary, at 6 p.m.

L. Beamish, usually a good pitcher for Oshawa, had streaks of wildness Wednesday night which seemed to coincide with Burtol's hitting and Oshawa's errors. Meanwhile Eleanor Whittaker, on the Burtol mound, was nicked for 11 hits, but received better support from her fielders.

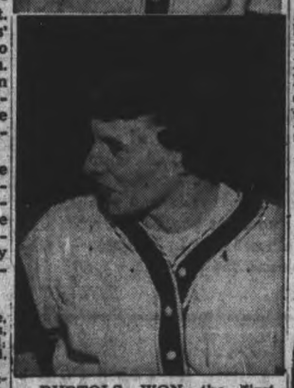
Burtols opened the scoring in the second inning as Mabel Gillen worked a walk, advancing on a sacrifice by A. Anderson. She scored on a single by Whittaker.

Oshawa went ahead briefly in the fourth inning as S. Hyrcarak, the first baseman, tripled, followed by a homer by S. Kutasenski, for two runs.

But that lead was short-lived, for Burtols in their half enjoyed their best inning which went for nine runs. Anderson started with a triple, Wittaker walked, B. Rumbal walked to fill the bases. D. Jackson then worked another walk to force in a run. Joan Dunk doubled, scoring two more, followed by M. Batley on base with an error. Bea Morrow's sacrifice pushed base runners along again, scoring another run. A base on balls to Marg Hawthorne loaded the bases. Two more runs were walked in as Beamish walked Anderson and Whittaker after Mabel Gillen flied out. Rumbal followed up with a triple to unload the bases for the final runs.



Oshawa scored their other two runs in the sixth when they combined an error, a double and a single for the tallies.



Again Burtols rallied, matching Oshawa's pair. Two errors by Oshawa put Anderson and Whittaker on base. Again Rumbal tripled, scoring Anderson and Whittaker.

The final run was scored in the seventh, again thanks to an error.

Marg Hawthorne and D. Jackson were outstanding fielders for Burtols, while Rumbal recorded a two for two at the plate, both triples. B. Bourne and F. Durston were Oshawa's best in the field, while D. Peters hit three for five.

Lineups:
Burtols—Dunk 1b, Batley lf, Morrow ss, Hawthorne 3b, Gillen c, Anderson cf, Whittaker p, Rumbal rf, Jackson 2b.
Oshawa—Peters 3b, Bourne c, Durston lf, Hyrcarak 1b, Kutasenski 2b, Wyatt rf, Beamish p, Kelmen cf, Lennant ss.

BURTOLS WON the first game of their provincial series with Oshawa 13-4 Wednesday night. Veterans Marg Hawthorne (top) and Bea Morrow (bottom) helped Burtols with their fielding and batting. — (Examiner Staff Photos).

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Congratulations to Leo Rogers and Charlie Bell of Lindsay and to Cecil Williamson and Wm. Kay of our own club. These four entered as a Lindsay rink in the all week open provincial tournament held in Toronto and while they were on the short end of a 23-21 score for the Eaton gold cup, they did well.

When you consider there were a 100 of the best Ontario rinks entered, it is no small feat to reach the final game. These four boys are well known to all bowlers.

Over at Cannington on the half-holiday our club was represented by three mixed pairs. They gave a good account of themselves. We left before the last round was completed, but this is how it appeared to us.

RESULTS

Mrs. C. Renaud and C. Renaud, sk., three game winners.

Mrs. R. Gamble and R. Gamble, sk., three game winners.

Mrs. H. R. Martin and H. R. Martin, sk., two game winners.

Tonight, ladies' and gents' schedule games.

Examiner Gives Trophy For Ladies' Golf

Seven years ago the Kawartha Golf and Country Club held its first men's open tournament and it's now the largest amateur golf tournament in Canada. Now another first; the club will hold its first Kawartha Ladies tournament Saturday and they hope to make it an annual event for the Peterborough Examiner silver trophy.

Already the tournament is growing rapidly. The draw was made on Tuesday night and then more than 100 entries from centres throughout Ontario had entered. By starting time the club expects at least 125 ready to tee off.

Some of the clubs represented are: Napanee, Pembroke, Montreal, Windsor, Kitchener and the Toronto clubs as well as from the Peterborough and Kawartha, home clubs.

Among the select circle (under five handicap) are Mrs. F. Wright of Scarboro, Miss K. Helleur of Rosedale, Mrs. J. Stubbs of The Elms and Mrs. L. Ross. Other low handicap golfers are expected to register today and Friday.

The women will be teeing off at 8:30 a.m. in threesomes; not quite as early as the men who left at 6 a.m. Professional Lex Robson will be on hand to help chairman, Miss Doris Ackford and treasurer, Mrs. E. Riley, conduct the proceedings.

The Peterborough Examiner has donated the major prize, the Silver trophy for low gross, while the McLeod and Irwin Cup will be presented for low net. Besides those trophies, a team prize will also be up for competition.

A fine selection of other prizes will be won by winners in the three flights. Already cost of prizes exceeds $250.

LAWN BOWLING IN PETERBOROUGH is flourishing since the Peterborough club has developed its grounds on McDonnel St. to the finest in Ontario. It's a far cry from the club's first site on Simcoe and Aylmer Sts. at the Y.W.C.A. building. Only a few bowlers remember those days there, one is R. G. Cottrell, 351 McDonnel St. Mr. Cottrell (centre, above) visited the club for a while Wednesday night. Here he discusses the bowl with Harry Northrop and Reg Dyer.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By DON GRANT

One of the few remaining amateur sports, lawn bowling, is flourishing in Peterborough, in fact the Peterborough Lawn Bowling club is recognized as one of the outstanding clubs in the province.

The club is particularly noted for its grounds, buildings and equipment, and its highly-competitive tournaments.

Lawn bowling history in the city dates back to the time when lawn bowling greens were situated on the present site of the Y.W.C.A. building. The greens faced east along Simcoe St. Probably the only remaining bowler of those days is Robert Cottrell, retired C. G. E. worker, living on McDonnel St.

Played Also On Fleming Place

When the Y.W.C.A. building was built, the lawn bowlers shifted to the Fleming Place lot, where they remained until 1929, moving to the present McDonnel-Monaghan Road greens.

There the club has developed one of the city's most beautiful sporting centres. The large stone-brick club house, the well-kept greens, the floodlights for night bowling and the public address system, installed two years ago, are features which make the club one of Ontario's best.

The club's tournaments are becoming so popular that it now conducts two of Ontario's largest tournaments. Recently the Lift Lock men's doubles tourney was far over-subscribed by Ontario bowlers. Already entries are pouring in for the Black Memorial mixed doubles tournament on August 27. This tourney allows only 96 pairs and already 115 pairs have submitted entry forms.

District's Oldest Bowling Trophy

The club also holds a tournament for the district's oldest trophy, the Hon. J. R. Stratton trophy. It was won this year by Ross Hopkin's Peterborough rink.

Six nights a week Peterborough bowlers, numbering usually about 150, jam the greens to capacity. These enthusiasts usually are entered in tournaments throughout the district every holiday and half holiday. They play in Cobourg, Port Hope, Lindsay, Oshawa, Campbellford and Port Perry.

This year in Peterborough district the various clubs will be holding 50 men's and 35 women's tournaments. In this Peterborough bowlers will come home with prizes about 50 per cent of the time.

In fact one bowler said, "It's a rare thing when some aren't in the charmed circle."

Although the club membership has almost 300 members, it still welcomes anyone to join. There is a sprinkling of young people, but the members are mostly at an age where baseball, lacrosse and other sports are too strenuous for them to play.

Club responsibilities this year fall upon the shoulders of president, Jack Fitzpatrick, vice-president, Don Anderson and secretary-treasurer, Fred Dearborn.

Player Deal With Thistles Fails

Another lacrosse item — Bad news for the lacrosse club for the second time this week— was received Wednesday when a player-deal with Fergus Thistles fell through. The Timbermen, Hamilton and Owen Sound were dickering with the Thistles for several players before signing deadline on Friday.

Fergus, who are out of the senior "A" running, have decided to enter senior "B" playoffs with Sarnia and Orillia. Rather than trade players for money to cover losses, Fergus decided to remain strong by holding players the three other "A" teams wanted.

Bob Peirson, club president, said today that the Petes will likely take up junior players if the Queens lose in the first round of the junior "A" playoffs with St. Catharines. Already a few juniors have played senior, showing up well.

Perhaps several other players might be signed, but that doesn't seem likely at this late date.

Westwood Leads 2-1 In Series

HASTINGS (ENS).—Westwood made Legion look like a bunch of tired old men, as Warr made a comeback to set them down with three hits, while his teammates romped home with an easy 10-3 verdict, to take a 2-1 lead in the best of five finals.

Warr was given almost airtight support, and was never in serious trouble. West went all the way for Legion, and although only touched for five hits, every one was costly, and seven errors kept him behind the eight-ball constantly. Ray Lynch boosted his R.B.I. average as twice he dumped hard drives into his own field to drive in a total of five runs.

The teams go at it again Friday night, and it's do or die for Legion with Crowley, who beat Westwood the second game, back on the Legion mound.

Post Office, S.A. Tie

Post Office and Salvation Army played to a five-all tie in a Civic League fixture Wednesday night. The Posties went one up in the first but Salvation Army tied it in the second. Both teams scored three in the fourth. The Posties took the lead for a second time in the fifth, but again the Salvation Army tied the score, this time in the seventh.

Dodgers Split Twin Bill With Runner-Up Giants

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Joe Black is one rookie who is living up to his spring press clippings. Black was hailed as another Don Newcombe in Brooklyn's Vero Beach Fla., training camp. He was tabbed as the best bet to take up the slack caused by Newcombe's entry into the army. It's doubtful if the Dodgers would be leading the National League by nine games today if it weren't for the 28-year-old righthander. Used entirely on relief, the Dodger recruit has appeared in 37 games, winning nine, losing two and saving several other. He appeared in only six games until the beginning of June, and since then he has worked in 31 of Brooklyn's 69 games.

Black took part in both ends of yesterday's day-night doubleheader against the runner-up New York Giants. He gained credit for the 5-4 day-game triumph and was tapped for two unearned runs in the 8-4 night defeat.

SPLIT TWIN BILL

Chicago and Cincinnati and Philadelphia and Boston also split doubleheaders. The Cubs dropped the opener to the Reds, 11-3, but won the second game 7-0. Philadelphia whipped the Braves 3-0, but bowed 9-3 in the night portion of the twi-light twin bill. St. Louis and Pittsburgh were idle.

New York Yankees retained their 2½-game lead over Cleveland in the American League, dividing a bargain bill with Washington while Cleveland halved a pair with St. Louis Browns.

Washington drubbed the Yanks 12-4 in the opener, but lost the second game 10-9 in 13 innings. The Browns tripped Bobby Feller and the Indians, 5-2, but Cleveland Bounced back to grab the second game 9-1. In other games, Boston Red Sox turned back Philadelphia, 4-0, and Chicago White Sox crushed Detroit 7-1.

HALTED GIANT RALLY

Black took over in the eighth inning of the see-saw opener at Ebbets Field with the score tied at 4-4. He halted a Giant rally and got out of another jam in the ninth when he induced Hank Thompson to hit into a forced play with the bases loaded and two out. Max Lanier suffered his 10th defeat. Bob Thomson hit his 17th homer for New York and Hodges his 25th for Brooklyn.

In the second game, Clint Hartung threw wild and permitted two Dodgers to score during a four-run rally in the sixth that anabled the Brooks to tie the score at 4-4. But he doubled home the tie-breaking run in the seventh. The Giants added two unearned runs off Black in the eighth and picked up another in the ninth. Relief ace Hoyt Wilhelm got the victory, although Larry Jansen saved the game.

Kryzanowski Sold To Chicago Hawks

BOSTON (AP)—The sale of Ed Kryzanowski, a defenceman who specializes in penalty-killing, to the Chicago Black Hawks for an undisclosed sum was announced today by general manager Art Ross of Boston Bruns.

Kryzanowski, a native of Fort Frances, started his National Hockey League career with the Bruins in 1948. He was unable to win a regular defence post but his ability to play all other positions brought him a job as a utility player.

Dawes Releases Statement On Athletes

MONTREAL (CP)—President A. Sidney Dawes of the Canadian Olympic Association came up with some figures in a statement today to show that four athletes—whose non-selection for the games at Helsinki brought "a great deal of criticism" of the association—would have fared badly.

He named the athletes as Mary Lawrance of Toronto, women's shot put; Jo Brennan of Toronto, women's discus; Fred Ruish of Niagara Falls, men's shot put, and Bob Bazos of Toronto, decathlon.

He said none of these four, at the Olympic trials at Hamilton late in June, equalled six-place figures of the 1948 games, "which was the standard necessary to qualify for our 1952 Olympic teams."

Dawes said that on the basis of their performance at the Canadian trials Miss Lawrance would have placed 14th in the Olympics and Miss Brennan 19th.

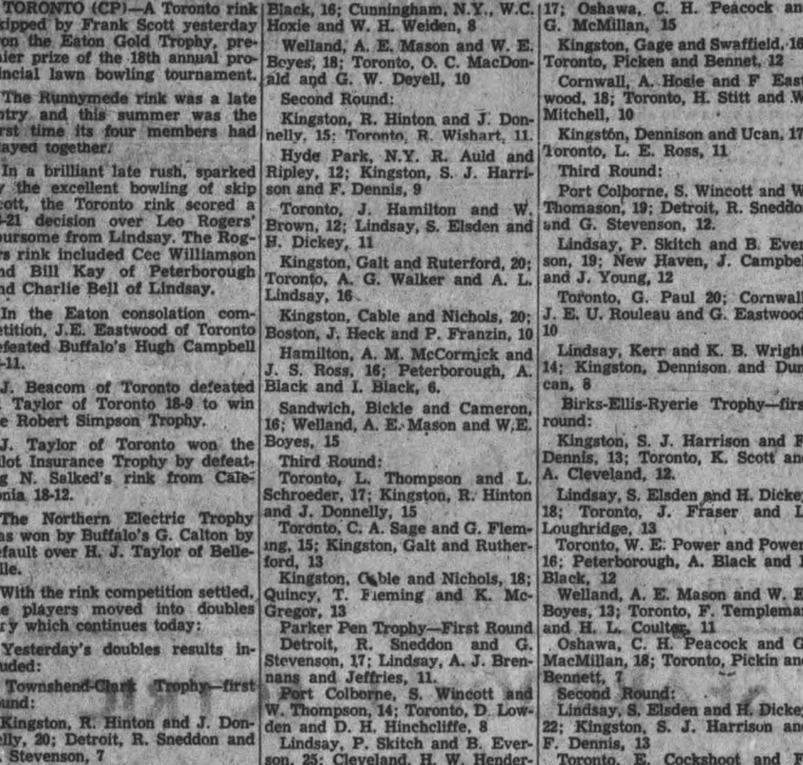
"The winner's distance in the men'shot put event was 57 feet 1⅝ inches, and, while I do not know where Fred Ruish's best effort of 47 feet, 4⅝ inches would have placed him, I do know that the sixth-place distance was 53 feet, 1⅝ inches."

Dawes' statement said also that Canada's summer Olympic teams totalled 135, a nine per 1,000,000 of population, while the United States team was three per 1,000,000 of population and Great Britain seven per 1,000,000.

Hints Battle At CAHA Meet

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe hinted yesterday there may be a battle during a meeting of Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the National Hockey League here Monday.

Smythe, managing director of Toronto Maple Leafs of the N.H.L., told a press conference that the C.A.H.A. through its rules is retarding development of hockey players.



One of the points the Leafs are believed ready to protest is a rule against eastern teams signing players of junior age from Western Canada.

Lindsay Rink Edged Out In Tournament

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto rink skipped by Frank Scott yesterday won the Eaton Gold Trophy, premier prize of the 18th annual provincial lawn bowling tournament.

The Runnymede rink was a late entry and this summer was the first time its four members had played together.

In a brilliant late rush, sparked by the excellent bowling of skip Scott, the Toronto rink scored a 23-21 decision over Leo Rogers' foursome from Lindsay. The Rogers rink included Cec Williamson and Bill Kay of Peterborough and Charlie Bell of Lindsay.

In the Eaton consolation competition, J.E. Eastwood of Toronto defeated Buffalo's Hugh Campbell 16-11.

J. Beacom of Toronto defeated D. Taylor of Toronto 18-9 to win the Robert Simpson Trophy.

J. Taylor of Toronto won the Pilot Insurance Trophy by defeating N. Salked's rink from Caledonia 18-12.

The Northern Electric Trophy was won by Buffalo's G. Calton by default over H. J. Taylor of Belleville.

With the rink competition settled, the players moved into doubles play which continues today:

Marlene Stewart In Quarter Finals

By JIM PEACOCK

EDMONTON (CP)—Ontario and British Columbia had two players each today in the quarter-finals of the Canadian women's open golf championship. The rest were Americans.

A gallery of some 2,000 spread over Edmonton's Mayfair in bright, sunny weather yesterday to see defending champion Marlene Stewart, 18, of Fonthill, Ont., easily defeat Mrs. G. E. Wilcox, Jr., of Miami, 5 and 3.

But Alberta's brightest hope in years—18-year-old Rae Milligan of Jasper—was eliminated in a mild upset on the 19th green by Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, Md.

Grace Lenczyk of Hartford, open winner in 1947 and 1948, was extended to the 20th hole before she won over Marnie Polk of Chattanooga, Tenn.

MARY GAY WINS

The remaining matches went much as expected. Mary Gay of Kitchener, 20-year-old Ontario champion, won 3 and 1 over Anne Sharp of Fonthill, Ont., to complete Ontario's twosome in the eights.

Babs Davies of Vancouver and Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria were B.C.'s quarter-finalists when Miss Davies won one up over sentimental-favorite Mrs. N. J. Carlson of Toronto and Mrs. Todd took a 2 and 1 win over Mrs. J. C. Whitelaw of Laval-sur-le-Lac, Que.

Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont. a low qualifier, won 4 and 3 over veteran Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, who copped the open five times, the last in 1935.

A family act was broken up by Polly Martin of St. Clairsville, O., who defeated Lorraine Lenczyk, Grace's sister, 1 up.

CHAMPION IN FORM

The courageous little champion, all but eliminated on the first round when she won on the 19th, was back in form yesterday. Miss Stewart won the first hole and was never behind. She ended it on the 15th after holding a four-up lead from the 11th.

Miss Milligan led Mrs. Glick until the 18th. She lost that and on the 19th faded under pressure. Her second shot was in a trap and it took her two to come out. Mrs. Glick was trapped but came out in one.

Grace Lenczyk was ahead to the 17th. The next two were halved but on the 195-yard 20th Miss Lenczyk put her tee shot on the green and putted in for a par three. Miss Polk needed a chip shot and two putts after her drive.

Today, marathon-player Mrs. Glick—she won her first-round match on the 26th hole—meets Grace Lenczyk, while Mary Gay goes against Mrs. Todd in one half of the draw. The other side sends Miss Stewart against Miss Martin and pairs Babs Davies with Miss Anderson.

ACE WOMAN GOLFER—Marlene Stewart, 18-year-old Fonthill, Ont., golf whiz, is Canadian Women's Close Golf champion for the second straight year. She blistered Edmonton's Mayfair course with an eight-under-par 54-hole medal score of 72, 78, 79—229 to retain the title and chop 12 strokes from the 1949 record of Babs Davies of Vancouver. She now is defending her Canadian Women's Open Golf Championship in play at Edmonton where she entered the quarter-finals Wednesday.

Toronto Thumps Cubs 9-3; Ottawa Victor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Syracuse Chiefs held down the runner-up spot in the International League today, but at the rate the battle for second place has been going the Rochester Red Wings will be back before long.

The Chiefs got a half-game margin by whipping Baltimore Orioles 3-2 last night while Buffalo Bisons were thumping the Wings 6-2. Last-place Ottawa stopped the front-running Montreal Royals 2-1, and Toronto Maple Leafs walloped Springfield Cubs 9-3 in other action.

The Chiefs scored all their runs in the seventh inning to overcome a 2-0 deficit. Fenton Mole's home run with one on was the big blow that enabled Art Hartley to gain the triumph.

EASY FOR BOROWY

The Bisons' victory over the Red Wings was an easy one for Hank Borowy, who registered his 10th win. Frank Carswell hit a round tripper with one mate aboard and Don Lund, who had a perfect night at the plate, clouted another for the winners.

Joe Coleman pitched a fine game for Ottawa and bested Hamp Coleman in a pitchers' battle. Hamp Coleman walked home George Moscovich with the bases loaded, after which John Metkovich sneaked home when an attempted double play failed.

Stubby Overmire, recently of St. Louis Browns, was the winner for Toronto, although he needed relief in the sixth from Ray Shore. Bill Jennings and Hal Keller both hit home runs for the Leafs while Ted Lotz connected for the Cubs.

Big Blue Bombers Scamper Past Hamilton Ti-Cats 24-17

HAMILTON (CP)—It's "Argos next" for Winnipeg's big Blue Bombers.

The rugged western crew, fired by Indian Jack Jacobs' booming arm and Tom Casey's fleet footwork, scampered past Hamilton Tiger-Cats 24-17 last night in a pre-season exhibition football contest before 14,000 fans.

The victory, coupled with the Bombers' sparkling 24-6 triumph over the 1951 Canadian champions, Ottawa Rough Riders, could mean that Toronto Argonauts are in for a rough time. Saturday's game completes Winnipeg's pre-season tests against the Big Four clubs.

Bombers have made no bones about the fact that they'll "shoot the works" on Saturday when they take on the Scullers. Coach George Trafton, remembering Winnipeg's hard-luck record against past Argo teams, said he's saving some special tricks for Frank Clair's club.

HAD TO USE JACOBS

The Bombers hadn't intended playing Jacobs last night but when Ralph McAlister, former Philadelphia Eagle halfback, was hurt running back the opening kick-off, Trafton sent in Indian Jack.

Jacobs then proceeded to put on an amazing display, completing 15 of 24 passes in Winnipeg's total of 30. Casey, former New York Yankee halfback who entered Canadian football at Hamilton, teamed with Jacobs to make Ti-Cats' pass defence look anaemic.

Casey picked off two touchdowns, one in the last quarter making Hamilton look silly. Casey raced into a gang of Ti-Cat players, seized the ball and raced 45 yards for an electrifying touchdown before anyone could make a move.

Bernie Custis was Hamilton's big gun, scoring all three home-town majors.

Winnipeg's points came from four converted touchdowns and Ti-Cats from Custis' majors, two of them unconverted, and a first-quarter single.

GARY MIDDLECOFF (left) and Julius Boros, U.S. Open champion, are crossing a bridge on the first fairway at the Tam O'Shanter Country Club, Chicago, for the start of their 18-hole playoff for golf's richest purse—$25,000—which was won by Boros by two strokes with a four-under-par 68. Middlecoff picked up $12,500 as runner-up. They finished in a first-place tie Sunday with 276s, twelve under regulation figures.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe yesterday demanded a fighting Toronto hockey team—or else.

The Maple Leafs' managing director told reporters that last season's team was the "worst-finishing" club he has seen and that some changes will be made. Trades or demotions face "three or four" unnamed players.

The team finished third in the National Hockey League and dropped four straight to Detroit Red Wings in the Stanley Cup semi-finals.

Smythe promised a thorough screening to produce fighters "who won't back away from trouble even if it costs us the playoffs."

Calgary Colonel Captures Gold Medal

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont. (CP)—Lt.-Col. Steve Johnson of Calgary, yesterday won the prized Queen's Gold Medal match the third day of the 84th annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association prize shoot.

He posted a score of 178 of a possible 200, firing from four stages to lead the field of some 300 competitors.

Col. Johnson, a regular D.C.R.A. competitor, was a shooting member of Canada's Bisley team in 1934, '37, '38 and '39 and qualified again this year but was unable to make the trip.

Open to members of the armed forces, the match is deliberate firing from 600 yards; firing with movement at 600 to 100 yards; rapid firing at 300 yards and snap-shooting from 300 yards.

Sgt. Jack MacNeil, of Vancouver, was one point off Johnson's effort with 177. Third was Capt. J. R. Newell of Winnipeg, with 175.

BOA MISSED MATCH

Lieut. Gilmour S. Doe, 33, of the 48th Highlanders, Toronto, won the match for the last three years but did not return from the Olympic Games in Helsinki in time to compete this time.

CSM. Norman L. Beckett of Hamilton, broke a 34-way tie to win the Tilton match, the other featured event yesterday.

In the match proper, the 34 riflemen tied with perfect scores of 50 from 300 yards. After the regulation five-round shoot-off, the field was cut to four. On it were Sgt. W. E. Hicks, Edmonton, Sgt. K. N. Livingstone, Calgary, Cadet P. Ford of Hamilton and Beckett.

After the regulation shoot-off, a shot-for-shot affair was ordered and Beckett slammed home the winning bull's-eye.

Four riflemen, who in the earlier match scored possibles, did not enter the shoot off. They included Sgt. T. Woods, Barriefield, Ont.

Among the several matches scheduled today is the qualifying stage of the Governor-General's match which is shot from the 200, 500 and 600-yard ranges.

BOXING SCORING

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Boxing Association said yesterday adoption of a uniform system of scoring is at the top of the agenda for its 33rd annual convention opening at Montreal, Sept. 7.

Howls from television viewers and others wanting to know how particular bouts were scored point up the necessity for a uniform system, the N.B.A. said.

As it now stands, the systems vary.

Moscow Radio Trying To Woo Iranians

LONDON (Reuters).—Moscow radio, in Iranian language transmissions beamed into Iran by day and night, is subtly plugging the theme, "your salvation lies in friendship with Russia." The same line comes in radio transmissions from the powerful Russian radio station at Baku, oil city only 150 miles north of the Iranian border.

The inference from the radio programs over the last few weeks is that Iran's current troubles are the legacy of the "imperialists."

Russian broadcasts in Iranian build up a picture of idyllic conditions in the Soviet Asian republics. They stress the "peace policy" of the Soviet government and its generosity in the matter of trade—including food supplies—with the "people's democracies" and other "democratic" countries.

But with regard to internal events in Iran, the radio branch of the Kremlin treads carefully—so carefully that for five days at the end of July, when Iran seethed with political ferment and Mohammed Mossadegh was swept back into the saddle, Moscow radio's Iranian service did not broadcast a single news report on events in Iran.

There is no doubt that the present Iranian situation is potentially revolutionary in the eyes of the Kremlin and of Orthodox Marxists. In other words, the possibility arises that a coup by strong, determined forces might unseat the government and give the country a different political alignment.

The Russians also may not have ruled out the possibility that Mossadegh might himself turn to the Soviets for aid.

Yet the Moscow and Baku broadcasts adopt a strictly hands off policy in relation to Iranian internal affairs. They scarcely ever mention the Communist Tudeh Party of Iran, nor do they directly praise or publicize the philosophy of communism.

Wondering What Will Happen When Defence Contracts End

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

"What happens when—?" has been a sort of theme song of the post-war business world.

Sometimes the theme has been blared out in brassy fashion, sometimes it has been played so softly it almost fades out.

Originally, it was "what happens when the war is over?"—when hundreds of thousands of men and women come out of uniform and demand for war material is ended?

Widespread unemployment was predicted. Instead, there occurred, at least in North America, a surge of building and expansion of production facilities. Demand for goods, arising out of the goods-scarce war years and backed by wartime savings, proved greater than expected.

NEW DISCOVERIES

To these were added, in Canada, discovery and expansion of raw-material resources—oil, iron ore, and many other minerals; the rebuilding of forest industries, and so on.

The "what happens when—?" theme, played persistently in early 1947 was virtually drowned out when the United States' Marshall plan gave buying effectiveness to Europe's needs.

It was heard again in 1949 and lingered into 1950 until the Korean War set re-armament programs in motion.

Now it claims attention once more. Reviewing the United States scene, Sam Dawson of the Associated Press, says:

"Mountains of merchandise will have to be moved by businessmen on their own—once the twin levers of defence spending and new plant construction, are withdrawn. . .

ABOUT MID-1953

"It's expected to come sometime after mid-1953. Government and business men are worrying about it, and both are studying what to do to keep a greatly-expanded industry set-up busy and to stave off a national slump."

For instance, Dawson says, National Sales Executives, Inc., a group of 20,000 executives directing the efforts of 2,000,000 salesmen, advises, in effect:

"Increase the consuming power of the consumer, sell him, and plan for still more sales. . .within a year, the salesmen is going to be the key man in our whole economy."

This advice would seem to envision keeping effective by salesmanship the almost limitless need of people for goods; a considerable achievement, if it can be done.

CONCERN TO CANADA

What happens in the United States is, of course, of utmost concern to Canada. In 1949, Canada's own momentum was so strong that she scarcely felt the short-lived American recession; but a prolonged American set-back would be different. Initially, if there is a set-back, Canada's projects for developing natural resources, should lessen the immediate effects.

Further, as in all post-war years, business predictions can't be made without assessing the international political situation. It is taking, perhaps a too-optimistic view of that world situation to think we shall have come to an end of spending program when present rearmament measures have passed their planned peaks.

Also, the basic world situation is one of great demand. We may be running out of known ways to keep that demand effective, but it may be that the world political situation will force us to develop new ways.

We live in a restless world which will likely remain restless for more years than we can foresee.

Generator At Peribonca Given First Trial Run

ARVIDA, Que. (CP)—One generating unit of the Peribonca No. 1 power plant, one of the largest hydro-electric projects in North America since the Second World War, was given a trial run yesterday and is expected to be operating by the week-end.

The 350,000 horsepower, $30,000,000 plant, is located at Chute du Diable, some 60 miles from this Saguenay region centre on the Peribonca River, one of the largest emptying into Lake St. John.

Owned by the Aluminum Company of Canada, the plant is made up of five generating units which will begin operating at three-week intervals.

NEW SMELTER

It is expected that 500,000 tons of aluminum ingots will be produced in the region next year, the power from Peribonca No. 1 going to a new 50,000-ton smelter at nearby Ile Maligne.

Another power plant, Peribonca No. 2, is under construction at Chute a La Savane, about 14 miles down the river and is expected to be in operation early next year.

Peribonca No. 1 was started in November, 1950, and its sister project the following spring. Some 673,000 cubic yards of rock had to be excavated from the site of Peribonca No. 1 alone before concrete could be poured.

As many as 7,000 workers have been employed at one time on the two projects, including hundreds of recent immigrants.

Rust Menace To Growers Of Sunflowers

WINNIPEG (CP)—Rust, always a problem for grain-growers, has become a major menace to the sunflower growers who once had one of Manitoba's most promising industries.

In the rich farmlands of the Altona district 55 miles south of here many sunflowers rot in the fields, abandoned by growers. A $1,000,000 plant at Altona works far below its capacity.

This plant processed sunflower seeds into cattle feed, shortening, salad oils. The hulls were compressed into fireplace logs. Ready markets for sunflower products brought new prosperity to the district, and land values almost doubled since the industry started a few years ago.

Now a decline has set in, with rust mainly responsible, although other factors have been cool growing seasons and insect pests.

Manitoba had 26,000 acres under sunflowers last year, but this year's planting was estimated at only 5,000.

Efforts have been made to substitute other oil-bearing crops, such as rape seed from Argentina, soybeans and safflower, a relative of the thistle. Experiments with these and other crops may prove successful but the best solution lies in creation of a rust-resistant sunflower. Research and plant-breeding to this end might require years, and meantime the sunflower industry suffers.

Veterans Build Own Homes 13,000 Units Been Finished

OTTAWA (CP)—Want a home? Go out and build it yourself. Thousands of Canadians have proved it's not as hard as you'd think.

That's the advice of the government official who handles the Veterans Land Act, the huge, two-sided venture in settlement of war veterans which has blossomed into a $265,000,000 business and still is going strong.

Thomas Rutherford, a wartime brigadier, describes the build-them-yourself movement among veterans as the greatest phenomenon to develop in V.L.A.," he said in an interview, "80 per cent are being built by themselves."

Of the more than 13,000 already financed by V.L.A. and completed, a large proportion also were built by the veterans.

THE ONLY WAY

"For the man making, say $2,500 a year, it's the only answer," says Brig. Rutherford. "He can't afford a large down payment. He can't afford a large mortgage and every time he's seen his pay go up he's seen the cost of housing go up faster.

"When some of our officials first heard about this idea of getting the veterans to build their own homes they laughed. They laughed at the idea of holding schools in winter to tell the men how to build. Now they're enthusiastic about it."

The idea that only skilled artisans and contractors can build homes, good homes, has been exploded by thousands of veterans who have saved possibly $3,000 apiece by doing most of the work themselves and by letting their own sub-contracts, he says.

"Recently a group of veterans in Ottawa got together and built for about $6000 apiece houses which the Central Mortgage and Housing agency valued at $11,500."

How long does it take? Around 18 months. And, says Rutherford, you'll be surprised at what your wife can do to help. Wives have been a big factor in the V.L.A. boom.

STILL AVAILABLE

V.L.A.'s facilities still are wide open for those veterans who can qualify. To settle on a small holding, the veteran must have served at least a year and if he's used his re-establishment credit he must pay it back. Then he must find a minimum of 1.6 acres of land, preferably two to three acres. Consideration is being given to lowering this requirement.

V.L.A. will back him to a ceiling of $6,000. That's part of the explanation of the build-yourself drive. Most veterans couldn't buy homes for that so they had to build and they found it wasn't nearly as tough as they'd figured.

V.L.A. credits the veteran with $1,400 as a conditional grant and the veterans pay 10 per cent down, that is $600, taking out a mortgage for the remainder of $4,000. He pays this back in easy payments of about $22 a month.

The other main purpose of V.L.A. is to settle veterans on full-time farms.

R.A.F. Veteran Colony Near Edmonton

BRIDLINGTON, Yorkshire, Eng. (CP) — An R.A.F. veteran who served in Canada is planning to take 30 other Yorkshire people with him to Canada to build a self-supporting colony in the Edmonton region.

Organizer of the project is Norman D. Elson. His plan, approved by the migration council, includes taking mobile workshops and possibly prefabricated homes with them.

He plans to buy 1,000 acres of land with an option of another 3,000 acres for expansion. People who show signs of being good settlers will be helped by loans for part of their trans-Atlantic passage and for mortgages on their houses.

"COOL CONTROL"

POINTERS ON CATCHING

1 You lessen the possibility of injured fingers if you learn to catch all below-waist pitches with your fingers pointed downwards, and all above-waist pitches with your fingers pointed upwards. Receiving the ball this way also allows faster, surer handling.

2 Play close to the batter in semi-standing posture; weight on balls of feet; feet well spread, left foot about six inches ahead of right foot. This position gives good control when throwing to bases and when handling wild pitches.

3 Keep fingers on bare hand closed but relaxed, with thumb along index finger. When ball strikes mitt, bare hand opens over the ball in mitt and plucks it out ready for throw. Mitt hand gives slightly with pitch, and remains in front of body for balance when returning throw.

Yes, it's control that counts, in baseball as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

"SOMEBODY SAVE ME" seems to be the distressed reaction of 14-months-old John Baeder, of Farmington, Minn., as a rabbit nuzzles his neck. The bunny was one of several entered in the Dakota county fair by John's father, but the youngster apparently hasn't become used to the animals and become very vocal in his distress.

Will Keep Drug On Market With Warning

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chloromycetin will remain on the market in the United States—but with explicit caution to doctors against indiscriminate use of for minor infections, the food and drug administration announced yesterday.

The drug, credited with saving thousands of lives from serious infections, has been under investigation. Serious blood disorders, including some that were fatal, have been associated with use of the medicine. Talk of a possible ban against it had been heard.

But the F.D.A. said it had decided to permit continued distribution of the drug under revised labelling that would spell out possible hazards. It said a country-wide investigation showed at least 72 deaths had occurred among 177 patients whose blood disorders were "definitely associated" with the use of the drug.

Health officials at Ottawa said they have been watching developments in the U.S. However, there has been no formal investigation in Canada, where the drug is available on the prescription of a doctor.

Dundee City Fathers Refuse Tea Party

DUNDEE, Scotland (Reuters)—The city fathers yesterday vetoed a suggestion to throw a tea party for the Iowa State University girl pipers.

By a 5-4 vote, they decided the 59 members of the band, since they're being paid $700 to play here, can pay for their own tea.

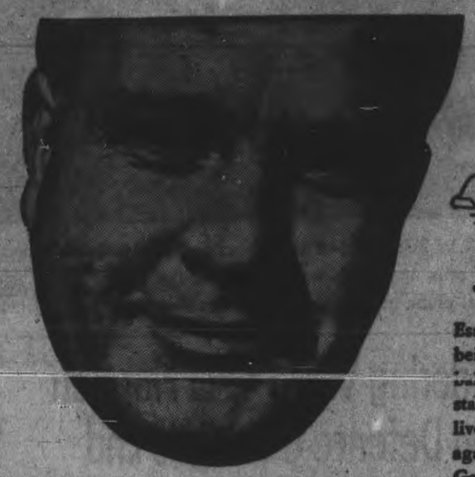
William Blake, who voted in favor of a buffet tea at city hall for the girls, said he was not really in favor of ladies' pipe bands. But since they were Americans and were being well-received throughout the country, he was "inclined" to show a little hospitality.

General Causes Mexico Headache

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A Chinese general and his blonde American girl friend gave Mexico a sticky international problem last night.

Of the two, Lt.-Gen. Pang Tsu Mow, late of the Chinese Nationalist army, is the one likely to give Mexican authorities the biggest headache. His government accuses him of absconding with $25,000,000 entrusted to him for purchase of arms in the United States.

Federal police arrested Mow and his companion, former New York model and night club entertainer Agnes Kelley, last Saturday.



Attorney-General Luis Felipe Canudas told reporters Mow is charged with robbery, taking government documents and being illegally in Mexico. He said the girl is charged with being an accessory.

Farmers Made Strike Victims

TORONTO (CP)—Acting Agriculture Minister Goodfellow said yesterday it was "regrettable that farmers should be the innocent victims" of a strike at the H. J. Heinz Company of Canada at Leamington.

The strike of 1,000 persons there and 100 at Wallaceburg, all members of the United Packinghouse Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) has closed the plants just as crops are about ready for processing.

William Murdoch, Progressive Conservative member of the Legislature for Essex South, met Mr. Goodfellow and expressed concern at the loss of crops, not only because of the high cost of production to farmers but the potential threat to food consumers.

Egypt Tax Reform Biggest Test Of New Gov't

By RAWLE KNOX

CAIRO (OFNS)—It will be at least a fortnight, according to the British Embassy here, before the British Ambassador, Sir Ralph Stevenson, and the Egyptian Prime Minister, Aly Maheer, can again begin solid talks on the vexed questions of the Suez Canal zone and the Sudan.

The Egyptian government will need this period to concentrate on its efforts at internal reform, already much publicized here. Meanwhile the British will be attempting to assess the real stability of the new Egyptian set-up. Aly Maher, has retired to the summer capital of Alexandria to formulate his program of reforms which, if they follow the line he has already indicated, will include such revolutionary measures as the limitation of property and the redistribution of land. Army spokesmen in the early stages of Egypt's coup d'etat showed that the progressive officers had such a march towards egalitarianism in mind and on Aly maher's success in formulating workable laws to this end will probably depend the support of the revolutionary set of officers behind General Neguib.

Customs duties have already been raised, for in Egypt's rather lop-sided economy these already provided over half the national revenue of some £213 million Egyptain pounds. Income tax, however, where it is collected, is levelled at only seven per cent of income and revenue from direct taxation is only about £50 million Egyptian pounds.

It is a reform in the assessment and collection of income tax that would really give a lift to Egypt's revenue and eradicate some of the appalling inequality in wealth but past experience here has shown that this is one of the hardest reforms of all to carry out.

An Egyptian business man with a firm whose capital is £100,000 informed me that he made nearly five hundred per cent profit last year after all expenses were paid. There are not many countries today where such financial gymnastics are possible.

If Aly Maher can really introduce solid reforms the stability of his regime may be assured, at any rate for a period in which the Army can see whether they are really working. The foreign community may then begin to take more seriously Aly Maher's protestations that he welcomes foreign capital and business interests.

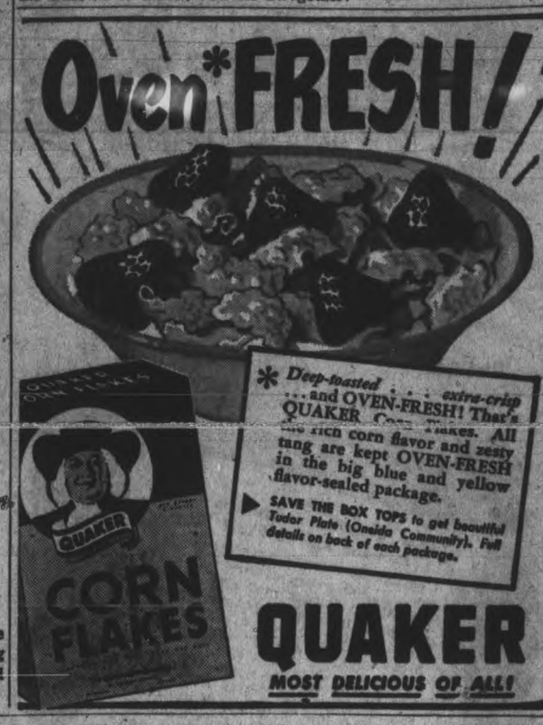
Carve 14 Shrines On Mount Royal

MONTREAL (CP)—North America's most modern "Way of the Cross" is taking shape here against great construction difficulties.



Fourteen stations, or shrines, are being carved out of the rocky mountainside above St. Joseph's oratory, one of the continent's most famous Roman Catholic shrines. One of the stations has been completed, but the whole work will not be finished until about 1960.

The traditional "Way of the Cross" depicts various episodes in the Passion of Christ, and the St. Joseph's project ends at the top where there will be a marble tomb with a figure of Christ emerging, symbolizing the resurrection.

Chief difficulty has been the placing and carving of the 46 modernistic statue designed by the French-speaking sculptor, Louis Parent of Montreal.

The statues are being carved in sections and assembled at the site. Sculptor Parent says: "No one will notice the difference when the pieces are carefully fitted together."

Ask Vienna Court Rule On Whether Hitler Dead

VIENNA, Austria (Reuters)—A lawyer looking after Adolph Hitler's legal interests in Austria has asked a court to rule on whether the ex-fuehrer is dead or alive.

Most allied and West German authorities have assumed Hitler is dead. The commonly accepted story is that he committed suicide was burned immediately on his April 30, 1945, and that his body own instructions.

Now Dr. Herbert Eggstein, an Austrian who watches all Austrian legal interests of the former Third Reich, has asked the local German court at Berchtesgaden—Hitler's last place of residence—to rule on Hitler's status.

The ruling is wanted in connection with the struggle for ownership of a famous painting, "The Artist in the Studio" by Dutch master Jan Vermeer, said to be worth nearly $1,000,000.

Hitler bought the picture from an Austrian collector, Count Jaromir Czernin-Morzin, in 1938 soon after Germany swallowed up Austria. Hitler paid 1,650,000 marks (then $660,000).

The count recently asked an Austrian court to declare that he had to sell it under duress at much less than its real alue. But the court ruled against him, making the picture Hitler's property and forfeit to the Austrian state.

Trans-Canada Check Pilot Veteran Antarctic Flyer

MONTREAL (CP)—Capt. Bert Trerice, recently appointed check pilot for Trans-Canada Air Lines' international services, is a veteran of Antarctic flying.

He joined Lincoln Ellsworth and Sir Hubert Wilkins in 1938 when the two explorers decided that Canadian bush pilots were the men to guide their party through the the Antarctic.

The 19-man party, on board the schooner Wyatt Earp, was led by two aircraft flown by Trerice and another Canadian pilot, J. H. Lymburner.

Ellsworth and Wilkins planned to explore the southern polar region to determine the location of the shore line beneath the shelf of ice. The schooner was the base of operations while the two planes scouted ahead to find safe lanes through the treacherous icebergs.

A native of Amherst, N.S., Capt. Trerice merely shrugs at the dangers involved in Antarctic flying.

"The chief danger was icebergs," he said, recalling an incident when the crew decided to refill the schooner's water tanks with ice water.

The schooner was tied to an iceberg while the men chipped away at the ice. Suddenly the iceberg rolled, lifting the vessel high in the air. However, it slipped clear and escaped without damage.

The party spent six months mapping and exploring a vast expanse of shelf ice called Enderbyland, 1,000 miles from the South Pole.

Shortly after returning from the expedition, Capt. Trerice joined T.C.A. and has since flown nearly 3,000,000 miles in the Maritimes and over the north Atlantic.

Prior to the polar expedition, he flew as a bush pilot in the Maritimes and northern Quebec.

Want Wage Boost

TORONTO (CP)—The 4,700 employees of the Toronto Transportation Commission, who won a wage boost after a 19-day strike earlier this year, want another increase of 12 cents which would bring their rate to $1.60 an hour. The demand came yesterday from the Street Railway Union (A.F.L.) in response to a T.T.C. proposal a month ago for a three-cent wage cut.

Canadian Vets Run Israel Sight-Seeing

HAIFA (CP)—Two young Canadian war veterans are well launched on a new career as operators of a sight-seeing motorbus service in Israel. Art Goldberg, 26, of Vancouver, and Lionel Druker, 27, of Sydney, N.S., hope to expand their business into a transport system connecting Israel with neighboring states.

After wartime service with the Royal Canadian Air Force the pair served in the Israel army against the Arabs when the new Jewish state was formed. Three years ago they started business with a drive-yourself system, and the first of their streamlined sight-seeing buse took to the highways this summer.

Until then, bus transportation had been a state monopoly here.

Motor Vehicle Sales Higher Than In 1951

OTTAWA (CP)—Motor vehicles sales increased in June to 43,573 from 32,680 during June, a year ago, the second consecutive monthly gain, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

However, the two-month increases did not offset decreases in volume and value over the six-month period from January to June.

Value of sales during June totalled $107,336,831 compared with $83,749,780 a year ago. Volume and value during the first six months of this year was 213,753 and $540,059,416 compared with 242,217 and $585,153,556 during the first six months of 1951.

Police Radio Setup Extends To Sudbury

Marmora Mine Work Recalls County's Early Mining Boom

HAVELOCK (ENS)—With the Bethlehem Mines Corporation spending huge sums of money to develop its property near Marmora, which has led to speculation as to the possibility of the old iron mine at Blairton being re-opened, a significant item in connection with the minerals of Peterborough county has been found in a history of this district written in 1884 that might be of interest at this time.

It states that a large deposit of valuable magnetic iron ore had been found on lot 19 in the 1st concession of Belmont and that the following analysis made of the deposit, dated May 7, 1884, by Edward J. Chapman, Ph.D. professor in University College and School of Practical Science at Toronto showed the quality of the deposit and the article stated that it might also be accepted as regarding other deposits in the township:

Certificate of analysis of sample of magnetic iron ore, from lot 19, in the 1st concession of Belmont, county of Peterborough, Ontario, forwarded for analysis by T. D. Ledyard of Toronto. Sample dried at 212 deg. Average specific gravity 4.01. The ore contains:

Ferrous oxide ..	27.22	Iron	21.17
Ferric oxide ..	[illegible]	Iron	[illegible]
Alumina, etc. (by difference) .	0.84
Titanium	None
Sulphur	0.04
Phosphorus	faint trace
Pyroxenic rock matter	10.34
	100.00

Metallic Iron, 64.26 per cent.

This is an exceedingly good ore; not too dense in texture, rich in metal, quite free from itanium, and practically free from phosphorus, and sulphur. It is well adapted for final treatment by the Bessemer process. The intermixed rock matter would be almost self-fluxing.

Signed Edward J. Chapman.

When the fact that the very best iron ores contain no more than 72 per cent of metallic iron is taken into consideratoin it will be seen at once how valuable are the deposits in the township which average 64.26 per cent, the record stated.

The complete reference to the minerals is as follows:

The county of Peterborough presents a varied and fruitful field for the researches of the geologist. In all the townships the structure of the earth is such as to make it interesting for the scientist, while in many the prospector, who seeks something more profitable than the study of science for itself alone, finds in the depths of the earth minerals of great value. Speaking geologically, the southern townships including North Monaghan, Otonabee, Asphodel, Belmont, Dummer, Douro, Smith and Ennismore are all on what is known as the Trenton limestone formation, the only exceptions being the extreme northern parts of Smith and Dummer, and the north-east part of Belmont which are on the borders of the Laurentian formation. The lower strata of the Trenton formation outlyings are also found in the southern part of Harvey and Burleigh. All the other townships are in the Laurentian formation. The mineral deposits of this county have not been as well explored as those of more eastern counties. This may be accounted for by the fact that it is not as well opened up by roads or railways. In the north where there are very valuable deposits, the land is heavily timbered and the means of getting out the ores very limited. The discoveries that have been made so far in this district are by amateurs but there is little doubt that as it becomes more settled, new roads opened, and old ones improved, it will become the scene of great mining industries. Some of the eastern counties of Ontario have become noted for the valuable ores they contain. Peterborough county will yet have such a reputation for in it have been struck the minerals, gold, iron, lead, yellow copper ore, plumbago, mica, white and grey marble, that are found in the townships spoken of.

So far, the mineral that has been most worked in this county is iron, the principal explorations in which have been made in Belmont and Galway, two corner townships diagonally opposite each other. Iron has also been found in Methuen, Harvey, Burleigh and Chandos. In Marmora township, county of Hastings, very valuable iron mines owned by an enterprising American company, are being worked with most gratifying results (1884). This ore is declared by experts to be of the best quality in the world. As Marmora adjoins Belmont, there is good reason for anticipating for investors in the same results that have awarded the enterprise of those in the former township. Up to the present time large deposits of iron ore have been found in Belmont. The Blairton mine on lots 7 and 8 in the 1st concession belonging to the Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Mining and Railway Company, has produced large quantities of ore the yield at one time being as much as 500 tons a day. The company just named is an amalgamation of two distinct organizations having no connection. The mining company was one thing and the railway another. But either from want of practical knowledge or from some other cause, the mine was found to be unprofitable and the railway collapsed, as so many other things have fizzled out because it was built in ignorance of certain natural laws, the bridge across the Rice Lake which was built on timber piles being unable to stand the stress of expanding and contracting ice. In 1866 an act of parliamen tauthorized incorporation, and the new company came into existence with an English and Canadian and United States proprietory. From 1867 the company worked the mine steadfastly and energetically, but at a considerable loss during the first two years. After that the mine paid its expenses and in 1871 began to yield a profit. A great drawback to be contended with was the fact that the ore contained an amount of sulphur but a scientific expedient reduced this to almost nothing. The iron taken out was found to be of excellent character possessing some special qualities so valuable that great American smelters were anxious to get the ore to mix with others—such mixture found to produce a very superior kind of iron.

In order to convey the ore to its destination this company built a short railway nine miles in length. Starting from the mine on lots 7 and 8 of the 1st concession it ran south west through the small village of Blairton, a mile distant, then continuing southwest, it met the River Trent at a point near the "Narrows" (now Trent River) where a bend in the river touches lot 1 in the 10th concession of Belmont. After being taken along this line in flat cars the ore was dumped into scows and towed up the Trent and through Rice Lake to Harwood whence it was conveyed by the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway to Cobourg; from Cobourg it was taken to American lake ports. Unfortunately this industry which promised such bright results succumbed to the depression in the iron trade in 1878.

On lots 27 in the 13th and 14th concession of Galway, there are deposits of magnetic iron ore which, by Prof. Chapman's analysis, yield over 62 per cent of metallic iron with no titanium and only slight traces of sulphur and phosphorus. On lots 23 and 25 in the 12th concession of Galway are also deposits of excellent magnetic iron ore similar to the above. All these are first class Bessemer steel ores. In Chandos on the 2nd concession is the Clydesdale Mine owned by Mr. Coe who is engaged in mining very extensively in the adjoining county of Hastings. The mine was opened in the fall of 1883. During the present spring (1884) a steam drill was put in and preparations made for thoroughly opening up the deposit.

On the Bobcaygeon Road about six miles south of Kinmount are most promising lead mines owned and operated by the Galway Lead Mining Company of Peterborough. Gold has been found in Belmont sometime before it was struck in Madoc and also Chandos. In Belmont a Canadian company did a little working but subsequently sold out to an American company who allowed it to drop. Plumbago occurs in several places in the township of Galway; lot 2, concession 15, about three miles from Kinmount; it appears to contain it in quantity. The northern and north-eastern parts of Belmont contain large and valuable beds of marble. Some of it is of very fine grain and appears to be fine enough for sculpturing purposes while other kinds are coarser. Both white and grey varieties are found in general abundance. In the east part of Belmont a good quality of marble is found. It is rather gritty, rendering it difficult for engraving purposes. Mica is found in the county of Peterborough but of such a poor quality as to be quite useless. Copper has been found in Chandos and other northern townships. All along the line of the Trent Valley Canal are found quarries of excellent Trenton limestone which is being utilized for building locks.

In regard to the closing of the Blairton Iron Mine another source other than this history of 1884, accounts for the failure of this mine as follows: "Although it was a water route that helped develop the Blairton mine it was a water route that brought doom to the village. With freight rates about $4 per ton, the introduction of the Canadian canal system opened the way for cheaper transportation of foreign ores. Added to this factor the discovery of rich mineral deposits at the head of Lake Superior forced the company to abandon production."

Britons Scurry To Find Rooms

LONDON (Reuters) — If they haven't already reserved their hotel rooms, overseas visitors to London for the Queen's coronation next June 2 may find themselves in boarding houses on the south coast 60 miles away.

The coronation accommodation committee, formed by the hotelkeepers to put up as many visitors as possible, met yesterday, then started to look for rooms, and still more rooms.

There are approximately 60,000 hotel rooms in central London. Many have already been snapped up for coronation week. The rest will be fought over by at least 50,000 overseas visitors and countless Britons who will flock to the capital.

First target of the committee will be suburban hotels and boarding houses, but these won't take much of the overflow. Visitors will be accommodated far up the Thames Valley and in the coast resorts of Brighton, 60 miles to the south, and Southend-on-Sea, 40 miles away. However, transportation to London is frequent and fast.

Germany again appeared as a strong creditor in July with a net surplus for the month of $57,700,000.

Three-Phase Plan To Drive Western Powers From Berlin

By NICHOLAS CHARLES

BONN (ONS)—In the next few weeks the population of West Berlin is likely to come under increasing pressure from the Soviet and East German authorities.

This is the opinion of high Allied officials in Germany. They say that the pattern of the Russian plan to force the Western Allies out of the city has grown clearer in the two months that have elapsed since the signing of the European Defence treaty and the Treaty of Bonn.

The Russian plan is being carried out in three stages. First the Russians are isolating Eastern Germany from the West and making it another Communist satellite under the control of a Moscow-dominated central administration. Secondly, the Russians are slowly intensifying their policy of "pinpricks" directed against the Western powers in Berlin. The extent to which Russian petty interference has grown is illustrated by a count of the note exchanged by a count of notes exchangsian authorities in Germany since May. In this period 24 protests or replies to protests have been despatched, eleven from the Allies and thirteen from the Russians.

BREAK MORALE

The third stage of the Russian plan to break the morale of the people of West Berlin and to undermine the determination of the Western powers to stay in the city has not yet been reached. But Allied officials expect that Moscow's next move will be to sign a peace treaty with the East German goyernment, to which all the other States in the Communist bloc will subscribe. This peace treaty—it is thought—will be the signal for the Russians to accelerate their creeping blockade of Berlin in an effort to destroy the population's will to survive.

The recent visits of Mr. Anthony Eden (British Foreign Secretary), Mr. Dean Acheson (U.S. Secretary of State) and Dr. Konrad Adenauer (West German Chancellor) to Berlin, were, however, intended to show the Russians that the Western Powers and the West German Federal Republic are not prepared to give up their rights in the city under any circumstances. The Allied authorities in Berlin have been stockpiling vital commodities — coal, steel, and food — since last winter. Allied economic experts say that Berlin can now withstand a six-months' siege. Their intention is to continue stockpiling until the city is self-sufficient in all essentials for twelve months. The Allies have taken these precautions because they realize that it would be extremely difficult to initiate another air lift to and from Berlin owing to their commitments in other world theatres — especially Korea.

But in the last analysis Allied confidence in their ability to hold Berlin against Communist pressure rests on the fact that they have made the city an occasion for war. In other words, they have stated that if the Russians use force against Berlin they will be met by force. Berlin is the Western world's most important hostage to fortune. It is the test of whether or not the Russians wish to precipitate a world conflict in Europe.
